Service Sunday For Prof. Reid

Memorial services will be held for Prof. O.L. Reid at the First Presbyterian Church on Wick Avenue at 1:30 on Sunday, March 26.

Prof. Reid was head of the division of social sciences and a member of the Youngstown University faculty for 19 years. He retired in 1953 on his 78th birthday. He was Professor Emeritus of English and history.

Reid came to the university in September 1933 as a part-time instructor in English and in 1935 became head of the English department on full-time basis. In 1945, Dr. Jones appointed him to the position from which he retired.

Prof. Reid was editor of Lockhard's Life of Scott and a Biography of Benjamin Franklin, and wrote numerous articles for publication. An authority on Shakespeare, he was widely known for his Shakespeare course which he taught at the University.

Listed in "Who's Who in America" for many years, Reid was a life member of the National Education Association, a member of the American Historical Association and the Academy of Political Science.

Prof. Reid died in North Hampton, Massachusetts, February 19, 1961, at the age of 85. Friends and students are invited to attend the memorial service.

Beginning April 7 the University Jambar will return to its regular weekly format.

Copy must be left in the JAMBAR mail box, Registrar's Office, or at the JAMBAR office, Pollock House.

The concerts will be held in C.J. Strouss Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Jambar Humorist Receives Award

The Horizon has named Mike Shelley Writer of the Month for March.

Shelley, the Jambar humorist, was chosen on the basis of a poem submitted to the Horizon last month. The presentation was made by Don Shelley, Horizon editor, at the English Society meeting March 15.

A spokesman for Horizon's selection said, "We were all pleasantly surprised by the poem. Seeing the Mike Shelley by-line made us look for the hidden joke or the underlying satire. But it wasn't funny and it wasn't satirical. We discovered it to be a rhythmic poem, smoothly written, with a serious theme."

Later that night Shelley was presented with the Horizon "Oscar"

The Dean's List

The YU Dean's List for last semester includes 2,017 students. This is quite remarkable for it means that nearly one third of the total enrollment of Youngstown University had a better than three point average.

Undoubtedly a few cynics will immediately conclude that this is due to the low standards of Youngstown University. We are inclined to agree, at first. However with closer observation this proves false. Anyone who can consider most of the engineering, math, biology, chemistry, economics, accounting, or philosophy courses, to name a few, easy, is an exceptional student.

Granted, there are a few "creame puff" courses. However these are found in every school. The fact stands, 95% of the courses here are a challenge to the student.

Certainly there are students who will boast they never cracked a book, yet get good grades. However, these people are in a minority and seldom make the graduation line.

2017 students is a large number, and the necessary point average will probably be raised. But those 2017 students deserve the recognition they have received.

The Penguins Are Winners

The Youngstown University Penguins lost to Wittenberg last March 10 in their opening NCAA game. We cannot rationalize away the fact that Wittenberg is a superior team. They had won 33 straight games and ranked number one in defensive play.

Although the Penguins didn't win the basketball game, they won something that is more important, respect for Youngstown University and the ability of its athletes.

The fact that the Penguins were rated high enough to be chosen as large contestants is an outstanding honor in itself.

Dom Rosselli and his team have shown a morale and desire seldom equaled. Pre-season forecasts did not predict a successful season for the Penguins. Yet they have earned the admiration of nearly all who have seen them play.

So it is that in spite of the fact the Penguins returned defeated, they brought victory to our school.

Letters to the Editor

Silver's Slammed

Dear Editor:

In response to Thomas Silver's article in last week's Jambar, I would like to enlighten him, and those who agree with him, on a few facts of which he apparently is not aware.

In 1908, our University was founded through a Christian organization, the YMCA. And since that time, our school administration recognizes that no education is a good education unless it is paralleled with the coordinated spiritual welfare of the student.

The writer's main contention is that he came to college to get an education, not to attend chapel services. What the writer may not realize is that time is allotted by the University Calendar Committee for religious activities so the individual will receive full benefit of the class time for which he pays.

Cardinal John Henry Newman briefly answers Mr. Silver's question in his The Idea of a University, under the topic, "Bearing of Theology on Other Knowledge."

