DUMP DIKE - An unknown student leaves the roof of the Kilcawley Cafeteria after hanging an effigy of Dike Beede, head football coach, last night at 8 p.m. The effigy was pulled down about ten minutes later by a group of football players.

Attack of YSU coed latest in series of crimes on campus

The Youngstown Police Department is investigating a lead dealing with last Friday's attack of a YSU coed on campus. A 19-year-old girl was grabbed, punched in the face, choked, knocked to the ground, and kicked by an unknown assailant while students passed by outside the Engineering Building about 11 a.m.

Although this is the first report of a physical attack on a coed, this incident follows the shooting of a student in an attempted armed robbery, five armed robberies, two unarmed robberies, and numerous parking lot thefts in the campus area this fall.

The assailant was described as male, about 40 years old, six feet tall, approximately 220 pounds, well dressed except for a soiled tan trench coat, clean shaven and having close cropped hair.

The assailant was driven off by the girl's screams and fled into the Engineering Building. The girl was helped from the sidewalk by three other girls who approached after the man had fled.

She went to Cafaro Hospital where she works and was treated for minor facial cuts prior to starting work.

New questionnaire available in 2 wks

A revised faculty evaluation questionnaire will be distributed on campus within the next two weeks. Larry Simko, vice president of Student Government announced yesterday.

The questionnaire, altered for clarification, will contain fewer but more pertinent questions. Also, the ballots, handled previously by the faculty, will be handled by students before, during and after distribution in classrooms.

The YSU faculty was previously evaluated during the past spring quarter when 2,300 evaluation envelopes were distributed on campus. The questionnaire (cont. on page 5)

Pugsley notes athletic debate, explains budget

YSU's athletic program attracted additional attention yesterday, but the administration pointed out that no one has filed formal charges, and declined to get into the public debate.

University President Dr. Albert L. Pugsley said yesterday that he "does not expect to engage in a bash of public correspondence through the news media over developments since the resignation of Mr. Ralph L. Johnson, swimming coach. Dr. Pugsley said that no formal charges against either head football coach Dwight "Dike" Beede or athletic director Mr. Willard Webster have been made to date. Dr. Pugsley added that no investigation or action will be taken unless such charges are made.

Mr. Johnson charged in Friday's Jambar that Mr. Webster is a "one-sport athletic director" and that "Dike Beede is running the athletic department." His remarks were made known outside of the University community by the city's radio and television stations as well as the Youngstown Vindicator. Several campus groups have also called for Coach Beede's resignation.

Meanwhile, last night about 8 students hanged Coach Beede in effigy in the Kilcawley Amphitheater at 8 p.m. Members of the "lynch mob" included several former swimmers from YSU's now non-existent swimming team.

Several other developments took place concerning the athletic department hassle since Mr. Johnson's charges.

Yesterday, President Pugsley also responded to questions raised about the athletic budget. He said that all amounts requested by coaches for scholarships and other expenditures exceeded maximum athletic expenditures set by the University's Budget Committee.

"All coaches were advised last April that they had freedom to make commitments within these figures. Because there are differentials in fees such as whether an athlete resides in Ohio or is

Small crowd sees YSU lose eighth

The smallest crowd in recent sports history at YSU watched the Penguins lose to Gustavus-Adolphus College, 20-7 at Campbell Memorial Stadium last Saturday night. It was YSU's eighth straight loss.

Crowd estimates ranged from two to three hundred by press box officials. The Athletic Business office listed an official attendance of 675. Nevertheless, it was the smallest crowd to watch a major sport contest here in many years according to that office.

Officials say approximately 50 to 100 fans in attendance were from Gustavus Adolphus, the visiting school.

Poor weather conditions, coupled with YSU's current losing streak, made it impossible to determine what effect a planned boycott of the game had. Petitions advocating a game boycott and the resignation of Coach Dike Beede were circulated on campus Thursday and Friday.

Most spectators left at half-time of the game. Few stayed to the end.

Investigators probe causes for jetliner crash killing 75

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
 Associated Press Writer

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Investigators combed a muddy hillside in near freezing temperatures yesterday for tiny shreds of metal that could yield clues to possible instrument failure in the jetliner crash that carried 75 persons to a fiery death.

