SPRING AGAIN - In a surprise move yesterday Mother Nature delivered an A-1 spring day to the YSU campus to the delight and enjoyment of many students.

Hettler, Young Dem officers face Discipline Committee today

The YSU Discipline Committee will hold a closed hearing at 3 p.m. today on the case of the YSU Young Dem officers, who are charged with "use of the University's name without the express authorization of the University."

Chuck Hettler, Pat Galterio, Andy Bresko and Len Zientarski, all officers of the YSU Young Dems, will face charges that stem from their use of YSU stationery for a campaign flier that lampooned the Republican party. The fliers were distributed a week before this fall's general elections. The charges filed against the officers will be based on the social activity regulation which states that, "No organization may use the University's name without the express authorization of the University except to identify the institutional affiliation. University approval or disapproval of any policy may not be stated or implied by any organization."

The afternoon before the elections, President Albert L. Pugsley made a public statement attacking Young Dem president Chuck Hettler for "an unauthorized and illegal reproduction of the University seal and the name of the University."

Although the hearing is not opened to the public, a transcript of the case will be made available following the hearing.

The formal charges against the officers were sent by certified mail from the Student Affairs office last week.

YSU employee crash victim

Mrs. Gloria Ann Bankston, a 33-year-old YSU custodial worker, one of seven persons fatally injured in last Friday's auto accident on West Federal Street, was on her way to buy a sympathy card for the family of deceased friend minutes before her tragic death.

Mrs. Bankston and a co-worker, Mrs. Rosemary Wallace, had separated in McKelvey's minutes before the accident. They were to later meet for lunch.

Mrs. Bankston has been employed in the custodial department of YSU for the past four years, coming here in January of

Elm closed without problems

Elm Street from Spring Street to Lincoln Avenue was closed without confusion Monday morning as YSU security officers helped detour traffic at both ends of the blocked-off street.

Elm Street was closed to make way for the Kilcawley Student Center expansion that will be completed in late 1973.

There were no major traffic jams and most cars moved without delay. Cars heading south on Elm were detoured east on Spring Street, while those heading north could travel east or west on Lincoln.

Profs may face lay-offs from enrollment drop

Faculty lay-offs are a very real possibility next year, University President Albert L. Pugsley told the Board of Trustees at their regular meeting Saturday.

President Pugsley said that the economy measures a direct result of an enrollment drop of 376 students, may also include a reduction in the purchase of library books, new equipment, supplies and restriction of travel. He said that the 21 current vacancies on the faculty would not be filled.

Al Shipka, new member of the board, questioned the procedure for cutting the faculty and recommended that full-time faculty receive primary preference in remaining in their positions if there are lay-offs. President Pugsley disagreed, noting the valuable contribution of part-time persons, but said that this is a matter for board consideration.

The board also approved acquisition of the Women's City Club property adjacent to the Arts and Sciences Office Building on Wick Avenue. The agreed price was $80,000. The purchase is still pending approval of the State Control Board.

The Women's City Club property was a key purchase for the university since it is the location of the proposed overhead walkway spanning Wick Avenue.

The trustees referred the matter of public disclosure of the university budget to the Faculty Affairs Committee. President Pugsley said that he had the attorney general's office for an opinion on the matter. An assistant for the attorney general's office replied that that office could not take jurisdiction over the matter. President Pugsley then asked the attorney general

Break ground for new center

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the $3.4 million Kilcawley Student Center addition will officially take place at 10 a.m. today on Elm Street, just west of the present center.

Those participating in the groundbreaking program will be Dr. Albert Pugsley, University president; Youngstown Mayor Jack C. Hunter; Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, dean of Student Affairs; Joseph S. Rook, vice president for Financial Affairs; Dr. Bertie B. Burrowes, vice chairman of the YSU Board of Trustees; Dr. Howard W. Jones, YSU president-emeritus and president of the Youngstown Educational Foundation; Lawrence M. Simko, Student Government President and Denise F. Steward, student member of the Student Center Committee.

The area will immediately be fenced in and construction of the addition will begin in a few days.

