Petey Penguin, if your favorite, Bill Shakespeare, were a student at Youngstown College this year, he would probably exclaim, "Right joyous are we to behold your face". Joyous, because we look upon you as a living symbol of progress and achievement; because you are a dream come true.

You are the symbol and mascot of Youngstown College, an emblem of friendship and loyalty, the spirit of our athletes, and the vitality of our students.

Because we look upon you as symbolic of the progress and achievement of Youngstown College, to you this edition of the NEON is fittingly dedicated.

Prattling With Petey

Through Youngstown College

N. B.—

As Petey is symbolic of the best, the NEON deems it fitting that Petey's remarks in this volume be in the words of William Shakespeare.

"By these blessed candles of the night . . ."

"Hum! Ha! Is this a a vision? Do I dream?"

"When Nature framed this piece she meant thee a good turn."

"Their noise is our instruction."

A friendly nod, the flash of an engaging smile as he meets us serves to introduce Youngstown's alert and buoyant chief executive.

In his years of administrative advance, his keen and efficient supervision has impelled Youngstown College forcefully onward in its search for a liberal Christian culture.

For his judicious insight and executive ability, we respect him. For his friendship and genuine interest in the problems of youth, we like him "more than words can wield the matter".

Whether he is delivering a lucid message from the chapel platform or mingling with students at some college function, we are invariably captivated by his charm and spirit.

Jack Green
Class of '42

"God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform. Thus it is the finger of God that has transformed this football rally into a memorial to our friend and classmate, Jack Green.

"I believe with all my heart that he loved his school and wished for it the fulfillment of its highest destiny. I believe firmly that he cherished his classmates, else how may we explain his giving the best of his athletic genius to his college, both last year and this.

"In his last hour of failing strength, his words were, 'I want to play in the last game, if only for a few minutes'. The influence of his spirit will be effective in the last game as he still lives in the hearts of his team mates.

"Since there is no error in the record of the workings of the finger of God, we submit with quietness and confidence to His will.

"Jack Green, your cherished memory is our prize possession".

This year, a very fair and intelligent group of students devoted their time and effort to make Student Council a worthy body to govern school affairs. Commendable was the lack of politics and cliques.

The major accomplishment of the council was the rewriting of the constitution to serve as a permanent document. Other notable achievements of the group were the rules passed concerning the Y C pins, class elections, and activities budgets.

The council was responsible for many of the minor joys and conveniences of the year—Thursday noon dancing, community singing at assemblies, better conditions in the lounge and cafeteria, and a third floor study room.

It was the council who arranged such enjoyable events as Freshman receptions, swimming-dancing parties, all-college breakfasts, May Day, and Hell Week.

Jambar

A newspaper is an ideal instrument of democracy because it represents every shade of opinion. A like instrument in a college is its newspaper. It is a house-organ presenting a realistic picture of college life.

The Jambar, the bi-weekly publication of Youngstown College, was during the past year an eagerly awaited journal of behind the scenes activity. It took a keen interest in the national and civic problems which are facing youth. It conducted polls on national problems in order to present actual pictures of the student body's opinions.

The Jambar is a member of the Associated Collegiate Press, and has continued to be a distributor of the Collegiate Digest. During the year, members of the staff attended newspaper conferences at Tiffin and Kent. At the Kent conference, the Jambar was awarded the Scripps-Howard trophy as the outstanding bi-weekly college publication of Ohio.

Neon

If an orator were to walk to the center of the stage, make a graceful bow and an elegant gesture, look his audience straight in the eye, and announce, "Ladies and gentlemen, I take great pleasure in presenting myself to you", he would meet with loud disapproval.

However, the audience could easily forgive an orator, who, in the absence of a chairman, stole quietly to the stage and began his lines without hesitation. There is no chairman to introduce to you the Neon, so that celebrity, anxious to make his appearance after a year of histrionic laziness, is eager to make himself known and leave the rest to the audience.

There is a sort of charm about the Neon—a charm that grows more entrancing as the months go on. The Neon is not a momentary pamphlet which is read in haste and then relegated to the limbo of forgotten literature. It has a lasting appeal that will not be destroyed so long as binding, cover, and—best of all—spirit—hold together.

It is appropriate that a Youngstown College Yearbook be known as the "NEON", for it signifies more than glossy pages and cold print. It represents an heritage which is, as its name implies, "an ever shining light".

Varsity Club

The "Y-Men" of Youngstown College have a strong organization devoted to the promotion of social fellowship among YoCo's varsity lettermen. This year, the club has been an active organization. The admission of tennis lettermen to Varsity Club this year has produced some new and enthusiastic members.

A spaghetti dinner given by Vivo ushered in the season's activities. In addition to the abundance of excellent food, the lettermen enjoyed some football films, shown by Coach Beede, one of the club's advisors.

The "Hit Parade" Dance sponsored by the organization was a great success, Chairman Steve Chuey putting on a novel affair. A student poll of favorite songs furnished the basis for the recorded music and unusual decorations plus many "Y" sweaters added to the collegiate atmosphere.

"Busty" Ashbaugh, former South High mentor, spoke at the Varsity banquet to which alumni lettermen were welcomed. Plans are being completed for a picnic to conclude a very successful year.

Alpha Psi Omega

Eta Phi Cast—Youngstown College chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity—seeks to stimulate interest in dramatic activities, to secure for the college all of the advantages and mutual helpfulness provided by the world's largest honorary fraternity. Characteristic is this excerpt from the installation ceremony: "Demand a useful life, but be an artist who is above all a lady or a gentleman".

Honorary members are: Dr. O. L. Reid, of the college faculty, and Charles Mulcahy, dramatic editor of the Vindicator.

Professor Russell G. Bunn is the faculty director.

Highlights of the year were the "rough and sweet" initiation and the Tri-State convention at Clarion State College.

The Mimes

Backstage at theatrical performances of the year members of the Mimes worked as electricians, make-up artists, prompters, and upstage played as members of the chorus, comedians, all leads in heavy drama.

The outstanding enterprise of the group was the presentation of Philip Barry's "You and I" in two performances. Last minute casualties caused by the leading man's appendectomy, ripped costumes, and slipping mustaches proved the resourcefulness of the Mimes.

