Redevelopment Plans Complete

YOUNGSTOWN UNIVERSITY

McLean Finishes Plans; School Awaits Passage

Campus Development Plan

A new Youngstown University is on the drawing boards and will be a reality in 15 short years if it meets with the required approval. The 15 million dollar plan, calling for 19 new buildings and 82 additional acres of campus, has been completed by H.L. McLean, YU development consultant, and approved by the University's board of trustees.

The plan is now pending approval before the City Planning Commission, and after their approval or revision will be presented to city council for consideration. The next steps are approval by the federal authorities in Chicago and allocation of funds by Washington.

TWO CAMPUS AREAS

The proposed university campus will be broken into two areas: the main campus will be bounded on the east by Wick Ave., on the south by Lincoln, on the west by Fifth, and on the north by the proposed Madison Avenue Expressway. The east campus will be east of Wick Ave., and generally bounded on the north by the Expressway, on the east by Walnut, Emerald, Carlton, Watt, Adams, Harrison and Court Streets, on the South by Webb and on the east by the rear property line of the lot facing the east side of Wick.

The development plan includes the following proposed buildings: Student Union, planned to be under construction in 1961; a building providing faculty and student dining facilities; Engineering; Engineering Research; a building for the departments of language, literature, social science and mathematics; School of Business Administration; General Science; Home Economics; Student Dining Hall; Religious Buildings; School of Education; Music and Art; Health and Physical Education; Central Receiving and Maintenance; Military Science; and an Observatory. Also men's and women's dormitories, and long awaited and talked about dream among YU students are planned, in addition to fraternity and sorority areas.

Stambaugh Hosts Sing Scheduled For Tonight

By Rick Collins

The 9th Annual Greek Sing will be presented at Stambaugh Auditorium tonight, at 8 p.m. Chairmen John Africa and Ron Wolfgang, representing IFC, and Doreen McCleery from Pan-Hellenic Council.

The Co-directors of the YU SHOW, Bill Hudak and Rusty De Angelis, will act as Master and Mistress of Ceremonies. They will introduce nine fraternities and four sororities who will compete plus honorary groups from Youngstown's Dana School of Music as guest performers.

The judges of the event are Isaac Reid of Westminster College, J.L. Miller of Lowellville High School and Robert W. Witt from Dana School of Music. Only the second song of the competing groups will be judged. Trophies will be presented to the winning fraternity and sorority and to the most valuable delegate of IFC.

Last years winners were Kappa Sigma Kappa and Sigma Sigma Sigma. The $1 donation may be paid at the door or to those members of fraternities or sororities selling tickets.

"Oscar" Film to be Shown

Cinema 16 will present the academy award winning movie "On The Waterfront" at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Strouss Auditorium.

Marlon Brando and Eva Marie Saint were both honored for their performances in this movie depicting life on the New York waterfront.

The supporting cast includes Lee J. Cobb, Karl Malden, Rod Steiger and Pat Henning.

Jambar Wins Three Awards At Convention

The University Jambar won three awards last week-end at the Ohio College Newspaper Convention.

Competing against 32 other Ohio colleges, including Ohio State, Miami State, Bowling Green, and Ohio University among others, the Jambar placed second in best cartoon and best news picture, and received an honorable mention for best sports story.

The cartoon, drawn by Imre Csejthey and entitled "In the Commie Camp" appeared last November as part of Frank Court's column.

Bill Serjac's photo "On the Campaign Trail" of Kennedy's visit to Youngstown won second place for best news picture.

The third award was won by Rich Passen, last year's sports editor. Attending the convention from YU were David L. Quarterson, Thomas J. Stafford, Richard Crossbie, Richard Collins, David Schreckengost, and Mike Drapkin.

Same Old Story

By Nick Colafella

"What to do about school spirit?" is a question that is very hard to answer.

My recommendations are directed mainly to these points: The YUSA should try to instill school spirit prior to the game rather than only at game time. There could be bonfires on Wednesday nights and pep assemblies on campus Thursday afternoons. The players and coaches could be introduced, and the cheerleaders could conduct cheering. School administrators could give talks on our football team, and try to point up the advantages that a good athletic team and good spirit play in collegiate life.

