IFC SWEETHEART BALL PLANNED FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

"Doc"

Dr. Henry V. Stearns

With the passing last week of "Doc" Stearns, Youngstown University lost something more valuable than anything material it possesses. For Doctor Henry V. Stearns gave his students all the wisdom of his considerable musical experience in a manner that gained respect throughout musical circles of the Youngstown area and beyond.

He gave unstintingly of his knowledge and patience for his students and he made them love him by the sheer power of his knowledge and personality. A stranger could call him "Doctor" but here he was "Doc" and that's the way he wanted it. He tolerated no false qualities in anyone and he was quick to detect genuine sincerity and equality quick to ferret out those who disliked the hard work that goes into the preparation of any career in music.

It is significant that "Doc" was engaged in work on the forthcoming production "The Magic Flute" in recent weeks. For he always had on his mind the one goal of having all of his students participate in presentations for the public to give them experience.

It would be well to dedicate the "Magic Flute" to him. For "Doc" was living proof that the faculty of Youngstown University is genuinely interested in the welfare of the student body.

A smile from "Doc" was something to brighten the day. To strangers and students alike he was always genial and his sharp tongue was a shield that covered the friendliest heart that ever brought so much good to so many persons.

Most of us had the pleasure to see him last in a public performance at the university library, when under his direction (and as a part of traditional Candelighting Service) the chorus sang for the first time "Doc's" Christmas cantata.

No one who witnessed the presentation of "The Nativity" cantata, written especially by him for the ceremony, will forget the true message that he conveyed through the music he composed.

He has gone on to God's heaven but has left in the hearts of all of us a sense of pride that we knew him. Because of this and the thousands of successful students of his that have gone on to greater things, our beloved "Doc" will always be with us.

MEMBERS OF STUDENT COUNCIL WHO WERE ELECTED

Ernest Bodo*	Mike Solomón*
Robert Mondok*	Robert Craine
Joseph Nohra	Donald Seely
Robert Mazur	Peggy Tiller*
James Fedorchak	Peggy Potts*

* Names marked thusly are newly elected members - others were re-elected from last year.

New Council President Is Interviewed

Revision of the social rules was Council's big achievement last semester, states "Bill" Moore, newly elected President of Youngstown University's Student Council.

Moore gave his opinions in an interview last week and explained that Council will have a busy time of it next semester. Early on the agenda will be the budget.

"We are planning on getting it through as quickly as possible, by the first meeting of next semester, if we can," he said.

He added that Council will have to go over the entire Constitution and By-Laws. "We've revised the selection of the NEON and JAMBAR editors and we will have to make changes in the form of additions and deletions when needed."

"We had an excess of $2100 in the general fund, part of which goes to match, dollar for dollar, the costs of a new lounge in the engineering building, a new incinerator and, since council recently pledged support to the new literary magazine, part will also go for that."

"During registration we're passing out slips asking questions on the order of 'Do you drive to school?', 'What part of this area do you come from?' and 'Would you be willing to drive others to school?' We're doing this because of the increase in out of town students attending the university."

"Results of this survey will determine action by Council as to whether or not some sort of parking pool is to be arranged."

In regard to student usage of the parking lots, Moore stated "The parking facilities are utilized quite well, considering that we don't have a full-time attendant on any of the lots."

Nick Barile To Play For Dancers

Tomorrow night will see the selection of the "Interfraternity Council's Sweetheart" at the Sweetheart Ball. The dance, being held this year for the first time under the sponsorship of IFC, will be held in Stambaugh Auditorium on Saturday, January 28, from 9 to 1.

Music for the affair will be provided for the evening's dancers by the orchestra of Nick Barile. Highly popular at university social functions, Barile's group will also play for the Mardi Gras dance being sponsored by Youngstown University's Newman Club on February 11.

Attractive coeds up for the "Sweetheart" title, are Emily Casey of Phi Mu, Kay Harmon of Gamma Sigma, Nancy Puskar of Beta Sigma, Audrey Ward of Alpha Kappa Alpha and Joyce Van Sack of Phi Lambda Delta sorority.

Chosen Saturday Night

The girls will be judged by the five advisors of fraternities that did not participate originally in the selection of the five candidates, and will be crowned by IFC President, Lee Crisan, of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity.

A requirement of attendance for the dance is that one or the other of the dating parties be a member of a recognized fraternity or sorority.

A trophy will be awarded tomorrow night to the fraternity preparing the best of the ten (for each fraternity member of IFC) booths allotted. Judge will be Dr. Walter E. Mayer, head of the department of Psychology.

Judges Named

Other judges for this event will be Prof. Jon Naberezny, head of the university art department and Prof. George R. Elwell, also of the art department.

Chaperons, appointed by Dean of Women, Mrs. Olive McCarty, are Dr. and Mrs. Kelsie B. Harter, both of the university English faculty, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas W. Maine.

