Youngstown University Student Ass'n last Sunday evening honored Mickey Yugovich and Tom Smolanovich for their outstanding contributions to YU sports at a testimonial dinner held at the Victoria Restaurant. About 125 guests heard addresses from Art Donovan, tackle for the Baltimore Colts and Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of the university. John David Poole Jr., editor-in-chief of the Jambor, and Jerry Harklerode, YUSA vice-president, presented trophies to Smolanovich and Yugovich following the dinner.

The two athletes were chosen as YU's top athletes in a poll of area sportscasters and writers conducted by the Jambor in cooperation with YUSA. Nine radio and television stations and The Youngstown Vindicator sports staff took part in the voting.

Yugovich is a senior enrolled in the School of Business Administration at Youngstown and has played on the first string of the YU basketball team throughout his 4 years at Youngstown. In his freshman year he scored 503 points for the Penguins giving him the all-time record for a freshman cager. This year he bucketed 1917 points, placing him second among the all-time scorers at YU. Tony Knott, a 1956 graduate, holds the number one position with 2,218 points.

Yugovich recently has been contacted by the St. Louis Hawks and several other NIBL teams who desire (Continued on Page 2)

Censorship Symposium Set Tonight at Strouss

Editor's Note: The following article appeared in last week's Jambor and we believe the event to be of such importance that repetition is in order.

The Social Science Club and the English Society will sponsor a Symposium on Censorship, open to the entire student body, on Thursday, March 24, 1960 at 8:00 p.m. in Strouss Memorial Auditorium. Views will be presented by Common Pleas Court Judge Erskine Maiden, Atty. John W. Powers, Rev. Frank Schulman and Dr. Gordon O'Brien with Dr. Kelsie Harder serving as moderator.

Judge Maiden graduated from Raven School. He attended Harvard College, Harvard Law School, Western Reserve University Law School. In 1916, Judge Maiden was admitted to the practice of law. He is a member of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Masonic Order, Order of Scottish Clan for 50 years, Kiwanis Club and the Tabernacle United Presbyterian Church.

Kiwanis Form Service Club

Circle K, a service club sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, is in the process of being organized on the YU campus. One of the purposes of the group will be to interest local high school students in attending Youngstown University.

Several students have been meeting with the object of securing the permission of the University and a charter from the Kiwanis. YU men who are interested in joining can contact Ron Lautzenheiser of Youngstown at SW-22242 or Rudy Schlais of Hubbard at KE-43465.

Mistake in Dues

In the March 18th issue of the JAMBAR, the statement was made that the senior class had voted to raise Senior Class dues from $10 to $15. This was incorrect.

Thank You

We are proud to say that some of our faculty members did note the seriousness of the censorship issue in the trial ended last week testing the merits of the book "Sex Life of a Cop", and testified for the defense.

We commend those faculty members who did testify, not only for their appearances but for the excellent manner in which they handled themselves on the witness stand. The erudite answers competency of their testimony was a bright spot in the proceedings.

The Choice is Yours

It appears that the thugs, hoodlums and other racketeers that infest the city of Youngstown have abandoned their usual cautious attitudes and have become more daring in their illicit activities. The recent assassination of gangland figure, Joseph (Sandy) Naples and the recent bombing of the plush Sands Lounge are enough to substantiate this statement.

As in all underworld crimes, clues are few -- or so claims the Youngstown Police Dept. In any event, it is highly questionable whether the purporters of these atrocities will ever be apprehended. It is even more questionable that if arrests are made, that there will be any convictions.

The methods of the underworld are well known. Via means of bribery, intimidation and other equally repulsive methods the underworld rot continues to grow and thrive in our community.

On whom do we place the blame for this flagrant disregard for justice? The Police Dept.? No! The judicial system? No! The blame lies with those people who continue to call puke, like Naples, "a good guy"! the people who contribute to the livelihood of this scum by playing the "bug" and padding the underworld pocket. These people must shoulder the blame for the virulent condition of this city.

Until these people decide to quit padding the underworlds pocket with money and decide to dissolve personal ties with the underworld -- then and only then -- will the army of hoodlums, thugs, murders, whoremasters, crooked politicians and other degenerate racketeers be put where they belong. In jail.

