Efficiency is subject of Council address

Student Council Chairperson Edward Sturgeon delivered a state of Student Council address essentially stating how Sturgeon feels Council can operate more efficiently.

Sturgeon mentioned that "Council should use force whenever possible, under the table or over, and make full use of the media both inside the University as well as outside of it."

Sturgeon stated that there was too much infighting and bickering in Council to allow it to operate efficently.

Sturgeon mentioned that he is against a Student Union because of the problems involved in starting such a union.

Later in the meeting Joe Simko, A&S, representative, voiced his misgivings about Sturgeon still holding the chairpersonship of Council. Simko pointed out that Sturgeon graduated last quarter and he did not feel Sturgeon's holding of the position was in line with the present Student Government constitution.

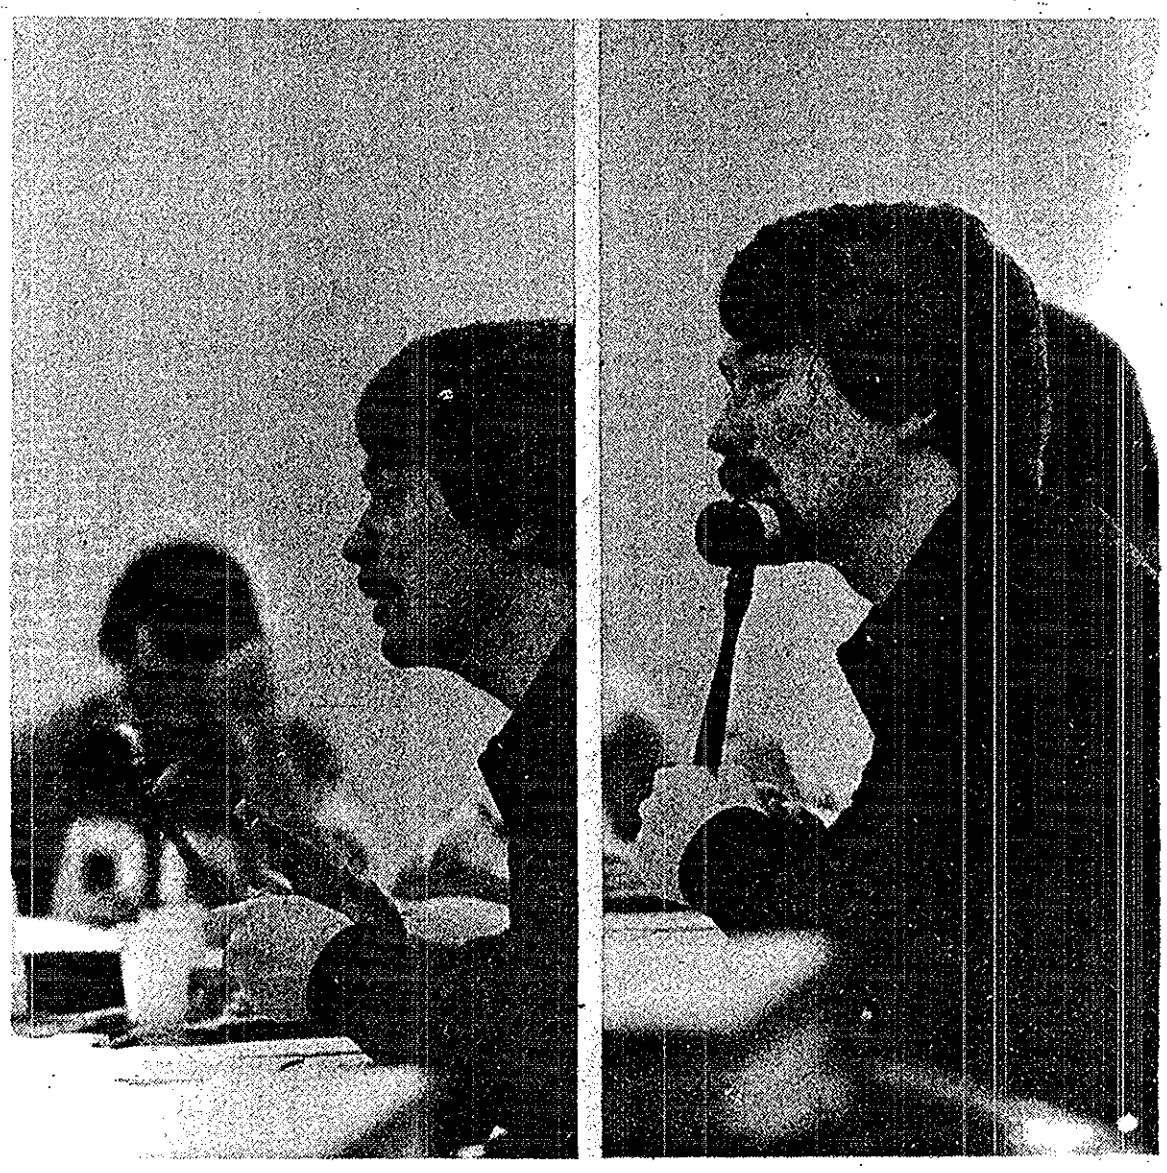
After Simko aired his complaint, Fritz Krieger, secretary of student grievances, made it known that a grievance had been filed against Sturgeon because of his graduation, and had been turned over to the Discipline Committee for resolution.