Take Chairmanship

Chairmanship for the evening social affair went to Pi Beta Chi fraternity, affiliate of Tau Kappa Epsilon national fraternity. Chairmen for the Ball are Robert Mazur and Robert Bucher.

The Chairmen estimate that over 350 Greeks and their dates are expected to attend the first IFC Sweetheart Ball.

A Third Publication

As you will undoubtedly notice, on another page of this issue, there is a story about the plans for the forthcoming Literary Magazine. The need for such a magazine is obvious. The only factor not so obvious is why it has not been a campus publication long before this.

The outlets for creative talent in the university are rather limited. There are many students who are interested in writing prose and poetry but are not interested in working under pressure to write factual news stories for the JAMBAR. And they don't see much creative outlet in writing copy for the NEON.

On the contrary, these persons are on the campus, they merely do not have an outlet for their creativeness. It is earnestly hoped by the JAMBAR that the proposed Literary Magazine will be a success.

By success, we do not mean so in regard to content. We doubt that there will be any lack of material. But we hope that the enthusiasm of the other students will be at least equal to that of students submitting compositions.

Two Good Presidents

Student Council has hit the jackpot twice this year. They've chosen from their number two highly qualified men to be their leaders. In their last meeting of the semester, Council chose William "Bill" Moore as their new President for the coming semester. He succeeds Jack Chuglen as Council President.

Chugden did his work well. He made it a reality that Council's business should be transacted in accordance with the rules of the Constitution and By Laws and he made himself personally familiar with the contents of both documents and made that knowledge work in practical application.

Moore is a different personality than Chugden, but is equally skillful. His ability and powers of application were shown last semester when he occupied the position of chairman of the National Student Association Committee. N.S.A. has not been popular on the campus nor has council actively participated in its programs.

But its advantages are reported by reliable persons to be many and it is also said that the reason N.S.A. has not engaged the more active participation of Student Council has been a lack of understanding.

In other words, Chairman (as he was then) Moore was faced with the chore of being the champion of a misunderstood cause. His work in explaining to Council the values to be obtained by N.S.A. membership and his firm urging that Council either participate actively or withdraw from N.S.A. (which he stated in his final report as chairman to council) could cause council action on N.S.A. in the near future.

The president of Student Council must advise, be patient, and listen to debate with an attitude of complete impartiality - always striving for a better Student Council organization.

The JAMBAR feels sure that the student body of Youngstown University does not fully appreciate the work of Student Council and its direct importance to them. But the student body may feel assured that their Student Council will be guided by a capable leader - "Bill" Moore.

Some Belated Credit

"I'm going up to the library to do some work" seems to be a phrase catching on around Youngstown University these days. And it's a tribute to one man, Mr. James Pirie, who directs the operations and services of the Youngstown University library.

Mr. Pirie has seen a considerable increase in both the number of volumes of the library and the number of services now provided. He has engaged a highly competent staff, of which several are students of the university, to maintain this high degree of efficiency.

Mr. Pirie's active interest in student knowledge of library services has proven that we are highly fortunate to have him as our chief librarian. So often is it, and sadly too, that those who work hardest for the betterment of our university seldom receive the true credit they deserve.

QUESTION: Should a person who is pursuing a professional course (engineering, medicine, education, law, etc.) be required to take more, or less, liberal arts courses?

Bonnie Lou Kollar - Freshman

Although I'm a freshman, my opinion is that if a person is studying to be an engineer, teacher, lawyer, etc., he should take courses pertaining to that certain subject. For example, I am an art major so why shouldn't I specialize in courses relating to art and the teaching of art?

I don't mean to have all of the courses in art because the only thing I'd know would be art and I would be extremely limited. Having a specialized course is not so good, but neither is a general course. I think that we should compromise and have a half and half course, it would be better.

Gerald King - Sophomore

I think that the choice should be left to the student. The university requirements should require the specialized subjects only. If the student should decide to take some general courses, he should be free to do so. Subjects that are forced upon the student are not taken seriously and the results are not worth the time spent in study.

Cyril E. Tsvetanoff - Junior

The professional who does not know and enjoy the world about him is little more than a machine. He should have enough specialized education to enable him to be competent in his field, but let us also increase the liberal arts education.

Art McGaffic

Without a doubt, liberal arts subjects are of vital importance to the doctor, engineer, teacher, etc. Perhaps they are more important in one profession than another, but the need for liberal arts in all professions is becoming more important to educators.

