Students pick Senate reps March 6, 7

The election of students to the University Senate will be held concurrently with Student Council elections scheduled for March 6 and 7, the Senate decided at their meeting last Friday.

The Senate in passing the same motion accorded full voting privileges to the six non-voting student observers appointed by Student Government earlier this year until the elected students are seated May 1.

Bill Jones, Student Council Chairman, and Larry Simko, President of Student Government, were accorded voting privileges along with Theodore Brachfeld, Ray Horner and John Greenman, all arts and sciences seniors, and Jerome Parm, education junior. The motion was submitted by Horner, Brachfeld, Jones, and Simko.

The Senate after lengthy debate approved the revision of Articles I and VI of the Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities and Conduct which is published in the Student Handbook. The Student Affairs Committee submitted the revision.

Under the new code, any disciplinary action taken against a student will not be placed on his academic record but on the student's personnel record. Upon graduation any record of disciplinary action except expulsion may be removed if the student applies to the University Discipline Committee.

University landlords protest new city license mandate

"We are close to the point of putting all the students out in the streets," commented Sadie Hoagland, president of the university landlords association, yesterday.

She said that the city has been "harassing" the landlords for some time now with frequent inspections and a new ordinance requiring them to purchase licenses.

The most recent development, according to Mrs. Hoagland, is an ordinance passed by city council several weeks ago requiring owners or operators of rooming houses to purchase a five dollar license and pay a one dollar fee for every resident.

These licenses and fees are being levied by the city against university landlords she said and the landlords are not operating rooming houses. They are, she maintains, operating apartments for students and should not be licensed as rooming houses.

She said that if the city continues to require them to become licensed as rooming houses they will throw out the students and board up the houses or take in families.

If the landlores decide to put the students out and close down the houses it would affect close to a thousand students according to Mrs. Hoagland.

University housing inspector, Tony Ignazio, said that until the city adequately defines the distinction between rooming houses and apartments he is in total agreement with the landlords association.

Conflict of interest may exist at YSU

A conflict of interest may exist between university trustees and the continued employment of their relatives in at least two cases according to a memorandum prepared by the attorney general's office and circulated around the campus yesterday by President Pugsley.

The memorandum was prepared for special counsel assigned to state universities by Eric R. Gilbertson, assistant attorney general and was entitled "Conflict of Interest Considerations". Mr. Gilbertson's cover letter indicated that the memorandum was to inform university presidents and other members of the university community.

According to a section in the memorandum dealing with nepotism, the statutes creating and authorizing two state universities contain specific prohibition against this type of conflict of interest. Revised Code 3335.09 provides that: "no trustee, or his relation by blood or marriage, shall be eligible to a professorship or position in the university, the compensation for which is payable out of the state treasury or a university fund."

A trustee who may be concerned is Al Shipka, father of Dr. Thomas Shipka, assistant professor in the YSU philosophy department.

Another trustee who could be affected is Carl Dennison. Mrs. Lorain C. Dennison, secretary to the political science department, said last night that her husband is a cousin to the trustee.

Dr. Thomas Shipka said last night that he had "no doubt that Pres. Pugsley would be ecstatic at my fathers' removal from the university, or mine for that matter, but I am afraid that he doesn't have enough ammunition."

The memorandum continues that while the intent of the legislature with respect to nepotism was thus stated, they neglected to enact the same specific provisions in the statutes creating and authorizing the other state institutions.

In a cover letter for the memorandum Mr. Gilbertson says that it "is not a formal opinion of this office, and is intended solely

Dr. Jeanne Noble is scheduled as fourth artist series lecturer

"It Ain't Easy Being a Queen," will be lecture topic of Dr. Jeanne Noble, professor at the Center for Human Relations and Community Studies at New York University and the fourth artist series lecturer, when she speaks at 2 p.m. Thursday in Strouss Auditorium.

Dr. Noble received her undergraduate training at Howard University, her M.A. and Doctorate degrees from Teachers College of Columbia University with a specialization in guidance and development psychology.

