Five courses to be offered...

Free U. begins spring classes today

Free University classes for the current Spring Quarter will begin today, according to Joe Magielski, student coordinator. Five courses are presently being offered although suggestions for others are welcome.

The purpose of Free University, as explained by Magielski, is to promote an extension of instruction, inquiry, and debate. Its intention is to provide tuitionless non-credit courses, conferences, training shops, seminars, and discussion groups chosen according to student interest, without formal requirements, such as, major or hour prerequisites, papers, or grades.

The courses and their meeting places are as follows: "Life Elsewhere in the Universe" assisted by Dr. Warren M. Young, assistant professor of physics and astronomy, will meet from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday in room 112. This will be a discussion of the probability of life existing elsewhere in the universe including possible evidence for its existence, from UFO's, interstellar communication, and historical records.

"Buddhism in Far Eastern Art" lead by James G. Lucas, assistant professor of art, will meet from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in room 22, Clingan-Waddell. This is a general discussion of the historical, philosophical, iconographical development of Buddhism in the art of India, China, and Japan.

"Contemporary Trends in Painting and Sculpture" lead by James J. Lepore, assistant professor of art, will meet from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. on Mondays in the Catacombs. A discussion of movements and influence in contemporary art forms and painting and sculpture and their relevancy to today's society, will be the subjects.

Five offices relocated in 'building shuffle'

In its constant battle to find new homes for departments, offices and services which will be displaced pending razing and construction, YSU has taken another step in the "building shuffle."

The Black Studies Office has found a "new" temporary home in the Administrative Annex (19 Lincoln) on the second floor. According to Nick J. Leonelli, director of campus planning, Black Studies will move from two rooms in the Lincoln Project into six rooms in the Administrative Annex.

The International Student Organization, currently housed in the soon-to-be demolished East Hall, will move to the second floor of the Publications Building (Jambar Offices, 629 Bryson), taking three of these rooms. Also to be located in the same structure on the same floor is a new student service organization known as Students Committed to Other People (SCOPE). SCOPE will have one room for office purposes.

The Security Office, which is on the first floor of the Kilcawley Center, will expand into two other rooms on the same floor. The rooms formerly were occupied by the Athletic Ticket Office and became available when this office moved into the new Beeghly Center.

The Neon, the campus yearbook, will move from East Hall to a room in the Rayen Building, while the Penguin Review, the campus literary magazine, will also move from East Hall to Rayen.

Concert featuring Herman, Herd set for Wednesday

Tickets are still available for the Woody Herman and the Young Thundering Herd concert to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 12, in Stambaugh Auditorium.

The evening concert will be hosted by the Dana School of Music and is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The concert begins with a half-hour concert by the YSU Jazz Ensemble conducted by Tony Leonardi. Mr. Leonardi is a former YSU graduate and has been an arranger and part-time instructor for the Woody Herman Band.

Another member of the Band, pianist Harold Danko, graduated cum laude in Music in June of 1969 from YSU. Mr. Danko is from Masury and his wife is the former Jacquelyn Pressley, daughter of Jack Pressley, a part-time YSU instructor in advertising art.

Woody and the Herd then take over the next hour-and-a-half with some old-time favorites such as "Woodchopper's Ball" and "Caldonia," then bursting forth with today's sound, but with the big band beat.

The philosophy of Woody in regard to his music is best summed up by...

Omicron Lambda Meeting

Omicron Lambda, honorary biological society, is having a membership meeting at 12 noon, next Wednesday, April 12, in room 418 in Ward Beecher. All students interested in biology are invited to attend. Election of officers will be held.

Penguin Review

Students who submitted works to the Penguin Review may pick up their work in the office of the Penguin Review 3rd floor of East Hall until Wednesday, April 12. After Wednesday, material may be picked up in their new office, Rayen School room 104.

Art Deadline Extended

The deadline for entries in the Student Art Show has been extended to 9 a.m., Tuesday, April 11, at the Art Office in Clingan-Waddel.