If these steps were taken by the YUSA and the administration, I'm certain that better results can be reached in improving school spirit. School spirit is not something that is displayed on Saturday afternoons only, but it is seriously felt by everyone while in school and after graduation. School spirit provides an individual with pride and admiration of his institution. Are we doing enough here to give each student the pride that is rightly his? Only through school spirit can each individual be proud to say to himself and his friends that he is a student at Youngstown University.

Why don't the people responsible justify themselves by trying to set up some type of system for next year in order to make this institution a spirited one, in which you can see students gleaming with anticipation before an athletic event and pride after an event? Since progressive education is directed primarily in teaching the "whole man." The instilling of pride and school spirit is an integral part of this education.

The Collegians' View: A Survey

by Nick Tratras

This week special congratulations should be extended by us in behalf of all independents on Youngstown's campus and to the Argons who made it possible for independents to win. The Ugly Man contest is a small thing but it shows what can be done by independents who are interested in student affairs. The Argons are doing one whole of a job in organizing the independents - let us all take our hats off to this growing group. Incidentally, Bob Dinello (Mr. Ugly) isn't really that ugly.

The question for this week is: Do you feel that fraternities and sororities are necessary on Youngstown's campus?

David Owen, sophomore
School of Business Administration

Coming from another university and belonging to a national fraternity, I feel that fraternities and sororities are a very important part of college life. I cannot see why it would not be an important phase of college life at Youngstown.

Without fraternities and sororities at Youngstown, what other group could mold and stimulate our campus leaders? This is especially important because of the fact that Youngstown is a commuting school and any other organization would have a difficult time developing the co-operation needed in programming campus activities. Let's face it! On this campus, it is the Greeks who initiate campus activities through the group's incentive.

Dick Griffin, sophomore
School of Liberal Arts

The question that was asked me is, "Do you believe fraternities and sororities are necessary on this campus?" Since I am an active of Tau Omega fraternity my answer will possibly be somewhat biased. However, I will try to give a fair answer. There are two factors which are affected by fraternity-sorority activities; the individual and the school.

The individual who joins a Greek organization is usually in search of something. He may be in search of popularity or notoriety, personal development, friends, or just a good time. Depending upon the organization he joins, he is likely to find what he wants. Granted, a few clouds go through three or four years of Greek life without disturbing their own private little worlds, but the net result of fraternity-sorority life is usually a group-oriented individual who cannot fail to do any university something.

The point has been frequently belabored that this is a commuter's school. We have been told that this is responsible for everything from lack of school spirit to a low intellectual level. If this be so, the fraternities and sororities on this campus have a heavy responsibility. They have a responsibility to conduct their affairs so as to bring credit upon the university, and they have a responsibility to bring a sense of cohesion to this campus. They have done much; they must do more.

Richard J. Welch, sophomore
School of Business Administration

Fraternities and sororities are an integral part of the social organization of this university and any university or college. Let's look at the facts:

America Subjects Cuba To Unjust Persecution

By Rick Collins

This column has repeatedly criticized the government of Fidel Castro. The nation as a whole has been flooded by news stories, magazine articles and speeches by our lawmakers denouncing Cuba's present government. In the interest of presenting both sides of a case, not necessarily the views of this paper, we present the other side.

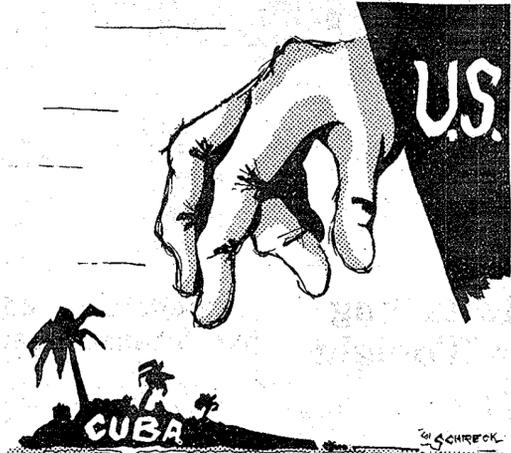

C. Wright Mills, the author of WHITE COLLAR, THE POWER ELITE, and CAUSES OF WORLD WAR THREE, speaks strongly against America and its handling of Cuba in his book LISTEN YANKEE.