The new structure will be a two-story building and will be appointed attorney for the university, John Ingram, who said that he knew of no Ohio law making a state supported university's budget public record and recommended that the matter be referred to the university board of trustees. President Pugsley recommended that since the disclosure of the budget would disclose all faculty and staff salaries that perhaps the faculty should have a voice in the matter. Thus, it was referred to the Faculty Affairs Committee.

During the course of the discussion trustee Dr. John N. McCann stated that the people have a right to know the salaries of everyone they employed and that in fact, the faculty of the university are employees of the taxpayers of the state of Ohio.

The board also concurred with a letter from the university to Dr. Bhagwati P. K. Poddar, which informed him that the university would abide the hearing officers request that Dr. Poddar remain on the faculty for the 1971-72 school year. The date for the termination of Dr. Poddar's services to the university would be June 16, 1972. Mr. Stipka voted in opposition to the motion.

Concerning the Poddar matter President Pugsley informed the trustees that bill from the hearing officer was for $5,571, and that it does not include the university's attorney's fees and related expenses. President Pugsley said that this was not a criticism of university faculty who choose to go to court to protect their constitutional rights but simply as a matter of information. He did say, however, that he thought university funds should go for other purposes.

The board approved the establishment of a preparatory division in the Dana School of Music for a two-year trial period to offer music instruction to non-university students in cooperation with the department of continuing education. That department will handle all registration materials and fee payments while the school will schedule the students. Qualified Dana students will conduct the lessons except in cases of unusual talent or unless otherwise requested by the preparatory student.

Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice president for administrative affairs reported that lower electrical rates would go into effect for the university this week because of the switch-over to the new 23,000 volt electrical substation which feeds the entire campus. The change was made Sunday.

Dr. Coffelt also said that the 1250-space parking decks currently under construction at Lincoln Avenue and Elm Street would be ready for student parking by January 15, 1972, and that except for caulking, the structure would be complete by that date.

Work on the Beeghly Health and Physical Education Center is about 96% complete, according

Law school entrance exam available to all YSU seniors

Law School Admission Test kits with applications for the Dec. 18 exam are available in the Political Science Office, room 109, Arts and Sciences Office Building.

Applications must be filled in and sent, with a $12.00 fee, to the Educational Testing Center, Princeton, New Jersey, by Nov. 26.

The LSAT is open to all interested seniors, regardless of major, according to Miss Ivis Boyer, political science chairman. She said any major is acceptable for law school.

Accounting provides a background for corporation law, or Social Studies compliments Poverty Law. "The big thing is to read and write," Miss Boyer said.

Miss Boyer said that there are ten law school applications to every opening and those students who wish to begin in the Fall should have their files complete by mid-January.

Law classes are only begun in the Fall and a late applicant must wait until the next year to get in.

The minimum requirements are a 2.8 acum and a score in the upper third on the LSAT. Any student who doesn't meet these requirements but feels himself to be an exception is permitted a hearing to explain his qualifications.

Further information, including law school catalogs and the kinds of grants and loans available to applicants, can be found in the Political Science Office.

nearly three times as large as the present Student Center.

General contractor, Charles Shutrump & Sons, said the project will be completed in October of 1973. Student government offices, the Neon, International Student Office, message center, and 12 staff offices will be located in the new complex.

Recreational facilities will also provide room for 12 billiard tables, four tennis tables and card playing rooms. A reading lounge and an art exhibition area will also be included in the center.

The student center will be paid for entirely from allocations from the General Fee paid by all YSU students.

Dr. Caccamo to speak to Philiatric Society today

Dr. Leonard P. Caccamo, director of medical education at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, will be the guest speaker of the Philiatric Society at 4:30 today in Ward-Beecher Science Hall, Room 212, announced President Tom George, senior, industrial engineering.

Dr. Caccamo graduated 4th in his class from Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College in 1947.

He completed internship at Rochester General Hospital in New York and went on to complete internal medicine residencies at St. Elizabeth's from 1949-50, and also at the U.S. Veterans Administration Hospital in Dearborn, Michigan from 1950-52.

