ALMA MATER

All hail to thee, O Youngstown,
Our Alma Mater fair;
In sunlight and starshine
We see thee in all thy glory.
The Red and the White, thy glorious colors,

THE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

STATE SENATOR OLIVER OCASEK is currently serving in his 25th year in the Ohio General Assembly. The veteran educator and legislator represents the 27th District, which includes most of Summit County.

Sen. Ocasek is a professor emeritus at the University of Akron, capping a career of more than 33 years as a teacher and school administrator.

From 1975-79, he served as President Pro Tempore of the Senate. In 1979, when the law was changed to make the lieutenant governor presiding officer, he became the first senate president to be elected by the members of the upper chamber.

Sen. Ocasek is now chairman of the Senate Education and Retirement Committee and member of the State Government, Health and Human Resources Committee and Rules Committee. He is also an ex-officio member of the Ohio Board of Regents and a member of both the Retirement Study Commission and Education Commission of the States.

He is a former chairman and vice chairman of the Council of State Governments, served on its Board of Governors and Executive Committee, and is a former chairman of the council's Midwest Conference. He is also a member of the executive committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures.

Sen. Ocasek is the author of more than 440 laws, many of them concerning education, and has been honored by the National Education Association, Ohio Education Association, Ohio Association of Public School Employees and Ohio YMCA. In 1976, the 700,000-member Assembly of Government Employees named him one of 10 "Outstanding Legislators" in the nation.

He has been awarded honorary degrees from Kent State University, the University of Akron, Ohio University, Rio Grande College, and the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

Graduates who are awarded degrees at the end of the fall and winter quarters are recognized at Winter Commencement. Because the list of candidates for winter graduation had to be prepared ahead of time, it is tentative; the diploma, together with a certified transcript, is the proof of graduation.

Candidates for the degree Bachelor of Arts whose names are followed by the symbol (†) will receive their degrees from the College of Fine and Performing Arts. All other A.B. candidates will receive their degrees from the College of Arts and Sciences.

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND CEREMONY

The gowns, hoods, and caps worn in academic ceremonies today are relics of clothing worn in medieval times by students and professors. In the early universities—Bologna, Paris, Oxford—the undergraduate students had no prescribed academic dress but wore their usual clerical or ecclesiastical habits. The professors wore more colorful academic regalia than their modern day descendants. Probably the gowns and hoods were worn for warmth in the unheated halls where the lectures were delivered. From the sixteenth century on, there is a change to somber black and it is only in the hoods worn in academic processions today that the warmth and color of medieval academic pageantry is retained.

The hoods representing degrees granted by various colleges and universities have linings (turned to exhibit their hues to the fullest advantage) in the colors of the granting institutions. In addition, the facing of the hood represents by its color the discipline in which the degree has been granted: white for arts, letters, or humanities; golden yellow for science; purple for law; green for medicine; lemon yellow for library science; orange for engineering; drab for commerce or business; light blue for education; pink for music; brown for fine arts; apricot for nursing; dark blue for philosophy; scarlet for theology; citron for social work; sage green for physical education. It is possible, also, to determine from the length of the hoods the type of degree held by the wearer—quite long for the doctor's degree, medium for the master's, short for the bachelor's.

Since 1895, in the United States, the colors and types of caps and gowns have been largely standardized; in 1932 the code was revised to some extent, and in 1960 it was revised once more. A few American universities have adopted gowns other than black in color, and in European universities there is more diversity in cut and in the cap than prevails in the United States. Trustees and administrators of American colleges and universities, too, may wear regalia which is different from that commonly worn. The trustees of Youngstown State University wear a specially designed cardinal gown.

The bachelor's gown is worn closed; the master's gown is worn open or closed, depending partly on its tailoring; and the wearer of the doctor's gown has the privilege of wearing it open or closed. The sleeves of the three types of gowns are of different lengths and cuts, and in addition the sleeves of the doctor's gown have three horizontal velvet stripes. The doctor's gown also has vertical facing of velvet in front. The stripes and facing may be either black or in the color representing the field in which the wearer has received the doctorate.

There are different opinions about the origin of the caps worn in academic ceremonies. One view is that the "mortar board" is in actuality adapted from the wooden square used by masons. Another is that it stems from the ecclesiastical or clerical head covering of the medieval period. The tassels worn on the caps may or may not be of the same types. In some institutions all masters' and bachelors' tassels are black; in others the tassels, which are the same as the colors of the facings of the hoods, reflect the degree received. The tassels worn by doctors may be black or gold thread.

There is something of the same adherence to tradition in commencement processions that exists in academic garb, although each institution has the right to adapt the ceremony to its own requirements. The chief marshals lead the line of march, followed by the president, the speaker, trustees, and other members of the party to be seated on the platform. Then follow the faculty and the candidates for degrees. The procession at the end of the ceremony follows the same order.

Recipients of University Honors will receive special insignia, consisting of golden honor cords placed around the shoulders.
