Applications Accepted By Scandinavian Seminar

Applications are now being accepted by the Scandinavian Seminar for the 1961-62 study program in Denmark, Finland, Norway, and Sweden.

The Seminar, begun in 1949, is incorporated by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York. It has grown to be one of the largest overseas study programs in the United States.

Eligible for the program are teachers, college graduates, and college undergraduates interested in studying abroad their junior year.

The program is highly individualized, and all members are able to develop their specific interests without conflict.

The Seminar is conducted in a completely Scandinavian environment and in the language of the country of residence. Several months before departure, Seminar members begin language study with records supplied by the Seminar. There is intensive accelerated language study in the first weeks in Scandinavia.

Intwo family stays of three to four weeks each, alternated with short courses, language learning continues. At the short courses, in addition to the intensive language study, Seminar faculty and guest authorities lecture on various facets of the individual country, and Scandinavia as a whole.

After three months in the country, the Seminar students have a command of the language which enables them to study with the Scandinavian students in one of the famous "Folkhshskoler", adult education centers.

In residence at these centers, members study the humanities and social sciences, live with a Scandinavian roommate, and participate in the life of the school. They also carry out independent study projects in their fields of interest. Applications should be sent to the headquarters for the Seminar, 127B East 73 Street, New York, 21, New York.

Sadie Hawkins Day Festivities Planned For Next Wednesday

Kappa Sigma Kappa will stage its 24th annual Sadie Hawkins Day next Wednesday. Mayor Frank Franko will read the decree to make "Dogpatch" Day official at the university.

At noon Wednesday, campus coeds will chase the members of Kappa Sigma Kappa until they catch the man of their choice. Mahoning County Inspector, George Kroft, "Marrying Sam", will be present to marry the couples. The chase will take place in front of the university library.

The Sadie Hawkins Day Dance will be held at the Eagles Hallroom from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. A trophy will be presented to the test dressed "dogpatch" and to the boy with the best beard. Free doughnuts and cider will be served and the donation for the dance is $1.

Bill Senn is chairman for Sadie Hawkins Day. He is being assisted by Frank Maglicco, Dave McNicholas, John Edwards, Nick Aulisio, Bill Davis, Jim Wilkinson, Tom D'Amico and Rene Ogren.

Orchestra Seeking Talented Musicians

Any student who has had musical training with orchestral instruments and wishes to join the University orchestra, is urged to contact Mr. Alvin Myerovich, conductor.

It is not necessary to be a music student or to be enrolled in orchestra for credit. Rehearsals are held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 11:00 a.m. in Central Hall.

There are two concerts scheduled - in January and March. The orchestra also will play for Commencement in June.

Hold Your Books

Textbook Stealing Alleged In Snack Bar, Cafeteria

Book stealing has hit the campus again! The booknappers are hitting everyone, from freshmen to seniors. The main area of book-swiping seems to be the cafeteria and the Snack Bar.

IN THE cafeteria, a freshman left a six dollar, American College Dictionary on the table for a few minutes, and when she returned, the dictionary was gone. Another freshman left his health and biology books on the cafeteria book rack, and when he returned, someone had stolen them.

In the Snack Bar, a student set a book and engineering equipment down, and a few minutes later they were gone. The books was an Engineering Drawing Book, the equipment a T square, a scale, four triangles, and other equipment, valued at approximately fifteen or sixteen dollars. The student instructor refused to give any assistance, and the student had to drop the course, losing 30 dollars of tuition money.

Books also have been stolen out of lockers, and from various places throughout campus buildings.

Theta Chi Stages Harvest Moon Ball

Theta Chi fraternity will present their fourteenth annual Harvest Moon Dance tomorrow night from 9:00 p.m. till 1:00 a.m. at the Nu Elms Ballroom.

Lennie Esposito will provide the music. The donation is $2.50 a couple and dress is semi-formal.

Bruce McBurney and Sheldon Cunningham are co-chairmen of the event. During intermission Kathy (Schunn) Roof will crown the 1960 Dream Girl. Members of the fraternity will serenade both "Dream Girls" with their Sweetheart Song.