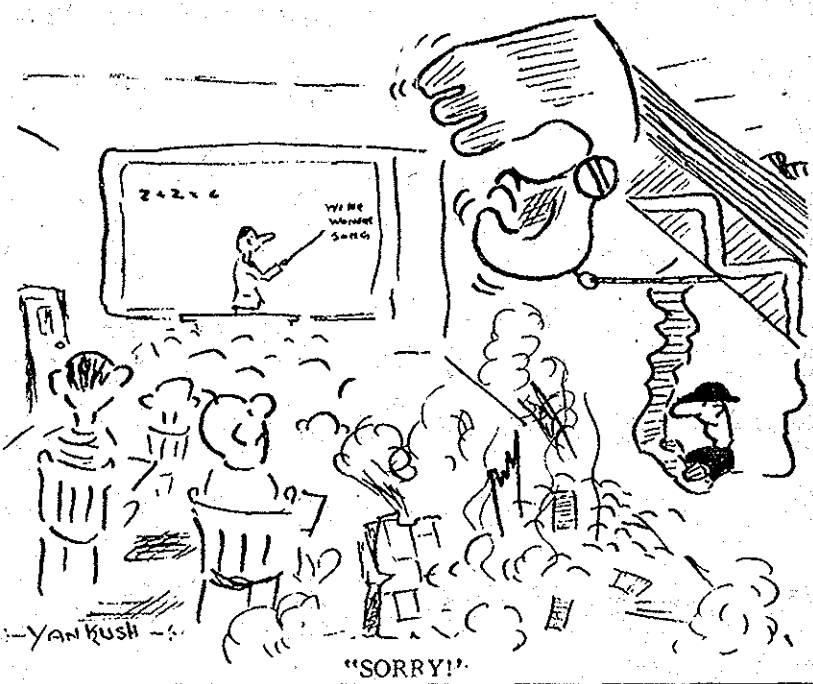

Persons in all professions have to make contacts with other persons and have dealings outside their own field at one time or another.

Human relations cannot be studied on a blueprint. The man who is an expert in his own field, but cannot communicate with his fellow men, and who knows little about anything but his profession must lead a dull life.

I think a reasonable balance between technical and liberal arts subjects should be sought. Not too much, or too little of either.

The new maid was instructed by the lady of the house to fix lunch for the lady and a friend whom she was bringing in for tea during the afternoon. While they were eating their lunch, the lady remembered the strainer had been mislaid and said to the maid, "Did you find the lost tea strainer, Carrie?"

"No mam," the maid answered, "I just used the fly swatter."

With the ENGINEERS . . .

And how are all you tired and worn people? I hope the end of finals finds you in very good shape, physically and scholastically. But let us leave the dead slumber peacefully and turn to more pertinent problems.

I don't mind standing in line for hours, but I hate to have to pay for it too! Did you get lost in the library? Don't worry, the bill collectors will find you in time to make your first payment.

Someone should incorporate an incentive plan in this registration process. It would speed things up quite a bit. The least they could do is give green stamps!

List Nominees

Right about here I should make a list of the nominees for all the offices in our little cliches, but at one glance I can see that would require a volume or two.

Let it suffice to remind all of the staunch supporters of the various organizations to keep an eye on the Bulletin Board for announcements regarding elections. Until then go over your list of candidates and pick a good man for each post.

Team Organizing

We've been hearing talk of organizing a baseball team already. It seems "Rubber Arm" Beard, and "Black Eye" Davis have been whooping it up for the honor and glory of ole' O.S.P.E. We hope they can improve over last season's mark when they had some tough luck at the end of the season and finished with one win and six or seven losses.

Ed Salata reports he's in fine shape and that should bring sighs of relief. Neil Beard has been working on a new pitch in secret - in the boiler room.

Typical senior attitude toward his thesis: "I'll get going on it next month. It won't take any time once I get started."

Pics Taken

Bob Stevenson had some great pictures taken for the NEON. Too bad we can't see all of them in the book, Bob. They would really liven it up a bit.

After finals, perish the thought, a few of the electricals were seen whooping it up in the Elms Gardens. Quite a change from the Wickwood boys! I'd rather eat pretzels than doughnuts any day!

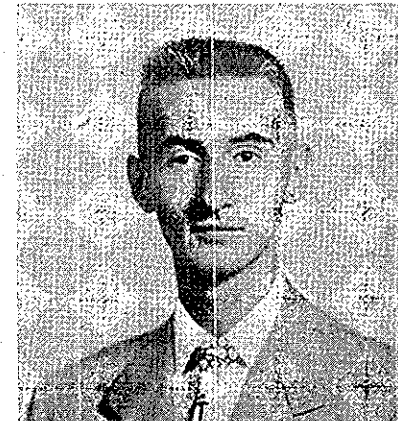

I hear we're in need of funds for a "Lounge". Why not put a big tent over the building and charge everyone twenty five cents to get out? We'd make a mint.

A chief clerk was telling another supervisor, "When I walk through the typist pool I feel like a piece of uranium approaching a whole battery of geiger counters."

"What do you mean?" the other man asked.

"The closer I get the faster they click!"