National Transportation Safety Board experts sifted through bits of wreckage with shovels, searching for what caused the DC9 chartered jet—attempting to land in rain and fog Saturday night—to crash and explode into flames just two miles from the runway.

Mechanical error

Investigators said the initial check of cockpit voice recordings and other tapes on the flight showed no indication of either mechanical failure or pilot error.

This led them to suspect the sensitive cockpit instruments which a pilot must depend upon when landing in rainy weather at night.

Killed in the crash were 34 Marshall University football players, three student team assistants, six coaches, an athletic director, and many prominent Huntington residents traveling with the team.

In addition there was a crew of five aboard the Southern Airways twin-engine jet.

The deaths plunged the Marshall campus of 8,500, and its mother city of 73,000, into a state of grief for the worst air disaster in American sports history. Classes were cancelled yesterday and today. Flags in the city, and at post offices across the state were flown at half-staff.

Also under way was the task of identifying the charred bodies of the victims.

Investigators said initial checks showed there was no pilot diversion from a normal landing glide path and showed no obvious mechanical malfunction.

John H. Reed, NTSB chairman, said it was only obvious that the pilot of the charter flight had his craft too low, causing the plane to clip tree tops on a ridge just west of tri-State Airport's main runway.

70 foot trees

It was that perilous brush with the tops of the 70-foot-high oak and poplar trees that sent the jet cartwheeling into the next mountainside. The plane flipped on its back and exploded in flames.

Investigators have found no indication so far that the plane's pilot, Capt. Frank H. Abbott, 46, of College Park, Ga., had ever attempted a previous jet landing at this airport's short 5,000-foot runway.

Athletic Program

out-of-state, or such as whether his aid entitles him to live in the dormitory or at home, the number of grants-in-aids is somewhat flexible and rests with the coach and the Director of Athletics. We seek a well balanced athletic program, and are gradually putting one together. I am of the opinion that our coaches have done and are doing an excellent job with the funds available. We are playing stronger competition in all sports and will plan to continue to do so, but our expenditures must always be within our means," Dr. Pugsley said.

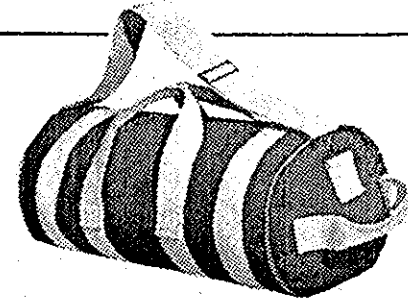

Several students, many of who were involved in the "hanging" last night, also appeared before University's Athletic Council and presented that council with a list of eleven questions pertaining to the swimming team and the athletic department. Council chairman Mr. Phillip Chuey could not be reached for comment. The Council meets again tomorrow.

Congressional lame-duck session flavored by 1970, 1972 politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress reconvened yesterday for a lame-duck session strongly flavored by the politics of 1970 and of 1972. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said it would be an unmitigated disaster.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield welcomed his returning majority—and accused Republican campaigners of subjecting them to offensive personal vilification, and “political slicksterism.”

Mansfield and Scott agreed that congressional leaders and President Nixon should draw up a rock-bottom list of legislative musts for action by the lame-duck 91st Congress.

“I trust that the list will be mercifully short,” Mansfield said. But he said he couldn’t guess how long the session would last. “Indeed, the 91st may yet be known as the unending Congress,” Mansfield said.

“I would hope the session could be treated as a cleanup and windup session,” said Scott. He said that with two more Republicans due to join the Senate minority in the 92nd Congress, opening January 4, President Nixon would do better to bide his time on controversial matters involving foreign policy and defense.

In the days ahead this year Scott said he expects a lot of oratory about the outcome of the November 3 elections, a lot of attempts to win hasty enactment of pet projects—particularly from lawmakers who won’t be around next year.

“I think it will be an unmitigated disaster, aside from the necessity of getting appropriations bills through,” the Pennsylvanian said.