One-Man Show

Richard A. Ulrich, YSU art instructor and assistant curator at the Butler Institute of American Art, will open a one-man show at the Kennedy Center Art Gallery at Hiram College this Sunday, April 9, which will run through April 28.

The show, consisting of 20 works, is an exhibition of recent paintings, mostly acrylics with some watercolors.

YSU Narcotics Graduates

Four YSU security personnel members were among 110 policemen to graduate from a ten-day training session offered by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs held recently at Mahoning Country Club. Scoring high in the exams were William Fisher, 1132 Fairchild, Hubbard; William Comm, 94 Leighton Ave., Boardman; Robert Gartner, 4533 Canfield-Niles Rd., Canfield; and James Grey, 133 Regent St., Campbell.

Naberezny Displays Works

Jon M. Naberezny, chairman of the YSU art department and professor of art, currently has a retrospective show of some 15 of his paintings being exhibited at the Youngstown Playhouse.

The show, which began April 5, runs through April 30. A member of the YSU faculty since 1952, Naberezny has been chairman of the department since 1954. A noted area artist whose works are in many permanent collections, Naberezny is also a popular lecturer on the subject of art.

Banquet Tickets

The last day to order tickets for the All-sports Banquet is 5 p.m., Wednesday, April 12. Tickets ordered this day and tickets not received in the mail Thursday, April 13 may be picked up at the door before the banquet.

Tickets will not be sold at the door.

Candidates Fair hosts May Primary major office seekers and delegates

A "Candidate's Fair", sponsored by Student Council and the Youngstown League of Women Voters, will be held in Strouss Auditorium today from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Open to the public, the program will host 29 major office seekers and nine district delegates running in the May primaries.

Organizers for the fair are Mrs. Clyde Hankey of the League of Women Voters and Dan Dunmire, sophomore Arts and Sciences representative to Student Council.

U.S. planes bombard enemy in biggest raid since Tet '68

SAIGON AP — In the biggest aerial onslaught since the bombing halt nearly 3 1/2 years ago, large forces of U.S. planes pounded enemy targets Thursday in North Vietnam. Other allied planes raked enemy positions on South Vietnam's northern front after a break in bad weather.

For the first time in the war, North Vietnamese fired a surface-to-air missile from South Vietnamese soil. Witnesses on the northern front said the missile was fired at an allied plane from one of the abandoned South Vietnamese bases. It missed the plane.

Aground, bloody battles were reported 60-70 miles north of Saigon, where the North Vietnamese opened a new front Wednesday. North Vietnamese tightened their lines close to Quang Tri, the main objective of their eight-day offensive on the northern front. But the South Vietnamese brought up heavy reinforcements.

Official U.S. sources said the raids on North Vietnam, ordered by President Nixon, were aimed at nearly every type of target. The main area was Quang Binh, North Vietnam's southernmost province, and the enemy half of the demilitarized zone.

The North Vietnamese radio claimed 10 U.S. jets had been shot down. The U.W. Command refused to say whether any planes had been lost.

"Pharaohs and Their Ghosts: Velikovsky's Theory of Ancient Chronology," was the topic of a speech given by Dr. Joseph May, assistant professor of history, at the History Club's Forum, Wed. at the Pollock House.

Dr. May believes that Immanuel Velikovsky is the undiscovered Copernicus of the 20th century. Velikovsky also has major theories in the fields of physics, biology, geology and other areas.

Dr. May says that "Velikovsky believes that the entire history of the Ancient Near East prior to Alexander the Great is out of focus in that events in Egypt are supposed to have happened 600 years before the time that he (Velikovsky) believes they actually occurred. He documents his thesis with a detailed examination of the records of Egypt compared with the information in the Bible and other sources. Among other important consequences, his reconstruction of events casts an entirely new light on the interpretation of the Bible."

Dr. May has personally known Immanuel Velikovsky for seven years. He first met him while doing graduate work at Kent State. He corresponds with Velikovsky who lives in Princeton, Massachusetts.

