Student Opinion To Be Secured In Peace Survey

Poll Sponsored by Brown Daily Herald Attracts Nation-Wide Attention

Providence, R. I., Mar. 22—Let- ters of support and commendation for the week-old Survey of Student Opinion on Peace continue to pour into the Brown Daily Herald office from which the poll of 1,200,000 college students is being directed. Educators, legislators, college leaders, and dozens of organizations express their approval.

The American Institution of Public Opinion, leading poll experts of the nation, declared through Associate Director Claude E. Robinson "No doubt you will get many revealing results from your work. . . the Institute is greatly interested in this poll."

Peace Groups Co-operate

Nineteen organizations coordinated in the United Student Peace Committee have undertaken co-sponsorship of the vast project. Included in the group are the Foreign Policy Association, the League of Nations Association, the National Intercollegiate Christian Council (director of "Y" work among colleges), the National Student Union, and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has expressed interest in the poll in a series of three letters, and one of its valuable suggestions has been adopted as an integral part of the survey mechanism.

College Papers Aid

College newspapers have seized upon the roll as an effective method of crystallizing campus opinion. Seven-hundred and fifty-three undergraduate publications will conduct the surveys on their campuses. Editors at the newly formed Ivy League Newspaper Conference devoted considerable time to consideration of the matter at one of the inaugural meetings.

The Jambar will secure student opinion by means of mimeographed ballots today in chapel. These ballots will be placed in the office for the convenience of night students.

As soon as the ballots are filled out, they should be returned to the ballot box in the office. The vote of all students attending the college is desired.

"World Peaceways desires to express its commendation of your forthcoming poll of college students," declares Estelle M. Sternberger, executive director of the organization. "A poll is a very effective method for getting people to make up their minds in current issues. The greatest danger to a nation's peace is loose thinking on the part of its citizens. I am sure the students of the country will seize the opportunity you provide and so prepare them to stand on solid ground when any hour of decision in our national affairs arises."

Work of Disney, Picasso Is Similar Modern Art

"Now, perhaps, people will understand what the modern artist is trying to do," was the statement made by Miss Margaret Evans, head of the college art department, upon viewing Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

In making this comment, Miss Evans wanted it understood that the term "modern artist" was applied to Walt Disney in the same manner that it is applied to the great French modernist, Pablo Picasso, whose abstraction is reproduced with Walt Disney's above. She went on further to say that Disney is America's foremost creative artist today.

Dopen Is Fine Art

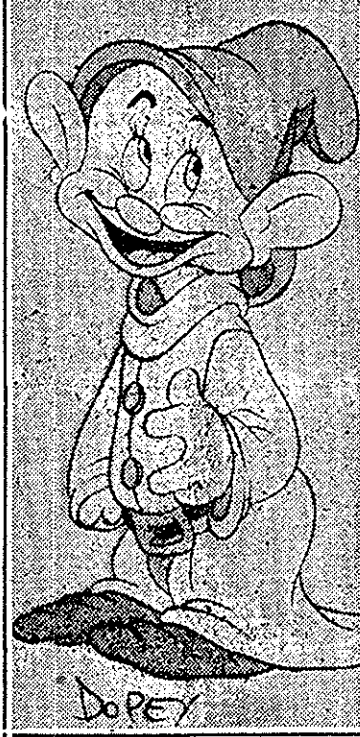

The creatures that exist in Snow White, as represented by Dopey, are every bit as much abstract art as Picasso's painting. They conform to the very axiom of modern art which is to get away from realism and the camera.

What is surprising is that people are applauding the very things in Snow White that they scoffed at in such paintings as "The Yellow Cloth" by Braque, which recently caused so much controversy by being awarded first prize at the International Art Exhibit in Pittsburgh.

People are caught up by Snow White into an understanding of fantasy which is a step toward the understanding of abstract art.