Lavin Accepted At Ohio State Medical School

Thomas Lavin, a senior in pre-med, has been accepted as a student in medicine at Ohio State University. Lavin has served, among his several activities, as a President of Student Council, officer in the Interfraternity Council and a member of Sigma Sigma fraternity.

A new word has been added to our American vocabulary. In describing a boy of his acquaintance, a youth said, "He's psychoceramic."

"What's that?" someone asked.

"Crackpot."

English Club Formed Here To Spur Interest

Twenty-five students met January 11, at Pollock House to discuss organizational plans for a proposed English Club. This club would be the first to represent the field at Youngstown University.

The group discussed aims, membership, and the type of organization. Robert Saltsman and Mrs. Jean Kelty were elected temporary president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Dr. Kelsie B. Harder and Dr. Gordon O'Brien will be advisors to the group.

Committees Formed

Two temporary committees were formed. One will be to handle publicity and advertising while the other will draft a tentative constitution and a set of by-laws to be submitted to the group for discussion and alteration, as necessary.

The organization is being formed to foster the interest and the development of the individual student in the various English activities, which include literature; speech; newspaper, radio, and television journalism; teaching, and others.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday February 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Blue Room of Pollock House.

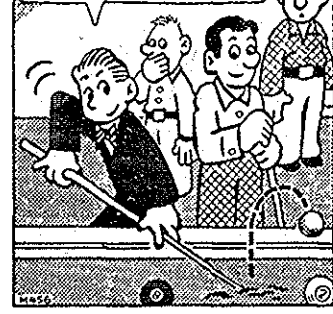

The club extends a cordial invitation to any person who may be interested in membership in the organization.

Joe: What're you gonna be when you finish college?

Moe: An Octogenarian, I think.

Prof. Lyman Comes Here To Teach Social Sci.; Sociology

Youngstown University's sociology and social science faculty will be graced next semester by Prof. Jane L. Lyman, who comes here with a distinguished record of scholastic and social activities to her credit.

Professor Lyman will serve on the faculty as an assistant professor. She is a graduate of Rayen High School and has been a teacher at schools in the Youngstown area as well as being an instructor at St. Elizabeth's School of Nursing.

She holds degrees of B.A., B.S. in Education, M.A. and has attended Geneva College, Youngstown University, Western Reserve University, and Oxford University in England.

Is In AAUW

Professor Lyman is a member of the English-Speaking Union, the British Federation of University Women, American Association of University Women and the National Education Association.

She went to England on a special course of study at Oxford on Twentieth Century Political Institutions, with observation periods at the House of Commons, Sheriff's Court of City of London, Old Bailey, House of Lords and the London and Home Counties Azzizes.

In 1951 she was chosen as one of the American representatives to the International Conference of the English Speaking Union held in London. She was also official representative to the dedication of the new American (World War II) shrine in St. Paul's Cathedral, which was attended by the British Royal Family, (the then) General Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Court of St. James.

Traveled Extensively

While in England, Professor Lyman was able to visit other parts of the United Kingdom, France, Holland and later, Canada.

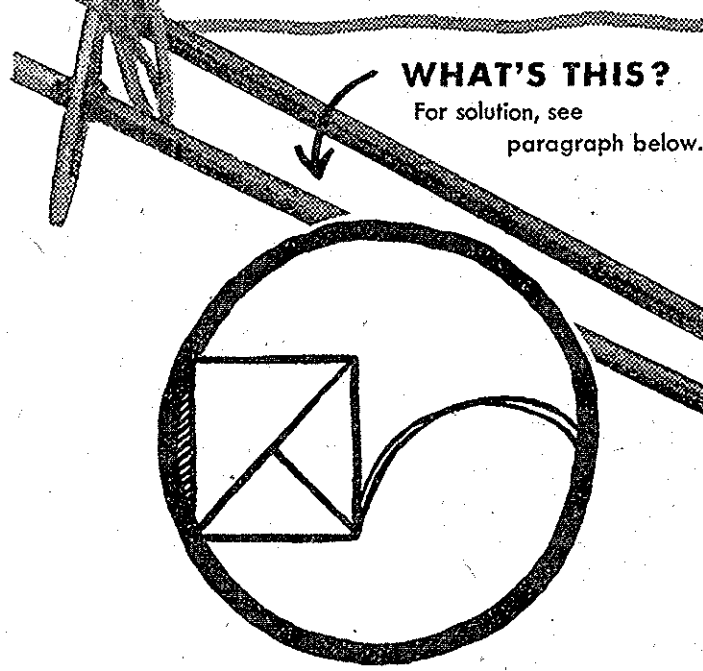

While overseas she also had the opportunity of interviewing, during the course of her graduate studies at Oxford, the British Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison, the Lord Mayor of London, Lady Nancy Astor and several other personages of civic importance in the United Kingdom.