She has concentrated her interest in group behavior and has developed one of the most socially relevant programs in group dynamics in the country.

She has served on the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services, Commission on Presidential Scholars and also headed the Women's Job Corps during the task force stages.

She was a member of the Selective Service Commission and has been appointed by President Nixon to serve on the Commission for a Volunteer Army.

She was past president of Delta Sigma Theta, a predominantly Black public service sorority.

Her book "The Negro Women's College Education" received the Pi Lambda Theta Research Award in 1955. She is currently writing a book entitled Soul Sisters, and is hosting a CBS program "The Learning Experience." In the program she teaches four black students in a course entitled, "The Social Psychology of Black Youth."

Also at 11 a.m. today their will be a book review seminar entitled Modern African Writers. The seminar to be held at the Pollock House will be led by Cheryl Patterson, senior in arts and sciences, Robert Peterson, instructor in English, and Mrs. Gertrude Stringer, a local black author.

At 7 p.m. tonight the movie "King" will be shown in the Engineering Science Auditorium. The film is a documentary on the life of Dr. Martin Luther King. Tomorrow night at 6:30 there will be slide presentation of an African tour by Hillman junior high school students. It will be narrated by Mrs. Ann Ratcliff, a teacher at Hillman.

At 8:30 there will be a concert presentation by the Faith Temple Gospel Choir, a local gospel music group. It will be in the Engineering Science Auditorium also.

for the purpose of advising you [President Pugsley] of our [the atty. generals office] initial conclusions."

Dr. Shipka said he had read the memorandum carefully and it confirmed what he had discovered when his father's appointment as a trustee was being considered last summer, namely, "that this appointment is fully in keeping with the law in the state of Ohio." He pointed out that the memorandum noted that only two universities had such provisions and that new legislation would be required to extend them to YSU.

Humphrey, Woodcock will speak at Young Democrat convention

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, will be among the guest speakers at the National Collegiate Young Democrats Convention which will be held from Thursday to Sunday of this week at the Voyager Inn. The convention will be hosted by the YSU Young Democrats and will officially begin at 9 p.m. on Thursday with an executive meeting.

Woodcock, the outspoken labor leader, will hold a press conference and speak at 4 p.m. on Friday in the Hall of Fame Room. Senator Humphrey, announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, will speak in the Cloud Room at 9:30 later that evening.

Earlier on Friday at 8 p.m. at the opening of the first general session of the convention, Congressman Charles J. Carney of the 19th district and John J. Gilligan, Governor of Ohio will be among those who will address the young democrats. At this opening session Chuck Hettler, convention host and senior in arts and sciences will welcome the delegates and will introduce other speakers.

All these activities on Friday will be open to the public.

On Saturday there will be a continental breakfast and at 10:30 a.m. the Young Dems will hold a closed session in the Cloud Room. At 8:30 that evening the Young Democrats will hold their banquet with Chuck Hettler acting as toastmaster. State Senator Harry Meshel of the 33rd district, Ohio State Highway Director, J. Philip Richley and former U.S. Senator from Alaska, Ernest Gruening will be among those who will speak at the banquet.

Sunday at 2 p.m. with a press conference in the Ingot Room at the Voyager Inn.

The convention will close on

Parking plan proposed by YSU ecology group

An alternate to the present campus parking plan has been proposed to the administration by the transportation division of the Campus Ecology Group, headed by Dan DeSalvo, senior in public administration.

Location of these off-campus facilities would be determined by the direction of entry of present students. A parking poll is now being taken to determine from which side of town students approach the university.

Buses, which would require no fare or ID card, would then transport students to YSU. Traveling time would be approximately 15 minutes. Buses would run every 10 or 15 minutes, stopping at strategic points at the university.

An added benefit of this program would be the creation of student employment in which students would be bus drivers, maintenance personnel and coordinators of the campus bus service.

Under this plan there would be parking on campus for administration, faculty and staff.

Fire damages local house

An early evening fire this past Saturday caused extensive damage to a two-story house located at 841 Pennsylvania Avenue which housed three university students.