Crites' Attend 2-Day Meeting

Professor and Mrs. Harold R. Crites, the University's associates for the Danforth Foundation, will attend a two-day conference of the Danforth Associates at Dennison University, Granville, Ohio Saturday and Sunday.

Professor Crites will be a member of the panel which will synthesize the suggestions and discussions of the conference. Representatives from a majority of Ohio colleges and universities will attend.

The Danforth Foundation was established by the late William H. Danforth, prominent churchman, philanthropist and founder of the Ralston-Purina Corporation.

An Old Story

A favorite pastime among members of all branches of the Armed Forces is beefing, more commonly referred to by another word. Beefing among the ranks of soldiers, sailors, or marines is tolerated and accepted by officers in the belief that it is a release of emotional frustrations. In many cases beefing is even welcome by those in command.

A favorite pastime among the classes of students enrolled in our University is this same negative form of intellectual diversion. Here also, there seems to be a certain amount of acceptance of the condition by the campus student-leaders. The difference, however, between the acceptance of complaining attitude on parts of the servicemen on one hand and the college students is tremendous.

Enlisted servicemen have been traditionally unconcerned with changing anything in their environment - perhaps because they are unable; they are content to merely complain loudly about the food, the uniforms, the barracks, the officer in charge, the outfit as a whole. College students, too complain loudly about their surroundings, but college students are in an excellent position to bring about most of the changes that they scream so loudly for, while the servicemen are obviously not so fortunate.

We have come into a time, at this University, when more students must take the initiative, step out from the rank and file, and actively participate in the college affairs. There is altogether too much loud, angry, revolutionary talk on the campus, and far too few volunteers to do the work. The problem of APATHY is nation-wide. It could eventually be the downfall of the U.S. in its struggle to maintain peaceful supremacy in the world. Apathy, however, has never been more prevalent nor more pronounced than among the students here at Youngstown University.

Right here at Youngstown is an excellent place to start applying some sort of antidote to arrest the spread of that decay called Apathy.

Letters to the Editor

All University students and faculty members are urged to voice their opinions in the "Letters to the Editor" section of the editorial page. However, due to space limitations all letters must be restricted to not more than 100 words. Letters exceeding 100 words are subject to editing. All letters must be signed by the writer with his school and year of graduation indicated. The editorial board of the Youngstown Jambar reserves the right to refuse to print any letter which it believes to be slanderous or in poor taste.

Nixon Fan

Editor:

The American voters have admitted to the world, by virtue of Kennedy's victory, that we are weak and they (the Russians) are strong.

The Kennedy propaganda machine filled the voter's mind with distorted facts of our lack of prestige in European countries. What better way to lose prestige than telling the world you are, in effect, no longer a strong world power? Admitting defeat is to invite defeat.

Evidently this is the type of leadership desired by the American people. They have elected a man who presents a watered-down foreign policy and one who offers a "dole" type internal economic system. People must learn that they don't get things without paying for them, contrary to Kennedy's claims.

The most enlightening part of the entire 1960 Presidential election was the fact that Kennedy didn't receive an overwhelming mandate from the American public. The only voters who gave the "mandate" to Kennedy were the big cities. The big cities, which are comprised of people who can't think beyond their own stomachs. A lot of good a full dinner pail will do if we are a captive country.

I will close by wishing the best of luck to Kennedy and I for one think he will certainly need it.

Pre-Med Society

Editor:

I am writing this note in behalf of a group of pre-medical students who are interested in forming a local chapter of the national honorary pre-medical society, Alpha Epsilon Delta.

We have just begun trying to organize and we are very interested in determining whether or not there is enough interest among the other students in the University who are eligible for membership.

All pre-med and pre-dent students who are interested in forming a local chapter of the national honorary pre-medical society, Alpha Epsilon Delta, should plan to come to the first planning meeting which will be held on Wednesday, November 23 at 12:00 noon in room 307 in the Science Building.

This meeting will be primarily concerned with explaining the organization to the students who are interested and to find out if there are sufficient numbers of students who are interested.

Yours sincerely,
Ken Pupsio, AB '62

In the Commie Camp

Red China; Deadly Threat To Secure World Peace

By Frank Court

Red China just recently sent delegates to Russia for a visit, on the invitation of Premier Khrushchev, to take part in a celebration undoubtedly flavored with some big talk on world issues.