The Geology Club will hear Dr. May at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 13, in Ward Beecher. He will speak on Velikovsky's views concerning geology.

OPINION

Letters to the Editor

Truant Teachers

By now, the end of the quarter's second week, most students know which of their professors are punctual and intend to show up in class on a regular basis. Often, at this point, many students are already disappointed in the reliability of their professors, but don't know what to do about it.

The most common cries are: "Dr. So and So only comes to class when the sun shines" or "My prof comes 15 minutes late and then dismisses class 10 minutes late to justify the lost time."

Should you be a member of the class where the professor seems unconcerned about being prompt or even putting in an appearance, there are several routes open. A signed note or, preferably a personal visit to the offending prof's department chairman could be quite effective. If the offending instructor is a department chairman, his boss is the dean of the college. See him.

No student should be expected to wait more than 10 minutes for a late professor. Despite rumor to the contrary a professor who holds a Ph.D. only warrants the same 10 minute wait as any other instructor. Elevated degrees do not elevate the amount of discourtesy a student must accept.

Ideally, professors should set an example for their students who would, of course, also avoid the discourteous tardy arrivals.

Because certain faculty members are not aware that their lack of promptness is offensive to students, we encourage the notification of the chairmen of their departments. Professionalism on their part would insure that the student's identity be kept confidential when the chairman confronts the offending instructor.

You've got nothing to lose and you may be able to remedy an annoying situation. There are eight weeks of classes left. How often have you seen your prof?!

Deplores oversized classrooms

To the editor of the Jambar:

"What did the prof say?" "What is that he wrote on the board?" These are two of several statements one hears in a large size class. Many departments have switched from small to large classes and from teacher to team teaching. What are the results? The student faces another frustration. He cannot hear the prof. Oh! There is a solution to this problem. Use a mike and amplifier. Half the time the mike does not work, and the remainder of the time there is frequency interference. And then you're lucky if you see the board or even the prof. Everyday there is a rush for the front seats.

The teacher-pupil relationship is endangered. What is a class without the comments and opinions of the student? It is another boring lecture. It is a difficult task for most profs to motivate the student to respond in a class of thirty. You can imagine how many students respond in a class of over a hundred. Not many.

Then there is team teaching. The first few weeks of the quarter you are taught by one or two profs. They assign reports, term papers, etc. After finally getting into the groove, you are informed that the remainder of the quarter you will be taught by two other profs. Along with the work assigned by the two previous profs, you are then assigned additional work.

It's quite common in the larger state universities, such as O.S.U., that the student never personally sees the prof. The lectures are video-taped. If you have a question it's your task to find the answer and solve your problem. There was one case that a student needed assistance so he inquired at the prof's office only to find that the prof had died the previous quarter. Imagine that!

This letter requests department heads to reconsider any future class size changes and to break down the overcrowded classes.

Wants Saxon Studies department

To the editor of the Jambar:

The precedent has been set by the Black Studies department for further specialization in ethnic backgrounds. A natural outgrowth would be the establishment of a department of Saxon Studies encompassing history, sociology, language, and current Saxon leaders in the community. Locally, there is already a strong core of Saxons steeped in their culture and history. There are social and religious organizations supported by the local Saxons.

A sufficient pool of educated Saxons exist to establish a basic teaching faculty. Young Saxons already have a knowledge of their heritage to insure interest in a more advanced pursuit of the subject.

The success of Black Studies gives us the encouragement to suggest such a program be instituted on behalf of the Saxon community.

Claims poor Blacks unwelcome

To the editor of the Jambar:

One of the problems at YSU is the relationship between the so-called poor Black students and the middle class Black students. It seems that they are not welcome to join the Black organizations. Many middle class Blacks are running and talking for all the Black students because they feel that they understand the problems of all the Blacks when they don't understand their own problems.