She served as a member of the Oxford English Speaking Union Committee for better Anglo-American community relations and to improve liaison between communities and the American Air Force.

Professor Lyman's special interests are Anglo-American Relations and Diplomatic History, British local government organization and national electoral procedures, American diplomatic history and the history of medicine.

QUICK WAY TO BETTER TASTE: It's illustrated in the Droodle above, titled: Lucky smoker opening fresh pack. (He's merely doing away with a little red tape.) Better taste is what he's after, and better taste is what he'll get. Luckies taste better, you see, because they're made of fine tobacco . . . light, mild tobacco that's TOASTED to taste better. The Sig Sigs are planning a trip to New York over the mid-semester period. They decided to hold a fraternity meeting on Times Square. Fourteen of the members are planning to join Rev. Linder, Miss Jenkins and Mr. Naberezny. I can see why so many chaperons are being needed for this trip.

The Sigma Sigma pledges are eagerly wandering around the campus trying desperately to gather up those precious merits before the deadline.

The members would also like to say good-bye to Eddy Voytko, one of their brothers, who enlisted in the Marines. Youngstown University has lost an ardent student and a great athlete, but like the Sig Sigs say, for a worthy cause.

Two House Parties Held

The Phi Mus recently held a meeting and party at Arlene Richardson's house. And on January 25, a meeting was held at the home of their Advisor, Mary Lou Macko. Cheering at most of the basketball games are the ardent fans of Phi Mu.

Congratulations to Peggy Potts, newly elected member of Student Council and to Peggy Kramer, who was elected vice-president of North Eastern-Ohio Future Teachers of America. Both are Beta Sigs.

They are planning two parties with fraternities during the coming mid-semester vacation. The sorority would like to thank everyone who helped in making their dance, "Chez Paree" a success.

Another Engagement

Congratulations to Teddy Morgan on her engagement to George Guji, who is attending Pre-Dental school at Ohio State University.

Between semesters, the Kappa Sigs really went collegiate. Seven of the members left on a two day ski trip in the hills of Pennsylvania. Everyone had a ball except for Jim Mangie, who is still in bed. It seems that this is the fourth time Joe New went skiing and has never been out of the skiing lodge.

Also a big celebration was held at President, Ray Baker's wedding. Singing in the wedding was Chuck Lehnerd, who is still looking for that "Lost Chord". The fraternity is looking forward to Tom Carney's wedding that is January 28.

Is Still Looking

Dick Reilly is still looking for his shoes. While ice skating, some one happened to take his shoes home with them. As long as it keeps snowing, you can wear your ice skates but what will you do when spring comes, Snode?

Did you buy your raffle tickets yet? A whole semester's free tuition or the cash equivalent. Sounds good, doesn't it? This is one of the pledge's projects.

The Kappa Sigs bowling team is riding high with eight straight victories and no losses. Ed Tragesser, top bowler, is leading the team to its victories. The basketball team is also doing great with two victories and no defeats. With big Bob O'Neil and little Ray McCullough, the fraternity doesn't have to worry about high shots and low shots.

Enjoyed Party

Actives and pledges of Sigma Phi Epsilon enjoyed the Stag party held last Friday night at the home of George Mitchell. The Sig Eps receive an annual invitation from George, who is an old Phi Sig and is now a teacher in the Youngstown area.

The Gamma Sigs, after spending the last few weeks with such tasks as Helen Savic and Loretta Liptak, studying hard, Maggie Docherty, talking about Thermo, and Gay Wollitz, making a music project, are looking forward to another semester to begin.

Also they are all disappointed that none can make the trip to New York. The financial status is really bad but the sales on cashmere sweaters is going up.

Rush Season Coming Up

The sorority is looking forward to rush season which will begin in February. Plans are also being made for a basketball team. Lip is being kept busy trying to get Kay Harmon in shape. She is now feeding her growing pills.

The Phi Gamma fraternity counteracted the week of finals by "living it up" at the "Flunkers Frolic" sponsored by the Independents. It sure was a welcome relief after the many hours spent worrying about finals.

Dick Rein finally found his girl whom he lost at the New Years Eve party, at the Cycle Club, the location of the Bowling party. The Bowling meet was held at the Marhill Lanes and to the victors went the spoils. Afterwards, the losers paid the bill for the date party at the Cycle Club.

Thanks To All

Pi Beta Chi wishes to thank everyone who attended their "January Jump". Those who attended seemed to have a good time, and the people who stayed home to study for finals were wishing that they had gone to the dance.

Bob Bucher and Bob Mazur have been working hard on the final arrangements for the I.F.C. Sweetheart Ball. Congratulations to past president, Bill Crowmover on completing his formal education. Lots of success, Bill, in the big, bad engineering world.

On Sunday, January 22, the fraternity had its formal installation of new actives. The banquet was held at the Mahoning Country Club. It was in honor of the 17 new members.