From 1952-55 Dr. Caccamo was clinical instructor in internal medicine at Wayne State University School of Medicine, but returned to Youngstown and joined St. Elizabeth's as director of education in internal medicine in 1955.

In 1962 Dr. Caccamo returned to private practice in cardiology and internal medicine. In 1967 he became director of the hospital's coronary care unit.

Appointed to the full-time position of director of medical education in 1970 at St. Elizabeth's, he recruits and trains all interns and residents and has a continuing educational program for attending staff physicians.

He has published two books on the treatment of Diabetic Acidosis and Cardiac Resuscitation, and has written several articles for professional journals.

Dr. Caccamo was certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine in 1955 and is a Fellow in the American College of Cardiology and American College of Physicians. In 1965-68, he served as governor for the cardiology organization.

Dr. Caccamo's speech will be about medical and pre-medical studies. A question-answer period will follow.

Foster will talk on sex and salary at AAUP meeting

The A.A.U.P. meeting to be held at 4 p.m. today in Kilcawley Faculty Lounge will feature a report by Dr. Randolph N. Foster, Director of Institutional Research at YSU. Dr. Foster will discuss the results of his research regarding discrimination on the basis of sex as revealed in salary practices at YSU.

Dr. Foster's study is part of the affirmative action plan developed at YSU to comply with the executive order of the Office of Civil Rights prohibiting discrimination by any university receiving federal funds. YSU also has an Affirmative Action Committee composed of Dr. Earl Edgar, Dr. George Letchworth, Dr. Edith Painter, Dr. Charles Smith, Dr. Donald Robinson, Dr. Ward Miner, Mrs. Josephine Beckett, Mr. Alfred Bright, Mr. Hugh Frost, and Mr. Stuart Aubrey.

The A.A.U.P. meeting is open to all members of the University community.

Simko, Anderson will talk with Gov. on Ohio education

Larry Simko and Cynthia Anderson president and vice president of the YSU student government will join other Ohio student leaders to meet with Ohio Governor John J. Gilligan sometime before Christmas to discuss the relation of the state government to students attending state universities. Simko said the topics to be discussed are: student and faculty representation on the boards of trustees, the apparent insensitivity of the State Legislature to the needs of the universities while drafting the state budget, and student control of the money collected by means of the general fee. Simko and Student Government vice President Cynthia Anderson will be among a group of students representing the Ohio Confederation of State University Student Governments who will meet with the governor. The Confederation decided to ask for an audience with the governor at their meeting last month.

Senseless Death

Last Friday at noon a tragedy struck Youngstown. It struck YSU as well in that one of the staff members was a victim of that tragedy.

As a result of the tragedy most of the Youngstown community felt the horror of indiscriminate death. A young child, several older men and women, and acquaintances were left dead without reason.

What is peculiar about the Youngstown tragedy is not its happening, for tragedies happen all the time, but Youngstown's reaction to it. Tragedies happen all the time. Or do they?

But this kind of tragedy does happen everyday. It doesn't happen in Youngstown or our reaction wouldn't have been so intense. But it does happen in Vietnam where indiscriminate deaths are the rule rather than the exception.

More tonnage of bombs was dropped on Vietnam during Nixon's administration than was dropped during previous president's administration.

Youngstowners, as well as most all Americans, have never known a home war, that is, one being fought in their backyards. The horror of indiscriminate death, is not a fact of life in Youngstown or else Youngstown's tragedy wouldn't have had so much impact.

Youngstown's now know what the Germans, English, Italians, and Japanese knew, and what the Vietnamese now know of having mother, brother, or sister going into town to shop and not returning because of an indiscriminate tragedy, or better yet an indiscriminate boing.

The Youngstown tragedy has brought home to us the meaning of indiscriminate deaths. Let us all remember the impact of these deaths. And let us never be a part of inflicting this tragedy upon others.

Some control can be exercised over our driving ability to prevent the indiscriminate loss of life. But total control can be exercised over indiscriminate deaths caused by excessive and indiscriminate bombing runs, which are the rule rather than the exception in Vietnam.