Campus Garbage Pits

It's the same old story, the same two locations and the same students. But, once a semester The Jambar editorial staff is obligated to waste its time to indicate to the students of Youngstown University the plight of the "food-pigs" in the Snack Bar and Cafeteria "pens."

Item 1. Bags of garbage piled upon garbage on the tables of the two aforementioned places. This is a common sight.

Item 2. The shoving of people through doors by the "animals" who are too impatient to wait. A word to the "animals". The kitchens in the Snack Bar and Cafeteria won't permit their food stocks to become depleted. There is enough food for everyone.

Item 3. And this is the most disgraceful. The worst aspect of the miserable conditions to be found in the two campus eating places is the disrespect shown to the ladies who clean the garbage from the tables. Conveniently, rather carelessly, left there by the students.

To witness these deplorable conditions semester after semester produces a cynical attitude in the minds of The Jambar staff about the student body of Youngstown University.

We are tired of pointing out these conditions every semester. This entire mess is so trivial. You are supposedly students at an institution for higher learning.

If you, as college students, haven't yet acquired a knowledge of basic manners, heed our advise; there is no better opportunity than now to learn.

The Social Science Club and the English Society will sponsor a Symposium on Censorship, open to the entire student body, on Thursday, March 24, 1960 at 8:00 p.m. in Strouss Memorial Auditorium.

YU Music School Hears Dr. Harris

The School of Music of Youngstown University heard a lecture given by Dr. Roy Harris on Tues., Mar. 22. Dr. Harris, has been repeatedly named as the composer who represents the culmination of contemporary American musical composition. His topic was, "Music In Contemporary Soviet Russia". Dr. Harris was appointed as a cultural ambassador to Soviet Russia by the State Department in 1958.

In 1938 Roy Harris completed his Third Symphony which established him as one of the foremost American composers. This work also secured for Harris the enviable position of being one of the most performed of all American composers. Dr. Harris is one of the most picturesque and colorful figures among our creative musicians; his intense Americanism with its racy flavor of the Southwest gives his work a highly nationalistic character.

Excerpts of Speech by Newspaper Publisher

By John S. Knight

(publisher, Knight newspapers)

Too many editorial pages ... read as if the editor were more interested in wordage than wisdom and wallop ...

I get the impression that while the average editor feels he must be an authority on everything from the ardvark to Zachariah, he is so mild-mannered about it all that no reader gets mad enough to cancel his subscription. This timid and torpid approach to the grave questions of our times hardly calculated to stimulate thought, and thus does not serve the function for which editorial pages are intended ...

We have drifted a long way from the fire-eating, "sockem-rockem" breed of editors to the comfortable conformists who are against sin and the Democratic Party ...

Newland on Korean Elections

Rhee Working To Insure Political Victory

By Lynn C. Newland

Important presidential primaries are being held in the United States now and in South Korea a Presidential election is being held which is worthy of attention to us in the States. Korea is the land which occupied our time, money, resources and armies from 1950 to the signing of an armistice in July of 1953. This is the country we rescued from the arms of Communism; in the "police action" or war, whichever you prefer. It is interesting to note how this country, whose freedom we fought for, manages its elections. Its supposedly "free" and democratic elections.

Newland

South Korea has two political parties. The Liberal Party and the Democratic Party. Syngman Rhee is boss of the Liberal machine and the deceased Chough Pyunk Ok was leader of the Democratic faction. Dr. John M. Chang is now recognized as the Democratic leader.

Because of the death of Chough Ok, Rhee will be unopposed and ultimately re-elected by South Korea's ten million voters.

Even so, Rhee's Liberals are not being fair about the election. The incessant drive to win this and all other elections can be attributed to the Democrats' Dr. John M. Chang who defeated Rhee's personal candidate for the Vice Presidency in 1956. Since this victory of the Democrats Rhee has vowed it will never happen again.

And, Syngman Rhee is employing many underhanded efforts to insure his party's victory this week.

Government jeeps are used to carry loudspeakers to drown out speeches of the Democratic candidates. Jeeps carrying campaign banners with re-elect Rhee slogans.

Democratic campaign workers are being coerced by gangs of juveniles; gangs supported by Rhee. The hoodlums not only assault the opposition, but break up political rallies and steal campaign literature.

Because Rhee is unopposed for the Presidency the contest is for the Vice Presidency. In a free election the Democratic incumbent, Chang, could probably win. His opponent is Lee Ki Poong. Poong has not attended Assembly sessions for a year.

