Dr. Howard W. Jones YU Observes 25th Year In President's Role

EDITORIAL

Dynamic Expansion Stands As Tribute

Twenty-five years of progress, expansion, and greater recognition have marked the years in office of Dr. Howard W. Jones as President of Youngstown University.

Under his firm, positive leadership, Youngstown University has grown from a small college, struggling to survive the powerful impact of the Depression of the early 1930's to a place of learning with traditions based on sound academic and social concepts.

He has given without thought of himself, in both time and life, so that we might have and enjoy the Youngstown University we know today.

Dr. Jones assumed his burden of the presidency in very difficult times, when the infamous Depression had reached out and stifled the growth of every aspect of our nation.

With a much smaller physical plant than the one we know today, a hard core of dedicated members of the faculty who were in full accord with the basic aims of the University and with the growing support of industrial and commercial firms of the Mahoning Valley, Dr. Jones steeled himself to bring the University out of the troubled darkness of those unhappy days into the sunlight of progress and solid achievement.

Just as the attainment of those goals seemed near, World War II disrupted the planning and work that had yet to be done. Students left the campus they loved to serve their nation and enrollment dropped considerably.

With the conclusion of the war, Dr. Jones and the administration was faced with a new and urgent problem - that of providing classes, classrooms, and instructors for the vast number of veterans who came back in search of the education that had been temporarily denied them.

The years since then have been years of steady and sure progress. And if one man can be rightly singled out to accept the praise for leading the University toward that goal, it is Dr. Howard W. Jones.

In full tribute to Dr. Jones, we must not overlook the value of the wise counsel and guidance that he has received from the Board of Trustees of Youngstown University and the department heads and faculty members, whose collective knowledge can well make us proud of what our University offers to all who come here for the richness of learning.

President Jones has been noted for his firmness in the face of obstacles to our growth, as an innovator of new policies aimed at widening the scope of our advancement, and he has always felt that one way to accomplish this has been to listen well to the many opinions held by those persons with whom he comes in daily contact.

He has complained in recent years, in a humorous sense, that he simply cannot do his job as well as he used to. He remarks that there are too many students enrolled now and he expresses regret that he cannot meet and know them all as he once could.

But this has not stopped him from seeing to it that the student's voice is heard often and effectively in the determination of Youngstown University's future. He has aided the effective growth of Student Council, so that it truly represents the student body in both opinion and action.

He has organized the President's Student Committee, a group composed of representative student leaders who advise him on student opinions and aid him during the many activities aimed at interesting high school seniors in attending Youngstown University.

He has served well in his role of foreman as he has cemented into place the many particles that comprise the mosaic of solid traditions and achievement that we enjoy today.

The JAMBAR, as the voice of the student body, extends the very best of wishes for continued health and happiness to both Dr. and Mrs. Jones and their family.

President Jones Views Future University Role

(In an interview with Staff Member Barbara Hoover, Dr. Howard W. Jones gave his views on Youngstown University's past, present and future.)

President Howard W. Jones of Youngstown University paid tribute to the "combined and co-operative efforts" of the people of Youngstown, the students of Youngstown University and, in particular, the faculty, for the progress made during the past 25 years.

The people of Youngstown, he said, have given the University much more than mere "lip service." They have contributed generously of their time and money, he added.

Definite Need

The growth of Youngstown University occurred because a definite need has always existed for that growth, the President continued. He explained that we have a "natural setting" here in Youngstown, because there are thousands of students nearby, who want an education to prepare them for the future.

Youngstown, as a city, offers great cultural interest. That is one of Youngstown's main attributes. Youngstown University, he stressed, has always attempted to develop that cultural interest in the student body.

The growth of Youngstown University is due to the "co-ordinated effort of a lot of persons who have had a vision of progress, and that vision is now being brought to fruition."

What About Future?

When asked about the future of Youngstown University, Dr. Jones replied that he felt that the University

Goals Firmly Set, Won, By His Guidance First Assumed Task In 1931

Dr. Howard W. Jones is observing his twenty-fifth year as President of Youngstown University. He came here first in the summer of 1931 when he assumed his role of leadership as head of the then Youngstown College.