Throughout the year the group turned critic attending plays in Youngstown, Cleveland, and Pittsburgh.

Debate Club

This year through the halls of Youngstown was heard a new but powerful voice, the voice of the Debate Club. The Club was established under the leadership of Prof. John McCorkle and Prof. Ward Jenks.

The debater at Youngstown seeks to improve his power of expression. He seeks to improve his logic, wit, and dilemma. The debater seeks to instill confidence and express his thoughts fluently. Here is a worthy art; all this in upholding certain decided, human thought.

With only one experienced debater in the group the squad started intercollegiate competition with great apprehensions. Debates with Kent University, Westminster, and other colleges soon revealed Youngstown to be the leader of the forensic art.

Chapel Choir

In black robes and starched white collars, the forty-three members of Chapel Choir have presented an impressive background for their traditionally delightful music.

The Choir sang the cantatas "Child Jesus" over WFMJ under the direction of Dr. Henry V. Stearns. Leading roles were sung by James Miller, Sylvia DeBartolo, Robert Walton, Clarence Sumner, and Marion Bascom.

A beautiful religious Easter program was arranged for pre-vacation Chapel.

Every member of the Choir took an active interest, from leading roles to chorus parts, in the very successful opera, "Patience".

Orchestra

Once again with the rise of Conductor Alvin Myerovitch's baton the Youngstown College Orchestra has thrilled music lovers of the college.

In November the orchestra arranged a Chapel program, consisting of well known selections, among them "Grand March", from Aida, by Verdi and "Bacchante" by Saint Sains. Throughout the year, from time to time, the orchestra brought beautiful music to the group.

The orchestra aided the dramatic department in the presentation of "You and I", and later in the season cooperated in the production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Patience".

Drum Major

Sparkling in new red and gold uniforms and shining with new instruments, the college band was led through high-stepping maneuvers on the football field by one or the other of the Axtmann family. Charles Axtmann, Jr., organizer and leader of the band, was substituted several times during the season by his brother, Elbert.

During the summer, the band practised under the direction of Harry Joyce, and gave two delightful "pop" concerts.

Music Society

The music society has been a nucleus during the past year for all the music groups in the college. The society has supplied members for the orchestra, band, Chapel Choir, and the spring opera.

The group holds combined social and business meetings twice a month. Together they appreciate the many phases and have worth-while discussions of the music projects upon which they are working. In April the group attended several operas in Cleveland.

Sigma Tau Delta

The Psi Gamma chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, national English fraternity at Youngstown, continued this year to develop appreciation in the English field under the society's ideals of sincerity, truth, and design. The group gathered together at monthly dinner meetings during the year. Here the members carried on many interesting literary projects in writing, reading, and criticizing.

The activities of the fraternity have proven a common meeting place for graduate and under-graduate members. All students majoring in English and maintaining a two point average are eligible for election to membership.

Phi Epsilon has for its objects the promotion of interest in all branches of science, the presentation and discussion of scientific questions, and the diffusion of scientific knowledge among its members and the student body. It is an incentive to scholarship, a service to the college, and a benefit to its members. It affords an opportunity for students of scientific bent to mingle socially as well as professionally.

Highlights of this year were the stag party at Joe Kenny's, the educational trip through the Niles Glass factory, and the very stimulating discussions held at the monthly meetings.

Religion in Life

In January of this year, a group of students organized under the direction of Dr. Henry V. Stearns and Rev. Schuyler E. Garth in order that they might promote the moral and ethical aspects among college students. They grew as a result of the need which was felt vitally important to all young people today—the need to attack widespread social evils.

The organization proposes to provide fellowship for college students who are interested in religious discussion. Religion in Life meets bi-weekly on Sunday afternoons. These meetings are open discussion assemblies with all students of the college being invited to participate. The discussions are planned and led by members of the group. Ralph Skerratt and Beryl Dent, who are especially active in the group, were elected leaders. The executive board, comprised of the organizers, is composed of Paul Emch, Kennedy Ray, Doris Womer, Leonard Skeggs, and John Keiser.

In the spring there was a picnic dinner, followed by interesting firelight talks.

Newman Club

The purpose of the Newman Club is to bring to each of its members a fuller and happier life by spiritual, intellectual, and social activity. It is composed of the Roman Catholic students of the college.

The Newman Club held meetings of an open forum nature every other Sunday afternoon. They were conducted by Father Sammon, affable and capable director. At these meetings were presented outstanding civic speakers with timely messages.

During the year, the group sponsored dances, skating parties, and picnics.

Beautifully impressive were the Communion breakfasts at St. Elizabeth's Chapel, when the group came together and received Holy Communion in a body. The soft morning light from the Chapel windows fell on the congregation as they sang their hymns together.

The Newman Club has had a happy and full life during the past year.

Gessner Law Club

The Gessner Law Club is a social organization composed of all the law students of Youngstown College. Its purpose is social cohesion and mutual helpfulness among the students of the Law School. The organization takes its name from Dean Judge George H. Gessner.

The annual banquet was held at the Tod House, featuring an enlightening address by Attorney Ben Bennett. Several smokers engendered a spirit of fellowship truly representative of the legal profession. A picnic provided an opportunity for the members to forsake the tomes for a lively good time.

Those members receiving their LL.B. are: Chester McCracken, Albert Marowitz, Leda Hartwell, and Arthur Palmer.

International Relations

"International Relations are the sum of contacts between the national policies of the independent sovereign states." The conflicts between national policies are more numerous today than ever before. To study these conflicts dispassionately and analytically is the purpose of the International Relations Club. To this end, meetings are held every two weeks at which time world problems are discussed always with an aim toward objectivity. The club sponsored this year a series of lectures by national authorities in the field of international relations. These meetings were thrown open to forum giving the audience an opportunity to ask specific questions.

The bright spot of the year was the lecture by Dr. Carl F. Geiser of Oberlin College, delivered on February 14. His topic was, "The Third War of American Independence". The lecture attracted a large and diversified audience.

Dawn Patrol

Early morning classes—alarm clocks, the sun rising in the east, cold sharp breezes—inspired the name for the Dawn Patrol. The twenty members of the college flying course offered by the Civil Aeronautics Authority have thus banded themselves together to promote local aviation in every way.