Mills demonstrates a reason for Cubans to hate America and blasts American "propaganda" in this manner. "Did your radios, your newspapers, all your TVs, did they tell you all about how bombs made in the U.S.A. were the bombs used to kill thousands of Cubans in the city of Cienfuegos in September of 1957? Did they tell you that shortly after those bombings, the United States Air Force decorated the Cuban general of Batista who directed those air attacks? Did they tell you that, on the front pages, in the big newspapers? And if they did, Yankee, what did you do about it? ... We Cubans, how can we help but wonder what kind of a people you are?"

LISTEN YANKEE shows many more reasons which would indicate a real cause for hatred of "Yankees". Among these are a brief history of U.S. mistakes in Cuba. "... we Latin Americans often say 'After the Yankee dollar the Yankee flag'.

"At first we thought you were going to help us be really free, but it didn't turn out that way. In 1901, the U.S. forced something upon Cuba called the Platt Amendment. The Platt Amendment simply took away our sovereignty. Whenever your Government pleased it could meddle into Cuban affairs, and also it restricted what the Cuban Government could do and could not do. It gave Yankees the right (what a word that is, the way your state department and monopolies use it), 'the right' to come to Cuba with guns in their hands if they wished, to intervene to see to it that the government here was protecting Yankee property. And that's just what they did.

"The first time was before the Platt Amendment, in 1899: one of your generals and his troops occupied our island - after we had just about whipped the Spanish who had been occupying us before you. The Yankee soldiers left in 1902, leaving behind the right to have a naval base - for $2,000 a year; - at our Guantanamo Bay; ..."

The case so ably presented by Mills is summed up in this manner: "It is not easy at this moment for North Americans to listen well to what the Cuban revolutionaries are saying about the world in which they live. But it is just this that we must do. We must see behind their revolutionary rhetoric to their purposes and to their accomplishments.

"WE MUST understand that if they are exaggerating North American iniquities, their exaggerations are surely well balanced by North American spokesmen in their assertions about Cuba.

"Perhaps a little reflection would reveal that neither country is in the altogether sad condition imagined by spokesmen of the other. Above all, we must not allow our reactions to the manner of the Cuban accusations to hide from us the fact that many of their complaints about the United States, past and present, are solidly based upon historical and sociological fact.

"We must not believe that the genteel mannerisms of U.S. spokesmen are an answer to these complaints..."

"He is right to America's discredit. Any politician who would criticize present handling of the Cuba situation would be probably blacklisted from his party. Labeling Cuba as America's enemy is in vogue.

Mills, then claims that if Americans take a good look at this Cuban situation we can alleviate much of the tension. His point is well taken. Few U.S. citizens are aware of the way our companies have bled the island. Our worse mistake appears to have been our strong support of the hated Batista. Batista was despised by Cubans therefore those associated with him are despised.

A poignant point is thus presented for righteous Americans who are so cocksure of the American way of life.

Did You Know It's the Truth That . . . . .

By Mike Shelley

Due to conditions way beyond my control, I present the column originally scheduled for this time. Since my last appearance in this spot, the Jambar has received 2000 letters asking me to keep up the wonderful column; and anyone who can write 2000 letters deserves to keep this spot. And now the hottest column that ever hit the Youngstown University Campus -- everything is stolen...

They say liars never go to Heaven. It sure must be a lonely place up there with nobody but God and George Washington. .... The only way I've found to keep bills down is a paperweight. .... And there's one girl they call Hindu because she is untouchable. .... When my geology teacher handed back our last exams she said: "Cuss or discuss them after class."

Here are some Historical Events and how they would appear in today's news-headlines. ....