THE VISIT served a two-fold purpose. It provided Red China and Russia with a chance to celebrate together the Bolshevik revolution and also to prove to the world that all was well between the two commie strongholds, contradicting earlier reports of misunderstanding between the two countries.

The meeting has put Red China once again into the world spotlight. The last time being the fiasco put on during the U.N. meeting by Red boss Khrushchev who made a striking attempt to sway enough votes to insure the admittance of Red China. He failed but the inevitability of admittance for Red China did not follow the same course. On the contrary, they received the most votes they have ever been privileged to get and they must certainly be gloating with satisfaction.

RED CHINA is a major threat to the security of the free world. Its aim is to dominate all of Asia and it cares little how it is accomplished. The Communist Chinese are driven by a sense of twisted nationalism to reconstitute the age old historic expression of a Chinese family of nations. To do this, they must conquer all of Asia.

The establishment of this "united" China would in turn make it necessary to eliminate all Western influence, especially United States influence. How they plan to do this is relatively simple and most certainly horrifying. To them and their adopted way of living, war is inevitable.

CHARLES BURTON MARSHALL, a member of the Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research, states in a recent publication, that the Chinese Communist is a true believer of a postulated destiny and is bent on achieving an historic plateau of world Communism. He adds, that "Peaceful coexistence can only be an interlude to be accepted when the Communist cause is pushing to its destined triumphs."

The vast populace of Red China is sacredly obedient to the rule and capable of tremendous effort for the Communist cause. They have made unbelievable gains against the poverty plaguing their nation and have managed to produce enough to keep the wolf away in spite of the tired land they work.

They are a determined people desiring recognition not only in the United Nations but in the eyes of the rest of the world. They are second in the Communist camp and probably not happy with the position. In Korea, they managed to humble the free world by defying the U.N. and remaining unharmed for their actions. Red China is dangerous, perhaps more so than Russia, and we must continually beware of that country's actions.

End This Confusion

"JB: MLC says we're O.K. on that C.O.D. Your wife called -- there's a PTA meeting tonight and she needs the MG."

THOUGH THIS secretary's memo is fictitious, it could become reality almost any day now. With our mania for thumbnail sketches, capsule comments, digests, news-in-brief, and speed, speed, speed, it's little wonder that most of us are initial-happy.

Initialed government agencies dot our daily papers like dandelions in a meadow. Used to monogramming our conversations, we turn a disc jockey into a DJ, a post exchange into a PX - and cut a dignified personage down to size by dubbing him a VIP. As a sign of the times, playwright Archibald MacLeish, retelling the story of Job in modern times, made his afflicted hero a businessman called J.B. The playwright's "initial" effort won a Pulitzer Prize. There are even cases on record of babies being christened with initials instead of proper names!

Reasons for Blushing

Nervous Tensions Assume Numerous Shapes and Forms

Almost everybody has at least one, and many quite normal people have several. Nervous habits range from nail-biting to table-pounding and may include the migraine headache and the irresistible urge of some people to "tidy things up."

Nervous habits are symptoms of underlying tension. The world is filled with things that "get on our nerves" - - exhaustion, excessive noise, continued anxiety, frustration, quarrels, economic pressures, jobs, family difficulties, heat and cold. But some authorities look on the hopeful side of tension. E.M.D. Watson wrote that "Tension is desirable - - without it, we would get as much pleasure out of life as a jellyfish. People are now tense about being tense. The myth that relaxation is the key to happiness causes people to dodge the conflicts of normal life."

Doctors have found that your nervous habits may be determined by your age and sex, your family background, even by how well or badly nourished you are! Whether or not you want to part with your nervous habits - - and how successfully you banish one that you really dislike - - may depend in part on how well you understand the subject.

What, exactly, is a nervous habit? Most experts would define it as a constantly repeated gesture, mannerism, or body motion which is either unconscious or - - if the individual knows what he's doing and can't stop it - - compulsive. If you broaden the category to include nervous reactions to situations, then the chronic headache may in this sense be a nervous habit.