According to fire officials, the blaze broke out at 5:59 p.m. and was started by a lighted candle that had fallen over. Damage was estimated at five thousand dollars to the building and one thousand dollars to the contents. According to one of the tenants, "Everything in the house was lost."

The house is owned by Carl Venzio, university approved landlord, but the house itself is not university approved housing. The structure is currently leased to Robert Inganti, junior in Arts and Sciences; Carmen Porto, senior also in liberal arts; John Ungar, freshman, technical and community school and Tom Nemeth, not a university student.

Any academic or administrative official, faculty member or student can file charges against any student for misconduct.

Section C of Article VI, which prompted some of the debate on the Senate floor, describes interim suspension:

"In extraordinary circumstances, the President of the University or senior administrator in charge in the absence of the President may suspend a student and deny his access to the University campus for a reasonable period of time pending consideration of the case. In event of acquittal, every consideration shall be given to the student for completion of academic work."

Article VI, D. "Procedural Standards in Discipline Proceedings" 2. states that the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs is charged with primary responsibility for the supervision of student conduct. That office shall receive complaints of possible violations of the Code and may initiate investigations. The Dean of Student Affairs "shall have the authority to impose a sanction of admonition, warning, restitution for damages and/or disciplinary probation. He may seek advice and recommendations for disciplinary action from appropriate student hearing boards.

"If the violation is such that disciplinary suspension or disciplinary expulsion seems warranted, or if the Dean of Student Affairs is uncertain concerning the appropriate penalty, the case shall be referred to the University Discipline Committee," states the Code.

A student may appeal his case if he believes his rights provided for in the Code or in the U.S. Constitution were violated, if there is new evidence or if he believes the act in violation of the Code does not justify the sanction invoked.

Hearings before the University Discipline Committee, which are closed to the public, allow for information to be heard for and against the student before the committee comes to a decision.

During the debate of the Senate which preceded adoption of the Code, Simko proposed that the hearing be closed to the public unless a public hearing is specifically requested in writing by the student. That motion was defeated 48 to 25.

If a student is dissatisfied with the Committee's decision, the code permits him to appeal to the Appeals Board. The University Discipline Committee will rehear the case if the Appeals Board refers the case back to them.

If the Appeals Board concurs with the Discipline Committee, the student has the option of appealing to the University President for final decision.

Letters to the Editor

Defends conservative viewpoint

To the editor of the Jambar:

This is, of course, a defense of my previous letter.

1) Mr. Adams should check his definition of the word "naive". His use of it appears somewhat unusual.

2) I would rather not have any panaceas to cure society's ills because most cure-alls tend to be of the sideshow, snake oil variety-full of claims but lacking in effects.

3) Mr. Adams derivatively identifies me with the George Wallace types. There are a number of reasons why I would never vote for these people. Among the reasons are: a) they tend to hold views of racial superiority/inferiority, and b) they tend to rely on Keynesian economic policies, rather than Libertarian economic policies.

4) I don't know whether to be sorry for or angry at Mr. Adams for his statement that YAF takes a passing-motorist attitude towards the deaths of the KSU-4. If he truly believes that we do, I'm sorry for him. If he was trying to vent some anger at me for my statements, I return the anger.

5) Yes, I was slightly vague when I referred to a basic flaw in society, but only because a full discussion of those flaws would require a book--indeed, a number of books have been written about such a topic. Among those I have read dealing with this topic, the book Ideas Have Consequences presents the most logical argument concerning civilization's flaws. Although originally published in 1948, its major thesis remains extremely "relevant" to modern society. It also suggests some ways to restructure society--something that panaceas cannot do.

And as general comment, I wish to say that I obviously have not "buried my head in the sand." I would not have joined YAF if that had been my intention. At the risk of sounding like Agnew, I claim that it's not YAF's fault that we aren't well-known. Edith Efron explained whose fault that is.

Shocked at penguin purchase

To the editor of the Jambar:

It was with shock and dismay that I read of Student Council's decision to purchase another penguin. I see no reason for YSU's undertaking to keep Henry Dalverny in pets.

