"SHINING BIT"

"For when the one great Scorer comes
To write against your name;
He writes not that you won or
'lost,
But how you played the game."

Quoted by Jim Chambers at the Athletic Banquet.

FROM BEHIND THE DESK

"Easter is a very queen of Christian festivals. It should be observed accordingly."
---Bishop Herbert Welch

At this Easter season our mind turn instinctively to the Man of Galilee. Christ's supreme influence for good on the affairs of the world is universal ly acknowledged.

The resurrection was the crowning event in His life on earth.
It was the resurrection that set Him apart as Divine.

To my notion, the best proof of the resurrection is the fact that something happened, shortly after the crucifixion, to change entirely the attitude of the disciples. They were suddenly transformed from doubt,
denial and fear to unfaltering

A BOOST FOR STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The publicity department of our College recently expressed sentiments highly in favor of various student enterprises.

One that has already materialized is the student paper, the Jambar. This will in time develop into quite a journal. Through the medium of the paper the students and their friends are informed of the college activities. Quoting the Publicity Department, "The paper answers the need which has been desired since the opening of the school." It is also a big factor in inciting 'school spirit' among the students. Everyone has come to look forward to the publication of each issue and is, more or less, enthused by the promulgation of the college events.

The proposed Annual is a project, which if carried through, will promote a feeling of unity which is beginning to exist between the main divisions of Youngstown College. At present, both the day and the night college students have all the intentions of really putting over the Annual and it is only through the cooperation of all that they will be enabled to do this.

YOCO FENCERS LOSE

The Youngstown College fencing team was defeated by Wittenberg College in a fast match, 11-6. The fighting was hard but Wittenberg proved to be superior in all weapons except epee.

KAMPUS KOMMENT

Members of the editorial staff for the Annual assembled last Sunday afternoon for the first meeting. Editor Charles Mulcahy distributed the assignments and the work will be started at once.

One of the most romantic and least appreciated inmates of our institution is Dante Piccotti. Not only has he a romantic name - Dante - but he's romantic looking and can't play a piano! Grandma thinks he's almost as good as Paderewski. He's big-hearted too. On April 15, Dante will stage a recital as an aid in financing the Annual, and for the very nominal sum of 25¢, every student is invited to do two good deeds at once: First, enjoy himself; Second, add to the fund. Grandma thinks everyone should take advantage of this offer for now is the opportunity for all Youngstown Students to show their school spirit.

IT WON'T be safe anywhere around YOCO for a week or two. Watch your step or you may find yourself a character in a short story. Everybody's writing 'em for Professor Bare or Miss North. One enterprising youngster invaded the sanctity of Coach Lyden's fencing room to get the background for a story of a hot-headed young man whose headwork is not so hot.

SPEAKING of fencing - - - out Saturday P.M. to see Lyden, Herald, Chambers and Goldberger put up a scrappy battle with a better supported and better outfitted team from Wittenberg. That they lost doesn't matter. And if you think those boys can't fence, just get 'sassy' and when you wake up, tell the third assistant night nurse all about it.

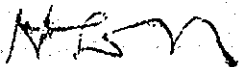

BY THE WAY why doesn't someone invent a fountain-pen attachment to insure a visible red mark for apple 'touches'? Johnnie Eastlake ought to look into this.

faith and trust, from utter despair to everlasting hope, from deep, overwhelming sorrow to unrestrained joy and happiness. We see them going forth with renewed energy to found the early church and to pay the price of martyrdom if need be.

The Gospels tell us that it was the resurrection that brought this about. Happy is he who can accept this as undoubted proof of the Master's divinity. Happier still is he who patterns his life after the One Perfect Example.

Co.--"I hear that Jane has a propensity for petting."

Ed.--"No, it's just an old-fashioned davenport like ours."

Dr. Waldron: "What are the constituents of quartz?"

George Beaumier: "Pints."

All in all, Youngstown College can hold its own against any educational institution of the country and there is no doubt but what the students hold the same opinion.

To miss a kiss is more amiss
Than it would be to kiss a miss Providing that the miss herself would never miss,
But if you try to kiss a miss
With whom a kiss would be amiss You'd better always miss the kiss!

Dr. Foard: "Listen here, young man, are you the teacher of this class?"

Charlie Duncan: "No, sir, I'm not."

Dr. Foard: "Then don't talk like an idiot."

-----
Jack Eastlake: "Have you an opening for an unusually bright and energetic young man?"

Freda: "Yes, I believe we have and please close it softly the way out."

YOCO PERIODICALS

She was a clever pretty-pretty woman with a Madonna face that made you enjoy walking to school and going without lunches in order to take her out. He was one of that dear old fashioned fraternity that passed out of circulation a generation ago. Somehow they met.

As a strategist he found that she was an absolute zero. Whenever he asked for the 'pleasure of her company', she smiled and said she was sorry. But he keeps asking her again and again and says he will do so until she accepts.

IT LOOKS like a good story of rather unusual devotion, for these modern days and we're keeping our fingers crossed until we hear how it ends.

(Authors note: Ba-nal means commonplace. The object of the feature is to make commonplace events or incidents about the school, appear interesting.)

Freda Flint has a Hope Chest. It is very large and will provide room for a number of useful articles. Freda will greatly appreciate any contributions. (See John Eastlake for particulars.)

HISTORY MIGHT HAVE BEEN DIFFERENT IF - -

- Paul Revere had been help up by traffic.
- Caesar had recovered after having been put on the spot.
- Napoleon had had a plane and pilot for a non-stop flight from St. Helena to Paris.
- Daniel Webster, after having won his first case defending the woodchuck had had the verdict upset on appeal.
- Henry Clay had rather have been wrong and President.
- Patrick Henry had been tongue-tied.
- John Paul Jones had been subject to seasickness. - R. C. O'Brien