"In a word, religious truth is not only a portion but a condition of general knowledge. To blot it out is nothing short of unravelling the web of university teaching. It is, according to the Greek proverb, to take the spring from out of the year; it is to imitate the preposterous proceeding of those tragedians who represented a drama with the omission of its principle part."

It is suggested that Mr. Silver consult the Youngstown University Catalog, 1959-60, page 5, "Objectives of the University."

Signed,
Fred J. Seminara

Dear Editor:

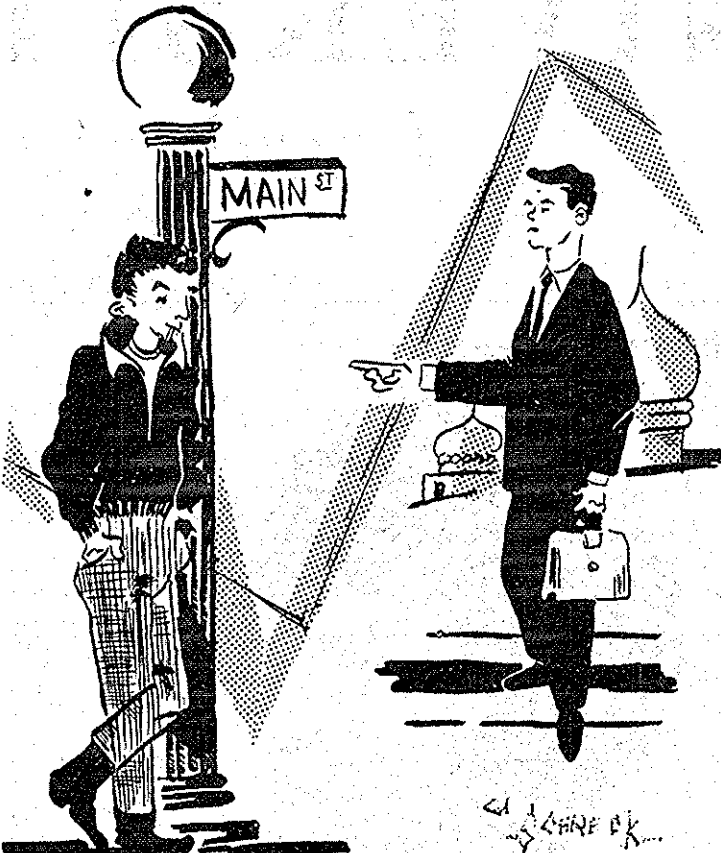

In the last issue of the University Jambar, you published a letter advocating that chapel services be done away with on the grounds that they take time out from classes, and that they are not for all students.

First of all these services are for all students no matter what faith they adhere to.

Secondly I feel that the average college student can well afford to take a few minutes of his time to worship together with his fellow students, but perhaps Mr. Silvers considers himself so far above his fellow students that the real waste of time he speaks of would be in worshipping together with them.

Has Mr. Silvers never cut a class? If not this is very commendable, but if like most of us, at one time or another he has, doesn't he feel this is also a waste of his money?

Yours truly,
Rita Doty

The Test of Time

Kennedy's Peace Corps Is Object of Criticism

By Frank Court

Recently, there has been a great deal of criticism levied at the proposed Peace Corps of President Kennedy. Although most of the criticism has been constructive, much of it has been pointless and even verging on the ridiculous. Witness some excerpts from an article written by Hugh A. Mulligan, Associated Press feature writer, that appeared in a local newspaper.

Mr. Mulligan, who must loathe American youth, depicts in his article his estimation of the typical Peace Corps candidate.

"This striking species comes fully equipped with red satin basketball jacket, sleek fitting dungarees, hand-tooled cowboy boots and a set of bongo drums," states Mr. Mulligan.

He continues to provide chuckles for the reader with silly analogies. "...the fact that he (the Peace Corps candidate) is used to the great outdoors, having spent most of his formative years under the light bulb on the corner, should make him at home anywhere, be it grass-roofed hut or an igloo." This only tends to twist the knife a little deeper into the shaky hopes of some people who think the Peace Corps might work, or at least should be given a chance to get started.