Faculty art exhibited at annual art show

Thirty-five art works were exhibited by YSU faculty and students at the 32nd Area Artists Annual Art Show at the Butler Institute of American Art which began on November 1 and will continue to November 29.

4th Annual Info Seminar Held For Area Guidance Counselors

The fourth annual Area Guidance Counselors Information Seminar will be held November 17 in room 103 of Lincoln Project, it was announced by William Livosky, director of admissions at YSU and program coordinator.

High School guidance counselors representing some 85 schools in the Mahoning, Trumbull, Columbiana and Ashtabula Counties in Ohio, Mercer and Lawrence Counties in Pennsylvania, approximately 100 in all, will attend the seminar which will focus on admissions and financial policies and procedures.

Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president, will lead off the sessions with a welcome to the University. He will be followed by the introduction of Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice president for administrative affairs; and the new personnel in Student Services, Counseling Services and in the Guidance Counseling department.

The first item on the agenda is a discussion of admissions and financial aids information provided by Livosky and John E. Wales, III, director of financial aids. Following this information update will be a panel presentation on “Guidance Counseling: Professional and Ethical Practices,” with the panel composed of Miss Bertha Arnold, supervisor, Guidance Services, Youngstown Board of Education; Larry Truzzie, director, Psychological Services, Mahoning County Board of Education; and Dr. William Convery, counselor, Counseling Center at YSU.

After a brief break, the program will go into its second panel discussion, this time with students from the YSU Graduate School Guidance program delving into “Guidance Counseling Services: Ways and Means to Improve and Expand.”

Immediately following this session, participants will break up into smaller groups and discuss the panel presentations. A general discussion session will end the seminar and will include a summary of all sessions. Lunch will then be served in the Kilcawley Student Center faculty lounge.

OPINION

More of the Same

It is not often that we editorialize for three consecutive issues on one subject. But, it is not often that we find something that is so pathetic and so desperately needs change.

Last Saturday night about 250 spectators came to watch YSU play football. Most left at half-time. Even the YSU band left after they played the National Anthem.

On the same night, one area high school football game attracted 4,000 people. Another local game attracted 1,600. A high school game in Canton drew 22,500 people the same night.

All were played under conditions similar to those at Campbell Stadium on Saturday.

It is pretty obvious that our football program lacks something regardless what Coach Beede, President Pugsley, and Willard Webster say.

We suggest that necessary changes be made before it is too late.

Letters to the Editor

Wants a new name for grid team

To the editor of the Jambar:

The November 10 issue carried an editorial entitled "Some Light for Dike." Along with espousing a new coach why not get a new name for the team? The Penguin does not bring to mind a savage, fighting machine, but instead a ludicrous, clumsy and flightless bird. There must be any number of names that can be applied to the team.

So, why not have a contest on campus limited only to the students in order to pick a new team name? If handled well, the search for a new name could serve to give the students a common experience to share in. The picking of a name should be, ideally, in the form of an election. An old-fashioned campaign, with the Greeks and other campus organizations participating would give an added touch to the academic year. A first prize of a year's free parking in a university lot (which would not be exorbitant) for the person submitting the name chosen could be given.

A new name would add a lot to the team's image. The men of the grid team have played like pro's, giving the "second effort" game after game and have acquitted themselves honorably.

While a new team name won't take the place of ability; desire to play and good coaching, it is a start; perhaps it can be a start of something good for years to come.

H. Martin Greggo

To the editor of the Jambar:

The swimming program at Youngstown State University has come a long way under the direction of Mr. Ralph L. Johnson. There have been All-Americans and Conference champions in the past six years and Mr. Johnson has coached all of them. He has never accepted a salary as swimming coach because he wanted the athletic department to have as little control over his program as possible. He has made the Youngstown

State University Swimming Team compete against a major team schedule (Pitt, Kentucky, West Virginia) and is the only sport on campus that has their own banquet at the end of the year and he originated it. Mr. Johnson has gone so far as to spend his own money on awards for these banquets down through the years. He has spent the past several years going from state to state looking for the best type of facilities to be put into the new physical education building.