Letters to the Editor

Urges sexism in caf 'facilities'

To the editor of the Jambar:

I don't know if you printed my first letter to you because every time I pick up your "newspaper" I fall asleep reading the first page.

However, I do know that the cafeteria restrooms are still without "Men and Women" signs on the door. Does this mean that students of YSU can go in either door? Who is the power that keeps the restroom doors unmarked? Why? The truth shall not be suppressed.

Praises Dr. Poddar's teaching

To the editor of the Jambar:

In view of the fact that the case of the non-renewal of Dr. Poddar's contract is legally closed, this letter may seem to lack immediacy.

However, the fundamental issue is relevant to the students, and the stakes are too high to permit the case to close as neatly as some of those among us would like.

Several of the reasons given by the administration for the termination of Dr. Poddar's contract give evidence to the effect that an uncomfortable relationship with certain members of the department made his employment at the university no longer desirable.

One must reply that a university is not a gathering of like minds, it is not a "brotherhood." It ought to be an administrative structure within which is contained people of various values, ideologies, and temperaments; it is only in this way that the student will be presented with the maximum in intellectual variety and stimulation.

The university will have no problem recruiting yes-men and academic bureaucrats, but a teacher of the character and social consciousness of Dr. Poddar is rare indeed.

Another statement in the list of reasons given by the senior members of the department in question, regards him as "immature in his academic and professional performance, having raised serious questions as to his effectiveness as a teacher." How dare you question his effectiveness as a teacher! He is a teacher in the classical and most noble sense. His profession is not to cycle students through the academic machine, but rather to encourage critical and independent thought, to assist the student in becoming aware of the problems and possibilities for improvement and change in every sphere of his society.

This entire argument is based upon what one would call a matter of principle, a weak adversary in any conflict with bureaucracy. Despite the university's legal "victory" in this case, the fact still remains—Dr. Poddar's eventual absence will create an unusual void in this university, one which it is doubtful the university will ever care to fill.

Biology students make useful objects from trash

Projects that "make the valueless valuable" are part of Sr. Elizabeth Staudt's program of helping students of Biology 505 to understand biology and modern man.

A recent assignment that Sr. Staudt, instructor in biology, gave to her students was to make something useful, practical or creative out of any waste materials.

Sister Staudt has a unique teaching method for her biology course. She teaches by means of films, slides, records, tape recorders, and, in this recent assignment, the students.

Various ideas submitted for this assignment were designing bumper stickers, posters, decals, or making something out of trash. Some students suggested recycling objects, writing a letter to a company suggesting a drive-in counter in a store parking lot where pop bottles could be returned for cash or preparing a "trash unit" for a class of elementary students.

Sr. Staudt commented that "the students really didn't let our waste go to waste."

Creativity, uniqueness, patience and waste all describe some of the projects submitted. "It is amazing what some students did with empty beer cans," Sr. Staudt said. Some students made tables, chairs, lamps, and mini-furniture out of beer cans. Others chose to design murals, collages, abstract objects or figures, and pictures. The waste materials used ranged from bottle caps to an old musical instrument, a flute.

Sr. Staudt said her students are discovering what is being done or not being done to solve our pollution and waste problem.

Sr. Staudt remarked that she was very pleased with the works of art she received from her students. She was even happier to hear that some of her students were asked to sell some of their creations to interested buyers.

Capeci to speak on Al Capone as "American Hero"

The next speaker for the History Club's "YSU History Forum" will be Dr. Dominic Capeci, assistant professor of history, who will talk on "Al Capone: An American Hero?", at 4:00 p.m. tomorrow in Pollock House.

In his talk, Dr. Capeci will discuss how Capone reflects one aspect of the Twenties and what people of that time thought of the infamous gangster.

He will also look at Capone in the context of the American "Horatio Alger" myth of the self-made man.

Dr. Capeci will discuss crime as an avenue of social mobility along which an underprivileged youth can pull himself up by his bootstraps and blackjacks.

The History Club also sponsors weekly jam sessions from noon to 2 p.m. every Wednesday in the Cardinal Room of Kilcawley Center.