The reasons for not having a penguin are many. The primary reason is that it is cruel. Pete was kept in a cage which no self-respecting zoo would allow on its premises, with less water than I have ever seen a waterfowl supplied with. Further, Pete was subjected to unthinkable amounts of stress from the noise of football games--and that Pitt subjects a panther to the same tortures is no excuse for our doing it. There is no reason that the maintenance of school spirit should be dependent on the possession of an animal who would be happier and healthier elsewhere. We're not involved with a religion; the penguin is not the embodiment of school spirit, but rather a symbol of it, and as a symbol, can be replaced by a student dressed up as a penguin. The penguin is not, after all, either a god or its emissary.

Out of curiosity I questioned my students about their feelings on the matter. Six of my fifty students felt that it was a good idea to have a live penguin on campus. One student withdrew his affirmative vote when he was told that there were no provisions for a new cage for the penguin.

I feel I should mention that throwing out the words "...concern for...wildlife and our environment" as a defense for keeping a penguin on campus is a thoughtless and potentially destructive use of words. In what way are we helping the environment? Does the penguin transform atmospheric pollution into breathable air? Does it recycle glass and paper? Does he remind the students that wildlife is a treasure to be guarded jealously? Or does he join the ranks of other animals kept as pets solely for their owners' selfaggrandizement?

Power to penguins!

Says due process at YSU 'dead'

To the editor of the Jambar:

Students should be aware that due process here is dead. Friday afternoon the Senate approved a new section of the University Discipline Code authorizing the president to suspend a student and prevent his access to University property while civil or University authorities consider charges against him. They call this "Interim Suspension" and it is to be applied only under "extraordinary" circumstances, presumably during campus disorders.

The move is without precedent in terms of violating due process. Although interim suspension in principle exists in other forms throughout the civil code (i.e. withholding of bail, preventive detention, Ohio HB 1219) understand that their application carries the guarantee of a hearing on the need and efficacy for such action. Judges decide whether bond is withheld and their decision is subject to appeal; HB 1219 requires that a hearing officer arbitrate the suspension within five days. No such guarantee exists or is implied in the YSU version. The decision rests with the president whose role is hardly without conflict of interest. Findings of fact or law are not required. The decision cannot be appealed to a higher University authority.

There should be little doubt that "Interim Suspension" is unconstitutional. Despite federal courts' leniency in defining due process and university discipline procedures, there exists no dispute over two guarantees: appraisal of the charge and a fair hearing. Clearly, "Interim Suspension" falls flat; the second guarantee is not provided for.

Until someone is thrown out for the duration so to speak, the courts can't be made to act on this policy. They will not decide moot cases. But "Interim Suspension" will be tested. It's inevitable that the mellowness which permeates this and other universities will change. Someone will become upset, organize, then march on the president's office. Someone will go to jail and will be intermily suspended. He'll sue for interim reentry and assuredly win. But the court will only act on the specifics of the case; they won't say "Lookit University, stop violating rights." Only the people can say that and you needn't possess a polished sixth sense to predict whether the University will listen.

Scriven hopes to gain enrollees with local visitation program

"With our visitation program, we attempt to tell interested people what the university has to offer, especially in our academic programs," Dr. James A. Scriven, Dean of Admissions and Records, said yesterday of YSU's student recruiting program.

Dr. Scriven added that the program's prime objective is to prove that YSU is a good institution. Information is given concerning financial aid, costs, and extracurricular activities at YSU.

William Livosky, director of admissions, pointed out that recruiting is done primarily in the immediate area, meaning Mahoning, Trumbull, Shenango and Columbiana counties. The Akron and Cleveland areas are also occasionally visited.

Both Dr. Scriven and Mr. Livosky agree that it is difficult to determine how successful the visitation program has been. However Dr. Scriven added, "Last year we visited 97 high schools, 42 of which were revisited in the spring, had eight college nights, and visited three community colleges. Therefore if success is based on contact with people, I'd say we've been successful."