In other business, Council received the budget proposals for the coming year, which amounted to $77,901, a 23 per cent increase over last years budget.

A proposed by-law allowing the removal of Executive Committee members by three-fourths majority vote came under heavy fire from Sturgeon. The by-law made it possible to remove an Executive Committee member for high crimes or misdemeaners, corruption and dereliction of duty.

Sturgeon said "the proposed by-law would weaken the power of the chairperson and make it more difficult to operate effectively."

William Boni, business and the person who had proposed the by-law, defended it by saying "that it would strengthen the chair and Sturgeon need not be afraid of the new by-law unless he is tactfully admitting that he is now or shortly will be guilty of high crimes, misdemeanors, corruption or dereliction of duty." The by-law passed.



ORDER--Council Chairperson Ed Sturgeon went through a range of emotions yesterday during his "state of Student Council address." The crux of Sturgeon's address was that he felt more co-operation and more power are necessary if Student Council is to be effective.

Senate votes down request 32-19 for FLR committee to give report

The Academic Senate last Friday defeated a motion requesting the Arts and Science Ad Hoc Committee report to the Academic Affairs Committee on the status of the foreign language requirement in one month.

The motion went down by a vote of 32-19.

Ed Sturgeon, chairperson of Student Council, asked Dr. Ward Miner, chairperson of the Ad Hoc Committee, if he was ready to give a report to the Senate concerning the foreign language requirement, and received a negative answer from Miner.

Sturgeon then made a motion demanding that the committee report to the Academic Affairs Committee be made in one month, arguing that the Committee has been working on the matter for over a year and has not given any indication when a report will be ready.

Sturgeon's motion was deemed improper for two reasons. One member stated that since this particular committee was not formed by the Senate, it was under no obligation to have to report to a Senate committee. A member of the Committee stated that they have the right to first report to Arts and Science faculty before having the report go to the Senate, or any one of the Senate's committees. The member stated that this would be impossible to do in the space of one month.

The motion was then changed from demanding, to requesting that the Committee give a report in one month. Before the vote was taken, it was made clear that even if

Media slams Amodio on coach announcement

by Bill Spotts

Jim Marzano, sports director of WBBW, announced Monday, April 7, that "I will not discuss anymore YSU events on my sports show until I receive an apology form the athletic director of YSU for not informing me and other members of the media about the press conference held last Friday."

The press conference Marzano was referring to was the announcement of Bill Narduzzi's appointment as head football coach of YSU. The announcement had been made by Paul Amodio, YSU athletic director.

Amodio, after being notified of WBBW's displeasure concerning the matter stated, "I could appreciate why WBBW would be upset. It was my understanding that we were unable to get through to WBBW due to the short notice about the press conference."

Marzano further charged that the broadcasting and newpaper media should be given "equal treatment" in regards to press conferences. Marzano was upset with the story in The Vindicator of Narduzzi being appointed head coach several hours before the press conference was held.

Art Greenberg, sportscaster for WFMJ, joined in denouncing the manner in which the press conference was held. Greenberg questioned Amodio at the press conference because The Vindicator had a two column article in the Friday early edition paper while other members of the media had to wait until noon Friday. "This was totally mishandled. We (media) have a job to do and I think the members of the medias had been slighted. I want to know why we have to get the story a few hours late?" demanded Greenberg.

When questioned about The Vindicator receiving the story first, Amodio noted "If I release the story to the newspaper first, then the radio and television people get upset and vice versa."

Amodio claimed that the media was informed of the press conference on short notice, because of the inclement weather which delayed Narduzzi's arrival

LaRoque voices views on national defense

"As a military man I am afraid of two things: one, that we as a nation are rushing around the world and building expensive weapons systems that we do not need; and two, that we as civilians will lose control of the military." These fears were expressed by Rear Admiral Gene R. LaRoque USN(ret) when he spoke to a group of about 50 students and faculty in Kilcawley Center last Friday.

According to LaRoque, the United States Defense Budget for the current year has reached $106 billion, an increase of $6 billion over last year's budget. Of the monies allocated to defense only 20 per cent is used to defend the United States, and the remaining amount is used to protect United States interests overseas. However, in an interview with The Jambar, LaRoque confided that he thinks "they should not cut the budget at all and the Pentagon ought to have a budget increase of 3 billion more than they got last year."