At yesterday's Student Council meeting, Chairman Bill Jones revealed that Council's poll on student attitudes had been completed. The results of this poll will be published in Friday's Jambar.

In further Council action a motion was carried in the form of a request to Joseph S. Rook, vice president of Financial Affairs, asking that the institutional policy of the Bursar's Office should be changed to include the cashing of small personal checks, and payroll checks of students who are employed by the university.

Letters were sent to President Richard M. Nixon and to Governor John J. Gilligan by Student

YSU Alumni Assn. initiates check of its status

An investigation of the status at the Alumni Association at YSU was initiated at the meeting at the Alumni Affairs Committee yesterday in the Cardinal Room.

The committee tabled a project to produce an alumni listing. Funding of the alumni listing project was the major obstacle to action on the affair. The purpose of the committee is to co-operate with alumni in projects and programs to aid the university.

Dr. Joseph Swartz, professor of education, was appointed to make an inquiry into the status of the Alumni Association and the position of Alumni Secretary.

Council asking them to utilize the full extent of their powers to convene a grand jury to investigate the shooting at Kent State.

Council also sent a letter to Mr. Rook inquiring about the utilization of funds procured by the general fee, money from parking stickers, and an itemization of book costs, wholesale and retail, at the bookstore. This action was taken as a direct result of the poll.

Larry Simko, president of Student Government, requested a conference with Gov. Gilligan to discuss the state government's relationship with university students. The meeting will take place before the end of December.

Greeks top Vikings for IM football crown

The YSU intramural football championship was copped by Theta Chi fraternity, Greek champs, when they slid past the Vikings, the independent champions 12-6 Sunday afternoon at Borts Field.

A well-executed screen pass from Dan Durkin to Rick Canada for 60 yards was the climax of the game.

Theta Chi's offense moved the ball readily the first time it had possession and scored, but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty, turning the ball over to the Vikings. Neither team generated much offense until Theta Chi scored on a 15-yard toss to Canada who tight-roped his way into the corner of the end zone.

It was now the Vikings turn to move the ball with quarterback Mark Wardle scrambling effectively for good yardage.

The drive was halted when a pass by Wardle went astray and was intercepted by cornerback David Richart. Neither team was able to score during the remainder of the first half due to the outstanding defensive play.

The second half started with the Vikings receiving the kick-off. Both teams were fired-up and trying to take advantage of the other team's mistakes.

The game was high-spirited, highlighted by the head to head battle between the offensive blockers and the defensive ends.

The Vikings defense which was burnt the first half on a TD pass played spirited ball and turned the ball over to its offense on numerous occasions. The drives were stopped by Theta Chi's hard-nosed defense.

The Vikings offense finally got moving late in the game with a pass to Nick Gescacion and a fine run by quarterback Mark Wardle along the left sidelines to the 3 yard line. On the next play Wardle rolled to the right as if running only to flip a TD pass.

This deadlocked the game at six apiece, giving the Vikings a chance to score the tie-breaking extra point with less than a minute left. The pressure was on Theta Chi's defense which only gave up three TD's the entire season. The Vikings attempted to pass for the extra point but a hard rush pressured Wardle's throw into the hands of defender Jeff Wellington.

The clutch interception of the extra point sent the game into over-time and put the new "penetration" rule into effect. It gives each team four downs from their own 20 to move the ball as far as possible, the winner being the team advancing the farthest downfield.

The toss was won by Theta Chi who elected to take the ball last. The Vikings failed to move the ball against Theta Chi's determined defense which limited them to minus one yard.

It was now Theta Chi who had its chance to gain one yard and the coveted title of University Champions. The first play was a pass over the middle which fell incomplete. This set the stage for the TD pass to Canada.

The defense of the Vikings was playing extremely tight in an effort to shut off any advance. Durking rolled to the right behind the strong offensive blocking by Dennis-Chaberd, then flipped a pass back across field to Canada, who with the aid of a play-breaking block by Fred Bentfeld showed great determination in outracing the Vikings to the goal line.