1. Dave KO's Goliath in First.
2. LIONS WIN AGAIN! Capacity crowd packs Colosseum.
3. Nappy Lays Egg at Waterloo!
4. Isabella OK's Chris Trip East.
5. Vandals Rampage Teaship in Boston.
6. Crime Wave Hits Sherwood Forest - - Park Authorities Concerned for Loss of Tourist Trade.

Living a double life will get you nowhere twice as fast. .... Abbreviations are always followed by a period except on the beach where they are always followed by a crowd. .... When you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on." ... P.S. Then there was a college coed who took a course in biology to learn about life and only found out old history. ... And then there was the cannibal's daughter who liked the boys best when they were stewed.

Pat: Do you think that absence makes the heart grow fonder?

Sandy: Yes, "Definitely; Every time that Jack goes out of town, I like Steve better. .... He fell in love with her long slender legs and made the mistake of marrying all of her. .... The average blond averages 150,000 hairs in her head. .... The Horizon is out and is better than ever except that my name is misspelled on page 24; so get a copy any how and pay only 35¢ (Also note the editor is not the author of this column....)

"Jack and Jill fell down the hill, a stunt that's very risky. If water made them act like that, I think I'll stick to whiskey."

Janice: The fellow I was out riding with last night saw dark spots before his eyes.

Pattie: What did he do?

Janice: He parked in one of them.

The best cure to the parking problem is to only let the car that are paid for on the roads. .... The new special service officer arrived at ROTC and moved into the new office. When the first cadet entered, the officer picked up the phone and after a few seconds, answered, "Yes, general, everything is fine sr." Turning to the visitor, he asked what can I do for you? The cadet sighed, "I am from the signal office and I just came to connect your phone."

Doubtfully the young mother bought the toy. "Isn't this rather complicated for a small child?" she asked. "It's an educational toy, madam," replied the shop owner. "It's designed to adjust him to today's world. Any way he puts it together it is wrong."

"Well, I have to be going now. I took my girl to the movies last night and I'm going back to see the picture."

Love Stoops to Conquer, But it Misses Many Things

By Marianna Kane

For a long time now, people have been listening or otherwise to a long, drawn-out account of others' problems and troubles and then bestowing a pitying smile upon poor and unfortunate individuals and breezily saying, "Ah, well, love conquers all."

Silly theory - - among the things that love does not conquer may be included the desire for a double malted when you know very well you should be drinking unsweetened lemon juice and fully protecting those oversized hips against the addition of another pound. (Some watch their waistline, others their hips, but me, well, I just take a look at food and can't resist!) Love also does nothing to relieve the revolting taste of watery mashed potatoes.

It has never been shown to alleviate the disgust that comes when you have lost one glove, and after saving the mate to it for several weeks, finally throw it away because one glove is really worthless anyhow, and then find the other glove. Love does not conquer the horror you feel when you suddenly look into your mirror after just meaning to touch up your hair a bit - - bring out the highlights, you know - - and see that you've suddenly become a red-head instead of the brunette you used to be. (Of course, it was the sun's fault, wasn't it?)

And above all, despite the good rhyme that the little couplet "Amor vincit omnia, except insomnia" affords, I still maintain that there is more than insomnia that love will not cure.

Another well-known phrase on which many people date, is the little gem, "Money can't buy happiness," however, I am forced to admit that I think I'd be able to scrape along in a merry manner with only one-half million in my jeans pocket.

As I mentioned before, perhaps money won't buy happiness but have you ever tried to buy happiness without money?

Awards, Scholarships For Overseas Study

Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or pre-doctoral research in 32 countries will be available to over 800 graduate students for the 1962-63 academic year.

In addition to the Fulbright Scholarships, awards for graduate study in Latin America under the Inter-American Cultural Convention and for graduate study in Ireland under the Scholarship Exchange Program between the U.S. and Ireland will also be offered for 1962-63. Applications for these programs will be available on May 15, 1961.