Each member of the Dawn Patrol hopes to have a Private Pilot's license by June. It is the desire of the club to some day present the college with an airplane.

The group took interesting trips throughout the year, one to the Taylor Aircraft Company, at Alliance, and another to the Meteorological Station at Mercer. They helped sponsor the annual Aviators Ball.

Dr. Castle Foard, ground school instructor, and Michael Kardos and Donald Van Tassell, flight instructors, are honorary members.

Coach Beede

Dwight Beede . . . a Youngstown man . . . better known as Dike . . . has completed ten years of collegiate football coaching. For five years he turned out powerful teams for Westminster; following which he was engaged for three impressive seasons at Geneva College. In 1938 he came out of retirement to guide the destinies of a green Youngstown College squad and in the short span of two years has raised Youngstown College football standards to a ranking position among the state's outstanding schools.

Kenneth James . . . business manager of athletics . . . graduate of Ohio State, this is his first year at Youngstown. Jovial and competent, he directs the college's athletic policies.

Carmen Julius, honorary captain of Youngstown College's first football squad, has won state-wide recognition through his aggressive guard play.

The advent of another football season. And beneath a broiling August sun some sixty veterans and hopefuls reported to Coach Beede, anxious to aid the Penguins continue their amazing gridiron record.

Selecting a squad of thirty-five, Beede and his troupe left for their training period at Camp Fitch on Lake Erie. Here for two solid weeks, an extensive conditioning program was undertaken, with the boys eating, sleeping, and talking nothing but football. Punting and Passing drills, tackling and blocking practice, scrimmages; all were emphasized in the Beede training course. Even the evenings were taken up with blackboard lectures and discussions of pigskin strategy.

Confident of their ability to excell last season's record, the boys "broke camp" on September 15, and returned to Youngstown, to open their second year of inter-collegiate competition against their traditional rivals, the Covenanters of Geneva.

Opening their 1939 grid campaign the Youngstown College Penguins staged a spectacular aerial display to revenge themselves upon the Covenanters from Geneva.

After Geneva had scored through a pass interception, Heber's long toss to Perantoni brought the first YoCo tally. Trailing at the half, the Beedemen again took to the air lanes with Heber's heaves setting the stage for the two final scores. Shoup, Heber, and Hardie were outstanding for the locals as Coach Beede used the entire squad in an effort to determine his strongest combination.

Suffering their first defeat of the season, a fighting Youngstown College team went down before a more experienced Morris-Harvey eleven.

The Penguins decisively outplayed their heavier opponents during a scoreless first half, despite the fact that the Golden Eagles alternated two complete teams. One of the outstanding factors in Youngstown's defeat can be charged to a definite lack of seasoned material. The Beedemen made only one scoring thrust deep into enemy territory with a first period advance. Numerous Morris-Harvey drives finally culminated in a third quarter score after a sustained push of 61 yards. Congemi, Sontag, and Kramer stood out for the Red and Gold while Smith paced the Eagles attack.

Unleashing all their power in a first scoring purge, Youngstown College gridders rolled over a stubborn St. Francis eleven. Leeson scored on a spinner after an early march down the field. Sontag tallied shortly after as he led another Penguin advance. And finally in the waning minutes of the second period, Tony Sandy, Youngstown center, blocked an "Irish" kick and raced 28 yards for the third marker. And so ended the Beedemen's activities for the night.

Displaying a powerful aerial attack the Saints took to the air to score their lone tally late in the game. The Penguin offense failed to function during the second half as Congemi and Sontag were removed from the game with serious injuries.

But, taking the kick-off the Flyers drove 62 yards to take the lead; then added another as Padley tallied a second time. Driving to the Dayton 10, the Beedemen were repulsed, but again took up the march with Congemi's 20-yard dash to pay dirt featuring. Shoup's place kick tied the score but was nullified by a Youngstown penalty.

Reserve Squad

Youngstown 30
Ashland 39

Opening their cage campaign against a veteran Ashland quintet, Ray Sweeney's inexperienced band of Penguins suffered their initial loss, bowing to the Eagles. Flying to a 22-10 half-time lead, the Ashlanders saw their advantage dwindle before a last period rally, only to be cut short by the final gun.