It is a typical ideology, they have not proven that they have a right to talk for all the students because many are only taking an ego trip. How can "they" deal with the Black problems when they cannot deal with their problems.

Urges soccer club recognition

To the editor of the Jambar:

I am writing this letter to register a complaint concerning the upcoming All-Sports Banquet which is being sponsored by the Alumni Association. As Faculty Advisor and coach of the YSU Soccer Club, I have repeatedly attempted to have the three graduating Soccer Club participants recognized at this event. News releases in the Jambar, the YSU Review and the Vindicator claimed that "the banquet honors all Penguin athletes..." participating in intercollegiate sports. (Belatedly, the word "varsity" was added to this description in a news release that appeared in last Wednesday's Vindicator.)

The Soccer Club has played intercollegiate for three consecutive years now and last fall completed a full eight-game intercollegiate schedule including two with JV teams. The fact that soccer is still a club sport at YSU is not due to any lack of initiative since the Club has actively sought University recognition during the past three years.

Recently, I surveyed all the varsity coaches (except the new tennis coach) as to their opinion on granting recognition to the graduating soccer players at the All-Sports Banquet. Coaches representing five varsity teams expressed no objections; two of these, in fact, strongly supported the idea. The remaining coach felt that this would set an undesirable precedent since in the past only varsity athletes were recognized.

In light of the above, I feel that the decision made by the Alumni Director to exclude non-varsity intercollegiate athletes from this banquet displays an unfortunate amount of arbitrariness and inflexibility. What is wrong with setting precedents when circumstances justify them? What is wrong with recognizing the achievements of students who represented the Club (and, indirectly, the University) with distinction for the past three years? Some of these students, in their own sport, are as talented as the best that YSU has seen in recent years.

I urge that semantics be cast aside so that we can begin to examine the merits of this case.

AASU supports parent group in Hayes incident

Support for the Northside Concerned Parents Group relating to the Hayes school incident was announced by the YSU African-American Student Union yesterday morning at a press conference held in Pollock House.

Darryl Barham Tukufu, co-chairman of the AASU and spokesman issued a statement to the effect that since black people have been in America they have been subjected to the "most brutal, physical and mental slavery in the world."

The organization has taken the position that in this particular case the enemies of Black people are the YEA, the superintendent of the schools and Judge Jenkins and that they are determined to keep black people "below the bottom of the ladder."

"It seems that every time black folks get together it is immediately interpreted as black racism and black hate," stated Tukufu.

He said, that the Northside parents are not racists and they are interested in quality education for their children and all children in the public schools system.

Tukufu concluded by saying that the "AASU, as students and future leaders of the community, will support any of the efforts of the Northside concerned parents and the Concerned Coalition."

The Concerned Parents Coalition is composed of parent groups from various parts of the community.

One of the principals and functions of the AASU is to act as a liaison between the YSU black students, the black community as a whole and to involve themselves in the black community.

The Hayes incident results back to Feb. 17 when disturbances took place between several students and teachers and as a result of that confrontation the Northside Concerned Parents has submitted 14 proposals to the Board of Education.

Greeks to rise in song for annual competition

The annual Greek Sing competition will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, April 14 at Stambaugh Auditorium.

Greek Sing pits fraternity against fraternity and sorority against sorority in light hearted but skillful singing competition.

In addition to awards for the first three places in the fraternity and sorority division, awards will also be presented by the Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity Council to the individual with the highest accum in their respective organizations.

The selections which will be sung by the various fraternities include: Kappa Sigma, "On the Street Where You Live."; Sigma Phi Epsilon, "Till"; Sigma Tau Gamma, "If Ever I Would Leave You"; Zeta Beta Tau, "The Real Thing"; Theta Chi, "He Ain't Heavy He's My Brother"; Sigma

Alpha Epsilon, "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child"; Phi Kappa Tau, "No Man is an Island"; Phi Sigma Kappa, "Without You"; Sigma Pi, "There Ain't Nothing Like a Dame."

