YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - "Historic Architecture of the Mahoning Valley," a special course beginning April 4, is being offered by Youngstown State University's Office of Continuing Education.

It will survey the domestic, commercial and industrial architecture in the Mahoning River watershed from 1800 to the present, and will include field trips as well as classroom studies. Part of the focus will be on the potential impact of the National Register of Historic Places and compliance and rehabilitation tax credits.

Classes will be held from 5-7 p.m. Mondays, April 4 through June 13 excluding May 30. Field trips will include visits to Kinsman, Wick Park and the North Side, Federal Plaza and industrial areas of Youngstown.

The instructor will be Rebecca H. Rogers, assistant director of the Arms Museum. She has worked as a preservation architect locally and for the National Park Service. She received a bachelor's degree in art from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., and master's degree in architecture from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge.

Application has been made for 20 hours of Continuing Education credit to the Ohio Division of Real Estate.

The fee for the course is $134. For more information, or to register, call the YSU Office of Continuing Education at 742-3358.

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Mailed March 18, 1988

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University President Neil D. Humphrey announces the appointment of Dr. James Cicarelli of Fredonia, N.Y., as dean of the Warren P. Williamson, Jr. School of Business Administration, effective July 1.

Dr. Cicarelli succeeds Dr. Frank Seibold of Sharon, Pa., professor of marketing, who has been serving as interim dean since last summer.

Dr. Cicarelli has served as chair of the Department of Business Administration at the State University of New York (SUNY) at Fredonia since 1984. He has been responsible for directing the activities of the department, which enrolls approximately 20 percent of the undergraduate majors in accounting and business administration degree programs. He has also served on several campus committees, including Academic Affairs and the Library Advisory Board.

Dr. Cicarelli holds three degrees in economics from the University of Connecticut. He received his bachelor's degree, with honors, in 1963, master's degree in 1964 and his doctorate in 1968.

Prior to his position at SUNY-Fredonia, Dr. Cicarelli served as the dean of the School of Business Administration at St. Bonaventure (N.Y.) University in 1983-84.

From 1980-83, he was the chair of the Department of Economics at SUNY-Oswego. He previously taught at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., and at Lewis and Clark College, Lewistown, Idaho.

ADD ONE

Dr. Cicarelli has served as co-director of the Fredonia Center for Economic Education, and was president of the New York State Economics Association from 1983-85.

He has authored three books and numerous magazine and journal articles, is a book review editor with the Journal of Business Forecasting and an editorial board member of the Journal of International Economics and Economic Integration.

Dr. Cicarelli is a member of the Academy of Management, the Eastern Academy of Management, Financial Executives Institute, The Midwest Economics Association and the New York State Economics Association.

He has been a member of the Long-Range Planning Committee of the United Way of Northern Chautauqua County, the advisory board of the Fredonia Center for Business and Industry, and Olean Child Care, Inc., a public agency providing child care for working parents. He has also served as a consultant for a number of Fredonia area firms.

Dr. Cicarelli, 46, and his wife, Julianne, have a daughter, Jill, 16, and a 13-year-old son, David.