An Exchange of Office

Jack Knable (working four nights a week) has resigned as the social chairman. Steve Mondora will take over his duties.

Things have really been popping with the Phi Lams. We hear that Marilyn Ervin had a date with Mac Beth last week. She likes older men. It seems Dr. Harder fixed it up.

Shirley Cummerick didn't even study for the exam in Ancient Archeology. She doesn't have the course. Shirley, as well as Arelne Delliso and Shirley Pitts, has become quite proficient in the use of the slide rule. These engineering widows find this is the only way to keep up with the competition of those strength problems.

On Her Way

is on her way for a visit. After seeing her grades, she's leaving town. Ask Angie D'Agostino what happened to the punch at the surprise party in Lowellville.

Congratulations to Gugie for doing such a fine job as chairman of the W.R.A. play day.

We hear that Barb Brezoveck received the Good Housekeeping Award for her recipe of chocolate pudding. Soon Hannah Moore will have more than a sparkle in her eye. Isn't that right, Ian?

Square Dance Due

A party with the Beta Sigs is being planned during the vacation with the Alpha Phi Delta. This will be a square dance and social chairman Larry Miro, informed the fraternity that there will be a prize for the "hickiest" dresser.

The Alpha Phi welcome back Lou DeMarinis, who was recently discharged from the service. Lou, better known as "Luke" served the army in Georgia. He is in business school, studying advertising. Look for his sunshine smile on campus.

Several of the pledges, Mike Roncone, Tom Fortunato, Tom Marcone, Vito Leardi, John Cataline and Rudy Donatelli are volunteering to go to Steubenville and Columbus during vacation to visit and impress the two chapters. The results should be interesting.

The bowling team is crying the blues after losing the first half by two pins. They were in the lead until the last game. Team captain, Sam Rodgers is planning more determination for the second half.

Looking Around...

Bob Craine and Jim Crowe

Our hearts are indeed saddened today by the loss of our beloved comrad, advisor and editor George ("Stop the presses!") Miller. We shall miss his kindly old countenance, friendly advice and threatening gestures when our column was late (which, after all, wasn't more than twice a month.) Though we know it is considered "chic" these days to disparage one's employer, we shall not! Indeed, we shall cry "Huzzah!" and "Bon Homme!" and "Stout Fellow!" Sugree we will.

For those of you who don't know our boss a brief description follows: George looks somewhat like a beagle who is just too polite to mention that someone is stepping on his paw. This beagleism has certain compensations - he is never ordered off the grass in the parks and pretty girls frequently stop on the street to scratch his ears. (This will never get past George's red pencil, which is constantly inscribing the word "cut".) The rough draft of our column usually looks like a butcher's diagram for a side of beef, after dear old G.M. was finished slicing it.

By the time this issue comes out all you fine people (a clever psychological trick to get you on our side) will have registered for next semester. With pencils in hand, determination in your hearts and an empty wallet in your trousers (or purses if you happen to be one of the ruling minority,) ready to venture forth to bigger and better scholastic achievements.

But as we sat in the library in the midst of final exams we scanned the room and found many familiar, thought dejected, faces. Ed Nader appeared to be sleeping, though he claims he has to keep his eyes closed to keep from bleeding to death. ("Think about it a little while - it'll come to you. Or better yet pick up a copy of "Ten Nights in A Barroom.") Larry Borom was busy working on the manuscript entitled "How To Cheat At Water Polo," Joann Witherow, Ellen Haber, Pat Jaminet and Belle Wilson were busily cramming for the final in Bird Watching 301. All of the aforementioned girls are nurses at S.S. Hospital, and contrary to popular belief, we are very fond of these blossoming Florence Nightengale's.

And while we're on the subject of the medical problem, we doff the proverbial hat to Tom Lavin and John Werning, who were speedily accepted to several medical schools. Larry Miro, Paul West, Fred Nebot and Chuck Koutsourais were busy in the library last we saw them planning the formation of a Foundation for the Prevention of the Flunking of Frat Men. Dick Yankel wants to be included.

We certainly hope that you have been paying strict attention to Dr. Fulkerson's articles on social science, for in these troubled days it is particularly proper to have a knowledge of this subject (just ask Mary "I flunked another final" Summers.) and Joanne Powell. In response to multitudinous requests from our mothers and fathers (they pay the bills) we shall attempt to explain in simple terms just what social science is. Basically, social science is quite simple. First, let us turn to economics, often called the queen of the social sciences (sociology is the king - advertising brings the jack.) Economics, say Barbara Miller and Joe Nohra (two of YU's outstanding economists.) breaks down into two broad, general classifications: 1) coins; 2) folding money. But before taking up these technical aspects, let us survey briefly the history of economics.