In the sorority division the following tunes will be heard: Phi Mu, "I Don't Know How to Love Him"; Sigma Sigma Sigma, "Cherish"; Alpha Sigma Tau, "Walk On By"; Alpha Omicron Pi, "One Hand, One Heart"; Delta Zeta, "Blues in the Night"; and Zeta Tau Alpha, medley, "Raindrops", "I'll never Fall in Love Again", and "Close to You."

Chairmen for the event are Karen Eliser (Delta Zeta), Jeff Wellington (Theta Xi), Jim Fadden, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Pat LaRocca (Sigma Tau Gamma).

Tryouts open, men welcome--

Get it on as a YSU cheerleader

Interested in becoming a YSU cheerleader?

Any full-time student with at least 12 quarter hours and in good standing is permitted to try out according to Mr. William Morrison, cheerleader advisor and Athletic Business Manager.

"Anyone with some athletic potential and who is willing to put some time and effort in cheerleading is encouraged to try out," said Terry Tamburino, senior in Education, captain of this year's squad. Miss Tamburino added that there seems to be a misconception that to be a cheerleader you have to be a physical education major. This is, of course, false.

Tryouts will be held April 19, 20, and 21 and an application can be picked in the Boeghly Physic Education Center's business office up to April 19.

Tryouts are held in the spring so that the new members of the squad can start working together as a group so that their potential can start to be developed. Basic routines and cheers are also introduced at this time.

Being a cheerleader gives the students an opportunity to know the players and everyone associated with the sport. This year's squad was made up of all girls and it is hoped that some men will be on next year's squad.

The girls did their utmost to keep up the moral of the Penguin players. In fact they were cheered by the Gannon fans and were complimented by the Akron basketball players for their never die attitude.

Everything hasn't been roses though as rowdy fans don't make life easy for the girls. At one of the YSU-Gannon games an opposing fan ran through the papered hoop that the players were supposed to run through. They didn't let their feelings show as they just kept yelling and screaming for the Pens.

"We try to be flexible in our ideas and to try new things," said Debbie Hayden, a veteran of the squad. "We are sort of jack-of-all-trades as we sing, though not always on key, and do pom-pom routines or anything that comes to mind."

The girls said that cheerleading is a full-time job that takes work but delivers a lot of satisfaction. They urge that everyone should give cheerleading a try.

Concerto-Aria features Dana student soloists

The Annual Concerto-Aria Concert, will be performed by three selected student soloists from the Dana School of Music and accompanied by the YSU Symphony Orchestra, at 8 p.m., Monday, April 10, in Powers Auditorium.

Under the direction of Dr. William G. Conable, assistant professor of music, the concert will feature the soloists who were chosen through auditions last January.

Sophomore engineering student Robert Petrek, who is a student of Loyal B. Mould, assistant professor of music, will play oboe in the first movement of Joseph Haydn's Concerto in C.

Elaine Joachim, a junior music major will perform on the piano in Mozart's Concerto in D minor. A student of Robert Hopkins, coordinator of the keyboard area, she was selected last year to play in the Youngstown Symphony's Family Day Concert.

Senior music major Donald Rasely, a baritone, who will sing "Di Provenza," from Verdi's "La Traviata," is a student of Dr. Donald E. Vogel, acting coordinator of the voice area at Dana.

Admission is $1.00 for the general public and YSU students will be admitted free.

Phi Kappa Phi honor society to be installed in mid-May

A chapter of Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic honor society will be installed on the YSU campus May 19, Dr. Earl E. Edgar, vice president for academic affairs, announced yesterday.

The first honor society to recognize superior scholarship in all fields of study at a college or university, its membership consists of the highest ranking students, electing no more than the upper ten percent of a graduating class.

Although the YSU chapter will be only the sixth to be installed at a college or university in Ohio by the spring of 1972, there will be 140 such chapters in 48 states, with a membership of more than 240,000 faculty and undergraduates.

Invitations to become a member of Phi Kappa Phi at YSU are being mailed this week to a number of faculty members and students with the initiation and installation ceremonies to be held the same day.