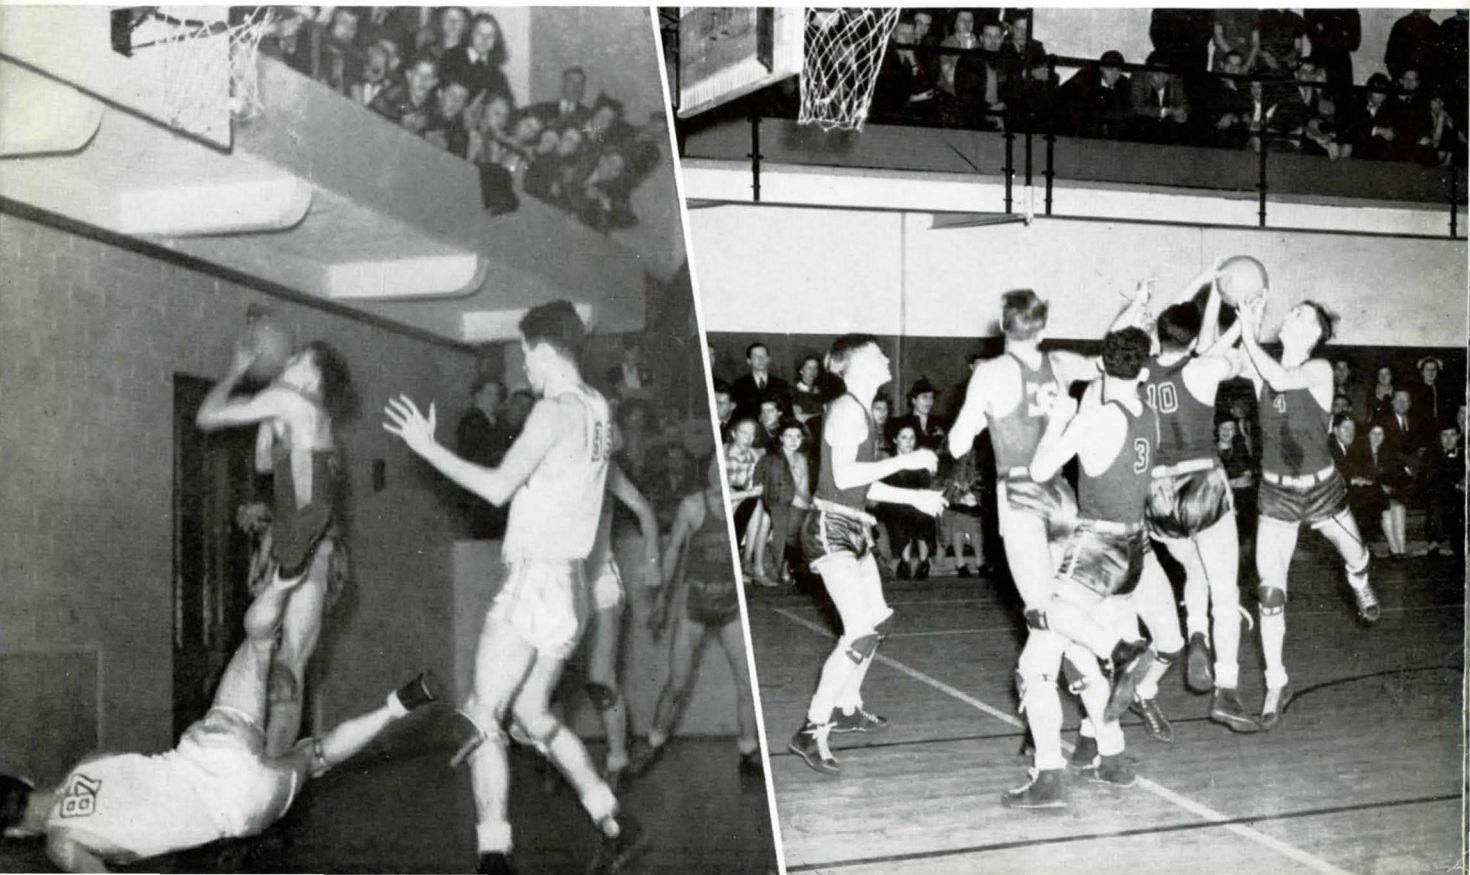

Youngstown 42
DeSales 40

Chalking up their first win of the season, the Red and Gold flippers edged the high-flying DeSales outfit in one of the most exciting encounters ever played on the Toledo floor. It was close all the way, with each bucket changing the lead; Bergman sinking the winning goal in the final seconds of play.

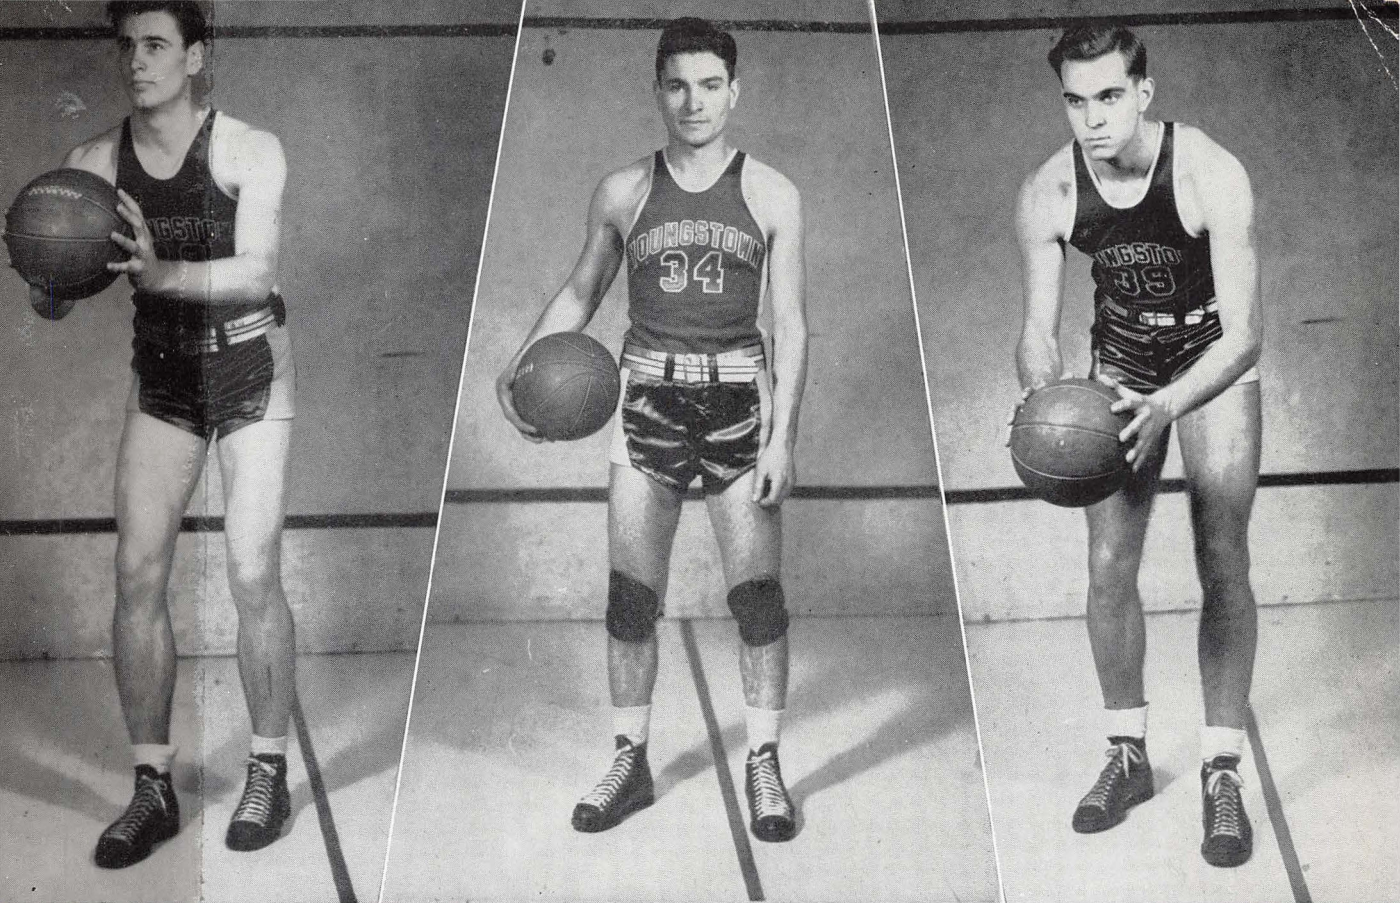

Youngstown 39
Bowling Green 31

Closing their first road trip of the year, the Penguins handed Bowling Green its first defeat of the season. Sparked by Leo Mogus, frosh guard, the Youngstowners romped all the way, with the entire varsity line-up playing good ball.