Dr. Jones was born in Palmyra, Ohio on September 27, 1895. He attended Alliance High School and was graduated in 1914. He then entered Hiram College and at the time of his graduation was presented the Albert Teachout Prize for being best all-round student in his class.

In 1917 Dr. Jones enlisted in the United States Navy, the same year that the United States declared war on Germany and her allies. He served overseas on a submarine chaser based in the English Channel.

Prior to the signing of the Armistice in Nov., 1918, he was appointed naval inspector at Plymouth, England.

Returns to Hiram

Returning to Hiram, he was granted the Bachelor of Arts degree from the College in 1920.

Dr. Jones became connected with YMCA work in Cleveland 'Y' Preparatory School, where he was athletic coach and teacher from 1920-22.

On June 23, 1921 he married Mabel Lucile Hurd, of Southington, Ohio, and they have two children, Blanche Carol and Marilyn Lucile.

Was Principal

He was appointed principal of the Cleveland school in 1922, and after eight years, went back to Hiram College as assistant to the president, a position he held for three years.

President Jones received his Masters of Arts degree from Western Reserve University in 1930.

When Dr. Jones came to Youngstown College in July, 1931 it was to assume the title of Director, a position comparable to that of President today. When that title was changed, Dr. Jones was officially named President on March 1, 1935, by the Board of Governors, as the Board of Trustees was then known.

Brought Football Here

President Jones was one of those instrumental in bringing football to Youngstown College in 1938 and has regularly attended the athletic activities of the University since he first came to office.

National Groups Accredit School

Who accredits Youngstown University? Following is the list of accrediting groups:

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Women holding undergraduate degrees from Youngstown University are eligible for membership in the American Association of University Women.

Education

It is accredited by the Department of Education of the State of Ohio as a teacher training institution, and is on the approval list of the American Medical Association.

William Raven School of Engineering has the approval of the Engineers' Council for Professional Development for its day curriculums in electrical and mechanical engineering.

Dana School of Music of Youngstown University is a member of the National Association of Schools of Music and the School of Law is accredited by the League of Ohio Law Schools.

Always Plenty of Questions To Answer

Class of 1949's Gift

with Laddie J. Fedor, President of the Senior Class of 1949, President Jones stands outside the entrance to the main building and views the stone and tablet presented by the Class. Youngstown College officially became Youngstown University on September 1, 1955.

Attending Library Ceremony

Dr. Keyes D. Metcalf, of Harvard University, stands in the center, with James Pirie, head of the library, as Dr. Jones discusses the dedication services. Dr. Metcalf, who made a special trip to Youngstown for the occasion, gave the dedicatory address. The university library, a brick structure with limestone trim, has a capacity for 260,000 volumes, and seats 600 persons. The ceremonies took place on May 8, 1953.

Time For Friendship

Not the Job for A 'Desk Man'

With brief case in hand, Dr. Jones leaves Youngstown University's main building on one of his many fund-raising visits.

With Lt. Col. Lash In 1955

President Jones, wearing cap and gown, as he presides over the commencement exercises of June, 1955, congratulates Lt. Col. Eugene L. Lash, then Professor of Military Science and Tactics, on his attainment of the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Dr. Jones was one of those instrumental in bringing an ROTC unit to the campus. Lt. Colonel Lash, who completed his tour of duty here in July, 1955, was succeeded by Lt. Col. O.R. Hummel, the present PMS&T.

On Steps of Rayen School

Dr. Jones stands on the steps of the old Rayen School in a winter-time photograph. The building was leased by the College in 1946, remodeled at a cost of $120,000 into the modern and well-equipped engineering building which houses today's William Rayen School of Engineering.

The Lights Burn Bright

Youngstown University's million-dollar library, dedicated in May, 1953. The lights burn bright in the evening as night students attend their classes. Youngstown University provides an opportunity for many working young people to attend a university at their convenience. Dr. Jones was personally responsible for raising much of the amount needed before construction of this building could begin.