A group of 20 faculty members under the leadership of Dr. Margaret I. Pfau, chairman of the English department, successfully petitioned for approval of a YSU chapter of Phi Kappa Phi in 1970.

Jobs are available at national parks, hotels, and resort areas around the U.S. this summer. We will only be able to handle the first 100 replies. Mail $2 to Action For Students, Box 2392, Muncie, Indiana 47302 for information. If you are not among the first 100 to write, your $2 will be refunded.

Bartolin twirls initial no-hitter, Penguins win two against Case

The Penguin cowhiders' Steve Bartolin pitched his first no-hitter of his career in the second game of a doubleheader as he white washed the Case Western Reserve Spartans, 7-0, following Greg Balakoff's three hitter, 2-0 performance Wednesday afternoon in the season's opening games.

Right-hander Balakoff, from Hubbard, went the distance as he gave up three singles and didn't walk a batter. Left-hander Bartolin, also from Hubbard, equalled and surpassed Balakoff's feat as he fanned 12 batters but had some control problems. Bartolin gave six Spartans a free ticket to base one. Both pitchers performed on a rather chilly and windy afternoon.

While Balakoff and Bartolin walked away with the defensive honors, Mike Szenborn, freshman from Campbell, had two doubles, one in each game. Lou Zitello from Chaney and Gary Lisko from Struthers (Mooney) also shared the offensive spotlight as they went 3-4 in the second seven inning contest.

In the first game Greg Merrill from Delta scored in the second inning and Jim Hamrock from Mooney scored on a passed ball in the fifth. Both runs were earned but were not driven in by hits. The power-packed pens racked three singles and one double in that contest.

In the top half of the second game there were six straight singles beside the two bagger by Szenborn in the second that created five runs. The Pens also added a run in the fifth and sixth to put the game on ice.

YSU had 11 hits in the second game and a total of 15 in the 14 inning total.

with contracts to be finalized upon budget approvals by the Board of Trustees.

Following reports by Dr. Ronald L. Gould, associate professor of music and a committee member, that unnamed faculty members of the Dana School of Music object to the Cleveland Orchestra's performance here, the committee unanimously passed a motion to contact the Dana School of Music and the Youngstown Symphony Orchestra and ask them to determine their official position on the matter. Certain faculty members reportedly objected on the grounds that the Cleveland Orchestra's appearance here would be unfair competition to the Youngstown Symphony.

Because of federal grants for "run-out concerts" to nearby cities, Dr. Gould related, the Cleveland Orchestra is available for about $850.

Besides Dr. Mead, a renown sociologist who will be part of the Skeggs series, and Miss Giovanni, a published poet, the committee is also planning to schedule the Guarneri String Quartet, Marcel Marceau, a mime, Dr. Sidney Hook, professor of philosophy at New York University, and Dr. Immanuel Velikovsky, the controversial author of Worlds In Collision. Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the Salk Vaccine, and Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California and chairman and director of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education, are also under consideration for the Skeggs Series.

An expansion of the International Film Series under the joint sponsorship of the Artist Lecture Series and the speech and drama department is planned.

Catch YSU— The Program by Carl Basic

Under pressure from the University Congress, President Pugsley announced yesterday that he will soon begin Phase IV of his studentization program.

Under this program he will gradually pull out all faculty members from the Southern half of the university and replace them with students who will teach themselves and the other students. The areas of the campus which are under the studentization program will be separated from the rest of the campus by a mobile boundary line of barbed wire and red tape which will be known as the DSZ (Deprived Student Zone).

President Pugsley feels his studentization program will take a huge burden off the taxpayer because there will be fewer faculty salaries to pay, since students in the studentization program will receive no salaries.

Support of the plan comes chiefly from a clandestine group of rice farming majors led by a Dr. Cong of the Che Guevara Department. Dr. Cong said that he would love to see all faculty members withdrawn immediately. He also wants to withdraw the administration and the president, too.