Willard C. Olson, in his MEASUREMENT OF NERVOUS HABITS, compiles a list of nervous mannerisms that included nail-biting, shrugging shoulders, grimacing, raising eyebrows, biting lips, nodding or shaking head, clenching fists, scratching, yawning, swallowing, clearing throat, hiccupping, coughing, sighing - - even belching!

One of the most common nervous habits, nail-biting, occurs among a surprisingly high percentage of children, teenagers and adults. A clinical study conducted to determine the extent of nail-biting reveals that 25% of children are nail-biters at the age of five. This percentage rapidly increases to 44% during the teens, and the nail-biting habit often persists well into the thirties. Occurring at moments when a person seeks relief from anxiety too strong for him, the nail-biting habit quickly becomes an unconscious one. Every nail-biter wants to stop, but he bites his nails without thinking, until shocked into a realization of it.

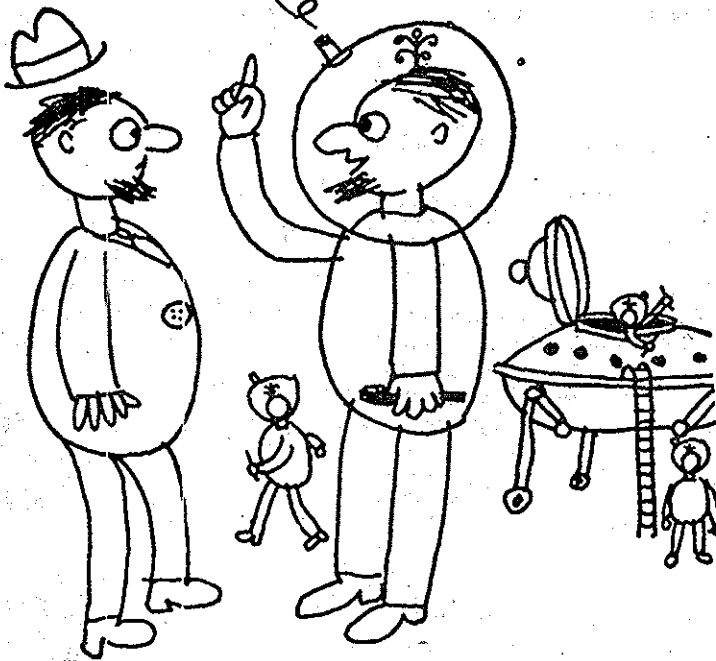

But some nervous habits are regarded as good for you. Unconscious gestures such as scratching the head or aimless whistling are probably healthy, since they act as emotional "escape valves."

The real reason for blushing, according to psychologists, may be that the blusher is seeking attention. Every little movement you make has a meaning all its own. Psychologists have even concluded that nervous mannerisms may indicate a lady's age. Signs of age include excessive tidying, picking up fallen objects with a "washerwomen's stoop," fingering silverware, walking with feet turned out, adjusting unseen straps, toying with jewelry, and pointing a finger to emphasize conversation.

Conflict is an inescapable part of modern living, and the resolution of conflict produces real satisfaction. So if you blush, scratch your head, or count the cows in the passing landscape - - don't be alarmed. There's a good chance that you're not in a bad way - - only human.

This Week with Greeks and Clubs; Mid-Terms Interrupt Campus Mirth

Our last football game was played last night, and soon the basketball season will start. But before it does, all of us, from the youngest freshman to the oldest senior, have those dreadful mid-terms to face. Can it, really be possible the semester is half over so soon? Sad though it may seem, it is true.

And from every corner of the campus comes the mournful wail as senior after senior learns that he really wasn't exempt from that lower division course, and cannot graduate until he picks it up. Cheer up, cheer up; things could be worse.

Advice for Uncouth People Manners Make Difference

By Annette Cioffi

Are YOUR manners showing? Of course they are, everything you do is noticed by someone, and immediately they will form an opinion of you - good or bad. Your daily manners are, most important because they are actually habits you perform without thinking. Therefore, you will either be judged as being well-bred and refined, or as a thoughtless and rude individual, insensitive to the rights of others.

Here then are some tips to serve as reminders of good daily manners - and remember, it's never too late to change! First of all, this being a college campus, we are all aware of the numerous cigarettes smoked each day; nevertheless, many of us are unaware of the proper smoking etiquette.

It is proper for a woman to smoke on the street?