A new program, labeled "reverse college nights," has been begun on a limited basis. "With this program," Dr. Scriven noted, "instead of us going to the high schools, we invite the schools to come to us. This way the students get to see the university first hand."

"For example," he continued, "this year a science class from Ashtabula was given a complete tour of our science facilities, and were very much impressed. Possibly as a result of this, many of these students will enroll at YSU." Dr. Scriven hopes to expand this concept in the near future.

For the tours given on "reverse college nights" members of the Circle K Service Organization act as tour guides. Dr. Scriven believes that this, in addition to being a great service to the university, is also advantageous in that students associate with other students.

Clark assumes post as assistant librarian

Daniel G. Clark, former associate professor of the Staten Island Community College, has assumed duties as assistant YSU librarian following his appointment effective February 1, according to Dr. George H. Jones, head librarian.

Daniel G. Clark

Mr. Clark fills the post vacant since the death of his predecessor, Mr. Edward C. Heintz, who died last October 16 of a heart ailment.

A native of Scotland, Mr. Clark joined the staff of the New York Public Library in 1962 where he worked for three years as acting senior librarian before transferring to the Staten Island location where he was on the faculty the past four years.

Mr. Clark has a teaching certificate from Edinburgh (Scotland)

College and a B.S. from Columbia (N.Y.) University from which he graduated in 1960. Mr. Clark also worked for McGraw-Hill on book and magazine layouts.

Mr. Clark's duties will basically be to assist Dr. Jones in all facets of library operations.

Student Council now rejects retention of penguins at YSU

Student Council failed yesterday afternoon to approve the keeping of the two recently-purchased penguins which it had authorized at its last meeting, amidst rapidly growing controversy and parliamentary pyrotechnics.

Council's action followed two hours of discussion and debate initiated by Dr. Jean Kelly, associate professor of English, and Father Raymond DiBlasio, associate Newman chaplain and member of the Co-operative Campus Ministry. They presented to Council a petition voicing opposition to having a live penguin at YSU signed by 571 students.

Henry Dalverny, junior in arts and science and the keeper of previous penguins notified Council that two penguins were already purchased and unable to be returned.

From this point Council tried to find a procedure which would allow them to express their present feelings on the subject.

Film to highlight C of C program on defense budget

The Community of Concern will sponsor the 27 min. film "Overkill/Overrun" at 9 a.m., 2 p.m. and 3 p.m., tomorrow in the Engineering Science Building Auditorium. Discussion periods moderated by Father Raymond DiBlasio, assistant Newman chaplain, will follow each showing.

In conjunction with the film showing, members of the debate team will stage a debate on government surveillance at 1 p.m. with a discussion period following the debate.

"Overkill/Overrun" features Seymour Melman and Ernest Fitzgerald in a discussion of the military budget, distorted priorities, examples of defense waste, and an approach to an alternative foreign and military policy.

Dr. Alice Budge, assistant professor of English and faculty advisor to the Community of Concern stressed the film's relevance by stating that, "if the fiscal 1973 budget is approved it will result in a defense increase of one billion dollars, thereby making it the largest military budget since the end of World War II."

Bogged down over this attempt to change the record, Council recessed for several minutes to gather their forces.

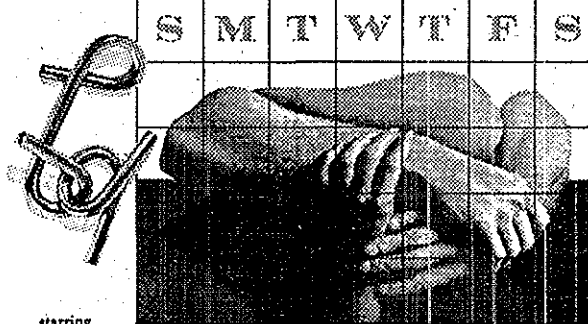

Upon commencement Rick Kost, business representative, moved that Council reconsider the question of the penguin. This move was seconded and passed by a 10-5 vote.

Next he moved that Council "keep the penguin in the reconsidered motion." This would allow members of Council to voice their present position. After a roll call vote which ended in a 7-7-1 deadlock, Bill Jones, Council chairman cast the tiebreaker, rejecting the penguin's retention.