Do the Democrats have a chance in this election? "If a free election were guaranteed," said Dr. Chang, "there is not the slightest doubt that I would win a landslide." And, according to the Liberal Party "everything" is under control. Evidently so.

It is quite difficult to reconcile these accounts of coercion in my mind in light of the fact that only seven years ago this country was struggling for its freedom from Communist oppression.

Ironical, isn't it, that a country which came so close to losing its freedom has resorted to terrorist methods to insure political victory.

King's Second Childhood Revealed In "Mine Enemy Grows Older"

By Audrey A. Zagorec
(Jambar book critic)

"I can look anybody in the eye because all I ever owed anybody was just 'money'."

MINE ENEMY GROWS OLDER is a revealing autobiography by Alexander King, painter, TV star, one-time editor of Life, illustrator, dope addict, cartoonist and four-time husband. He ably and dramatically describes why he is characterized as the man who has done everything and known everyone.

A century-long experiment in England has shown that chemical fertilizers neither kill earthworms nor bother soil bacteria.

King is one of the few true non-conformists - used in the truest sense, meaning free from the binding ties and laws of society - left in the twentieth century. His story is of the writers, artists, actors, and lovers he knew and lived with for thirty years; people we think are only figments of the imagination. King is extremely witty and abrasively honest.

King explains he will not begin his autobiography as others do in childhood and then proceed in orderly fashion toward the conclusion of life, old age. His life skips and hops - it's a series of anecdotes - it's a zany world that can't be ignored.

Thus this is a story of a dope addict with a calcified kidney - King repeatedly reminds his readers of his kidney condition - hoping that he would live long enough to finish writing one page, then one chapter; he, of course, lived to finish the entire book and see the calamity it is creating among the reading public. Alexander King, explosive and anarchic being, full of good will and salt-free baby food lives in his second-childhood hoping that it will be as full of raptures and heart-breaking surprises as the first one was.

Concealment or Bust?

TALE OF THE TAPE: Apparently the California smog hasn't impaired the vision of the male students at San Francisco City College. It seems that the 41-inch bust measurement of pretty Sandy Cherniss, 21-year-old sophomore, is causing such a rise in temperature among the male population on campus that the school administration has beseeched her to be "as inconspicuous as possible" when on campus. A campus spokesman said she has been asked to please, please wear loose clothing --- maybe something like a school dress.

We'd like to admit right here and now that the main reason we run advertisements like this is to get you, dear reader, to drink Coca-Cola to the virtual exclusion of all other beverages. The sooner you start going along with us, the sooner we'll both begin to get more out of life.

his talents for pro cage work.

During his four years at Woodrow Wilson High School he was named to both the all-city and all-state cage squads. This year he was named a member of the "Who's Who in Small College Basketball" by the NCAA.

Smolanovich who sparked Coach Dwight (Dike) Beede's football teams for the last four years received the trophy for the most valuable football player at the testimonial. He has played at numerous positions on the gridiron, but finally came into his own at the end position and as a defensive halfback.

Basis for his nomination was his uncanny pass receiving ability and general all around playing ability for the Penguins. Last December he signed a professional football contract with the Ottawa Roughriders of the Canadian Circuit. At Youngstown he also excelled in punting on fourth down maneuvers and scored many extra points for the Beedemen.

Smolanovich is married to the former Carolyn Jones of Poland, Ohio, and has two children.

Father John Lucas, philosophy and religion instructor, gave the invocation in the absence of Father Paul Petric, YU Catholic Chaplain.

Harold R. Freas, president of YUSA and coordinator of the event, welcomed guests and gave the tributes to the athletes. Chuck Perazich of the Youngstown Vindicator introduced guest speaker, Donovan following the dinner.

Donovan amused guests with anecdotes about his career with the Baltimore Colts and answered questions concerning professional football.

Pres. Jones spoke about Yugovich and Smolanovich, commending them, on their sportsmanship and humility throughout their years on the gridiron and cage floor.

The testimonial dinner was the first sponsored by the Youngstown University Student Ass'n and promises to be an annual affair.

Looking Around...

By Pat McCarren

Why is it -- the only time you remember that you're out of razor blades is in the morning when you roll out of bed, and you have to use the same blade you've been using for the past ten days. Well, at least your mother remembers to keep in a good stock of band-aids.