General eligibility requirements for all categories of awards are: 1) U.S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country sufficient to carry out the proposed study project and to communicate with the people of the country; 4) good health. In addition, a good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applications for scholarships for 1962-63 will be accepted until November 1, 1961. Requests for applications must be postmarked by October 15. Interested students who are enrolled at a college or university should write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, N.Y.

The first issue of the Jambar was published Jan. 14, 1931. It was mimeographed and cost two cents a copy.

Plans

changes in the plan are to be expected.

OBJECTIVES

Some of the most important objectives listed in the plan are: the rigid zoning of land in which certain areas are dedicated for specific purposes; the provision of facilities to meet the social and recreational needs of students; the creation of a physical environment which emphasizes the natural beauty of the campus site; the separation of pedestrian and vehicular traffic; the separation of urban and campus traffic; the development of adequate parking facilities; the creation of more pedestrian pathways and fewer streets; and the redevelopment of land for outward expansion.

THIS YOUNG ENGINEER IS ON THE ROAD TO MANAGEMENT

Dick Cotton knew he wanted to take the engineering route into management long before he joined New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. In fact it was his goal when he was working for his engineering degree at Rutgers.

When he graduated, he had his lines out to eleven other companies. He came to New Jersey Bell because: "I didn't feel I was just a number to these people. There was no doubt in my mind that this job would be the best for the long pull."

His first assignment was a tough one. A complex of major telephone cables lay in the path of the approach to the new traffic level of the George Washington Bridge on the Hudson. Dick's job was to find the most practical and economical way to reroute these cables, and at the same time to provide for future telephone growth in the area around the bridge approach.

Dick ironed that one out and got a crack at another tough job.

Next stop: New Jersey Bell Headquarters Engineering Staff, Special Studies Group. Here

Dick was a member of a four-man team whose job was to find ways to eliminate some of the routine work of field engineers to give them "more time to think." Dick also helped plan and control a $100,000,000 annual telephone construction budget.

Presently, Dick is responsible for telephone equipment engineering projects in the Camden, New Jersey, area.

How does Dick look at it? "This is a growing business. I work with this growth every day. And growth means more room at the top. Of course, I don't figure I'll get there overnight—but on my jobs so far I've had a chance to take a good look at how this business is run. And I think the sky's the limit for a man who really wants to work for it."

If you're a guy who can tackle a tough job and deliver the goods—then you're the kind of man who should find out more about the Bell Companies. Visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

FREDERICK R. KAPPEL, President
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

OLD GRADS NEVER DIE

In just a matter of weeks many of you will be graduating—especially seniors.

You are of course eager to go out in the great world where opportunities are limitless and deans nonexistent. At the same time your hearts are heavy at the thought of losing touch with so many classmates you have come to know and love.

It is my pleasant task today to assure you that graduation need not mean losing touch with classmates; all you have to do is join the Alumni Association and every year you will receive a bright, newsy, chatty bulletin, chock full of information about all your old buddies.

It was her second in four months.....

Oh, what a red-letter day it is at my house, the day the Alumni Bulletin arrives! I cancel all my engagements, take the phone off the hook, dismiss my chiropractor, put the ocelot outside, and settle down for an evening of pure pleasure with the Bulletin and (need I add?) a good supply of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Whenever I am having fun, a Marlboro makes the fun even more fun. That filter, that flavor, that pack or box never fails to heighten my pleasure whether I am watching the television or playing back euchre or knitting an afghan or reading Mad or enjoying any other fun-filled pursuit you might name—except, of course, spearfishing. But then, how much spearfishing does one do in Clovis, New Mexico, where I live?

But I digress. Let us return to my Alumni Bulletin and let me quote for you the interesting tidings about all my old friends and classmates:

Well, fellow alums, it certainly has been a wing-dinger of a year for all us old grads! Remember Mildred Cheddar and Harry Camembert, those crazy kids who always held hands in Eeon II? Well, they're married now and living in Clovis, New Mexico, where Harry rents spearfishing equipment and Mildred has just given birth to a lovely 28-pound daughter, her second in four months. Nice going, Mildred and Harry!