Council will now convey this final action to the university Purchasing Department and consideration will be given to the removal of the two penguins from YSU.

In his last statement Dalverny warned Council that should an effort be made to remove the penguins from him he would purchase them and have someone "donate them to YSU in the name of Former University President Howard Jones." He would do this under the belief that YSU cannot refuse a donation

Sig Ep's Fite Nite brawls thrill 1300 enthusiastic fans

Sigma Phi Epsilon's Fifth Annual Fite Nite was held Friday evening in the Eagles Ball Room in front of some 1300 fans.

The rounds were two minutes long with a one minute pause between each round of the three-round fight. Each fighter was required to wear 14-ounce gloves, and for the first time, head gear.

The bouts were judged by the five-point system with two judges and the referee scoring the rounds. The judges were Joe and Jim Carkido and Gene Inskeep the referee.

Fite Nite in the middle weight category. Seminar won the bout by unanimous decision.

Joe Wilkevich of Alpha Phi Delta and Ron Caccimelio of Lincoln Towers fought an evenly-matched bout. The judges decision went to Caccimelio.

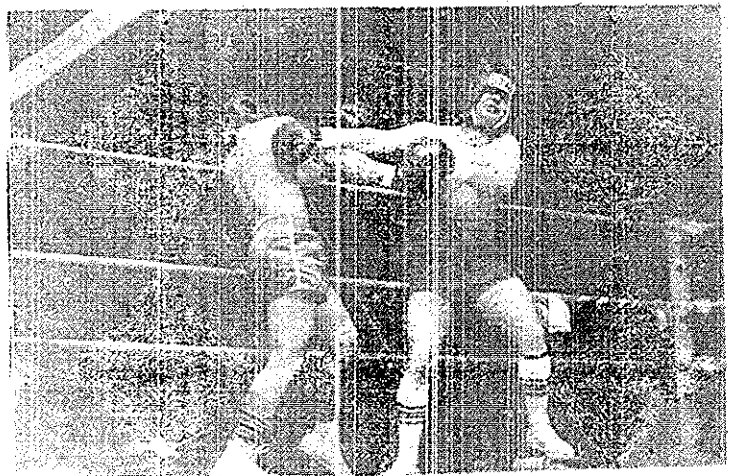

Two heavyweight independents were featured in bout eight as Tom Banna laced Bruce Bennet with good hits to the mid-section and head to win the fight in the middle of the third round by a TKO.

The fight of the night in terms of excitement was the ninth bout that pitted Jim Nixon of Tau Kappa Epsilon against Len Zientarski of Phi Delta Theta. Both fighters knocked each other down three times in a fight that did not have any defense. Neither fighter was daunted as they clobbered each other into a daze. Nixon was awarded a TKO when Zientarski didn't answer the third round bell. Nixon also won the other best fighter-of-the-night award.

The last bout of the evening put Bill Long, an independent, against Bill Peluso of Theta Xi. The fight was won by Peluso.

SWISH THROUGH THE AIR -- Joe Naples of Phi Delta Theta misses Bill Raferty of Delta Chi.

OVER AT LAST -- Nate Merrill of Phi Delta Theta and Jim Horvath of Sigma Tau Gamma congratulate each other as they await the judges decision.

The first five bouts of the evening featured the light weights. Bout one pitched Mike Petrich of Theta Xi against Bob Arroyo of Alpha Phi Omega. Petrich stunned Arroyo with a few solid blows in the first round and Arroyo didn't answer the second round bell.

Zeta Beta Tau's Rex Gullustsen and Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Mark Zawadski fought to a draw that went the distance.

Nate Merrill, Phi Delta Theta, lost by a unanimous decision to Jim Horvath, Sigma Tau Gamma, in a three round contest.

Paul Carlson was a double-winner as he picked-up one of the two best-fighter-of-the-night awards besides winning a third round decision against Rich Shepas of Sigma Tau Gamma.