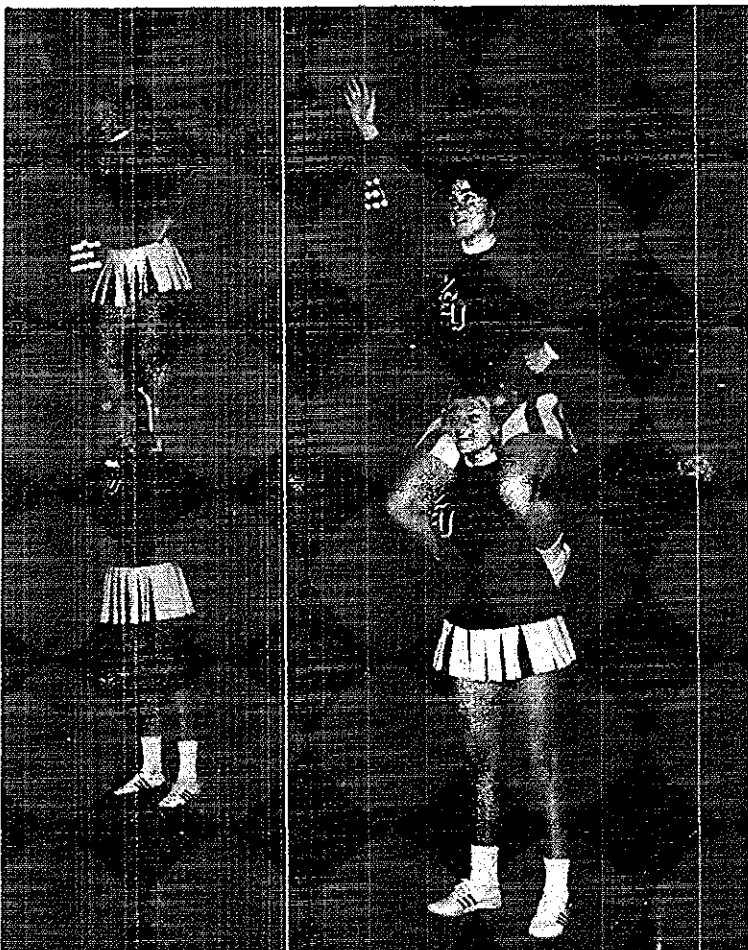

Jack Edwards, coach of Theta Chi said after the game, "we worked hard for this title all year, and proved to be the superior team today just as we did all season long." Both teams played especially well and proved to be of championship caliber.

OEA announces drive to represent YSU faculty

The YSU chapter of the Ohio Education Association announced a drive to represent the YSU faculty and negotiate a general contract for the coming academic year, in its fall edition of The Advocate.

The Advocate article said that fact sheets will be sent to the faculty explaining the proposed negotiations, and how they work at other campuses.

Each faculty member will be sent forms authorizing the OEA chapter as bargaining agent. The forms will be kept in a secret escrow deposit by Common Pleas Judge Martin P. Joyce, who will be certify the number of faculty signing the authorizations if a majority is reached.

The fall Advocate announced that the OEA's membership now includes 15% of the full-time, non-administrative faculty at YSU.

The "Phase II OEA drive is being managed by the "collective bargaining promotion committee" of the chapter, which will also take suggestions on priorities for negotiation in a general contract.

The Advocate article said that the names of faculty members authorizing the OEA as bargaining agent will be released to no one, including the OEA chapter, but will be destroyed after completion of "Phase II."

to Dr. Coffelt, with the contractor estimating that his part will be finished about Dec. 15. An additional 60-90 days will be required by the University to test various equipment, to obtain final approval from the Office of Housing and Urban development, and to move faculty, staff and furnishings into the building.

This would mean that the Center would be available for classroom and instructional purposes about the beginning of the spring quarter.

Work cannot begin on the technical and Community College, Dr. Coffelt said, until funds are made available through the Ohio Legislature. Working drawings and specifications are ready, he said. Bidding is scheduled for February on the Music and Fine Arts Building at Wick Avenue and Spring Street. The basic drawings have been completed, Dr. Coffelt said.