Even now, as plans are underway for its formation, the Peace Corps is meeting opposition. However, those who believe in it are fighting for it and if all goes well they soon will have their chance to prove its worth to a skeptical nation.

An article written by Mr. Franklin Wallick appeared recently in the Foreign Policy bulletin in defense of the Peace Corps program.

Mr. Wallick warned that the corps should not be, as many think it will be, an exclusive organization comprised of college graduates and field specialists.

He feels that it should represent a wide area of American life including unskilled and skilled young men with, of course, required qualifications; but most of all, the will to work and serve their country.

"One of the shortcomings of our educational system is the lack of our young people experiencing, seeing, and smelling the misery and poverty in the world," he comments.

And, he adds, "that we will not, as so many think, be pushing American ideology on these foreign nations. On the contrary, we will be giving the rest of the world a chance to see us as we really are and not as the imported Hollywood movies would make us out."

Mr. Wallick, who is optimistic about the plan, presents some very strong arguments in its favor. One area that he touches on is that of educated youth in foreign nations, and how we have failed to show them a good representation of American policy. Most of the youth of Africa, Asia and Latin America have been exposed to Communism and their concept of America is certainly not favorable.

The Peace Corps would give to them what our ambassadors are not able to give -- personal contact. This, of course, is what Russia has been doing for a decade and it has been effective.

It is foolish to sit back, as we have done in the past, and donate tools while the Russians send men who show the natives how to use them.

Which did you appreciate more, the textbook you read from or the teacher who showed you how to use it?

Yet, as serious as the Peace Corps proposition is, we still find men like Mr. Mulligan who think its amusing to tear the youth of America to shreds for the sake of satisfying personal bias; or maybe he does have some legitimate reasons for opposing the program.

If he does, it would have been better to state it, than to spend time creating a pointless article that had no reference to either affirmative or negative arguments, but only witty wise-cracks like this --

"Together they could teach the natives the rudiments of drag stripping in a residential neighborhood (with unmuted mufflers), candy store watching (any number can play), chinning on the lip of a subway platform ... and other quaint American nastiness."

Did You Know It's the Truth That . . . . .

Several days ago I sat down to write my column and pondered carefully the question of what to write about. At first I was inclined to do a column about this years bathing suits, but after some preliminary research I found there wasn't enough material; and so I went back to the jokebooks and plagiarized this column.

There's only one thing older than Milton Berle -- his jokes... A synonym is a word you use in place of a word you can't spell.

History of "Jambar" Shows Term Offers Odd History

By Marianna Kane

Have you ever wondered about the name "Jambar" and where it came from? Because of curiosity I have delved into the records with the help of others to discover the origin of the title. As far as it has been possible to ascertain, there is not another paper by that name in the world.

The word "Jambar" has always been a source of puzzlement to incoming students as well as perhaps to many upperclassmen. Those who appear to have the most trouble with the name, however, are the exchange editors of the other college papers. Every so often Jambar mail comes addressed to "The Jam Bar" and "The Janibar."

The Jambar was an iron rod used in the old pudding mills. It was used in melting and turning the metal. Some authorities say that this was during the squeezing and purifying process, while others maintain that it was only used when the molten iron jammed, hence: Jambar.

At any rate, Youngstown was known as the Jambar. So it is natural that when the college took the name of the town it also took the city's nickname.

Mayoral Candidate Is YU Graduate

Two Youngstown University graduates are making news in city politics.

Atty. Joseph E. O'Neill, son of the former mayor of Youngstown and graduate of the Y.U. Law School, is running for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Both men are former Kennedy supporters.

Which One Will Go to College?

They're bright kids. Many of them are qualified for a college education. Unfortunately some of them may be turned away:

Why? Many of our colleges are overcrowded today. By 1967, when these youngsters are ready to enter, applications are expected to double. On top of that, low salaries are forcing too many gifted teachers to leave the campus for greener pastures.

It's not a very bright picture. Something must be done to change it before it's too late. Help the college of your choice today. The rewards will be greater than you think.

This Week with Greeks and Clubs; Pledges Puzzled by "Nu" Experience

Paddles, pins, projects, and actives are familiar sights on campus as the second week of pledging comes to an end today. Lots a luck pledges, you're going to need it.