Under no circumstances should a woman smoke on the street, or campus, as it may be. She may smoke in the privacy of home, or in public places such as restaurants, rest rooms, etc.

Does a man throw a lighted cigarette away when he meets a woman acquaintance on the street? If he stops to chat he does, but if he merely nods a greeting, it is not necessary.

Does a man or woman ask permission to smoke in a group?

If no one in the group is smoking, it is common courtesy to ask permission, but if other members of the group are smoking, needless to say, one need not ask.

If you are a guest and no ash trays are in sight, what should you do?

If there are no ash trays in sight, then your host either does not approve of smoking, or prefers not to have it in the home. Take the hint, and don't ever ask.

If you are dining in the home of friends, and ash trays are placed

Byzantine Priest to Speak

The Newman Club will hold their meeting on Sunday at Cardinal Mooney. The guest speaker will be Father Adamiak, a Byzantine priest from Holy Trinity Ukrainian Church.

Father Adamiak will speak on the Byzantine Mass. In connection with this Newman's next Communion Breakfast will be held at Holy Trinity Church on Raven Avenue.

HOW TO BEAT THE BEAT GENERATION

My cousin Herkie Nylet is a sturdy lad of nineteen summers who has, we all believed until recently, a lively intelligence and an assured future. Herkie's father, Walter O. Nylet, is as everyone knows, president of the First National Artificial Cherry Company, world's largest maker of artificial cherries for ladies' hats. Uncle Walter had great plans for Herkie. Last year he sent Herkie to the Maryland College of Humanities, Sciences, and Artificial Cherries, and he intended, upon Herkie's graduation, to find him a nice fat wife and take him into the firm as a full partner.

Could a young man have more pleasing prospects? Of course not. But a couple of months ago, to everyone's consternation, Herkie announced that he was not going into the artificial cherry business. Nor was he going to stay in college. "I am," said Herkie, "a member of the Beat Generation. I am going to San Francisco and grow a beard."

Well sir, you can imagine the commotion in the family when Herkie went traipsing off to San Francisco! Uncle Walter would have gone after him and dragged him home, but unfortunately he was right in the middle of the artificial cherry season. Aunt Thelma couldn't go either because of her old leg trouble. (One of her legs is older than the other.)

So I went. I searched San Francisco for weeks before I found Herkie living under the counter of a Pronto Pup stand. "Herkie, how are you?" I cried, looking distraughtly upon his tangled beard, his corduroy jacket, his stricken eyes.

"Beat," said Herkie.

I offered him a Marlboro and felt instantly better when he took it because when one smokes Marlboros, one cannot be too far removed from the world. One still has, so to speak, a hold on the finer things of life—like good tobacco, like easy-drawing filtration, like settling back and getting comfortable and enjoying a full-flavored smoke. One is, despite all appearances, basically happiness-oriented, fulfillment-directed, pleasure-prone.

"Herkie, what are you doing with yourself?" I asked.

"I am finding myself," he replied. "I am writing a novel in the sand with a pointed stick. I am composing a fugue for clavier and police whistle. I am sculpting in experimental materials—like English muffins."

"And what do you do for fun?" I asked.

"Come," he said and took me to a dank little night club where men in beards and women in basic burlap sat on orange crates and drank espresso. On a tiny stage stood a poet reciting a free-form work of his own composition entitled Exema: The Story of a Boy while behind him a jazz trio played 200 choruses of Tin Roof Blues.

"Herkie," said I, "come home with me to the artificial cherries."

"No," said Herkie, so sadly I went home to tell Uncle Walter the bad news. He was less distressed than I had feared. It seems Uncle Walter has another son, a quiet boy named Edvorts, about whom he had completely forgotten, and today Edvorts is in business with Uncle Walter and Herkie is beat in San Francisco, and everyone is happy.

Penguins Set Talley Mark with 55-35 Win

Lyons Registers Marker With 16 Seconds To Go

By A. Robert Steiskal

Last Thursday night, the University Penguins met the Gustavus-Adolphus Gusties in a thrilling high scoring game at Rayen stadium.

Youngstown kicked-off and recovered its own kick-off on the Gustie 32. Several plays later, it looked as though the Youngstown drive was going to be stopped on the 18 but on a pass play the Gusties were called for interference and it put the ball on the nine with a first down.