Disney Honored

This high opinion of Mr. Disney's artistic ability is not that alone. Foreign countries have outdone themselves to show that they regard his work as more than that of a cartoonist. In England, he was awarded honorary membership to the Art Worker's Guild, which includes such notables as George Bernard Shaw. An English critic said, "Disney cartoons are work that Michelangelo would not have been ashamed to do."

In France, he was awarded a ribbon of the French Legion of Honor for "Mickey Mouse" . . . recognition of his creating a new art form in which good will is spread throughout the world. Various awards have been made in other countries, which include the American Motion Picture Academy awards for six consecutive years.

Demand for Artists

The success of Snow White is going to effect the status of artists more than anything else that has happened in this country. Not only does it open the way to appreciation of modern art, but it directly helps artists by creating jobs for them. Walt Disney is constantly employing new helpers. His advertising pamphlets and plea for trained artists has reached every corner of the United States.

In the three years that the picture was in the making, more than 750 artists contributed toward its completion. The actual film is composed of 250,000 individual drawings, while it is estimated that more than two million drawings were turned out, counting preliminary sketches.

Only The Beginning

This is only the beginning as other producers are already beginning to follow with work on full-length cartoons. Disney himself plans to turn out a feature every year and a half or two years.

"Venereal Disease" Will Be Topic of Dr. Schmidt's Talk To Omicron Lambda

Dr. Henri Schmid of Youngstown will address both the Omicron Lambda honorary biology fraternity, and Mrs. Semans Marriage Hygiene class on March 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the college. He will speak on the subject of "Venereal Disease."

Dr. Schmid started the Venereal Disease Clinic in Youngstown and it has made great strides in the past year.

Omicron Lambda which is sponsoring the talk extends invitations to anyone interested in attending the address.

Casting Completed for Next Mimes Offering

Newman Club Formed Here

The Newman Club, an organization for Catholic students in universities of interdenominational groups, has been established on the Campus of Youngstown College as a duly recognized club.

Its purpose is threefold: intellectual, to be considered in discussion periods at meetings when questions put in the question box will be answered; spiritual, to be taken care of by the monthly communion Sundays when group communion will be followed by a breakfast; and social, to be supplied by frequent purely social functions when fun refreshments and dancing will be the theme.

The first general meeting was held last Friday in the basement of St. Columba's Church, when a program and refreshments followed a brief business meeting to acquaint the group with the work of the Organizing Committee in the past weeks. Speakers were Father Sammon, Paul Maloney and Stella Cassano.

The organizers include Madeline Agnone, Madeline Margo, Ed Lynch, Marge McKeown, Dave Mackil, Elinor Rogers, Marie Barrett, Dan Chance, Anthony DeLucia, Jean Zebroski, Stella Cassano, and Paul Maloney.

The date for the first communion Sunday has been set for April 3 in the chapel of St. Elizabeth's Hospital. A breakfast will be served in the dining room for those attending mass.

The box office receipts of the production will go towards the football fund and the usual loyal support of the student body and their friends is encouraged.

The Third-Edition of the Mimes Review will be presented in Chapel in the near future.

Prom to Be Jinx Dance

Proving that Juniors scoff at the hard luck day, Friday the 13th, the co-chairmen of the Junior Prom, Dick Thomas and Frank Stewart, announce May 13th as the date of the annual Junior formal affair. The setting as usual will be Stambaugh Auditorium.

A pleasant surprise will soon be announced, as a "name" band is expected to be the attraction. George Hall, Bob Crosby, and Lou Savitt and his Top Hatters are being given serious consideration.

Whichever may be the final choice, the student body can rest assured that the Prom band will be one of the country's favorites.

Selection of the Prom Queen, an event to take place soon, is being discussed by many of the men of the college. The fair ladies of the institution are very excitedly considering their chances of receiving this honor.

