Candidate for the Honorary Degree

DOCTOR OF ENGINEERING

RAYMOND JOHN WEAN, JR. serves as chairman, president, and chief executive officer of Wean United, Inc., a company known throughout the world for its rolling mills, flat rolled strip finishing lines, and broad range of other machinery for the primary metals, metalworking and other industries.

He has been associated with Wean United or its predecessor companies throughout his working career. He served as vice president from 1948 to 1960, when he was elected executive vice president. In 1966, he was elected president and chief executive officer, and in 1979 took on the added responsibilities of chairman of the board.

Mr. Wean was the key figure in the acquisition program that more than doubled the size of the company during the late 1960s. He has also been instrumental in expanding the company's technical base in the international marketplace, so that today Wean United, headquartered in Pittsburgh, is a world-wide operation.

The Wean name has long been associated with important contributions to Youngstown State University. Mr. Wean's father, R. J. Wean, Sr., served two terms as chairman of the YSU Board of Trustees, and later served as chairman of the Youngstown Educational Foundation. The Raymond J. Wean, Sr. Lectureship Program, which brings notable speakers and performers to the YSU campus to serve in residence, was established in his honor in 1977.

Education is foremost among the interests of R. J. Wean, Jr., as well, who has continued his father's close support of the University. In addition to numerous other involvements with YSU, he served as a member of the Board of Trustees from 1967 through 1974. He is the 1982 recipient of the Distinguished Citizen Award, given annually by the YSU Alumni Association to a prominent business figure for outstanding leadership in professional and civic endeavors.

Born in Warren, Ohio, Mr. Wean attended elementary school in Warren and University School in Cleveland. He entered Yale University's Sheffield Scientific School in 1939 and graduated with a bachelor of science degree in 1943.

After his graduation from Yale, he joined the United States Navy. For two years, he served as an officer aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Sullivans in the Pacific Theater. He completed advanced officers' training at the Naval Academy Postgraduate School, and attained the rank of lieutenant before returning to civilian life in 1946.

Mr. Wean serves as a director of Pittsburgh National Bank, Pittsburgh National Corporation, and Second National Bank of Warren, Ohio. His professional affiliations also include membership on the Executive Committee of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, and in the American Iron and Steel Institute and the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers.

He is a trustee of Carnegie Mellon University; Blair Academy, Blairstown, New Jersey; Palm Beach Day School, Palm Beach, Florida; and University School, Cleveland, Ohio. He also serves as a trustee of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, and serves on the Executive Board of the Allegheny Trails Council of the Boy Scouts of America where, for a number of years, he was chairman of its Exploring Committee.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

Because this list of candidates had to be prepared ahead of time, it is tentative; the diploma, together with a certified transcript, is the proof of graduation.

Candidates whose names are followed by an asterisk (*) will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army.

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND CEREMONY

The gowns, hoods, and caps worn in academic ceremonies today are relics of clothing worn in medieval times by students and professors. In the early universities—Bologna, Paris, Oxford—the undergraduate students had no prescribed academic dress but wore their usual clerical or ecclesiastical habits. The professors wore more colorful academic regalia than their modern day descendants. Probably the gowns and hoods were worn for warmth in the unheated halls where the lectures were delivered. From the sixteenth century on, there is a change to somber black and it is only in the hoods worn in academic processions today that the warmth and color of medieval academic pageantry is retained.

The hoods representing degrees granted by various colleges and universities have linings (turned to exhibit their hues to the fullest advantage) in the colors of the granting institutions. In addition, the facing of the hood represents by its color the discipline in which the degree has been granted: white for arts, letters, or humanities; golden yellow for science; purple for law; green for medicine; lemon yellow for library science; orange for engineering; drab for commerce or business; light blue for education; pink for music; brown for fine arts; apricot for nursing; dark blue for philosophy; scarlet for theology; citron for social work; sage green for physical education. It is possible, also, to determine from the length of the hoods the type of degree held by the wearer—quite long for the doctor's degree, medium for the master's, short for the bachelor's.

Since 1895, in the United States, the colors and types of caps and gowns have been largely standardized; in 1932 the code was revised to some extent, and in 1960 it was revised once more. A few American universities have adopted gowns other than black in color, and in European universities there is more diversity in cut and in the cap than prevails in the United States. Trustees and administrators of American colleges and universities, too, may wear regalia which is different from that commonly worn. The trustees of Youngstown State University wear a specially designed cardinal gown.

The bachelor's gown is worn closed; the master's gown is worn open or closed, depending partly on its tailoring; and the wearer of the doctor's gown has the privilege of wearing it open or closed. The sleeves of the three types of gowns are of different lengths and cuts, and in addition the sleeves of the doctor's gown have three horizontal velvet stripes. The doctor's gown also has vertical facing of velvet in front. The stripes and facing may be either black or in the color representing the field in which the wearer has received the doctorate.

There are different opinions about the origin of the caps worn in academic ceremonies. One view is that the "mortar board" is in actuality adapted from the wooden square used by masons. Another is that it stems from the ecclesiastical or clerical head covering of the medieval period. The tassels worn on the caps may or may not be of the same types. In some institutions all masters' and bachelors' tassels are black; in others the tassels, which are the same as the colors of the facings of the hoods, reflect the degree received. The tassels worn by doctors may be black or gold thread.

There is something of the same adherence to tradition in commencement processions that exists in academic garb, although each institution has the right to adapt the ceremony to its own requirements. The chief marshals lead the line of march, followed by the president, the speaker, trustees, and other members of the party to be seated on the platform. Then follow the faculty and the candidates for degrees. The procession at the end of the ceremony follows the same order.

Recipients of University Honors will receive special insignia, consisting of golden honor cords placed around the shoulders.
