It is open to all men of the University who like to sing.

Library Lists Rules For Charging Books As School Begins

The University library has initiated new policies and devised new methods in order to maintain order in spite of increased circulation.

Regular circulating books can be checked out for a two-week period. Fines on these books are now 5¢ a day, plus additional charges for loss. These fines will continue to add up until the book is returned.

Bound periodicals and reserved material can now be taken out from one hour before closing time to 9:00 A.M. of the next day that the library is open. Fines on these books begin at 25¢ for each fraction of the first hour and double for each additional hour.

Typewriters have now been placed in the typing booths on the first and third floors and calculators in two first floor booths. They are for student use but are not to be removed for any reason.

Only in cases of emergency will anyone be called to the library telephone.

Because of the fifty per cent circulation increase, a divided charging system has been introduced. General circulation books and the reserve material and periodicals will now be charged out at separate desks. With two exits and entrances, library users will now be able to come and leave with more convenience.

As soon as a student receives the

Four Day Program Acquaints Freshmen With College Ideal

All full time freshmen participated in the new orientation program offered for the first time this year to acquaint new freshmen with their opportunities and responsibilities as university men and women. Miss Marlene Mogish and Miss Eleanor Novotny were co-chairmen for the four day program held September 7 to 10.

New ID System In Full Swing

Youngstown University's long awaited identification card system was put into effect this semester with the issuance of ID cards at registration to all full and part-time students.

The cards will be used as a means of identifying YU students and as a replacement for activity books. Students must present the cards to vote at all Student Council sponsored elections, and for admission to University dances, plays, concerts, and other council sponsored activities. The cards do not take the place of athletic books, although they may be used to check the identification of students entering athletic events with the books.

Lost cards will be replaced at a cost of one dollar. There is also a three day waiting period from the time the card is applied for.

Student Council stated that the cards are merely a beginning. In the future they will be developed, refined, and put to a greater use. Council also warns that the cards are not to be misused. Any misuse could result in dismissal.

Youngstown's Newman Presents Yacko Day Picnic This Sunday

Newman Clubs from Youngstown, Akron, Cleveland, Kent and Oberlin will hold their annual Yacko Day picnic at the Eastern Ohio Conservation Club this coming Sunday. The Club is located on Calla Road off Route 224.

Youngstown will host the event under the chairmanship of Beverly Javorsky and Dick McBride. The events will begin at noon and run until midnight. They will include swimming, archery, boating, games, dancing, and the annual basketball tournament. Refreshments will be provided.

Everyone is invited to attend. Maps may be picked up at the Chaplin's office on the second floor of the Main Building.

Seven Commissioned In Army Ceremonies

Seven YU ROTC Cadets were commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Army recently.

Carl A. Nunziato, James S. Mika, Gilbert L. Noble, Ray M. Klein, Charles W. Greskovich, and Blase P. Deleo were commissioned August 19.

Nunziato was also cited as a distinguished military graduate.

Larry A. Schuller received the oath of office on September 5.

Lt. Col. Richard J. Bestor, chairman of the Department of Military Science officiated at the ceremonies held at Pollock House.

Loth's Book Is Honored

"Catholicism on the March" by John E. Loth, a history instructor at YU is on the list of Catholic books recently prepared by the library of the Catholic University of America, Washington.

Loth's book gives a historical account of the contribution to American colonial tradition by the Franciscan friars in the California missions.

Thursday and Friday freshmen attended lectures on orientation by faculty members. They also had an opportunity to tour the campus in groups conducted by fraternity and sorority members.

Saturday the emphasis was on social and extracurricular interests. A freshman picnic was held at Wick Park. Administration officials were on hand to welcome the students and campus student leaders spoke on extracurricular activities.

The University cheerleaders acquainted the frosh with campus cheers. The YU Band, the Pershing Rifles, and the Youngstown University Student Association also participated.

Displays by campus organizations gave the frosh a chance to become acquainted with campus activities and faculty members were available after lunch to answer questions.

Saturday evening a dance was held for the freshmen in Strouss Auditorium. To round out the four day program a tea was held for freshmen women on Sunday.

Assisting the co-chairmen in the get-acquainted activities were Joseph Purser, Gerri George, Peg Kresovsky, Dan Campana, Jean Sylak, Joyce Coble, Robert Steiskel, Joe Zitnik, Joanne Peroni, Marilyn Slemmons, Leroy Balint, Ron Lautzenheiser, and Elaine Cooper. YOUNGSTOWN STATE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
The University Jambar
Began as a "Red Paper" 280328

When a senior class at Youngstown University amounted to merely twenty-eight students and only the present secretarial school building existed, our school paper, "The Jambar" was originated.