The university is considering including new bidding to move the bookstore along with the library project bid, hoping the cost will be lower than the two bid of $111,626 turned in last week. A delay in plans to move the structure resulted when none of those bids for the move came close to the $86,000 budgeted.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board is set for Saturday, January 29, 1972.

The 'Me' Nobody Should See

By John Manser

The Me Nobody Knows has been running on Broadway for 568 performances. Last Thursday it was presented, by design, for one night at the Powers Auditorium. We may be thankful it was for only one night.

Youngstown is a fair distance from New York, and somewhere between the two cities this touring company of the show lost whatever made The Me Nobody Knows a hit on Broadway.

Part of the blame for the disaster may be placed on the Powers Auditorium, whose acoustics seem to be about as planned and precise as the Grand Canyon. Consequently, I missed bits and pieces of dialogue and songs that may have changed my opinion about the performance.

However, what I did hear (and it was most of the musical) leads me to believe the missed portion would have had to be unbelievably good to save the show.

The show is a free form mixture of dialogue and songs that focus on various aspects of ghetto life.

The music is good and some of the dialogue funny. The trouble comes when the limited amount of time afforded such complex problems like dope addiction, ghetto crime and the plain misery of being poor forces the show to be superficial.

Hence the boundary between pathos and bathos is very fuzzy, with the only satisfactory solution calling for intelligent, restrained acting.

Unfortunately, intelligent acting was missing entirely from this production and the only emotional relief to be had was on the same level as that of getting drunk.

'Man and technological soc.' an interdisciplinary approach

The interdisciplinary course "Man and the Technological Society," currently taught at YSU, is the first course of its kind employing three professors of highly divergent disciplines.

According to Dr. Henry P. Sheng, associate professor of chemical engineering, many universities are using the course as a guideline for similar courses.

He and Dr. Guido A. Dobbert, associate professor of sociology, and Dr. Lauren A. Schroeder, assistant professor of biology, teach the course.

"Man and the Technological Society" 789, cross-listed under chemical engineering, biology and sociology, seeks "to provide the student a unique opportunity to develop an interdisciplinary view to confront today's major problems," Dr. Dobbert said.

The professors feel that it will help alleviate the problem of over-specialization.

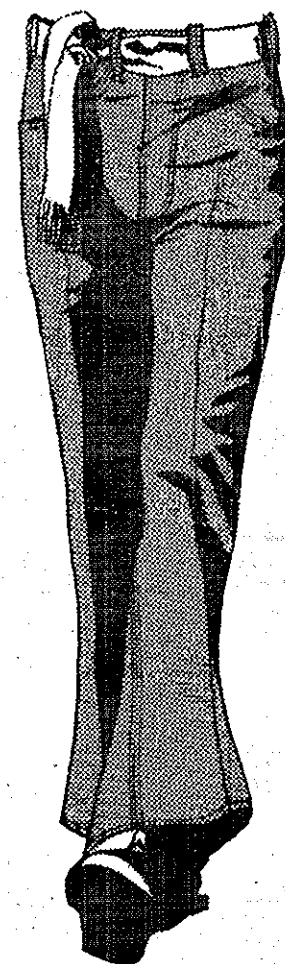

Students reported that a highlight of the course was the "Trial of Technology." Early in the quarter Dr. Sheng defended technology, while Dr. Schroeder acted as prosecutor.

Dr. Dobbert the judge, and the students, who composed the jury, came to the conclusion that it was the application of technology that its responsible for the negative aspects of technology rather than the technology per se and all segments of society were equally guilty in offenses against the environment.

Pens freeze Gusties for second home win

The Penguins stunned the Golden Gusties of Gustavus Adolphus, 14-0, Saturday evening before a local television audience and 4,800 fans in Campbell Memorial Stadium.

YSU put together their second win of the year compared with five defeats and now has a 2-1 record at home. Their first win was also a shut-out victory as they trounced Central State 30-0.