Mr. Johnson has shown Youngstown State University that he is ambitious and possibly too ambitious for the university he is now a part of. If more coaches of Mr. Johnson's determination and ability are brought into the University, it will greatly help the status of the school and community.

Pick The Winner

Nick Mancini, a Business major, was this week's winner in the Jambor's "Pick the winner" contest. Mancini picked nine of the ten teams that went on to win games in this past weekend's schedule. One other contestant picked nine winners, but Mancini came closest with his prediction of the point spread of the YSU-Gus Adolphus game. A total of 81 entries were received.

The rules are simple. Each contestant must submit only one entry. He must designate the winner of the specified game in the box provided. He must pick the point spread of the game designated at the bottom of the form in order to break ties. All entries must be accompanied by name, telephone number and major for students, or position of faculty and administration. Entries are limited to faculty, administration and student body of Youngstown State University. All entries will be checked. Entry deadline is noon Friday of that week. All decisions by the judges are final.

Winners will receive the 1971 Playboy desk calendar.

Draft counseling to be organized by campus ministry committee

Professional draft counseling for men in the Youngstown area is being organized by an ad hoc committee of campus ministry, with the help of Cleveland Draft Counseling Associates, it was learned Thursday.

A Draft Counselors' Training Session taught by members of the Cleveland group will be held Saturday, November 21, announced Father Raymond DiBlasio a member of the Youngstown committee and YSU associate Catholic chaplain.

The training counselors session for the Youngstown draft center and will include a Conscientious Objection Seminar led by Donald Applestein, a conscientious objector himself and a draft counselor for several years in the Cleveland area; a Legal Procedures Seminar led by attorney Daniel Sheerer whose law firm has distinguished itself in draft cases; and a Role-Playing Workshop, which will give the trainees experience using sample cases with criticism by the experts, led by Richard Thompson, social worker and counselor in the Cleveland area.

The cost of the session, including three texts, buffet lunch and coffee break, and instructors' expenses, is $15 or $10 to students.

Time has been set aside at the November 21 training session to discuss the organization of the Youngstown Draft Counseling Associates, proposed name of the counseling center. Two rooms have been set aside in the basement of Newman Chapel. Trained draft counselors will be asked to staff the center at regular daily hours and a phone service will provide information and appointment schedules, also pertinent literature will be stockpiled for sale or free circulation," stated Father DiBlasio.

"We are meeting early next week with several groups from the community to seek help with the center," said Father DiBlasio, "and then we would like to develop a student arm by encouraging students to man phones, mimeograph literature, etc."

Ninety per cent of the faculty responded to the evaluation by returning the question sheets to the Student Government. The handbook was printed by the Jambor Press and has been available for students and faculty since June.

And we'll send you an inflatable hassock made of heavy-duty wipe-clean blue and white vinyl. In the shape of an Alka-Seltzer tablet.

New selection procedures proposed for Student Faculty Committees

New procedures for selecting applicants for Student Faculty Committees are being proposed. According to Dan Crishon, Student Government President, these new procedures would allow vacancies to be filled after the supply of qualified applicants from any given school had been exhausted.

The "unwritten rule" that no student could serve on more than one student faculty committee would be altered to allow any student to serve on more than one standing committee at the same time. However, the President and Vice-President of Student Government and the Chairman of Student Council will be limited to serving on no more than two committees at the same time.

Selection of committee appointees are made from a list of qualified applications by the Student Government President. Full-time students with a minimum cumulative point average of 2.25 in work taken at YSU are considered qualified. In selecting appointees for student faculty committees, all six schools will be represented by a student from each school wherever possible.

In cases where applicants who meet the general requirements are rejected, these applicants will be accorded the right to appeal for reconsideration for committee appointment before Student Council.

The following 53 students were appointed to student faculty committee posts on 22 different committees:

Procedures outlined for winter registration

Registration by current students for the winter quarter will follow this procedure:

Students registering must have a permit to register, an ID card with either a beige or gray validation sticker, a manilla folder, a Class Schedule Bulletin, a scan sheet, a copy of the Directions for Registration, a Class-time Work Schedule (found in the back of the Bulletin) and the advisement sheets.