Remember Jethro Brie, the man we voted most likely to succeed? Well, old Jethro is still gathering laurels! Last week he was voted "Motorman of the Year" by his fellow workers in the Duluth streetcar system. "I owe it all to my brakeman," said Jethro in a characteristically modest acceptance speech. Same old Jethro!

Probably the most glamorous time of all us alums was had by Francis Macomber last year. He went on a big game hunting safari all the way to Africa! We received many interesting post cards from Francis until he was, alas, accidentally shot and killed by his wife and white hunter. Tough luck, Francis!

Wilma "Deadeye" Macomber, widow of the late beloved Francis Macomber, was married yesterday to Fred "Sureshot" Quimby; white hunter, in a simple double-ring ceremony in Nairobi. Good luck, Wilma and Fred!

Well, alums, that just about wraps it up for this year. Keep 'em flying!

University Now Installing First Area Nuclear Reactor

Youngstown University is now in the process of installing the first nuclear reactor in the Youngstown area, anticipating that it will be ready to use for instructional purposes by the fall of 1961, Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of Youngstown University, has announced. The reactor is being installed in the reactor laboratory in the University's new Science Building.

Dr. M.J. Charignon, dean of the William Rayen School of Engineering said that two years ago the University received the uranium fuel elements from Oak Ridge, Tenn. made available by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Upon receipt of these it was possible to design the reactor to fit the fuel elements. The reactor was built by Nuclear-Chicago Corp., Chicago, Ill. Dean Charignon said the reactor shell arrived ahead of the exhaust system required for the laboratory. Upon receipt of the exhaust system in January, the job of installation began.

During this time the University has been procuring the instrumentation required for the safe operation and experimentation required by the departments of biology and chemistry, and the engineering school. Upon completion of the installation of the exhaust system, the permanent instrumentation will be mounted. This cannot be done simultaneously with the installation of the exhaust system, Dean Charignon said, because of the dust stirred up in the installation work.

Dean Charignon said that upon completion of the mounting of the instruments, the two and three-fourth tons of uranium fuel will be placed in the reactor shell, the moderator fluid will be added, and the reactor will be ready to be used to augment lecture courses in nuclear physics and nuclear engineering.

Dr. Hugh A. Shaddock, of the chemical engineering faculty, will direct the laboratory program.

Medieval Music Program Given by Clevelanders

On Monday, May 8th, there will be a concert of medieval and renaissance music by the Renaissance Consort of Cleveland. It will be held in Strouss Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The group began when the six musicians began getting together to play old music. The instruments used are viols, recorders, harpsichord, and other medieval instruments. The music, both vocal and instrumental, is from the 14th to the 17th centuries.

Dr. Clement Miller, Ph. D., director of the Cleveland Institute of Music, will play the harpsichord. Other members are in the Cleveland Orchestra. Some teach at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

Collegians' View

Some of the students that enter college are not yet mature and have not taken an objective view on many activities because they do not know how to think for themselves. Therefore, it is my belief, that a fraternity or sorority teaches a man or a woman that he must think for himself but still be a member of the crowd.

Some of the greatest social organizers and heads of businesses are fraternity men and women. Many feel that their belonging to a fraternity has helped them to gain their "place" because it taught them the importance of knowing how to get along with people.

Yes, it is my honest opinion that fraternities and sororities are a necessary part of our university and any other university.

Daniel Van Dam, freshman School of Business Administration

I have been asked if I think sororities and fraternities are necessary on our campus. I would definitely say "yes."

These organizations are a vital part of a school. This may not seem to be of importance to all students but to the average college man or woman a bond such as this may be very instrumental in his college life.

These organizations also benefit us by the service they perform to the school. You must agree that these organizations do work with and receive co-operation from the administration.

As We See It

Good-bye Old Friend

It's like seeing an old friend depart. You want to say good-bye, but you just can't find the words. The old friend we're talking about is the Okifinokie Swamp next to the Snack Bar. Gone are the days when one could amuse himself by watching a faculty car sink slowly into the deep, dark mud. If it was your lucky day, there would be a faculty member in the car. What fun!