Mr. Burke Lyden, who presently is employed by the Youngstown Water Department, was its first editor. He, along with eight assistants, typed and mimeographed the first two-page issue which came out in January of 1931.

At that time Youngstown was one of the most important cities in the United States because of its steel mills and was thereby dubbed the "Jambar city", the Jambar being a tool used on the open hearth. Hence the paper's name was chosen in order to perpetuate it.

A school paper was decided on at a general assembly for the primary purpose of offering general information to the student body. During its first year, two "Red Papers" were published. These were gossip sheets that were actually mimeographed on red sheets of paper. This idea, however, was soon abandoned.

During the second year of its existence, the paper was printed in book form. Through the years it became and developed into what it is today. What began then as merely a means of informing students of the college of what was happening, has now become an important part of our university.

NO PENNIES PLEASE

We've got a problem!

As the 1961-62 school year begins, we have a raft of new ideas for improving The Jambar. Our goal has not changed. It is still to provide the widest, most accurate news coverage possible.

However, you are our problem. In the past you've complained about the use of untimely items, a lack of sports news, and forgetting your club or department altogether.

The news coverage you want -- and deserve -- as students and faculty of this University will only be forthcoming with your increased support of your newspaper. We don't mean that you should drop your pennies in our mailbox, instead just take an active interest in your club or department affairs and keep us posted on your activities.

Design New Plan

The editorial board of The Jambar has come up with a plan which we feel will provide better on-the-spot coverage of campus developments. We want to divide the University into regular "beats" in much the same manner any city newspaper operates. It's a fact that a reporter will do a better job when he is assigned a regular area of the University community to cover.

In the past, The Jambar has been produced by an average working staff of six people. We haven't had the number of reporters available that we felt we needed.

We want people to join our staff who are interested in the work and upon whom we can depend to get an assigned job done.

You needn't be going into journalism to work on The Jambar. The key to success is accuracy and dependability whether you're going to be a schoolteacher, - engineer, - reporter, or - professional water skier. The Jambar, in fact any newspaper office is an ideal place to learn this dependability and responsibility.

Choose Your Field

There are a variety of interesting positions available ranging from covering the President's office to the athletic field and everything in between.

All our positions are not in the news field however. We need, in addition to reporters, business and advertising staff members and photographers.

Our idea is to set up a systematic contact between the reporter and his news source. We want people who will set up a regular schedule to cover their assigned department. This implies a double responsibility. The reporter must be there when the source expects him and the news must be available and ready to report.

Plan Needs Co-Operation

Even with aggressive reporters who will take an interest in their work, the plan will fail without the co-operation of department heads, publicity chairmen, and students.

Don't think you have to be an Edward R. Murrow to join the staff. The primary requirement is an interest in the work.

We do, however, expect our reporters to be reliable and possess some degree of writing skill. The fine points of newspaper style will become evident to you while you are working.

This is an open invitation to join The Jambar staff. However, don't waste your time and ours unless you are interested in doing a good job.

For a start you might come up and take a look at our plan for improved coverage. You will be impressed at the important part you play in it.

UNIVERSITY'S BUILDING PLANS

Urban Renewal is the hope of Youngstown University. Earlier this summer it moved two steps closer to reality when it received the approval of the City Planning Commission and City Council. The plan took its next step when it was sent to the federal urban renewal program offices in Chicago.

A hitch developed there. The University development is part of a larger plan for the Youngstown area which includes the arterial highway system. The highway plans were returned to the city for major revisions, and with it the University plans.

The expansion program needed a few minor changes which have been made by H.L. McClean, the University's redevelopment consultant. The total Youngstown area plans should be ready to return to Chicago in a few weeks. From there they must go to Washington for federal appropriations.

President Jones is enthusiastic about the progress being made. He stated that there is still a great amount of work to be done, but with luck renewal could be operable in a year.

On the other side of the construction picture; the Student Union, progress has reached a stalemate. Real estate owners, whose property must be had to begin construction, are unwilling to sell at

U.S.-British Offer Could Precede Disarmament Talks

By Rick Collins

A recent proposal by the United States and Great Britain has caused speculation throughout the world on how the Soviets will answer. The proposal asks for a ban on atmospheric nuclear tests to be policed by present means of detection. Very much lies underneath this proposal.

It shows the U.S. will no longer commit itself to an agreement to which the Russians cannot be held, as in the voluntary cessation of nuclear tests by U.S. and Russia. The Russians announced their dropping of the voluntary ban a mere two days before setting off one in a series of atmospheric nuclear tests. Moreover, the Soviets could well have been conducting subterranean tests without anyone being the wiser.

No Agreement Violated

These tests in which we were given but a few days warning would have to have been ordered seven to nine months before! This is not a violation of any pact since there was no agreement. Yet it was certainly not honorable. However, in this day and age where there seems to be such a lack of honor it is hardly a surprise.