The advisement sheet must be signed by the student's advisor. Advisement sheets may be secured in the School of Arts and Sciences by seeing your major advisor in his office; in Business Administration the sheets are to be picked up in Room 103 of the Lincoln Project; in Education, sheets may be secured in Room 200 of Elm Street School; in Engineering, students will go to their major department for an appointment; music majors will go to the Dana School office; students in the Technical and Community College should go immediately to their major advisor to set up an appointment.

Students should then check on page 2 of the Bulletin for their registration time. Tally board: will be situated at (1) the Lobby of the Arts and Science Office Building; (2) Room 103 of the Lincoln Project; (3) the Dean's office on the second floor of Elm School; (4) the Dean's Office on the second floor of Elm School; (4) the Dean's Office in Engineering Science; (5) Dana, Room 104; (6)

Jones Hall, Room 210-11 bulletin board; (7) the Lobby outside the Planetarium. Students should refer to these tally boards before registering in order to avoid scheduling closed classes.

The students should note that some classes require special permits and these permits must be presented before he can register. Should a student need to get into a closed class, he must get permission from the chairman of that department.

Students who register before November 25 must pay their bills by December 11. Those who register after November 25 must pay by December 18. If a student has not received his bill five days before his due date, he should contact the Bursar's Office. Payments are to be made in the envelope provided. All payments postmarked on or before the due date will not be penalized for being late. Payments made after the due date, but before December 29, will be accepted but assessed a $15 late payment fee. After December 29 all payments received will be returned, all classes cancelled, and the student charged a $5 withdrawal fee. Scholarship and financial aids recipients must return any vouchers and pay the balance of what might be due.

Students will receive a receipt and validation sticker upon payment.

Those wishing to make a complete withdrawal must do so before the first day of classes at a fee of $5.

Asst. Dean Bertelsen elaborates on radicals, student activism

Understanding the New Left, radicals, and student activism poses one of the greatest problems of our society today. Dr. C. David Bertelsen, newly appointed assistant dean of Student Affairs, has helped to give some answers to this problem.

Dr. Bertelsen gained this insight while working on his doctoral thesis "Values of the Radical Left Groups." In an anthropological approach Dr. Bertelsen traveled as a "participant observer" with the Illinois Regional SDS organization. It was the first time such a study was attempted.

Dr. Bertelsen found that radicalism was too vague and generalized a term to be clearly defined or understood. Instead he categorized members of the New Left by their values and beliefs into four different types. He described the four types since he felt that presenting their values would be too complex for a short interview.

Type I involves such groups as the Black Panthers, the Brown Berets, the Young Lords, and other militant minority groups. Type I groups see the world as "static." Dr. Bertelsen observed that such groups have a deep belief in order. They form "cadres" or "paramilitary organizations" that have a definite hierarchy structure.

Type I groups are pragmatic and stress the here and now. According to Dr. Bertelsen the Panthers sponsor such programs as the free breakfast plan and ghetto clinics because they realize "the revolution is not now" but is developing. All present actions prepare for the revolution.

Type II groups are typified by the Weatherman faction of the SDS. Dr. Bertelsen defines them as "anarchists." He states that Weathermen are pragmatic and stress "doing." Weathermen opt "to do as much damage as they can." They act only for the present moment.

Type II groups stress the individual and not the group, according to Dr. Bertelsen. Weathermen feel that "whatever they do is right." And whatever they do must contribute to the revolution.

The third group Dr. Bertelsen discussed is by far the largest. It includes such groups as the Kennedy-McCarthy campaign "Kids," the Young Socialist Alliance, and the Worker Student Alliance. Type III groups, he states, hold "typical liberal values." They believe the world is in a constant state of change but favor a "gradualism" approach to social change. He finds them to be idealistic and utopian in their world view. They also favor order and are group-oriented.

The four major types of radicals make up the body of Dr. Bertelsen's conclusions. Two other types of radicals were not considered, the Old Left and the Yippies. He excluded the Old Left because it was too static and dogmatic for the New Left. He excluded the Yippies because he felt they were "a joke." However, Dr. Bertelsen now feels he should have included the Yippies because "people believed it and it was no longer a joke." They became a political force.