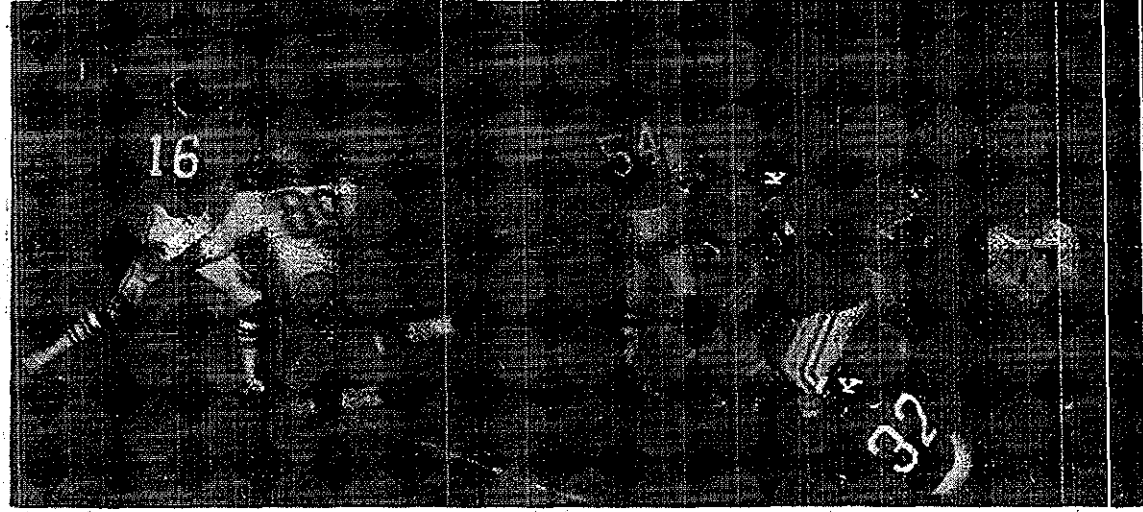

This week the Pens face the Akron University Zips 7:30 p.m., Saturday in the Rubber Bowl at Akron.

The first Bird TD drive started on the YSU 28 after the Gusties were forced to punt. An eight yard run by senior fullback Rosie Blackwell and a 19-yard jaunt by freshman tailback Andy Kuchman was followed by the Penguins fake fumble play. Junior quarterback Ron Jaworski handed the ball off to Rudy Florio as Kuchman fell on the ground shouting "fumble!" and the center Cole Pentz jumped on top of him. Florio streaked 45 yards around end for the goal line.

As the majority of the Gustie defensive unit watched Kuchman, they realized they had been bluffed. The Gusties started down field but stopped as they saw Florio evade the last Golden Gustie. The result was six points plus one as kicker Fred Bruderly booted the ball through the uprights.

The second and final touchdown came in the last stanza after the stonewall defense of the Penguins made the Gusties punt for the ninth time of the evening. In five plays a combination of short passes and strong running plunges—YSU was on the scoreboard again. Kuchman was set in motion around the end from the tailback slot and caught a flare pass. Surrounded by the enemy he cut back and forth with the help of good blocks made it to the GA 10. The next play Blackwell squirmed, twisted, and finally rolled into the end zone for a touchdown. Bruderly kicked the extra point.

YSU PENGUIN ACTION — Quarterback Ron Jaworski (16) is about to fling a pass to Joe Caldwell (not in picture). Other Pens seen are Cole Pentz (54), Elliott Dunlap (74), Rosie Blackwell (32), Denny Bogdan (62), and John Toy (83).

into a down payment on my new car.
And I'm not going to blow it."

You worked hard for that new car of yours. Now all you've got to do is take care of it. Part of it's using the right gasoline. Amoco®. The type most new car owner manuals recommend.

Amoco is specially formulated for your new car's anti-pollution engine. Made to help it run better, longer. And Amoco can double the life of your tail pipe and muffler compared to fully leaded gasolines; spark plugs last longer, too.

Amoco Super-Premium gives you all these benefits plus better mileage than other premiums. It's the only anti-pollution premium gasoline you can buy.

That's one reason why more new car buyers switch to Amoco and other gasolines at American than any other brand.

So now that you've got that new car, use the gasoline you can count on.

You've got a new car. We've got a new car gasoline.

You expect more from American and you get it.™