The recent U.S. - British proposal will have its effects whether the Russians accept it or not.

The proposal shows to the world a solid foundation to build further agreements. It demonstrates a willingness on the part of the U.S. to concede our main demand in these tests, that is, inspection. This has been the Russians' main complaint at past conferences. Yet the U.S. isn't endangering itself since atmospheric tests can be determined by present means of detection without inspection.

Loss Unlikely

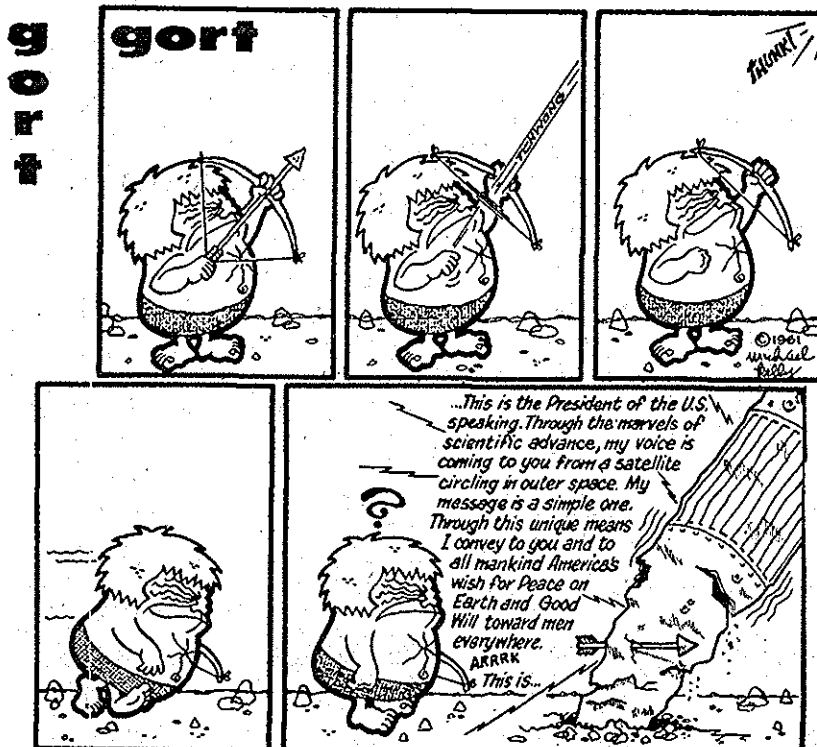

Thus it seems unlikely that the U.S. can lose. The Russians, by saying, "No" will demonstrate a new policy of callousness toward world opinion which may well be. Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, possibly the leaders of the neutrals, said they were "shocked" at the Russians' new series of tests. This shows that the Russians may have decided to care very little about world opinion. Should the Soviets say, "No", we then would know that they will have a tough policy and plan accordingly.

Should the Russians answer in the affirmative, we will have finally taken that one great step toward a possible ban of all tests and eventually even total disarmament.

present. This has delayed the building for months.

Overall, though, the future looks good. Today's seniors will probably never enjoy the results of these plans. But they will be alumni of a campus of which they can be proud.

Today's underclassmen are luckier. They will be part of a growing and influential university.

The Collegians View: A Survey

What I as a freshman expect to receive, earn, or make while going to Youngstown University:

I hope to earn and receive the degree which I will be working towards in college. I plan to make the best use of my college work and degree after graduation and make my parents proud of me.

I hope to make a lot of new friends and keep the old ones.

I will also enjoy going to the different activities and social affairs.

New Faces Mix with Vets in Central Michigan Game

By Mike Drapkin

Veteran YU football mentor Dwight "Dike" Beede, beginning his 20th year at the helm, leads his charges into the 1961 campaign next week with the hope that he has solved his backfield problems. Backfield losses include quarterback Harold Green, fullback John Morelli, and wingback Dave Hanson. The line will also be suffering with the loss of massive center Jordan, Bill Davidson, Pete Brown, and Tom Majovsky.

Frank Horvath, who gained over 600 yards last season is the only do-over backfield member from the team which compiled a six won, two lost record last season.

Besides Horvath, Coach Beede can count upon returning linemen Fred Patro, Ron Taylor, Dick Lewis, John Edwards, Dom Vecchiarelli, and Lyons, and Wayne King. Phil Williams of New Castle, Pa., is the only other returnee in the backfield with a varsity letter. In addition, Jerry Dorulla of Farrell, Pa., who is out most of last year with injuries, has been pronounced in good shape and is looking forward to full time duty.

Looks To Freshmen

"Our freshman crop seems to be somewhat better than usual," reports Beede when speaking of the team's prospects.