Dr. Bertelsen stressed several "indications" of his thesis. The New Left is a sub-culture whose values and life styles give it life and a logic all its own. All radical action is bounded by the logic of the sub-culture. He feels the New Left will not die easily because it is a sub-culture.

Dr. Bertelsen called the Type IV group the "revolutionary intellectuals." They are typified by Carl Davidson and other radical editors. He finds them most like the Type I group. However this group emphasizes being, not doing. They are more interested in "self-development" and less in direct action. He found them idealistic, group-oriented, and future-oriented. Their purpose is to plan for the "post-revolutionary" period.

Dr. Bertelsen did not change his definition of radical at the end of his research. A radical should be best defined as "humanitarian." There are vague overtones of communism but radical communism is "idealistic and utopian" in form. It does not resemble communism as found in Russia, Cuba, or China.

Ex-YSU student captures combat conditions in art

Former YSU Aaron Howard, who is now serving with the U.S. Army in Vietnam, has discovered that he still has an outlet for his intense artistic and religious expressions.

Currently serving with the Third Brigade, Ninth Infantry Division, Aaron has devoted much of his time as a combat artist, doing the cover for their orientation brochure which depicts a grave soldier's portrait of concentration.

When Aaron is out in the field, he captures the conditions of combat with his in-depth sketches and artistically records the aura surrounding the soldiers during missions and maneuvers. He follows the men through victory, defeat, agony and fatigue, and chronicles the soldier's encounter with challenge.

Aaron was drafted September 24, 1969, and in February, 1970, was sent to the Long An Province in Viet Nam.

Serious and concerned, Aaron's major area of involvement is aesthetics and theology. His aim is to work through the

Plants cultivated at arboretum for science projects

Relatively unknown to most YSU students is the university arboretum—a place where trees, shrubs and herbaceous plants are cultivated for scientific and educational purposes—located on Warner Road in Hartford Township.

Carl F. Chuey, instructor of biology and curator of the herbarium, said yesterday that recent use of the approximately 120 acres has been limited to field botany, ecology, entomology field trips, and various biological experiments.

However, if a $500,000 allocation for the construction of an environment science laboratory is approved, the arboretum will also be used by the department of geography and geology as a possible site for an astronomical observatory.

Mr. Chuey, who along with Nicolas Sturm, assistant professor of biology, coordinates the activities of the arboretum, explained that special care is taken to "maintain natural environment conditions for realistic experimental results."

The arboretum was conceived in the late 1930's by the Trumbull County Arboretum and Conservation Association, a private organization.

The land was donated to the university in 1965.

multi-media and believes that the "highest artistic encounter is a religious experience."

Sensitive to the world around him, Aaron is a 1963 graduate of Warren Harding High School, and was an art and philosophy major at YSU where he was president of the Art Club and publicity chairman for the student chapter of the NAACP.

After his stint in the Army,

Aaron plans on completing his college work, and then would like to study art in graduate school.

His talents are not limited to art alone. He is now working on a poetry book entitled Sex with the Sun, which includes 12 poems and 25 drawings which express the love of God and the love of a girl friend. Aaron's insight into semantics is shown by the use of vivid descriptions sprayed with metaphors: "There exists a rainbow realm around the base of the eastern lighted globe. Stars twinkle on the face of worship as I look....I became a light in the cosmic cathedral...I was born, with the colors of a nucleus spray, the turning of the great wheel God. Our eyes, Gothic cathedral windows we see the world not in words, but cubistic colors."

Aaron is also currently involved in writing a book on the unique topic, "Coca Cola in Vietnam." He declares that Coca Cola "will kill many people, but it will make a lotus bloom overnight. At the turn of the century, we will wonder why the East will control the world—all because of Coca Cola in Vietnam."

could be the most important year of your life.

As you contemplate one of the most important decisions of your life, you will want to remember this: it is not just "a job" you are seeking—it should be the beginning of a career. And if it is to be successful, both you and your employer must need and want each other.