541

Youngstown 38
 Hiram 37

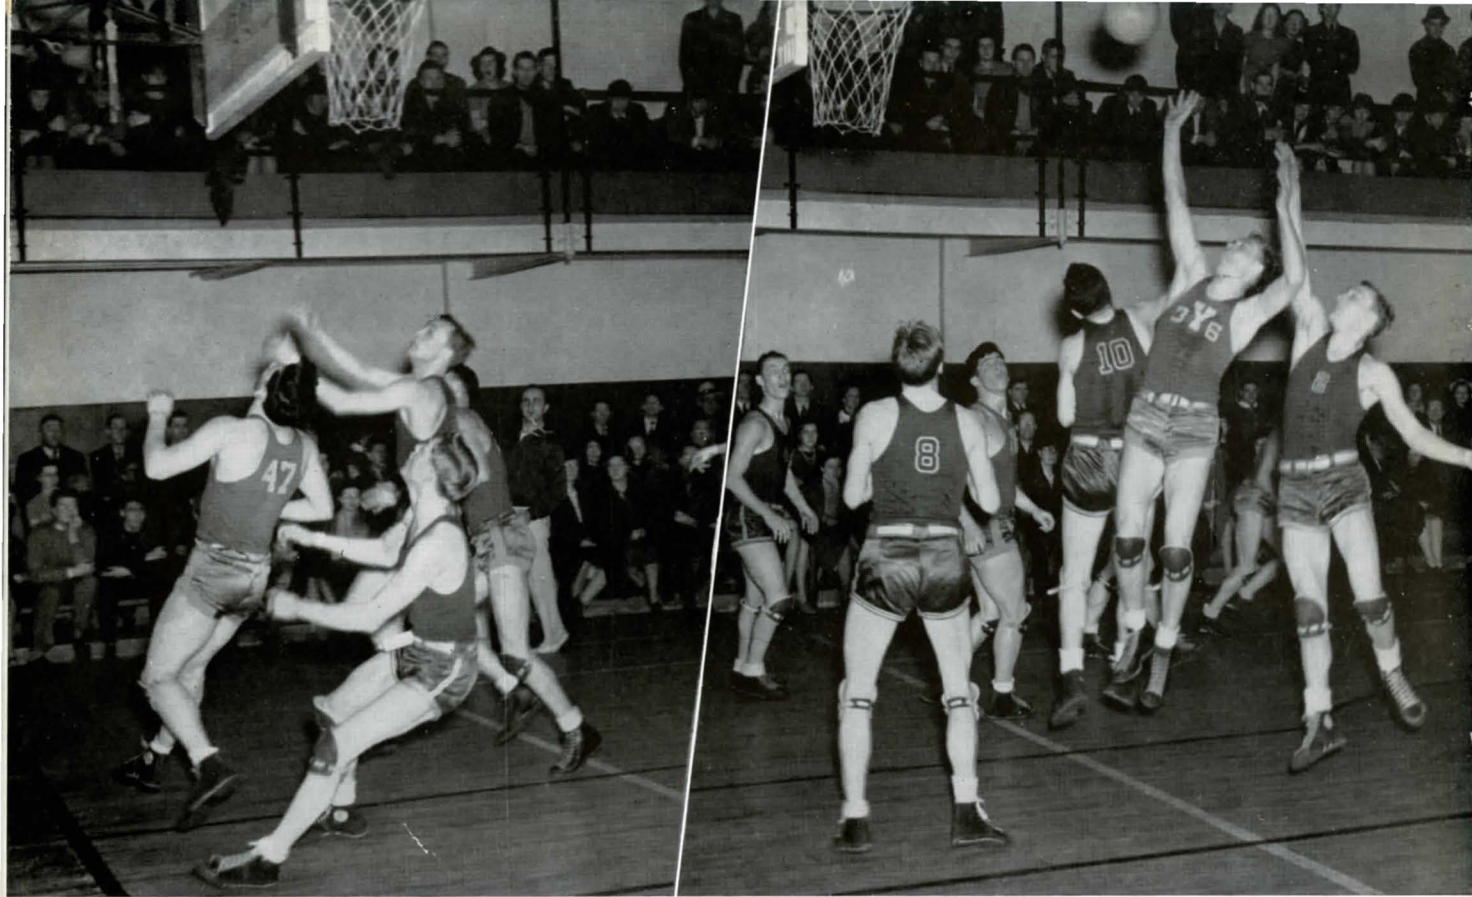

With Corletzi's last second charity toss proving the margin of victory, the Sweeneymen made it three wins in a row as they tamed the Terriers of Hiram in the first home game of the year. Corletzi kept the Penguins in the contest with his sensational one handed side shots; finally icing the game with his foul shot.

Youngstown 51
 Defiance 46

Riding the crest of a winning streak, the Youngstown cagers swamped a bewildered Defiance combine before a capacity crowd. With Bergman and Mogus again leading the fast breaking offense, the varsity amassed a 40-25 advantage before retiring in favor of the reserves.

Youngstown 28
 Cortland 26

Starting the New York trip with their fifth straight triumph, the roving Youngstown basketekers nosed out the Teachers of Cortland College. With a 13-12 lead at intermission, Mogus ran wild to drop in 21 points, while Enterline and Vivo contributed excellent floor work to insure a Penguin win.