The Penguins pushed to the three but lost the ball on downs. Three plays later Thompson, the quarterback, fumbled and the Penguins recovered. Two plays later Richards went over for the TD. Hartzell kicked the extra point and the Penguins led 7-0.

JORDAN kicked-off again and it looked as though the Penguins would recover it again, but Kersten of Gustavus Adolphus finally came up with the ball on the 38. The Gusties lost a yard, but on the next play pass interference was ruled against Youngstown and the ball was put on the fifty. Then Thompson heaved a pass to Klomp who ran forty yards for a TD. The conversion was good and the score was tied 7-7.

Gustavus kicked off and DePinto took the ball to the 38. After three plays Youngstown was forced to punt, then the Gusties fumbled, then Youngstown was forced to punt again. On the first play from scrimmage, Thompson heaved a pass to Kersten who scrambled 80 yards for another TD. At this point Gustavus Adolphus led 13-7. The extra point was no good and the score remained 13-7.

THE GUSTIES just had time to kick-off when the quarter ended. The ball was traded several times in the space of a few minutes. Youngstown got the ball again on the Gustie 45. On the first play from scrimmage Green handed the ball to Horvath, and Horvath rumbled 40 yards for the TD. Hartzell converted and the Penguins went ahead to stay 14-13.

Jordan kicked off again, then Green intercepted a Thompson pass on the 44. Six plays later Green went over from the two to make it 20-13. Hartzell converted and the score read 21-13.

Gustavus got the ball on the kick-off, but immediately lost it again. Horvath, Green, Richards and Johnson shared the carrying chores this time, with a Green to Johnson aerial from the 21 giving Youngstown the score. Hartzell missed the conversion and the Penguins led at half-time 27-13.

The second half began in a spectacular fashion with quarterback Harold Green gathering in the opening kick-off and racing 90 yards for a TD. Hartzell converted and the Penguins increased their lead to 34-13.

YOUNGSTOWN kicked-off again and it looked as though the Gusties were on their way to a score, but they were stopped on the six yard line. Youngstown took over on the six and ran it out to the forty. There they were forced to punt, but a bad pass from center got past the kickers and he was caught back on the 23 yard line. Four plays later, Thompson passed to Severson for a TD. The Gusties ran the extra point and the score read 34-21.

Quatro took the kick-off to the 21 and then Frank Horvath on a hand off from Green, raced through a myriad of tacklers in the most beautiful exhibition of broken field running I have ever seen and grabbed another six points for Youngstown. Hartzell kicked the extra point and the Penguins led 41-21.

In the next few minutes both teams scored touchdowns. The first came when Backee scrambled over from the seven for the Gusties. They ran the extra point and the score read 41-29. Horvath again took the pigskin and scrambled 55 yards for the next score of the game. Hartzell again converted and the score read 48-29.

THE GUSTIES scored on an aerial from Thompson to Bakee. The extra point attempt was no good and the score read 48-35. The Penguins received the ball again and began another march. It was almost nipped in the bud by a fumble on the 48, but Youngstown recaptured the ball on the 12 after a long pass. The Gusties were determined to stop the last Youngstown drive, and did when Youngstown was forced to try a field goal from the Gustie 20 with only 28 seconds remaining. The field goal was no good and the Gusties took possession of the ball on their own twenty. However, Fran Lyons knocked the ball out of Thompson's hand and fell on it in the end zone with only sixteen seconds remaining. Hartzell converted and the final score was Youngstown 55 - Gustavus Adolphus 35.

Morelli Travels On Two Death Bound Planes

By Rick Collins

Ralph "Butch" Morelli, the hard-hitting fullback of the Penguins, said that the crash following the game with Southern Connecticut was not the first such tragedy in which he has been involved.

While serving in the Army he departed from a plane which crashed several hours later. Butch was deposited in Pittsburgh and the plane crashed in Jacksonville, Fla. on its way to Miami, killing 18.

Is Butch afraid of further air travel? He replies, "I love to fly." "If it's time to go it's time to go. I don't care where you are." Ralph added that the rest of the players don't agree. "If they have any choice they won't fly again."