To help you with your decision, we invite you to consider the opportunities at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft. Currently, our engineers and scientists are exploring the ever-broadening avenues of energy conversion for every environment... all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application. The technical staff working on these programs, backed by Management's determination to provide the best and most advanced facilities and scientific apparatus, has already given the Company a firm foothold in the current land, sea, air and space programs so vital to our country's future.

We select our engineers and scientists carefully. Motivate them well. Give them the equipment and facilities only a leader can provide. Offer them company-paid, graduate-education opportunities. Encourage them to push into fields that have not been explored before. Keep them reaching for a little bit more responsibility than they can manage. Reward them well when they do manage it.

Your degree can be a B.S., M.S., or Ph.D. in:

- MECHANICAL ENGINEERING
- AERONAUTICAL ENGINEERING
- ENGINEERING SCIENCE
- ENGINEERING MECHANICS

BELL RATES — NOVEMBER, 1970

If your parents have been complaining about their long distance phone bill lately, especially your collect calls home, here's some help from the phone company. It's a rate chart to send home to help explain the bill you're in. If you don't have a phone, you probably call home from a phone booth, and pay a premium rate. And if you call collect, your parents pay a premium rate.

So to help them out, let them call you, instead. They can dial direct, station-to-station and get the lowest rates possible. You may have to pick out a phone booth or a friend's phone where you can wait for their call.

But, if you and your folks go for the idea, they'll get a smaller charge from calling you, and just maybe those calls will be a little more relaxed. We hope so.

Pile up 1,107 yards-

Ground attack nears record

Although the Youngstown State passing attack has grabbed most of the headlines this season, Penguin rushers have piled up 1,107 yards, the most recorded since the 1967 squad set a school rushing mark of 2,124.

Rosie Blackwell, junior fullback from Cleveland J. F. Kennedy, picked up 87 yards in last Saturday night's 20-7 loss to Gustavus Adolphus to boost his season total to 649 yards in 130 carries. Blackwell has a 4.9 yard

Soccer champs remain undecided due to tie game

The campus championship in soccer will remain undecided until next spring as the Arab students and the Thais tied 1-1 in their game at Campbell last Saturday afternoon. Rain and cold temperatures hampered both teams as they played their second tie in two weeks. Trophies for first and second place will be held until spring, when a playoff game can be held under more ideal weather conditions.

The campus football championship was decided Sunday afternoon with the Vikings edging out Alpha Phi Delta by a score of 6-0. The middle of the playing field resembled a sea of mud as both teams were hampered in their efforts to move the ball. Errors also played a part as several passes were intercepted by both teams in key situations. The winning tally came on a 30 yard aerial strike from Viking quarterback Chuck Bush to Nick Gesacion who caught the ball between two defenders and went in for the score.

"Intention" form must be filed by Winter graduates

Graduate and undergraduate students at Youngstown State University who will be eligible to graduate at the University's first Winter Commencement exercises must file their "Intention to Graduate" form prior to the end of this quarter, announced Dr. Earl E. Edgar, Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

These forms may be obtained by contacting their respective department chairmen. After the forms have been completed, they should be returned to the same department.

A formal application for graduation must be filed with the dean of the school in which the student is enrolled by Saturday noon of the first complete week of the quarter in which the student intends to graduate, in other words winter quarter, 1971. The application for graduation form may be obtained from the office of the dean of the appropriate school of the Office of the Registrar.

per carry average and has scored six TDs. He is just 36 yards shy of outgaining the entire Penguin team of 1969.

Sophomore tailback Dick Banks of Youngstown Wilson got 24 yards against the Gusties, raising his total to 247 yards in 70 tries. Wingback Mike Pacak, a senior from Campbell Memorial, gained 79 yards in 10 attempts. Pacak has carried only 34 times this season, but has gained 207 yards for a fine 6.1 average.

The Penguins had to rely on their ground game against the Gusties due to slippery footing, wet hands and a wet ball brought about by a steady rain. As has been the case in most games this year, YSU had all the statistics, but finished on the short end of the score.

Youngstown had more first downs (14-10), more rushing yards (218-166) and most total yards (226-185). However, two costly fumbles proved the difference. The first Gustie score was set up when YSU punter Mark Mancuso couldn't control a bad snap and Gustavus recovered on the Penguin nine. The Gusties made it 13-0 at halftime after Marty Vandree picked off a Pacak fumble in mid-air and ran 27 yards to paydirt.