Calendar Goes Back To 1931

By Donna Hurrelbrink and Barbara Hoover

Some echoes of the past, taken at random from JAMBARS of the past 25 years:

... (From 1932). "If a girl pulls out a fellow's necktie here, he has the privilege (Editor's note: It's still a privilege) of kissing her, states the latest 'male edict.'"

... "A cotton hop was held by Phi Lambda Delta. The dance was a sport affair with ladies in cotton gowns."

... 300 attended the Freshman Breakfast in 1932.

... (From 1943) "Football at YoCo is out for the duration."

That was the official announcement by the college on July 25. Thus YoCo's five-year foray into collegiate football comes to an end - temporarily."

... The first Inter Fraternity - Sorority Dance was held on January 21, 1933.

... (From Oct. 10, 1934) "Students took part in a colorful ceremony when a huge bonfire lighted on the College campus burned green ribbons and other badges, which throughout the year had designated YoCo freshmen from the upperclassmen."

... (Same date) "Because a one-inch rope 'broke' during the frantic struggle in the tug of war between Youngstown College freshmen and upperclassmen, the tilt ended in a draw at the college breakfest in Mill Creek Park."

... "Howard W. Jones, director of Youngstown College, was notified in October, 1933, that the Ohio Department of Education had granted full approval to the college, placing it on the list of colleges approved for teacher training."

... "Hell Week for freshmen was highlighted by fishing and paddlings for 1937."

... The first Annual Homecoming football game was held on November 12, 1938, against Clarion College.

... (From JAMBAR of January, 1941) "Pete the Penguin, the Youngstown College mascot, drowned on January 1, 1941, when he was apparently trapped by ice as he went for his daily swim in Crandall Park. The college will send Pete to a taxidermist for preservation."

... (1932) "Y COLLEGE CO-EDS PUT BAN ON GIGOLOES. LOCAL GIRLS REFUSE TO SUBSCRIBE TO CALIFORNIA SLOGAN THAT THEY PAY HALF OF EXPENSES ON DATES."

"Youngstown College men make good companions - but they must be men - not gigolos. A survey by the JAMBAR disclosed that the local co-eds wouldn't subscribe to the slogan - "Let the women pay at least half."

... (For remarkable English we print this one) "The Droopy Drawers crowd is fast approaching signing up the Spats ere the first wintery burst of angel feathers."

... "In a poll (JAMBAR, 1932) to determine whether the honor system would reduce 'cribbing' in exams 100 of 162 YoCo students declared they had never cheated, 62 admitted having cribbed at one time or another. Of the 62, 14 unredeemed ones said they probably would continue cribbing even under the present honor system."

... "The first Junior Prom was held in the Marble Room of Stambaugh Auditorium on April 22, 1932."

... (From old JAMBAR) "RECIPE FOR A KISS"

"To a darkened corner of a front porch add a little moonlight; take for granted two people. Press in two large hands a small soft one; sigh lightly and mix in two ounces of attraction and one of romance. Add measure of folly, stir in a flowing ruffle and one or two whisperm."

"Dissolve half a dozen glances in a well of silence. Dust in small quantity of hesitation; one ounce of resistance. Flavor with a scream and set aside to cool. OH, BOY."

... YoCo's yearbook in 1932 was called the "Wye-Collegian."

... (From 1932) "Gay hair ribbons and ankle bows of brilliant orange ribbons three inches wide, with cotton stockings were worn by freshmen co-eds. For the men - orange neckties and whiskers. No makeup for the girls. They must carry a bag of peanuts for the upperclass women."

... (From 1931) "If you drop in to see the new head of the 'Y' College and look for an 'absent-minded professor' type of individual who wears a far-away look and carries an umbrella even on sunny days, you're doomed to disappointment."

"Instead, you'll find a slam-bang, square-jawed young chap with a big hearty laugh - the kind of a chap you'd feel at home with hunting frogs in a thick swamp some midnight, in a church pew, or shooting craps on a kitchen floor."