LaRoque did feel that there were some necessary budget cuts, such as the B-1 bomber, the San D missile, the proposed ABM system, and he advocated a reduction in our overseas forces. He did not say where the extra money from his proposals will go.

LaRoque also said that we have "over one-half million men overseas, and just their pay alone amounts to six billion a year." He asserted that this hurts the United States balance of payments, because all the money that is made overseas is spent overseas.

Registration begins April 9 for sorority rush parties

Registration for Sorority Open Rush be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. April 9-16 in Kilcawley Arcade. Anyone interested in rushing must sign-up during the registration period.

The rush parties, with the theme "It's All Greek To Me", will be held April 19-27. Times for the Sunday parties are: Alpha Omicron Pi, 145 Bissell St., 7-8:45 p.m.; Delta Zeta, 785 Bryson St., 1-2:45 p.m.; Phi Mu, 256 N. After the parties, the sororities decide on who they would like to have join their organization. On April 28 this list is given to Dean Bleidt, student affairs, who keeps the list confidential while a student makes out a preference sheet, listing the sororities she would like to join.

Preference sheets must be signed from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, April 28 in Room 116 Kilcawley Mens Residence Hall.

Bleidt matches the sorority lists with the preference sheets, then makes up bids, which invite a girl to one sorority. If none of the five sororities on a student's preference have indicated that they would like her to join them, then she is put on a list which is sent to all the sororities to prepare for open bid.

According to Bleidt, a person not wishing to have her name put into open bid may have her name removed from this list at this time.

If there are any questions contact one of the following rush chairpersons: Claudia Anderson, Phi Mu, 782-2055: Delores Bosak, Alpha Omicron Pi, 782-2126; Sue Herman, Delta Zeta, 782-0506; Betty Nace, Sigma Sigma Sigma, 545-2769; Paula Weldon, Zeta Tau Alpha, 746-8140 or Sue Shaffer, Pan-Hellenic Councu, 788-1773.

the motion passed, Miner would still not be obligated to give a report, and it would be his decision whether any report was to be made to the Senate.

The motion was defeated, with 32 members voting against and 19 voting for.

After the voting was finished, Dr. Clyde Vanaman, chairperson of the Senate, said that this was the third time that a motion was raised and defeated concerning the foreign language requirement, and there would be no cause for anyone to raise another motion of this sort for the rest of the current academic year.

Vanaman went on to say that the Committee under Miner will give a report on their findings when they are finished, and further pressure to the Committee should be relinquished from Senate members.

Rage

Ed Sturgeon's senate motion last Friday was unfortunate all around. It was of course unfortuante in its defeat, which gives anti-FLR actions a continuously lousy track record on the Senate floor. More important, the motion was ill-conceived– it assumed that the Arts and Science Requirements committee was deliberately going slow on the foreign language requirement. The Senate was hardly likely to support such an assumption, however valid.

Sturgeon's intentions were good, but like other anti-FLR crusaders he has pursued the good fight with a fervor which produces more destruction than progress. The crusade has resulted in many frustrations, but this is no excuse for such ferocity. Rage, is self-feeding; any success in dealing with an emotional issue will cause a crusader to seek elsewhere for an object on which to vent his rage. Mellow out.

Seeks protection from bike thefts

To the editor of The Jambar:

Spring is just around the corner and soon students will be thinking about riding their bikes to school. Or will they? Theft of bikes from off the YSU campus could become a large problem. With the possibility of theft I know I would be very hesitant to leave my bike unattended, and others expressed their concern over this matter to me.

It is a shame students cannot enjoy the beautiful weather and the joy of riding a bike because of this crime. I am looking into the possibility of having a guard in charge of watching these bikes. I need to know how many students at YSU would be interested in this service. If you are concerned about this problem please contact me at the Student Government Office, second floor Kilcawley Center.

Advocates support for Cypriots

To the editor of The Jambar:

March 25 probably means nothing to many individuals, especially now since that date has passed. But, to the people who are Hellenic, March 25 denotes the day Greece gained its glorious independence from Turkey. Usually, around this date there is much festivity and happiness to celebrate the occasion. But, this year there were no celebrations of freedom. All the Hellenes had was sadness, because once again Turkey had invaded and taken over a land that was not theirs. How can Greek-Americans celebrate when they know that their very own relatives and friends are being tortured and killed on their own homeland of Cyprus by the Turkish invaders?

One does not feel festive when he knows that innocent children are being slaughtered and that many are homeless, parentless and hungry. How can one sing of gaiety when he knows that the Cypriots have lost all their belongings, including their homes and relatives. Little is said in our Kissenger-oriented foreign policy news of the 230,000 refugees.