Critics of the program say that the students rely too much on outside help to get the job done and will not be able to carry on once all faculty members have been withdrawn.

Much opposition to the studentization program comes from Dr. Tet of the Offensive Department. His opposition is reportedly so fierce that the studentization people reportedly run whenever they meet him on campus.

Other opposition to the plan comes from a Dr. Generals. Dr. Generals is the spokesman for the faculty collective bargaining agency, United Scholars Militant Corps (USMC). Dr. Generals feel that the studentization people are no match for his "troops" and claims that his men are the best educated, best trained, and best equipped in the world and are second to none in their abilities as teaching men. Dr. Generals went on to say that the studentization people are poor teachers and would probably be most effective in track meets, cross country running events, and games of hide and go seek.

the non-renewal of his contract, and 4) charges of harrasment and retaliation because he took the matter to court.

The Commission stated that it had "carefully reviewed and discussed our investigator's documented investigation report." According to Dr. Poddar, however, the Commission's investigator found probable cause, but "the Commission did not support the findings of their investigator." Dr. Poddar said that the Commission acted as it did because of its political nature. He further declared that "the Ohio Civil Rights Commission has been weak, as others have found."

Dr. Poddar remains optimistic.

The group plans to tour several federal agencies including the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Treasury Department. Other tours of local police agencies, notably the Washington and Baltimore police departments, will be conducted. Arrangements will be provided for those who wish to ride with the Baltimore police.

Estimated cost of the tour is $75, covering room, meals and transportation expenses. Those interested may sign up for the tour at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, April 18 in Room 285 of the Engineering Science Building or contact the YSU Criminal Justice department for further information.

however, as his case is still being investigated by H.E.W.'s Office of Civil Rights He plans "to pursue this further with the Equal Employment Opportunity Agency which I have asked to assign an investigator. I will file shortly."

Most respondents of OEA query favor bargaining

A large majority of full time faculty members who responded to a lengthy questionnaire circulated by the YSU OEA favored collective bargaining "as a method of attaining the economic and professional goals of the faculty."

The results of the the questionnaire were released yesterday by Dr. Thomas Shipka assistant professor of philosophy and chairman of the YSU OEA campaign committee. Slightly less than one half of the full service non-administrative faculty returned the OEA questionnaire and Dr. Shipka considered the response to be a cross section of faculty opinion. The results of the questionnaire which contained 96 questions, will be placed in the reference room of the library for examination by interested parties.

When asked "are you in favor of collective bargaining at YSU as a method of attaining the economic and professional goals of the faculty," 137 members of the faculty answered "yes" while 16 responded "no".

Some of the questions involved some issues considered at past student council meetings. A total of 109 members of the faculty believe a day-care center should be established for children of faculty and students and 142 members of the faculty favored the "establishment of a Campus Health Clinic staffed by a full-time physician."

Some 152 faculty members believed that the "Faculty should participate in the selection of the University's President, Vice-President, and Deans."

"Concerning the Board of Trustees, 71 thought that the Board should include both students and faculty. A bill on this issue is presently in the Ohio State Senate.

The tally on whether the faculty should withhold their services if the administration refuses to cooperate in the adoption of a policy which the faculty strongly desires was very close with 78 answering yes and 61 answering no. The most common comment to that question was that the faculty should only withhold their services "as a last resort and the issue must be very serious—a vote must be taken first."

In the area of terminated professors one of the questions asked: "Should the reinstatement of terminated professors (e.g. Dr. Poddar) be an issue in collective bargaining negotiations?" To this the faculty responded 42 yes and 106 no and also included the most common comment; "If legal avenues have been exhausted, no."

Some 143 faculty members, however, believed that a non-tenured faculty member whose contract is being terminated "should be entitled to a written statement of reasons and a hearing to contest them."

On the issue of salary and promotion 132 though that YSU's present system was not based on merit. A total of 111 contended that employees of the university should not pay a parking fee.