But like all good things, it must come to an end. Now in its place there is a slag pit. In the past on a rainy day you were met by a flood of muddy water while you were walking up from the hill from Main, now you must also beware of an avalanche of slag. Remember the song, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes?" Now it's "Slag Gets in Your Sneakers."

Everything was the same, except you were there. Through the thinning smoke, not a movement could be detected. All that could be heard were the soft moans of the wounded. It had been a week to be remembered. Long after this battleground is covered over by the sands of time, the days of April 24th - 27th, 1961, will be remembered. Who could forget Col. Glenn and her small band as they withstood the mad rush of thousands of freshmen. How could the famous words of Gen. Smith be forgotten when she claimed the entire battlefield with the words, "We have just begun to fight, so get into two lines." The results of the battle have now been tabulated, and in those disastrous days there were five ballpoint pen wounds, one broken hand (some poor fellow tried to reach in the window and get a card just before lunch time), and twenty missing in action. The only appropriate phrase that can describe this battle is, "Never have so few confused so many."

Somebody wants to know if there is going to be a beard-growing contest again this semester before finals. "How are ya fixed for blades, etc."

Beverly Nemes was overheard in the Library the other night. She was sitting on the window sill, and the venetian blinds were so dirty, they were getting her clean hair dirty. Someone happened to bump one of the blinds, and he was buried under a mound of dirt.

Sir Galahad in the Snack Bar ... some young lady picked up a cigarette, and an arm with a lighted match suddenly appeared over her shoulder. It's nice to be polite, but in the future, ole buddy, please don't set the woman's hair on fire! Where can our friend buy a wig?

Thought for the week ... When I am right, no one remembers, but when I am wrong, no one forgets.

Only 315 days until St. Patrick's Day.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS: DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: BEWARE OF SUBLIMINAL ADVERTISING!

Dear Dr. Frood: I've been reading a great deal about automated teaching devices. How long will it be before they come up with machines to replace professors?

Professor

DEAR PROFESSOR: Just as soon as they get one that can rap the knuckles of a sleeping student, give humiliating answers to foolish questions and spring surprise tests whenever it happens to be in a bad mood.

Dear Dr. Frood: My problem is fat, stubby fingers. As a result, I am exceedingly awkward with my hands. My manual dexterity is so poor, in fact, that I can't even get a Lucky pack open. What can I do?

Fingers

DEAR FINGERS: Simply strap ordinary sewing needles along both of your index fingers. Now cup the Lucky pack in your hands, grasp the little red tab in your teeth, and yank. Next, place the pack on a flat surface and secure it between two unabridged dictionaries. Then, with the right-hand needle, carefully, carefully carve a one-inch-square opening at the top right-hand corner. Finally, place the points of the needles firmly against the sides of a Lucky and lift. That's all there is to it. A word of warning though: Try to be careful when shaking hands.

THE HANDWRITING IS ON THE WALL, says Dr. Frood. Or, more exactly, on the blackboard. It's appearing on college blackboards everywhere: "College students smoke more Luckies than any other regular." Why is this statement showing up on college blackboards? Because I am paying agents to put it there. For you must remember that Luckies are the cigarette with taste—the emphatic toasted taste. Try a pack of Luckies today.

Dear Dr. Frood: In the four years I've been at this college I've done some pretty horrible things. I am guilty, for instance, of [redacted] into and around the home of Professor [redacted]. I'm also ashamed of [redacted] the Board of Regents, and completely [redacted] the campus policeman's [redacted]. But the worst thing I did was [redacted] after hiding all night in the [redacted]. Can I, in good conscience, even accept a diploma from dear old [redacted]?

DEAR [redacted]: You can if you send $500 in unmarked bills to Dr. Frood, Box 2990, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y. If you don't, I'll print your letter without the little black lines.

Dear Dr. Frood: Don't you think it's wrong for a boy and girl to marry while they're still in school?

Soc. Major

DEAR SOC.: Yes, they should at least wait until recess.