541

Youngstown 39
St. Lawrence 47

A fast passing St. Lawrence squad finally snapped the five game winning streak, downing the Penguins in a fast tilt before the season's largest crowd. The inability of the Youngstowners to throttle Talhurst, enemy ace, proved the margin of victory.

Youngstown 38
Ithaca 47

After leading for three periods, Ray Sweeney's lads fell apart in the final quarter, as the Ithacans launched a determined rally. Bergman carried the offensive burden for the locals while Johnny Aiken contributed the finest defensive play of the whole trip.

Youngstown 35
St. Bonaventure 40

Completing their disasterous road swing, the Red and Gold courtmen bowed before the superior passwork of the St. Bonaventure flippers. Ahead 22-14 at the half, the Penguins surrendered the lead before the Saints late rally. Mogus dropped in 11 points to maintain his high average.

Youngstown
Ashland 28
37

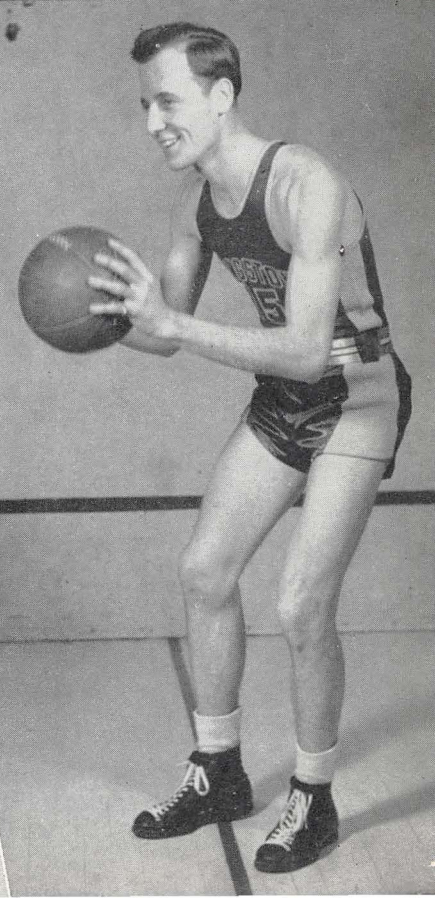

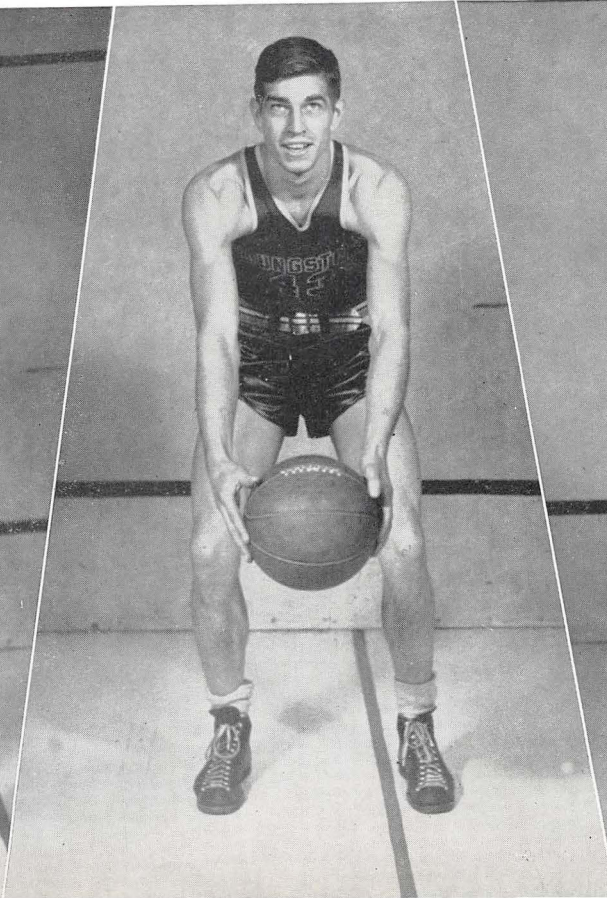

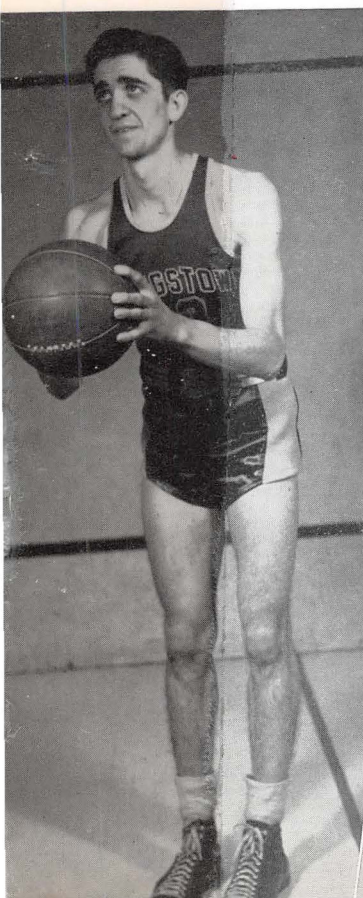

Unable to shake off the effects of their long road trip, the Youngstowners suffered their fourth consecutive loss against the Golden Eagles of Ashland. Starting fast per usual, and leading at the half, the Youngstown offense slowed considerably as Ashland started hitting the basket.

Youngstown
W. Liberty 63
51

Romping to an easy win, a victory-starved Red and Gold five swamped the Teachers of West Liberty as they recorded their sixth win of the current campaign. Bergman and Mogus gathered 35 points between them, and the whole squad handled the ball well.

Youngstown
Westminster 53
55

Staging a brilliant rally in the closing minutes, the Youngstowners forced the Westminster combine to the limit but were unable to erase the Titans early lead. Starting slowly, the Penguins sparked by Mogus, who dropped in 25 points, spurred in the final period, only to be beaten by the gun.