Bill Raferty of Delta Chi dealt a blinding blow to Joe Naples of Phi Delta Theta one minute and ten seconds in the first round.

Joe Seminar of Alpha Phi Delta and Jim Gargas of Delta Chi started the second half of

"...and for your penance, say two 'Our Fathers,' three 'Hail Marys,' and submit to the Penguin Review."

Pens tromp Alliance; travel to B-W tonight

The Penguin cagers victimized the Alliance College Eagles 82-59 Saturday evening for their 14th win against three losses.

YSU meets Baldwin-Wallace at 8 p.m. tonight in Berea and then the Pens trek to Hillsdale, Mich. for an 8 p.m. contest Saturday.

Coach Dom Rosselli's boys hit on 45.5% of their shots as Bill McMeans led the scoring for the Birds with 22 points. Billy Johnson scored 20 and helped out with 14 assists. Ron Smith scored nine points, Dave Burkholder and Rich Denamen each added eight markers, and Phil Gaston was good for six points, Chuck Montgomery scored four points, Bill Wells and Bob Krizancic scored two points and Claude Bently scored one.

The Pens are going for their tenth post season tournament berth in the past 16 years and will be wary of possible ambushes by B-W and Hillsdale.

The B-W Yellow Jackets are 7-10 and a win against Youngstown would make their season. The Jackets lost to such powers as Virginia and St. Bonaventure and would very much like to beat the Birds because of last year's 65-59 loss. The Pens and the Jackets are tied in series play as each team has won 21 games.

Hillsdale has one of their best teams ever as they stand at 15-6 with seven games remaining. The Chargers have one game this week before facing the Penguins

Saturday.

The Penguinmen are ranked 14th in the UPI small college poll and are listed on the AP's honorable mention list. The Birds are also fifth in the nation on defense (60.1) and third in average scoring margin (19.6).

Swim team slides past Slippery Rock

YSU's swim team, propelled by double winners Dick Tatsch, Chuck Nienhuis and John Carroll, claimed nine of 13 events to whip Slippery Rock, 64-49, in a dual meet at Slippery Rock Saturday afternoon.

Coach Bob Leahy's Penguins registered their fifth win in seven meets, while Slippery Rock dove to 1-8 over the campaign.

Tatsch churned to triumphs in the 50- and 100-yard freestyles, clocking the 50 in 23.0 seconds and the century in 51.6. Nienhuis swept the 200 backstroke and individual medley events, covering the backstroke in 2:18.3 and the medley in 2:14. Carroll outsped the field in the 500- and 1,000-yard freestyles, clocked at 5:33.5 in the 500 and 11:33.6 in the 1,000.

Tom McGee took the 200-yard freestyle in 1:58.3, while Nick Gavolas was first in one-meter diving with 79.9 points, a new Slippery Rock pool record.

Rami Yehudai, vying in exhibition (his points didn't count) in the 200 breaststroke, shattered a YSU record (his own!) with a 2:22.8 time and qualified for the NCAA College Nationals to be held March 16-18 in Lexington, Virginia.

Penguin tankers travel to Kent Friday evening for a double dual meet with Kenyon and Kent State, both of whom Leahy rates as "extremely tough." Leahy feels that strong competition such as this is not only good experience, but will help ready the team for the Penn-Ohio Conference championships a month from now at Slippery Rock.

YSU Theatre, French club plan salute to France

Student committees from the YSU Theatre and the French Club are preparing for their February Salute to France, William G. Hulsopple, director of theater at YSU, said yesterday.

Next on the agenda is the showing of two films, The Blood of the Poet by Jean Cocteau and The Red Balloon by Albert Lanoie, which will be shown at 8 p.m. on Thursday of this week in Strouss Auditorium.

On the 16th WYSU will broadcast a discussion of "The Impact of French Drama on World Theater" and will feature Dr. Hulsopple and Renee Linkhorn, assistant professor of foreign languages. The discussion will be broadcast at 10 p.m.

The next event in the series will be the Speech and Drama Department's production of the Madwomen of Chaillot which will begin on February 22 and run through the 26th.