Butch also commented on the Akron game which Youngstown will play Thursday. "With Akron records don't mean a thing. That's the way it always is.

Youngstown's coach and athletic director received high praise from Butch. He said, "I think Beede and Webster are two great guys. They always treated me good and I learned a lot from them." ANY YU grid fan can attest to the fact that Butch most certainly has been a good student. He crashed his way to gain 465 yards last year and will probably top that mark this year.

Win, Lose or Draw, Gridders Deserve Loyal Fans Support

By A. Robert Steiskal
Jambar Sports Editor

The Gustavus-Adolphus team, who I met at the "Purple Cow" after the game, had nothing but praise for the Youngstown eleven. They felt as though they had been beaten by a stronger, better and faster team. They did not think they had been cheated.

Why is it then that the students of this school and the press in this town think that Youngstown is merely a third rate bunch of rejects. They jump on the bandwagon when ever we win a game. They praise them to the skies and say that this is the greatest team Youngstown has ever had, but when they lose a ballgame they come out with a statement to the effect that you can't expect any more out of a group of ex-army players. This to me shows that Youngstown fans do not appreciate the team and its efforts.

The next thing I would like to take up is not in the area of sports, even if I construe it to its broadest meanings. The men of ROTC march once every year for corps night at the half time of one of the football games. Last Thursday night they put on a terrific show for everyone. Their close order drill was exciting to see. The band was very good, with only very few flat notes. They opened the game with the Star Spangled Banner, and led the festivities at half-time.

All during the review at half-time the student side of the stands buzzed with noise, cat-calls and cries of "Wick Avenue Commandos". There was not the least bit of respect shown these men. You may think the whole idea behind ROTC is stupid, but you must give credit to the men who slogged through that muddy field in such close order drill. These men lose shoes, freeze, and give the fans something to laugh and joke about while trying to put on a very impressive show. If the people in the stands would only observe they would see that these men do put on a show, and a very good one. If the students here would only grow up to the fact that these men are trying to get a commission in the army and better themselves and not to give the students something to talk about this would give our school the air of a campus and not a high school.

As We See it

Politeness for You

By Blase Deleo and Molly Stuart

Politeness acquiring to Chesterfield is "treating others just as you love to be treated yourself". Many of the students at Youngstown believe this little saying does not include them. Have you ever stopped and listened to some of the greetings exchanged by students on campus.

For example, take the Greeks, they usually start out with "Hello knot head, are you going to the Snack Bar" or the poor fellow that had a bad night at the A O H usually gets "Hi, drunk, boy do you look hung this morning". In other cases where two people are talking about a third it takes a few minutes for you to realize that they are talking about a friend because the conversation goes this way: "you know the one I mean, the tall stupid looking one," then the other friend says, "oh you mean that nut".

If an outsider would ever walk around our campus and hear some of these things we would probably think we hated each other - what's that you say, you do hate each other, well this was a waste of space.

Remark made by one of the Student Council members leaving the meeting last week; "boy, I got my name in the minutes two times this afternoon". That's what we call unselfish leadership.

If anyone sees a dog at the North Side Hospital being X-rayed don't be shocked. It seems one of the Tri Sig pledges lost her pledge pin and the dog is believed to have eaten it. Better luck next time, Fido.

There will be fun on the Freeway now. We are speaking of the drive-way in front of the Library in relation to the approaching bad weather.

It is not just the question of avoiding the speeding faculty cars now, but also trying to get out of the way of the dirty water they throw up. We bring this up again because of a request a very bitter freshman made, at the time he was wiping the mud from his eyes. They should start a course at the school named "Car Dodging 405".

A request has been made by an injured student, we cannot disclose the exact spot of the injury other than to say please don't offer this poor boy a chair. He would like to see a rule that would require all freshmen Engineer Students to put rubber tips on their "T" squares.

Student Is Sheep Queen
Carol Thompson, University freshman, was chosen last week as National Suffolk (sheep) Queen. Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, R.D. 3, New Castle, Pa.

Classical Society Meets
Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, Latin instructor, will speak at the Nov. 20 meeting of the Classical Society. Her topic will be "Italy."

The meeting time has been changed from 6 to 8 p.m., at Pollock House.