... (From a 1931 JAMBAR) A student of Youngstown College takes a stand for the idea of compulsory chapel attendance:

"Listen, buddy, it's a good thing in youth to have a lot of it forced down your craw. Then, when you get out in the world, you'll have such a reserve that you won't feel the need of replenishing the supply. I speak from experience."

... (circa 1931) "Topaz Club became the Gamma Sigma Club and held a party at the Belmont Manor Country Club."

... "Youngstown College was made fully accredited and made a member of the Ohio College Association, one of the oldest accrediting agencies in the United States, on April 7, 1940."

President's Life

President Jones received his first honorary degree on August 28, 1943, during commencement exercises held at Westminster College.

The degree was that of doctor of pedagogy, awarded for distinctive work in the advancement of the theory of education.

Award Recipient

Dr. Jones has often been given awards for both his university activities and his civic work in the Youngstown area.

He was named president of the Ohio College Association and Allied Societies at the 81st annual meeting of the organization. The year before that he had served as vice-president of the group.

In the summer of 1952 the President left for London to join the Sherwood Eddy Seminar group for a six-week tour of Europe.

One of Four

One of four college presidents who attended the seminar, which also included several industrial executives and business leaders, he visited England, France, Yugoslavia and Switzerland.

One of his prized possessions are the set of slides he took of this trip, especially those taken during his visit to Berlin, which was an unusual opportunity because of the tenseness of the international situation at that time.

Whenever possible, the President has spent a portion of his summer visiting with Youngstown University participants of the Reserve Officer Training Program.

Aided Unit

Some years ago, when the question of whether Youngstown College would desire an ROTC unit was first discussed, Dr. Jones was one of the first to work to bring government appointment of a unit here.

He speaks each semester to the new ROTC cadets, and has visited Fort Bliss, Texas, each summer, while the Corps was under the Anti-aircraft Artillery branch of the Army. Last summer, he went to Fort Bragg to see University cadets.

'Who's Who'

In addition to being listed in "Who's Who in America" and Who's Who in Education," Dr. Jones is a member of the Youngstown Club, the Exchange Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the American Association of School Administrators.

He is also a member of the Ohio College President's Association.

In the Mahoning Valley area, President Jones serves as a trustee of the Mahoning Chapter of the American Red Cross, trustee of the Youngstown Public Library and a member of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry.

Is Board Member

He is a member of the board of trustees of the Family Service Society, and a member of the executive committee of the Mahoning County Division of the American Cancer Society.

In his capacity as first vice-president, he serves with the Medical Service Foundation of Mahoning County and is a member of the board of the Young Men's Christian Association.

sity could easily double its present size. This would require, however, the obtaining of the facilities and money before such a goal could be reached.

Sports Program Expands To Record Proportions

By John Hernandez

Expanded athletic activities, that have taken place during the twenty-five years of Dr. Howard W. Jones' presidency of Youngstown University, have gained the University a sound reputation for both variety and quality in the athletic program offered both University fans and persons living in the Mahoning Valley.

Expansion

The past 25 years of growth are marked by brilliant progress in the field of sports, which go hand in hand with academic progress. When Dr. Jones became president of Youngstown College in 1935, basketball was already the established sport.

It was rated number one, and with Jack McPhee as head coach, it flourished.

In 1935, McPhee resigned and Ray Sweeney took over. It was under Sweeney's reign that Tony Vivo blazed his way through four seasons of play.

Football

But Youngstown College was rapidly expanding despite the bad times brought on by the Depression, and it was inevitable that collegiate football could not long remain out of the sports program at the "Y", as the college was affectionately known.

Due partly to president Jones' efforts and partly to alumni and student committees, in 1938 the College announced that football would come to Youngstown. An eight-game schedule was drawn.

Beede Coaching

Coach Dwight Beede was the first coach Youngstown University ever had.

In 1938 Beede took a squad of green ball-players and ran them, drilled them, taught them the fundamentals of running, passing, blocking and led them through that first tough year.

Nobody will ever realize what football has done for Youngstown University.