It is the morning after the night before, you're putting on your shoes, and the lace snaps . . . for the fourth time. There is not enough lace left to tie another knot, so what do you do . . . break down and buy another pair of laces, paint your feet black or start wearing thick socks.

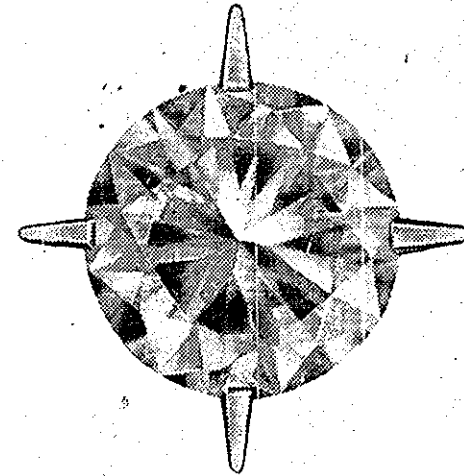

SEEN IN THE CAFETERIA

It saddens us to see a man make a fool of himself in front of his true-love. While looking for some earth-shocking event in the Cafeteria, we witnessed this little episode.

Some fellow, trying to impress his girl by acting very nonchalant and debonaire, flipped out a cigarette with the air of a man who has complete control of his environment, and casually lit it with his solid-gold, imported, variable flame lighter, complete with a rhinestone flint wheel and mink wick. As the initial flash ended and the smoke began to clear, he noticed someone snickering beside him. To his horror, he found out he was smoking the cork-tipped, charcoal activated filter, which was emitting an aroma that was sending people screaming to the windows and doors for fresh air.

The moral of this story . . . don't smoke cigarettes with filters at only one end. Try the newest of the brands, DEATH, the cigarette with filters at both ends, giving you four inches of cotton recessed cotton filters and one-half inch of slightly stale vegetable fibers, guaranteed to be gathered in DEATH is recommended by that popular quartet, the Four Sore Throats, whose current hit is "Give Me Your Heart, Dear; I want to Create a Monster".

"NO PARKING"

As everyone knows, the most serious problem facing American colleges today is the shortage of parking space for students' cars.

Many remedies have been offered to solve this vexing dilemma. For instance, it has been suggested that all students be required to drive small foreign sports cars which can be carried in the purse or pocket. This would, of course, solve the parking problem but it would make double dating impossible—unless, that is, the boys make the girls run along behind the car. But that is no solution either because by the time they get to the prom the girls will be panting so hard that they will wilt their corsages.

Another suggested cure for our parking woes is that all students smoke Marlboro cigarettes. At first glance this seems an excellent solution because we all know Marlboro is the cigarette which proved that flavor did not go out when filters came in—and when we sit around and smoke good Marlboros we are so possessed by sweet contentment that none of us wishes ever to leave, which means no gadding about which means no driving, which means no parking problem.

But the argument in favor of Marlboros overlooks one important fact: when you run out of Marlboros you must go get some more, which means driving, which means parking, which means you're right back where you started.

Probably the most practical suggestion to alleviate the campus parking situation is to tear down every school of dentistry in the country and turn it into a parking lot. This is not to say that dentistry is unimportant. Gracious, no! Dentistry is important and vital and a shining part of our American heritage. But the fact is there is no real need for separate schools of dentistry. Dentistry could easily be moved to the school of mining engineering. Surely anyone who can drill a thousand feet for oil can fill a simple little cavity.

Take the case of dental student Fred C. Sigafos...

This experiment—combining dentistry with mining engineering—has already been tried at several colleges—and with some very interesting results. Take, for instance, the case of a dental student named Fred C. Sigafos. One day recently Fred was out practicing with his drilling rig in a vacant lot just off campus. He sank a shaft two hundred feet deep and, to his surprise and delight, he struck a detergent mine. For a while Fred thought his fortune was made but he soon learned that he had drilled into the storage tank of the Eagle Laundry. Walter P. Eagle, president of the laundry, was mad as all get-out and things looked mighty black for Fred. But it all ended well. When Mr. Eagle called Fred into his office to chew him out, it so happened that Mr. Eagle's beautiful daughter, Patient Griselda, was present. For years Patient Griselda had been patiently waiting for the right man. "That's him!" she cried upon spying Fred—and today Fred is a full partner in the Eagle Laundry in charge of pleats and ruffles.