Congratulations to SAE and the Phi Sigs on their recent Founders Day celebrations.

BETA SIGMA OMICRON

Nadine Phillips has become a pledge of Beta Sigma Omicron through open bid. She joins ten other Beta pledges.

Most of our spare time has been spent at rehearsals for Greek Sing. On St. Patrick's Day, fifteen sisters enjoyed a trip to Theell to visit the Beta Mu Chapter.

Officers of the pledge class are Barbara Gioppo, president; Joyce Emery, vice-president; Karen Kasmer, secretary; Jeanne Davies, treasurer.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

Actives and pledges of Phi Sigma Kappa went to Akron University March 12 for a Founders Day Banquet with Phi Sigs from Kent and Akron. After the banquet they visited the brothers at Kent. Founders Day was March 15.

Dr. George W. Cunningham, Phi Sig district governor visited here Saturday, March 11. After dinner with the executive committee, he was introduced to the pledges.

AOII

The sisters of AOII would like to welcome and congratulate our two additional pledges who are Dawn Henderson and Joann Messina. Officers of the Spring pledge class are Judy Bowman, president, Joann Peroni, vice-president and secretary and Patty Green, treasurer.

The sisters had a terrific time at the "Hawian Party" held at the SAE house Tuesday, March 7. The pledges made up a few sporty songs about the SAE Active members which were hilarious.

Would Angela Healy and Rusty De Angelis please use the door next time they "drop in" on Tony and Gary?

TAU KAPPA NU

The sisters would like to congratulate Lois Coates who was recently pinned to Phil Swisher of SAE. We also are happy to announce the engagement of Donna Vecchione to Richard Guerrieri.

Several of the sisters spent the weekend of March 11 in Cleveland. The girls enjoyed shopping, seeing the Ice Follies, and just having a good time.

LAMBDA NU

After a semester's hard work, the sisters of Lambda Nu have been officially organized. They would like to thank Dean McCarty and Mrs. Braff for their help.

We also feel that sisters Gerri Ostrow and Jan Landis deserve special recognition for their outstanding work in making Lambda Nu possible.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The new pledges of Sigma Sigma Sigma that were received through open bidding are Mary Leporis, Susan Naples, and Katie O'Neil.

The new officers of Sigma Sigma Sigma are: Annette Cluffi, president; Sue Cleavelly, vice president; Dottie Hile, treasurer; Margie Behrens, recording secretary; Harriet Foster, corresponding secretary; Peggy Krososky, keeper of the grades.

If you see any of our pledges walking around with paint on them, you'll know that we are finally getting our third floor rooms painted. Don't feel too sorry for them there is only one room left.

Last Sunday a shower was held for sister Joan Durkin who will be married in the near future.

DELTA CHI EPSILON

Newly elected officers of Delta Chi are: Judi Tobin, president; Candi Diorio, vice-president; Jean Blossak, treasurer; Dee Hrusovsky, secretary; Rose Murphy, social chairman; and Natalie Korp, sergeant of arms.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

The Mothers Club of Kappa Sigma Kappa held a dinner March 16 at Wick Park for their sons and husbands. Our Mothers Club always arrange meals and this dinner was no different.

Kappa Sigma Kappa's second Annual March Winds Dance was a success thanks to brothers Don Gorgil and Vic Angel.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

March 9th Sigma Alpha Epsilon celebrated Founder's Day Banquet at the Chateaubriand. Guest speaker was Arthur P. Beck, Eminent Supreme Archon. Many thanks to the Sisters of AOPI for a very enjoyable party.

Congratulations to Ed (Airborne) Yaugo on being chosen "Officer of the Day" at the Military Ball.

Nick (Spunk) Colafella, SAE, has become the sports editor of the JAMBAR.

ALPHA PHI DELTA

Wednesday, March 8, Alpha Phi Delta installed eighteen new pledges who constitute quite a good group.

The brothers are looking forward to the Fifth District Convention on April 14, 15, and 16. The Fifth District consists of chapters from Steubenville College, Ohio State and Youngstown. Beta Theta Chapter, Steubenville, are hosts.