Beede looks to the six Youngstown indicator all-city selections who have decided upon Youngstown, as the key to a winning season.

The high school standouts who have decided upon Youngstown include Ursuline halfback Bill Reshock; Rayen guard, Tony Vecchiarelli; Rayen end Chuck Sammarone; linebacker Kenny Crawford of South; Tony Vecchiarella of Rayen, and Mooney end Tom Skowron.

A squad of 65 hopefuls have been working out in two-a-day drills at the Penguin camp at Lake Erie.

The YU schedule is one of the toughest of any school in Northeastern Ohio with Toledo University figuring to give the Penguins their most rugged battle. In addition, mighty Baldwin-Wallace has notions of an undefeated season and ever powerful Hillsdale, Gustavus-Adolphus, and Texas Lutheran are shooting for small-college supremacy.

Opponents on the Red and White rider schedule show a variety of old foes. Toledo plays Wichita, Miami of Ohio, and Bradley while North Dakota tangles with Nebraska and Iowa State.

THE YU SCHEDULE:

Sept. 21 Central Michigan U.
Sept. 30 Toledo U.
Oct. 7 at Baldwin-Wallace
Oct. 14 Southern Connecticut
Oct. 21 at Albright College
Oct. 28 at Hillsdale College
Nov. 4 North Dakota U.
Nov. 9 Gustavus-Adolphus

The Jambar is offering two free tickets to the Art Guild Theater to the person who picks the most winners in the games listed in this column. Just drop us a line with your selections, your name, address, and phone number.

These are games for the week of Sept. 23 along with my picks.

Youngstown over Central Michigan. The Penguins and Frank Horvath getting off to a good start.

Penn State over Navy. The experts tab the Nittany Lions for a big year.

Nebraska over North Dakota. The Cornhuskers defeat a future Youngstown grid foe.

The Air Force Academy over UCLA. The Uclans are a bit weak without tailback Bill Kilmer now in the pros.

Puget Sound U. over Willamette. This one should throw you for a loop. (It's really on the up and up too).

Duke over South Carolina. It's worth the gamble.

Western Michigan over Detroit. A tough Midwestern game but the Hilltoppers look a little too rough for the Titans.

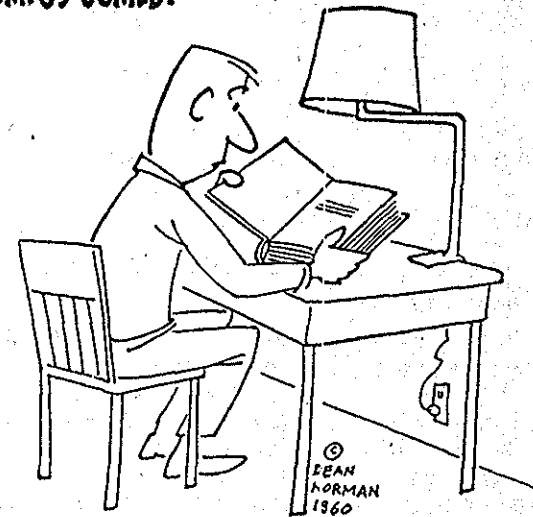

Army over Richmond. The Cadets should make it easy for you to pick this one.

Vanderbilt over West Virginia. The Mountaineers still have to depend on too many sophomores.

William and Mary over Virginia. The Cavaliers are still in the learning stage.

Those are the games I choose to match wits with you on this week. Just drop me a line at the Jambar with your selections.

As We See It

Forearmed is Elbowed

By Pat McCarren

Well, hello again group - we're off an running again in another year of learning, study, and the happiness of pursuit. We have a lot of welcoming to do to everybody - including new faculty and administration members, transfer students, and naturally, Freda and Freddy Freshman.

You have no doubt heard that a person enters college young and green and emerges dressed in black. The intermediate process of decay is known as a college education.

With a big, busy, and full year coming up, there will be lots for everybody to do. We are looking at the mess slightly confused as to a plan of action to follow. Perhaps we should continue in the same vein of a jumble of what-have-you, or perhaps we should go crusading like our friends downtown and try to change the world. We'll see what happens.

Now, let's think of the classes upcoming. No doubt, a large percentage of the faculty wasted very little time and have expended considerable effort thinking up ways to tax the already overtaxed mentality of the poor, long-suffering college students. We are used to some of their pccadillos and we certainly shall endeavor to laugh our way through any new mental quirks of the honorable personages.

To these worthy professors and doctors, a query. Art thou prepared for another year of strain and unrelenting toil? To the aspiring students: Gird yourselves for a battle extraordinary. We predict this to be a tumultuous year. To teachers and to students alike: TO ARMS.

And remember group-co-operation leads to graduation.