Not only does it draw students from the area, but it keeps students within the University filled with that "certain" feeling of unity that only football can give.

In addition, there are many groups of diversified interests open to all students, aimed at creating an atmosphere of academic and social fellowship.

Religious Worship Right Emphasized

Believing that religious spirit and goodness are inseparable from the traditions of all American universities and colleges, Dr. Jones has made every effort to see that every student, regardless of his religious beliefs, be given ample opportunity to worship in his own way and to meet with others of his own religion.

Youngstown University sponsors a weekly chapel service open to all students and holds special chapels on such occasions as Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

In addition, two student-governed religious organizations on the campus are the Newman Club and the Religion in Life Fellowship.

Two full-time religious counselors are now available for advice and aid to all students.

Campus Groups Reflect Growth

Early in his role as President Dr. Howard W. Jones expressed his beliefs that education was not limited in a university, to attending school alone.

This belief is represented in visual evidence today on the campus of Youngstown University.

16 social fraternities and sororities are now chartered by Youngstown University's Student Council.

Are Listed

They are: Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi Delta, Beta Sigma Omicron, Delta Sigma Theta, Gamma Sigma, Kappa Alpha Psi, Kappa Sigma Kappa and Nu Sigma Rho.

Omega Psi Phi, Phi Gamma, Phi Lambda Delta, Phi Mu, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Delta Beta, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Chi.

Record Set With Academic Growth

When President Jones arrived to assume his new responsibilities as head of the then Youngstown College the total enrollment consisted of 472 students.

During the next three to five years, Dr. Jones stated that the administration has hopes and plans for a science building, a physical education plant, and a student union.

Construction on the science building, he stressed, will begin in the spring of 1957, it is hoped.

Has Endowment

While Youngstown University had no endowment in the early days of Dr. Jones' association with the school, there now exists one consisting of over two million dollars.

President Jones emphasized that the last 25 years have provided him with a "wonderful experience."

He added that he has always felt that he "could never do enough in return."

He indicated, as an example of the spirit that has grown since he first came here, the fine attendance by members of the student body when Vice President of the United States Richard Nixon spoke in Strouss Memorial Auditorium on Oct. 16.

Now, as he observes his twenty-fifth year as President, the total fall semester enrollment (according to official figures) is now at its highest, with 5,205 students attending Youngstown University.

Those 472 students, in 1931, were attending what was known as the College of Arts and Sciences, the Schools of Commerce and Finance and the School of Law.

25 Year Change

Today, the 5,205 students enrolled for the fall semester are working for degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Engineering, Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Education and Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Youngstown University today offers the high school senior who is preparing for the future a much wider variety of courses and degrees.

Among the varied courses open are those which range from accounting, dietetics, metallurgical engineering, library service and teaching to courses in foreign languages, music, physics and religion.

BEHIND LOCKER ROOM DOORS

By Vince Golle and Don Infante

This week your JAMBAR has interviewed Davey Kimmel. Kimmel started his football career at Youngstown Ursuline where he literally broke every record at Ursuline, as well as those in the City Series.

In his senior year Davey was not only unanimously elected to the City All-Star Team, but also had the great honor of achieving a first string berth on the All-State Team. Davey's high school coach, Rom Carey, rated him as the best running back he has ever coached.

In 1954, Kimmel began his college grid career at Youngstown University. In his freshman year Davey dazzled the fans with his spectacular runs, and this year has continued in previous fashion. Thus far this season Davey is the Penguins leading ground gainer and is averaging approximately eight yards per carry.

Different Type

When asked to compare high school and collegiate football Davey had this to say, "The organization of college football is entirely different. College football tends to be more complex in the fact that college football is a subject in itself." "More practice is necessary because the ultimate is required in timing, precision, and teamwork. The quality of your teams and players is definitely on a higher level, but the biggest difference is the strain on the player. College football not only takes up more time but is more of a mental strain."

When Davey was asked his opinion on this year's team he replied thus, "Our team is definitely improved over last years and we should have a winning season. However I would like to express the opinion that student backing at all home games is definitely a big help and if we do have good backing I'm sure we'll have a winning season."