Alpha Phi had a rip-roar' shindig with the sisters of Beta Sig at a Hillbilly Party held March 7. The pledges of Beta Sig presented a skit that was certainly in the atmosphere of the party.

BOOM!

Today, foregoing levity, let us turn our keen young minds to the No. 1 problem facing American colleges today: the population explosion. Only last week four people exploded in Cleveland, Ohio—one of them while carrying a plate of soup. In case you're thinking such a thing couldn't happen anywhere but in Cleveland, let me tell you there were also two other cases last week—a 45 year old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19 year old girl in Bangor, Maine—and in addition there was a near-miss in Klamath Falls, Oregon—an eight year old boy who was saved only by the quick thinking of his cat Walter who pushed the phone off the hook with his muzzle and dilled the department of weights and measures. (It would perhaps have made more sense for Walter to dial the fire department, but one can hardly expect a cat to summon a fire engine which is followed by a Dalmatian, can one?)

Science will ultimately solve the problem

I bring up the population explosion not to alarm you, for I feel certain that science will ultimately solve the problem. After all, has not science in recent years brought us such marvels as the transistor, the computer, the bevatron, and the Marlboro filter? Oh, what a saga of science was the discovery of the Marlboro filter! Oh, what a heart-rending epic of endless trial and error, of dedication and perseverance! And, in the end, what a triumph it was when the Marlboro scientists after years of testing and discarding one filter material after another—iron, nickel, lead, tin, antimony, sponge cake—finally emerged, tired but happy, from their laboratory, carrying in their hands the perfect filter cigarette! What rejoicing there was that day! Indeed, what rejoicing there still is whenever we light a Marlboro and settle back and enjoy that full-flavored smoke which comes to us in soft pack or flip-top box at tobacco counters in all fifty states and Cleveland!

Yes, science will ultimately solve the problems rising out of the population explosion, but in the meantime the problems hang heavy over America's colleges. This year will bring history's greatest rush of high school graduates. Where will we find classrooms and teachers for this gigantic new influx?

Well sir, some say the answer is to adopt the trimester system. This system, now in use at many colleges, eliminates summer vacations, has three semesters per annum instead of two, and compresses a four year course into three years.

This is good, but is it good enough? Even under the trimester system the student has occasional days off. Moreover his nights are utterly wasted in sleeping. Is this the kind of all-out attack that is indicated?

I say no. I say desperate problems call for desperate remedies. I say that partial measures will not solve this crisis. I say we must do no less than go to school every single day of the year. But that is not all. I say we must go to school 24 hours of every day!

The benefits of such a program are, of course, obvious. First of all, the classroom shortage will immediately disappear because all the dormitories can be converted into classrooms. Second, the teacher shortage will immediately disappear because all the night watchmen can be put to work teaching calculus and Middle English poetry. And finally, overcrowding will immediately disappear because everyone will quit school.

Any further questions?

© 1961 Max Shulman

Yes, one further question: Have you tried Marlboro's newest partner in pleasure—the unfiltered, king-size Philip Morris Commander? If not, by all means come aboard. You'll be glad you did.

CAMPUS COMEDY

"...WELL, THAT'S MY OPINION. I WON'T EXPECT YOU TO REMEMBER IT FOR THE TEST, BUT YOU CAN TAKE IT FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH."

Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. SCL3, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

Library Will Accept Books as Memorials

In recent years the practice of giving books as memorials has been gaining wide acceptance. One of the most fitting and enduring tributes is a book placed in the University Library, which serves the living while honoring the dead. Most of us have noticed a memorial plate in a book we have drawn from the library and experienced a sense of fitness about the gift which we have used.

Groups or individuals who wish to pay tribute to someone in this way may either send books to the library with a note designating them as memorial, or send funds for the purchase of books which the library needs. The library always has lists of books which have been requested and which are to be purchased as soon as funds are available.

Loren Gergens briefs two of his salesmen on new telephone services for business customers.

"I DIDN'T WANT TO BE STOCKPILED"

When Loren Gergens was working for his B.S. degree in Business Administration at the University of Denver, he had definite ideas about the kind of job he wanted to land. He was determined to profit from the experience of several of his friends who had accepted promising jobs only to find themselves in "manpower pools"—waiting to be pulled into a responsible position. "I didn't want to be stockpiled," Loren says. "That's no way to start."