The Penguins close out their season this Saturday with a 2 p.m. (EST) engagement at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. The game had mistakenly been listed as an 8 p.m. game on the YSU schedule.

Tom Hammons from Ohio University illustrates the effectiveness of gestures in presenting an argument.

Ann Davies from Ohio University effectively enumerates the points on her side of the argument.

Debate Tournament

YSU sponsored a debate tournament last Saturday in which thirteen teams representing eleven colleges and universities participated. This year's national debate topic is "Resolved: That federal government should institute a system of compulsory wage and price control." Marietta College won the tournament with an 8-0 record and Ohio University came in second with a 6-2 record. YSU's negative team, with a 2-2 record, tied for third place negative team.

Trophies went to the first and second placed tournament teams, as well as to the firsthand second affirmative and negative teams. The bottle of sherry went to the coach of the first place tournament team.

by Skip Miller and Carl Basic

Much attention is given every week to the picking of the top ten football teams in the country. Well, what about the bottom ten? They are often ignored and snubbed, but they manage to field a team every week come rain or come shine. A few attempts have been made to determine who is worthy of these honored positions, and why they deserve to stay there.

The following is a list compiled by Skip Miller and Carl Basic to show the bleak outlook of the bottom ten. This list of confirmed losers, the hopeless ten, or as you may have it, Apathy row, includes:

RECORD		NEXT LOSS
1. Youngstown State 0-8	The Sisters of St. Mary's Convent
2. Bluffton 1-9	YPD
3. Xavier 1-9	The Apostles
4. Otterbien 2-6	Innerbine
5. Ohio Wesleyan 2-6	Pa. Wesleyan
6. Kent State 2-7	National Guard
7. Oberlin 2-6	Underlin
8. Hiram 2-6	YSU Swimming Team
9. Findlay 2-6	The Little Sisters of Oopsilon, Oopsilon, Oopsilon
10. Bowling Green 2-6	Skip Miller & Carl Basic

Again this week, good ol' YSU is number one in the parade of losers with a perfect record of 0 and 8. The Penguins put in a fine showing against the W.C.T.U. of Hubbard last week, and almost scored once during the second period. Mid-way through the third quarter, with the score nothing to nothing, the ladies of the W.C.T.U. decided that the cause was hopeless and quit the game. Three downs later, YSU scored. Even though they missed on the extra point attempt, the YSU front line put up quite a defense.

We talked to Coach Grid Iron after the contest and he informed us that the team was showing signs of improvement. We asked why.

"Well, remember when we tried to kick a field goal in the first quarter? Our outstanding field goal artist (Lance Lutz) actually kicked the ball instead of the man holding it."

"That's really nice, any other improvements?"

"Well, what held him back?"

"The fear of the other team."

"Tell us coach, what do you attribute the long losing streak to?"

"The other teams showing up."

"Do you have any changes in your strategy?"

"Yes, we've been working on a play to confuse the opposition."

"Do you think it will work?"

"Well, it's confused our team so far."

"Can you tell us how it works?"

"No, I can't seem to remember how it goes."

This year, the YSU squad received an honorable mention for the Nobel Peace Prize. Part of the award mentions "...for putting forth a valiant effort, in these times of crisis, to prevent their fellow man from receiving any bodily injury."

YSU also received the Mr. Clean award for keeping their white uniforms spotless on a muddy field.

Some of the avid fans of the Penguins include: Cathy Cafeteria, the athletic supporters of the physical education department, Pete the Penguin's mistress Petunia, Coach Grid Iron's great great grandchildren, Howard Cosell, and about 200 other fans who usually dot the stands at the Sheet and Tube Bowl in Campbell (if you can't get football you may as well get soup and a sandwich), Ohio.

When asked if there was any truth to the rumor that YSU may win next week's game by boring their opponents to death, Coach Grid Iron responded "that kind of poor public relations is bound to give us a tarnished image. We aim to keep our record in fact. Our inferior coaching should provide the difference."