Speaking of laundries reminds us of cleanliness which in turn reminds us of filtered Marlboros and unfiltered Philip Morris—both clean and fresh to the taste—both available in soft pack and flip-top box.

NOSMO KING

Campus Philosopher

by Frank Court

IF IT IS OUR PRIVILEGE TO VOICE AN OPINION, SO TO TEMPER THE FUZZAH THAT WILL BARF THE DOMINION: IN THE BOOK OF REQUESTS WE'LL VENTURE TO ENTER, LET THERE BE NO CLASSROOMS IN THE STUDENT CENTER.

In keeping with the trend toward expansion and campus improvement, Nuttsta U. had planned the building of a Student Center.

The student body was overjoyed and waited anxiously for the construction to begin.

A Nasty Rumor

Meanwhile, campus life continued in its usual unbalanced manner, concerned with the things that most collegiate intellectuals are normally concerned with. Money, avoiding work and graduation!

Nuttsta U. remained a happy and prosperous institution. That is, it was happy until a nasty rumor spread among the student body that classrooms were being planned for the Student Center.

Bitter feelings were directed at the administration by the students as a result of the rumor. They felt it a terrible injustice to include classrooms in a Student Center that was supposed to be built solely for the recreation of the ivy-leaguers. There was no shortage of classrooms. And therefore, no need for them in the Student Center. Something had to be done to stop it.

Crudly's Speeches

And something was done. Gustavus Crudly, an allocation major, delivered a series of haranguing speeches to the students trying purposely to incite their angry, inexperienced minds to a point of rebellion against the administration.

At various times throughout the day, Gustavus would emerge from the library with a soap-box under his arm. He would place the soap-box on the ground, himself on the soap-box and with a wave of his arm begin to deliver an address full of passionate, vehement adjectives.

Students would gather by the hundreds and cheer him on. Crying, "hoovah!" each time he condemned the inconsiderate decision that would place classrooms in the Student Center.

Interesting Addresses

His addresses were marvelous. He had, in his collection, some of the best ever recorded. He had the addresses of fascinating brunettes with tan and creamy complexions, sultry red-heads with eyes the color of rare emerald and frosty blondes with sparkling blue eyes and alluring white streaks in their hair. He also had an effective address that he used, complete with hand movements, to arouse emotions.

HAVE YOU REMEMBERED?

The address went like this: "Four score and seven years ago the board of directors brought forth on this corner a new college, conceived in cement, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are ignorant and need educated.

"Now we are engaged in a grave campus problem, testing whether classrooms should be allowed in our Student Center. We are met in confusion and should retire to the coffee bar because it probably won't do any good to complain. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"Was your friend shocked over the death of his mother-in-law?"
 "Shocked? He was electrocuted!"

—the antithesis of perspicacity. Right? NoDōz could save your life. Worth knowing? Right!

Too often, driving a car, is like reading a textbook. It can make you drowsy no matter how much sleep you get. But safe NoDōz fights this kind of "hypnosis." Safe NoDōz alerts you with caffeine—the same refreshing stimulant in coffee and tea. Yet non-habit-forming NoDōz is faster, handier, more reliable. So to keep perspicacious while you drive, study, and work—keep NoDōz handy.

The safe stay awake tablet—available everywhere. Another fine product of Grove Laboratories.

Columbus discovers the Winston Hemisphere

"Flavor, Ho!" The Admiral Shouted
 As He Sighted FILTER-BLEND

From the Captain's Log...

One Day Out. Weighed anchor and set sail in search of a filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette. Crew thinks this is wild goose chase.

One Week Out. Have sighted many filter cigarettes and smoked same. Crew still thinks the world is flat.

One Month Out. Discovered New World of smoking pleasure:

Winston! It is the only cigarette with a modern filter plus Filter-Blend—rich, golden tobaccos not only specially selected, but also specially processed for filter smoking. Crew now thinks this is a pleasure cruise.

One Year Out. Crew has mutinied. Refuses to go back to the Old World (non-Winston Hemisphere). I agree. Therefore I am founding a colony called Filter-Blend. Colony's motto will be:

Winston tastes good... like a cigarette should!