As a senior, Loren talked to twelve companies and joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, an associated company of the Bell Telephone System.

From his first day challenges were thrown at him thick and fast. First, he supervised a group of service representatives who handle the communications needs of telephone customers. Then he served as manager of several telephone business offices. In these jobs Loren had to prove himself on the firing line, make right decisions and carry them through. He knew his next jump depended on only one man—Loren Gergens.

In July, 1960, he was made Sales Manager in Boulder, Colorado.

"I'm on the ground floor of a newly created telephone marketing organization. And I can tell you things are going to move fast!" Loren says. "It's rough at times, but hard work is fun when you know you're going somewhere—in a business where there's somewhere to go."

The Riflemen will receive a second place award, five trophies for team competition and three trophies for individual competition.

The Y.U. Riflemen, competing in individual matches around the state, have taken 20 out of a possible 22 first and second place awards. Denny Gartland, Richard Majestic, Rich Butch, and Ray Mayer have represented Youngstown in these individual matches.

Coaches for the team are Sgts. Simchick and Prochak. Capt. Amey is the advisor.

Rhymed Salute To the Cagers

"A Salute To Our Team"
By Nick Colafella

Invited to the NCAA tournament and compiling a 20-6 record indicates that this has been another successful season for Dom Rosselli's proteges. I could not describe our great basketball team better than in this little verse:

There was Day scoring and trying to keep his breath,
Chuey and Getch playing as if it meant life or death;
There was McElroy and Fitz, Showing the opponents tricks;
Then we had Hemmelwright and Pero, Who at one time or another were the hero;

There was Tupper and Korbini rebounding,
And Rosselli doing some sounding;
There was Wolf, Jones, and Galcik, Who also helped this team click;
There was Timmerman and Mihalenko cheering,
Hoping Rosselli would be hearing;
We also had Fuqua for awhile,
When we did, Rosselli always wore a smile;

There was Georges the assistant boss,
Who cried with the rest of them after a loss;
Yes, They all fought hard and clean,
For this was Y.U.'s '61 team;
It takes spirit and fight to have a great team,
That is why Rosselli's face has a special gleam;

McElroy Holds Scoring Crown

Howie McElroy led Y.U. in scoring this year with 407 points and a 15.2 average per game. He was followed by Charlie Day with 337, Tom Getch 203, Jerry Fitzpatrick 196, Jim Hemmelwright 132, and Tony Pero 100. Jim Fuqua, freshman star, ineligible the second semester, had 241 points.

Charlie Day was the leading rebounder with 320 followed by Fuqua with 189, McElroy 169, Hemmelwright 135, Getch 130, and Chuey 120. The Penguins averaged 80.2 points a game compared to 70.9 for the opponents. Rosselli's cagers ended the season with 21 wins and 7 losses and are losing only two players via graduation, Jerry Fitzpatrick and Howie McElroy.

'61 Tennis Squad Commences Drill

The tennis team this year has 6 lettermen returning from last year. Not one member has been lost from last year's squad. They include: Steve Szabo, Paul McBride, Jim Peppemey, Don Korensan, Dick Spang, Joe Patella.

Freshmen that have been impressive thus far are Fred Williams and Tom Davis. Also, Don Simpson returned from the Navy, that should give the team a big boost.

WRA Sends Delegates To College Convention

On March 10th and 11th, the Women's Recreation Association sent four delegates to the American Federation of College Women's Convention which was held at Muskingham College.

At the convention they compared their association with the various other colleges, discussed many problems pertaining to W.R.A., and received many ideas on enlarging the W.R.A. program.

The four delegates were: Patty Manilla, Deloros Saunders, Rosemary Modarelli, and Pauline Eynon.

W.R.A. In Sports-Day

On March 25 the Women's Recreation Association is taking part in the Basketball Sports-Day, being held at Westminster college.

The W.R.A. members will play against different colleges in and around the area.

Rosemary Modarelli is chairman of the basketball team for Youngstown. Miss Kocinske will be the faculty advisor.