Economics was discovered by the Englishman Adam Smith. He published his theories in 1788, but everybody giggled so hard that Smith, blushing hotly, gave up the whole thing, grew a beard, and went into the cough drop business with his brother. For long years after that, economics lay neglected while the world busied itself with other, more important things, like the birth of Mickey Spillane, the Last Days of Pompeii and the Bunny Hug.

Then one day, while flying a kite during a thunderstorm, the American scholar Timothy Abraham discovered the law of diminishing returns and then, boy, the fat was on the fire! Before you could say "Oop Shoop," the Industrial Revolution was on! Mechanization and steam power came into being, one machine did the work of fifty men and economics become the study of the day.

And so it went - factories rising from the plains, cities blooming around the factories, transportation and commerce keeping pace - until today, thanks to economics, we have smogs, depression and economics textbooks at $5.50.

Stanley Quartet To Present Program

Presenting a program open to the general public and members of the student body without charge will be the Stanley Quartet, of the University of Michigan. The recital will take place on Wednesday evening of February 1, in C.J. Strouss Memorial Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Members of the quartet are Gilbert Ross, violin; Emil Raab, violin, Robert Courte, viola and Oliver Edell on the cello.

The group will play numbers by Mozart, Beethoven and Debussy.

The Stanley Quartet comes to Youngstown University under the sponsorship of the School of Music, the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Changes In Effect This Registration To Improve Speed

Students registering for next semester today and tomorrow will find a different system of organization. The system has changed in order to increase the registration process and ease the waiting time of students enrolling for next semester's courses.

All students will get their grade reports in the basement of the library and fill in their schedules just as before. They will then proceed to their advisors to have their schedules verified.

Here is where the difference comes in. Instead of going in line to get class cards students will obtain their cards from the various departments in which they have courses.

If You Get Lost

Just in case any mixups occur, the members of Company P, First Regiment, National Society of Pershing Rifles, will be stationed at various parts of the library to give assistance.

No permanent class cards will be issued until the bill is paid. Anyone who registers late or has not completed registration by the end of the registration period this week will be assessed a fee of $2.

No student will be admitted to class without the class cards he or she is supposed to get during registration.

The application should include, if possible, a recommendation from an instructor, and should contain an explanation of the project to be obtained desired by the applicant for study.

Freshmen and seniors are not eligible for the scholarship and students of any department of Youngstown University may apply.

Students will be considered not so much on the basis of point average as on the applicants all around grade level and the type of courses he or she has been taking.

University To Have Literary Magazine

Student Council has nodded its approval for financing the first issue and the magazine will be offered for sale for thirty-five cents a copy on or about March 31, 1956. Proceeds realized from the sale will be returned to the general fund.

To Encourage Writing

The purpose of the publication will be to encourage creative writing at this University by giving the student writer a publication outlet that he might not otherwise have. Short stories, poetry, essays, or other literary material will be welcomed from any student from any department in the school after February 1.

Material submitted will be judged on its own merits by a five person editorial committee. This committee and other staff members will be named soon. Student Council approved a motion at their last meeting of the semester that Robert Saltsman and Harry Conrath be co-editors of the forthcoming magazine and form a staff which Council will later vote on.

Any person having material to submit should leave it in the Public Relations Office, or at the main desk of the university library.

There are no absolute maximum lengths, but shorter works will be preferred, provided quality is maintained. The length of short stories,

PARKING RULES LISTED

Following are the areas where students may park or may not park their cars:

You MAY park at:

1. Wick Avenue Parking Lot
2. Parking Lot behind Ford Hall
3. Rear of First Christian Church
4. Either of the two College parking lots at the corner of Spring and Bryson Streets, north of the University Library
5. Engineering students only may park in the Engineer's lot beside Rayen School of Engineering

You MAY NOT park at:

1. Rear of the Main Building
2. Parking lot near the Annexes
3. Rear of the Dana School of Music
4. Clingan Waddell Hall
5. Pollock Hall
6. Side of Ford Hall

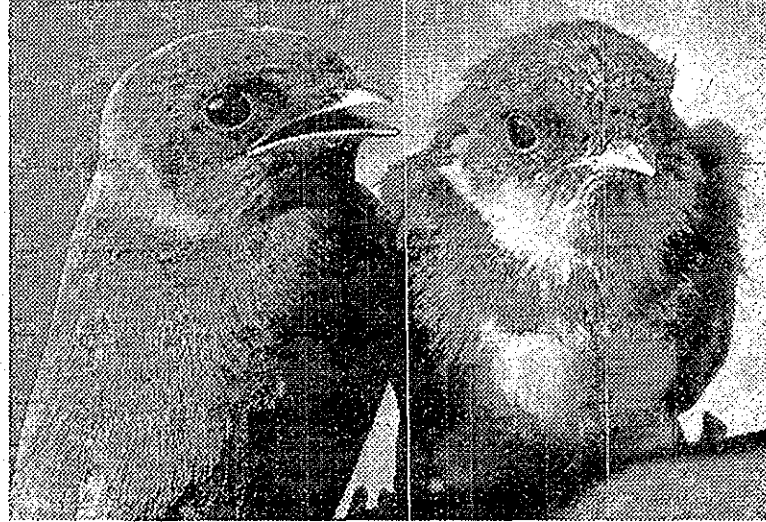

CONCERNING PARKING AT THE FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The church has granted students permission to park at the REAR of the church. However, students must not park in the driveways, or between the church and Butler Art Museum. That area is RESERVED! Do not block the entrances. This area does not belong to the school. It is only common decency to use it accordingly. Delivery trucks must have access to the church.