Cyprus needs your HELP! Please care and write to President Ford and to your Congressmen about stopping the barbaric actions of Turkey on Cyprus.

This March 25 was not a holiday, and I can see that for many years to come it may remain this way.

Urges support for SG revisions

To the editor of The Jambar:

It would seem that The Jambar editor has apparently given up the fight to restructure the present Student Government system. In last Friday's editorial it was flatly stated that the proposed Constitution for such restructuring was expected to "be dealt a quick death-blow by [Student] Council..." It is true that the present Council has voted down the proposal.

However, being a member of the Committee which drafted the proposal, I decided over spring break not to let the issue die. Thus, there is a grievance pending before the Discipline Committee on the alleged unconstitutional handling of the proposal. In addition, beginning this quarter I kicked off a petition drive designed to place the proposed Constitution before the student body for a vote. If approved, it would send the proposal back to a (hopefully) new Council for its approval.

As of this writing we have received within the last week, over half of the required signatures necessary to place the issue on the ballot. I fully expect that the proposal will go before the student body in the spring quarter elections. The Constitution Revision issue is NOT dead.

Therefore, I strongly urge The Jambar reconsider its position and support this attempt to gain the changes that are so vitally necessary for a viable and effective Student Government. I strongly urge all students to get involved and work for Constitution revision, and work for those Student Government candidates who have a real, genuine desire to give the student body the Government that it so sorely needs and dearly deserves.

Narduzzi named head coach in football press conference

William Narduzzi, defensive coordinator at the University of Kentucky for the past two seasons, has been appointed head football coach at YSU. The announcement was made Friday by athletic director Paul Amodio in a noon press conference held in Room 216 of Kilcawley Center.

Narduzzi becomes the third head coach at YSU since the program was launched in 1938 by the late "Dike" Beede. Rey Dempsey succeeded Beede two years ago and guided the Penguins to an overall 12-8 record, excluding a play-off berth in the NCAA II small college section. Dempsey resigned on March 11 to become an assistant coach with the Detroit Lions.

Amodio headed the selection committee that picked Narduzzi over 50 other applicants. "We chose Narduzzi because of his vast experience, 13 years as a coach at five different colleges. He played under such great mentors as Ara Parseghian (formerly of Notre Dame), John Pont (Northwestern), Carmen Cuzza (Yale) and Fran Curci (Kentucky). He's a product of Miami (Ohio) University's cradle of coaches," noted Amodio.

At Kentucky he was part of a coaching staff that produced the best Wildcat football record since 1965. Two of his defensive players earned all-southeastern conference honors and three members of his defensive unit participated in a total of five post-season all-star games.

When accepting the head coach position Narduzzi exclaimed "This is an opportunity for me to return to an area that is rich in football talent and a University which has enough ambition, potential and possibilities to make my job exciting."

Narduzzi's immediate plans are to interview and retain the entire coaching staff. Spring practice has been set to begin on April 28 and conclude on May 24 with the annual Red–White football game.

In regard to YSU's style of play, Narduzzi doesn't forsee any wholesale changes. This is due in part to the fact that YSU and Kentucky employ similar defensive alignments. Narduzzi plans to have a balance attack between passing and running.

The selection committee was composed of Amodio, Dr. Peter Baldino, Dr. Michael Vuksta, Jack Cramb, Tom Franklin, Steve Grecvich and Joe Simko, who acted as a student representative.

Concert to be held April 13; cancellation due to injury

The Major Events triple-header rock concert, scheduled for last Saturday, was cancelled late Friday due to an injury incurred by a member of the headlining group. It has been reset for 8 p.m. next Sunday.

Jonathan Bird, chairperson for the publicity committee of Major Events, explained the situation: "Late Friday afternoon Major Events was informed that Aerosmith couldn't make the concert. It seems that the lead guitarist had an unfortunate accident. It's rumored that he had fallen -off a stage during a performance and injured his face. The road manager then informed us that they couldn't make the date."

One of the problems, according to Bird, in this kind of situation is that groups play an area of the country for a short period of time. But, Bird said, "We were fortunate in that Aerosmith and Rush will be in the area next weekend and so the concert is rescheduled for next Sunday, April 13.

Bird said Major Events apologizes for this inconvience to the students. Bird also stated that all tickets for the April 5 concert will be honored at next Sunday concert.

at YSU.

"The time was not good for the media," said Amodio. "I had to make a choice of whether or not to release the story or to delay the press conference for another day."

Amodio held the press conference, thus providing short notice for the radio and television media. Somehow The Vindicator received the story before the press conference was held.

Amodio acknowledged the media had a legitimate cause for complaint. "The only way we are going to settle this is to come out with a set policy concerning press conferences," he said.