Esquire's CLUB & CAMPUS FASHIONS

BY O. E. SCHOEFFLER Fashion Director of ESQUIRE Magazine

Easter vacation time draweth nigh. Time to turn your thoughts away from differential calculus or Chaucer and concentrate on dazzling the hometown belles with your fashion acumen.

Here's a cram course on the fabrics, colors and stylings to keep in mind when you assemble a Spring outfit.

THE BIG THREE choices for university men this season:

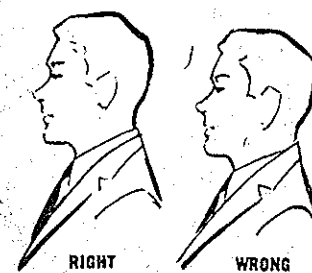

1. Muted glen plaids in worsteds or blends
2. Soft flannels or unfinished worsteds
3. Hairline stripes

In all of these, and particularly in the plaids, the outstanding color is olive. Expect to see a lot of the soft greenish cast that copied by fashion honors last year and also new variations on the olive theme... olives with golden, bluish or blackish casts. Runner up color is a basic medium grey. You might also consider black with half-inch white chalk stripes (very new in tropical worsted) or check into the new checks.

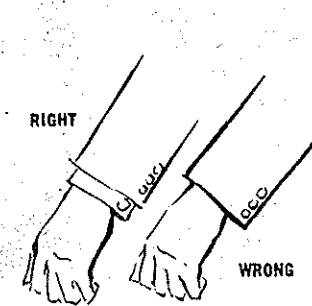

THE FAVORED SILHOUETTE continues to be our native three-button Natural Shoulder or a version thereof. This styling achieves its look of easy simplicity through careful attention to many small details. Here's what to look for: a soft natural shoulder, straight hanging jacket lines, center vent and flap pockets. Single row stitching with a raised welt accents collar, lapels, sleeve and back seams and pockets.

Trousers are plain, pleatless and tapered.

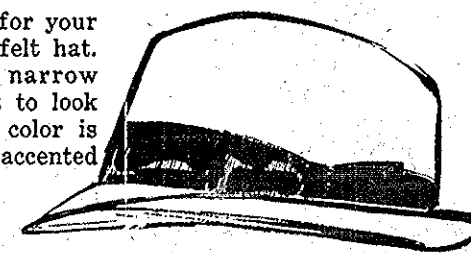

ADDENDA ON FIT. Be sure cuff jackets are short enough to allow at least a half-inch of shirt cuff to show. Ditto on the jacket collar to give it proper slope. Trousers should be long enough to just break over the instep.

SPEAKING OF SHIRTS... button-down collar models in white or pale pastels are almost de rigueur with a traditional suit. Select neckwear in either a small figured print or regimental repp stripes to coordinate with suit and shirt. In shoes this season, look for the plainer models... slip-ons in dark brown or plain ties in brown or one of the burnished olives.

PERFECT TOPPING for your new outfit is a soft felt hat. Tapered brim and narrow crown are the points to look for. Again, the best color is olive, especially olive accented by a black band.

Tired of City-Living?

Prescribing to "Old Way" Is Rule for Mennonites

A General Public Relations, Inc. Feature

"Love thy neighbor," said Jesus, and one of the most fascinating interpretations of this teaching is the one to which America's 250,000 Mennonites subscribe.

Noted for their agricultural skills and for their homespun simplicity of dress and doctrine, these 250,000 Mennonites -- many of whom are now urbanized and surprisingly modern -- attempt to live according to the literal teachings of Jesus. If a Mennonite is slapped, he will actually turn the other cheek. If he finds a burglar in his home, he will try to persuade the criminal to leave -- but won't use force. Though Mennonite farms are productive and prosperous, their owners live simply, so that they will have greater resources with which to feed the hungry and clothe the naked as Jesus instructed.

Despite this seeming austerity, Mennonite lives are far from dull. How many other Americans still have the pleasure of riding a horse-drawn wagon? What other group knows the fun of a "snitzing" -- an apple-peeling party? Where else, besides Mennonite communities, do all the neighbors still pitch in, as in frontier days, to build a house for a newly married couple?