Youngstown 38
Waynesburg 54

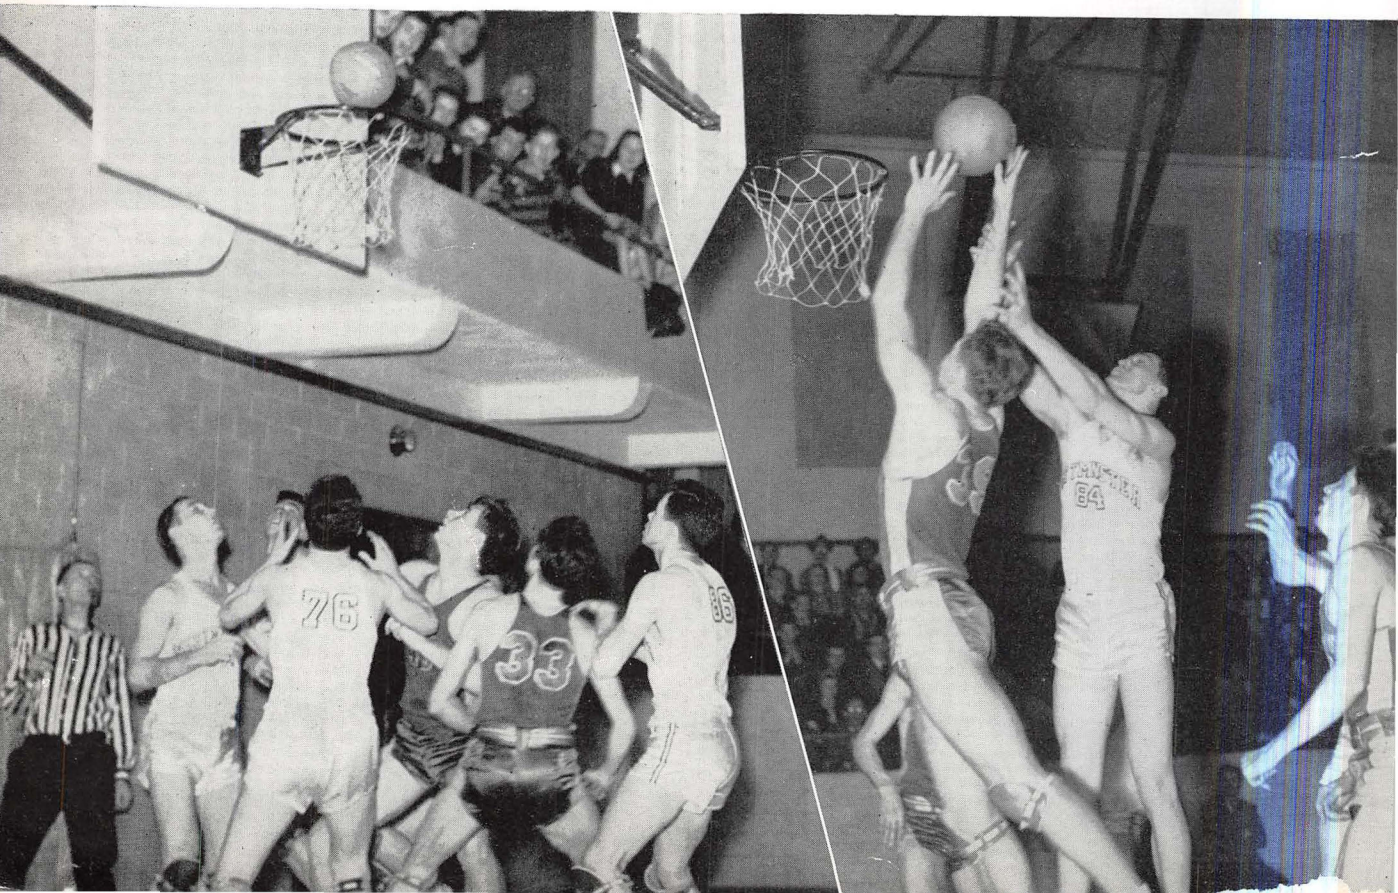

Returning to their careless ways, an injury-riddled Youngstown squad dropped a decision to a rough and ready Waynesburg outfit. Leading at the half, the Sweeneymen wilted before the pressure applied by the Pennsylvanians. Gathering 16 markers, Leo Mogus established a new Youngstown scoring record.