Penguins Defeat Baldwin Wallace 31-7

Playing host to a highly touted Baldwin-Wallace Aggregation on Oct. 18, the Penguins came from behind late in the third quarter and relentlessly powered their way to five touchdowns in 18 minutes to win by a score of 31-7.

The first period of play yielded nothing exceptional in the way of excitement. Youngstown started a drive that lasted to the 19 yard line of B-W but was unable to produce a touchdown.

In the second quarter, however, Baldwin-Wallace was able to get a talley. Yellow Jacket halfback, Bob Orveia, was able to grab a 36 yard pass from quarterback Chuck Brady which put the B-W squad on the Youngstown 10 yard line.

Karl Justus Connects

After the Penguin defense held for three downs, Karl Justus rifled a toss to Ed Westhoven in the end zone for the TD. Pat Gallagher booted the extra point.

Behind 7-0 at halftime, the Penguins came back in the second half to swamp the Yellow Jackets with five touchdowns.

The first score came for Youngstown with a little over five minutes left in the third quarter. The key play was a punt return by Dave Kimmel to his own 37 yard line. Herman Yassall and Johnny Rouse pushed the ball to the 48 yard line. Kimmel then raced 52 yards to tie the score at 7-7.

Rouse Runs 70 Yards

Failing to gain after the Kickoff, the Yellow Jackets punted to the

Booth Makes Final Talley

Replacing Johnny Rouse, Cliff Davis broke loose on the first play from scrimmage and raced to the four yard line of B-W. Within two plays, Joe Booth barreled his way into paydirt for the final score.

Statistics showed that the Penguins allowed the Yellow Jackets only 8 first downs and 91 yards on the ground. Another oddity of the game was that Baldwin Wallace had no penalties called against them.

NOTICE

Anyone who is interested in trying out for the varsity basketball team should contact the Athletic Office in the basement of Todd. Practice will begin Nov. 1.

"Are you the young man who jumped into the river and saved my little boy from drowning when he fell through the ice?"

"Yes, ma'am."
"Well, where's his hat?"

KIMMEL FINDS NO OPENING HERE. This is one of the few times that the speedy halfback did not break loose on a spectacular run as the Penguins stumped B-W last Thursday night.

YOUR FUTURE— Research and Koppers?

If yours is the inquiring mind . . . the mind that never rests until it has an answer to every "why" . . . then perhaps research is your future.

There are many types of research, but whatever your choice it will be a future of challenge.

For example, more than a century ago a synthetic chemical, styrene monomer, was discovered by some curious research chemists. But not until 1937 did research engineers find a way to produce it commercially. It has been made in large quantity only since 1944, when it became the principal ingredient of synthetic rubber for tires, hose, belts and other products.

Ordinary men would have stopped and rested at this point . . . but not research men. Thanks to their research, styrene monomer has become basic in today's improved paints, plastics, paper and a host of other products. Its volume has more than doubled in the past ten years. And there are more uses to come!

In addition to styrene monomer, other chemicals and plastics, Koppers is a leading producer of tar products, metal products, pressure-treated wood. It designs and builds coke, steel and chemical plants.

If you would like to know more about a future in chemistry or engineering at Koppers, contact your College Placement Director, or write Industrial Relations Manager, Koppers Company, Inc., Koppers Building, Pittsburgh 19, Pennsylvania.

Ron Vanatsky

The Constitution of The United States declares, among other things, that our people shall have freedoms almost unlimited. In recent years this has been most evident, with the relatively unhindered condition of our democracy contrasting explicitly with the shackled and restricted circumstances in other parts of the world, particularly Middle Europe and behind the Iron Curtain.

Yet, slowly but surely, evidences of troubled unrest in our country have been popping up, bringing with them astonishing facts of occurrences that we doubted would have happened in America.