Mennonite farmers did in fact play a role in the pioneer settlement and development of American land. But their unique way of life is a legacy from a much earlier group of pioneers -- the "Anabaptists," so called because they believed that only adults, and not infants or children, should be baptized. The movement, which began in Switzerland in 1535, spread rapidly to Holland and Germany, where it was led by Menno Simons, whose first name was soon applied to all his followers. But the Anabaptist-Mennonites, who went much further than any existing sect in seeking a return to the "original" practices of the first Christians, were persecuted by all groups for their unorthodox views. More than 5,000 were put to death during the first ten years of the movement's existence.

Finding refuge on wasteland no one else wanted, the harried farmers turned arid north German and Prussian land into fertile garden spots through their patient, skillful cultivation. In 1683, a band of these farmers moved again -- this time to Pennsylvania, where the tolerant Quakers had already settled. More Mennonites followed, and the Pennsylvania colony expanded rapidly, spilling over into other states. Today, half the world's Mennonites live in America, with large numbers in Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, Michigan and the Dakotas. Smaller groups are in nearly every other state.

Today, about 40% of American Mennonites are still farmers, many of whom believe that life on the land is the only right life for a man. In the states as in Europe, they have literally turned many desolate areas into lands of milk and honey.

As with all successful farmers today, farming to the Mennonites is a matter of mind as well as muscle. Despite their old-world garb, there's nothing old-fashioned about their farm management or their knowledge of new machinery developments that make farming more efficient. Many Mennonites are ingenious mechanics. Terms like "hydraulic system" and "overload safety release" (a device protecting the plow from damage when it hits an underground obstruction) flow freely in their Dutch twang. At farm equipment demonstrations, the young Mennonites in particular can be seen sitting on the driver's seat discussing the difference between a gasoline and diesel model tractor, or testing the latest combines.

Another big area of Mennonite interest is how best to educate the young. Children go to Mennonite elementary school, but after that, in many cases, education continues in the kitchen, farmyard and field. Because some Mennonite schools did not teach geography, certain forms of history, and other subjects related to the material world, government school officials sometimes complained about "lower standards of education." Consequently, changes have been made in the curriculum of Mennonite schools.

Mennonites rank among America's most progressive religious sects. They have established missions in many foreign countries, sponsor educational programs and maintain one of the highest rates of college attendance of any religious group.

Since there is still a high proportion of conscientious objectors among the Mennonites -- particularly in the older sects -- many youths discharge their two-year service obligation by working as civil servants in hospitals or social welfare institutions.

On the whole, Mennonite beliefs are compatible with those of their neighbors, most of whom regard Mennonites with fondness and respect. These patient, unaggressive farmers have given what clergymen of many different faiths regard as an excellent example of love and self-restraint, in their preaching and consistent practice of the conviction that the way is to "love thy neighbor."

"It runs!"

Dr. Frood presented the automobile industry with this magnificent pre-compact. Hurt and disillusioned because the auto industry preferred to develop their own compact, FROOD NOW OFFERS HIS CAR TO SOME LUCKY COLLEGE STUDENT! This is a brand-new, gas-driven, REAL CAR. It features four (4) wheels, genuine foot-power brakes, "fresh-air conditioning," and actual left-right steering mechanism! The economical 7.9 horsepower engine saves you hundreds of dollars in hay and oats! Goes 32 miles per hour, gets up to 65 miles per gallon. The Froodmobile can be licensed in every state except New Jersey. (New Jersey hates Frood.) WIN this beautiful car (with "FROODMOBILE" mounted in brass on the cowl!). Actual value over $1,000.

TO ENTER THE LUCKY STRIKE FROODMOBILE CONTEST, simply finish this sentence in 25 words or less:

"I need the Froodmobile because . . ."

Entries will be judged on the basis of humor, originality and style (preferably Froodian). If, in the opinion of our judges, your answer is best, the makers of Lucky Strike will deliver to you, on campus, the Froodmobile. A carton of Luckies will be given to the first 100 runners-up. Along with your entry send your name, return address, college or university, and class. Entries must be postmarked no later than April 15, 1961. All entries become the property of The American Tobacco Company. Send your entry (or entries) to LUCKY STRIKE, P. O. BOX 17A, NEW YORK 10, NEW YORK.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