NO ONE is allowed to park in the driveway leading from the lot north of the Library to the lot behind the church. This is an order! The drive must be kept clean on BOTH sides in case of fire.

For safety's sake the school requests that due to the large number of students usually on the drives, there be absolutely no student driving on the campus itself. Due to the short distances involved, this shouldn't be an imposition on anyone. There have been several requests that no student park in the restricted zone on Bryson Street between the two funeral homes. Violators will have their cars towed away.

BEHIND LOCKER ROOM DOORS

By Don Infante

In its effort to keep you, the reader, informed on what goes on behind the locker room doors of your team, your JAMBAR has this week interviewed head basketball mentor "Dom" Rosselli.

Dom, who is in his twelfth season as basketball coach for the Penguins, has the distinction of being quite an athlete himself. While in high school, he captained both the football and basketball teams at Rayen.

Continuing on at Geneva College, he starred in both basketball and football, playing four years varsity in each sport, and again had the distinguished honor of captaining both teams in his senior year.

About the Team

Concerning our Penguin team, Dom when asked to compare this year's team with teams of the past answered that it was hard to make a comparison. "Our schedule is very tough. Along with that the team has had its ups and downs. We have a very young team, as two freshmen are starters, and there are five freshmen on the varsity squad. On the other hand, we will only lose two seniors, Knott and Cercone. However, the loss of Tony will hurt us greatly as not only is he an outstanding player but a team player as well."

When asked what he thought the main reasons were for the recent Westminster upset, in which the Penguins reached a height previously unknown to Youngstown fans, Mr. Rosselli answered that the "boys all came through to their capabilities" and that the win was definitely a team victory.

This is only the second time in 25 years that a Youngstown team has beaten a continually rough Westminster Team.

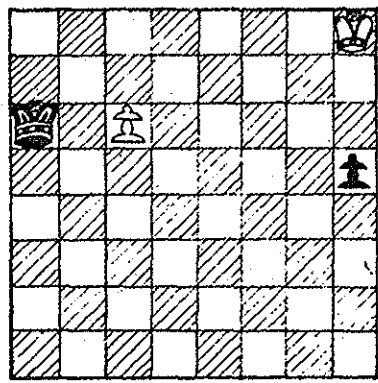

Your Part

Dom emphasized the important part that you the fan play in every game.

He is very well pleased at the improvement in attendance from past years and hopes that it will continue to improve. "There is no question about the difference it makes to the player to have the student body behind him, in many cases, it urges him to heights that he ordinarily would not reach."

Dom is definitely looking forward to a bright future as the Penguin team is very young. Mr. Rosselli warns, however, that our schedule will continue to be rough in the future as we definitely do not book a "winning schedule" but one that will offer stiff competition and at the same time provide interest and variety for you the Penguin Fan.

Layola, Geneva Cage Games Due On Weekend

By John Hernandez

Coming to the close of a five game home stand, Youngstown University's cagers hope to claim victories over heralded Layola of Chicago and Geneva College. The Penguins entertain Geneva tomorrow night at the Ursuline gym, then meet Layola on Monday. The clash with Layola promises to be a thriller, with the Chicagoans boasting one of the top-notch outfits in the nation.

Win Over Titans

The Penguins utilized their full potential, as they routed Westminster 80-77. The entire team played splendid ball, with Bob Atterholt connecting on outside "sets", Herb Lake's hooks, and Tony Knott's driving jump shots, featuring.

The Rossellimen's other victory came over Alliance.

Lose Three Games

Loses came at the hands of Geneva, St. Vincent, and Mount Union. Tony Knott scored 26 points against Geneva and St. Vincent, but was held to only nine points by the Mount Union squad. Youngstown lost that game, a real heartbreaker, by only one point, 56-55, with Bob Mayberry breaking loose for 16 points.

Despite a 30-26 advantage at halftime, the Penguins could not hold St. Vincent as they lost 70-64. Paul Danilov, a boy who doesn't see too much action, played extremely effective ball garnering 12 points.

Geneva, defending state NAIA champs, were too much for the Penguins as they won easily 90-66. Tony Knott scored 26 points and Bob Atterholt and Herb Lake got 10 apiece.