Recently Harvard University, one of the oldest schools in America, announced that it had canceled its plans for a southern tour by its varsity basketball team because of southern segregation practices. Upon the recommendation of athletic director, Thomas D. Bolles, the Harvard faculty committee declared this action even though the 1956-57 crimson cage squad contains no Negro players.

Eligibility Not Possible

The statement released last week said that two of the contests were scheduled "in locations where, under present conditions, this control of eligibility would not be possible."

The tour included games with Loyola of New Orleans, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, and Quantico, Virginia, Marines.

The Louisiana segregation law goes into effect October 15, banning inter-racial athletic competition. Georgia Tech., a state supported school, cannot engage opponents with Negroes on their squads.

Marquette and American University basketball teams, both containing Negroes, withdrew also from Loyola's schedule because of the segregation law. From stories like this, Russian propaganda can be really enriched to a new high, especially at this time of the year when their nation is sports-conscious because of the upcoming Olympic games.

Knox Reveals Facts

A recent magazine article by Ronnie Knox, former All-American football player at UCLA, reveals many of the ugly facts about the recruiting ethics of big schools in the collegiate field.

Knox himself, now playing with Hamilton of the Canadian professional league, was offered by the University of California a most attractive "pact" featuring about $1500 yearly for various personal expenses; the hiring of Knox's high school coach as an assistant California coach; the promising of a sports writer's job with a Berkeley, California, newspaper and; the hiring of Knox's father as a scout for the university.

For these doings, Knox was to contribute his talent to the grid squad and he was counseled in how to be about the school's illegal commitments to Victor O. Schmidt, Pacific Coast Conference commissioner.

Entered UCLA

When the University of California did not live up to its promises to Knox, he entered UCLA with several special benefits, thus ending the fight of more than two-score schools that wanted him.

As is widely known, these clandestine payments have been common all through collegiate circles, particularly in the Big Ten Conference.

These practices certainly are not fair to other schools with lesser wealth who cannot promote talent as the bigger institutions with amazingly powerful alumni associations.

In the first place, this deceit is in distaste to our conceptions of intra-school athletics as a wholesome addition to a student's collegiate life.

Being a most important constituent of each school's existence, it should be kept on a high level of honorable ethics.

Membership cards are required for admission. A charge of 75 cents will be charged to those who do not have membership cards.

The next regular meeting will be held on Sunday, Nov. 4 from 7-11. Father Joseph E. Koch will continue his talks on Church History.

TKEs Visit Actor Reagan

Ronald Reagan, famous movie actor of the motion picture industry, was the main guest at a party held by the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity on Oct. 10.

Twenty-four members of the local chapter welcomed Reagan, who is a former member of the Iota Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Furka College.

Mr. Reagan entertained the members of the fraternity by telling of his experiences as a movie star.

He stated in his address to the fraternity that all the movie companies should promote the movie industry as a whole, that is, by institutional ads rather than by the idea of promoting each individual picture.

Reagan was in Youngstown to address a Youngstown civic club.

Halloween Party Set By Newman Club

A Halloween Party will be held at Cardinal Mooney High School on Sunday, Oct. 28 from 8-11 p.m. Dress for the occasion will be the traditional costumes.

A stage show will highlight the evenings entertainment with many Newmanites participating.

The evenings entertainment will also include group singing, dancing, and games. Prizes will also be awarded during the festivities.

VOTE FOR THIS ONE, PLEASE? Campaign speeches and antics were in full tilt when this picture was taken. The results were a record breaking number of voters that turned out for the elections.

Sticklers!

HERE'S A STICKLER!
WHAT IS A JAIL AT LIGHT-UP TIME?
(SEE PARAGRAPH BELOW)

IF YOU HAVE recently become a smoker (duffer puffer), ask any old-hand Lucky smoker (prudent student) why he settled on Luckies. Bet anything he says they taste better. You see, Luckies' fine, light, naturally good-tasting tobacco is TOASTED to taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, when it's light-up time, light up a Lucky. You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked. Okay—what is a jail at light-up time? Answer: Smoky Pokey. Isn't that criminal?

"IT'S TOASTED"
to taste better!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE...
STICKLE! MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.