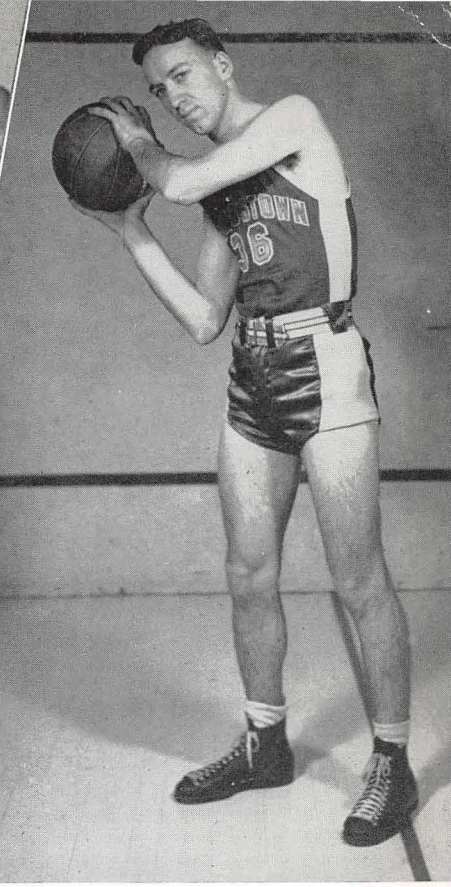

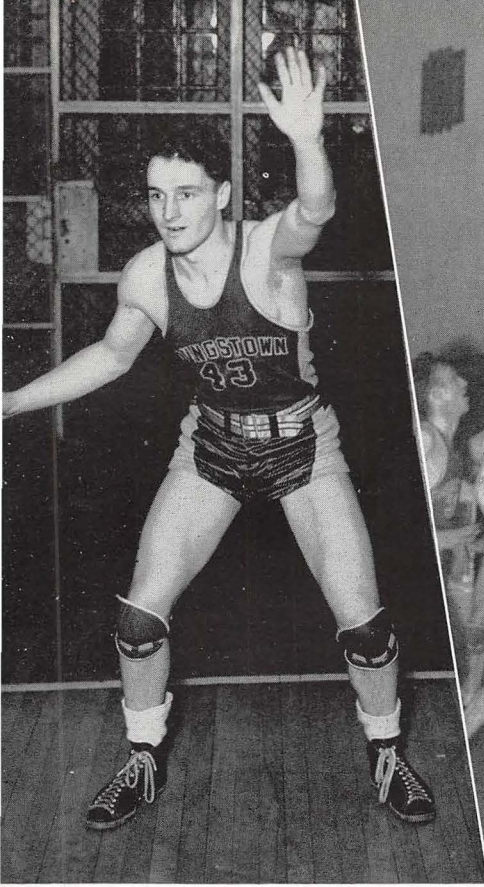

Youngstown 37
Westminster 44

Stepping off to a fast start, the Westminster cagers were never headed as they coasted to a victory over the Youngstown lads. Playing before the largest home crowd of the year, the Penguins, led by Steve Chuey, fought the tall Titans to a stand-still in the last half, but failed to close the gap.

Youngstown 48
Hiram 40

Uncorking a spectacular attack in the final quarter, the Red and Gold passers overwhelmed a fighting Hiram five to again return to their winning ways. Bergman, Corletzi, and Mogus starred as the whole team displayed fine floor work.

Youngstown 46
St. Francis 28

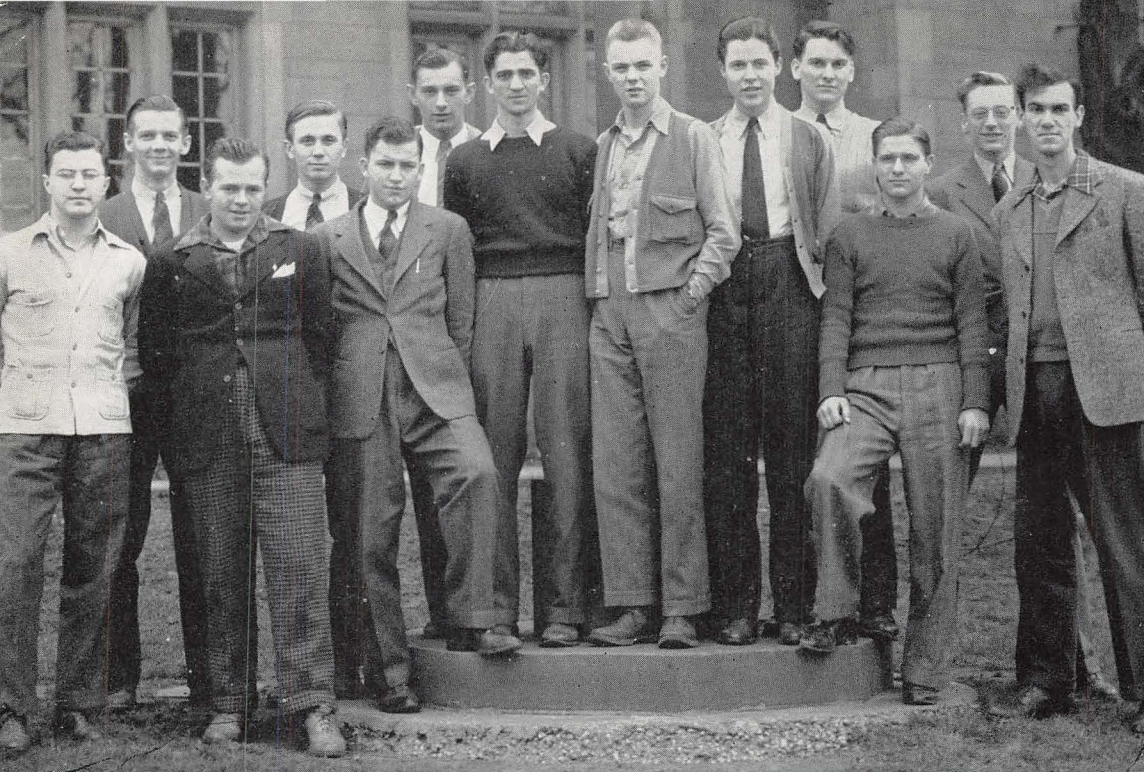

Never surrendering their early lead, the Sweeneymen notched the seventh win of the year, downing the St. Francis five at Boardman gym. With a 33-18 advantage at the half, the locals breezed in as Mogus tossed in 18 points to capture individual scoring honors for the evening.

Youngstown 38
St. Vincent 39

Playing their last home game of the 1940 season, the Penguin cagers dropped a heart-breaker to St. Vincents. With neither team able to assume a commanding lead, the game was nip and tuck all the way, with McCall sinking the winning basket. Corletzi led the Youngstowners in defeat.

Youngstown 48
Westminster 45

Showing their best form of the entire campaign, the Sweeneymen finished strong to upset a highly touted band of Covenanters. The Genevans built up an early lead only to have Kenny Bergman toss in three buckets in the final seconds to save the game. Thus ended the thirteenth season of intercollegiate competition for the Youngstown courtmen.

Varsity Tennis

Opening their campaign with a 5-4 win over the Westminster Titans, a large but inexperienced squad of Penguin netters looked forward to a successful season.

Although the loss of Jack Wagman, No. 1 man for the past three years was a serious blow to the team's chances, several outstanding newcomers in the persons of Gribbon, Dutton, Hoover, Keiser, and Smotzer added strength. Durivage, McLaughlin, Barsodi, and Hanna were veteran holdovers.

The schedule included matches on a home and home basis with Westminster, Hiram, Mount Union, and Akron.

Interfraternity Council

This year the Interfraternity Council has brought about a new feeling of fellowship among the Greek letter organizations on the campus. All differences of opinion have been intelligently discussed and legally settled at Interfraternity meetings. This year brought about new rushing rules and new ideas on the conduct of sorority and fraternity members.

The Council is composed of the four officers of each fraternal organization on the campus.

The Interfraternity Ball was given in December with such splendor that it vied with all dances of the year for declaration of the best. Prior to the Homecoming football game, the Council sponsored a very enthusiastic rally at the Palace Theatre. In the Spring the group gave a parent's tea on May day.