Dance and Swim Party Head April Social Event

The Student Council will sponsor two functions during the month of April. The first will be a Victrola Dance in the College Auditorium on Friday, April 1. The second is to be a swimming party at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday, April 22. Bill Litvin is in charge of both affairs assisted by Marjorie Wighton and Betty Brown. Admissions for both of these will be by activity cards.

Think

Too often have college seniors been told, "You are the leaders of tomorrow," yet despite its triteness, the phrase expresses a reality. College graduates are the leaders of their generation, and fifteen years out of college they are playing a major part in determining the policies of the nation.

As students, these prospective future leaders must begin the process of training their minds on questions of vital national importance, of moulding the opinions which will guide them in formulating policies as citizens.

The Brown DAILY HERALD Survey of Student Opinion offers an opportunity for the students of the entire nation to declare their beliefs on five questions of foremost importance in international relations today. All of them bring clearly to the fore the necessity for sound, well-reasoned undergraduate opinion which will provide a background for development of a constructive American program for peace.

The Far East threatens to become the storm center of a second world war. Russia the United States, and Great Britain are faced with the necessity of deciding once and for all their policy in China and the Pacific. Shall they join to suppress Japanese aggression, by force if necessary? Shall the United States withdraw from China? What shall our policy be?

Do the students themselves desire maintenance or enlargement of the R. O. T. C., or do they wish it to be curtailed? What do we think of our naval and military program? What action shall we take in Europe in an attempt to maintain peace? Will isolation prevent us from being involved in war, or will we inevitably be drawn in?

And, a most vital issue: In what sort of war will students be willing to fight? Again a well-worn expression, "It is the Youth of a country that fights its wars." Under what conditions will we be willing to fight—or not? I we refuse our support in any war?

Statistics are valuable information. The expressed beliefs of over a million college students are a tremendous force in support of those policies favored by Youth. The effectiveness of the Survey depends entirely upon its magnitude.

Think and having thought, let the world know your answers.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

BY FRANK JACZKO

THANK YOU

Many thanks for the expressions of satisfaction at our humble efforts in the last issue. The compliments buoyed us up considerably and we feel stimulated enough to carry on and try to make deadlines for the rest of the year.

SPRING IS HERE

About this time every year when the balmy breezes invite to stroll, the annual gripe over the lack of a spacious campus takes the foreground of discussion. We are of the opinion that most of these whiners don't know what they're crying about. Just the other day we hiked around the old house and after careful survey came to the conclusion that, small as it is, we do have a very nice campus. After all the only requisites are trees and grass. We have not only an abundance of these but in addition there is a brook, a vale, a rustic bridge, and a sunny slope (from 2 P. M. to 6 P. M.). The only thing we lack is privacy and from what goes on in the lounge in public, perhaps it's just as well. At any rate we do have a campus and a few students on it would help to bring around some of the muchly desired collegiate atmosphere.

FINESSE

Bridging the gap between classes and often over them is the latest fad to grepe its way into the smoke chamber. We also play the game but the number of people who look past us when searching for a fourth prevent us from getting any false ideas concerning our talent along this line. However, we persevere and feel meekly grateful when permitted at the same table with players such as Gubbins, Fisher, Moore, Noble, Lagerstrom, Maloney, Smith and so up and down the list of contract experts. The pastime seems to be at its peak and now would be the appropriate period to conduct a tournament. Someone ought to do

PETEY PENGUIN

Spring Idyll: Bob Saunders serenading that cute Wright girl with his ocarina. Victor Kurjan contributes the following scene in a shoe shop: You ask for credit, me no give, you get mad. You ask for credit, me give, you no pay, me get mad. Sorry, you get mad. Who is he? He is ushed to death by a girl he cares very little about. Furthermore, a sorority sister of this girl, for whom he could go in a big way, is somewhat hesitant about dating him, things being as they are. To complicate the situation still more, no one will date the girl because she encourages by her actions the general belief that things between them are pretty well fixed, and he's too much of a gentleman to leave her flat. All in all it's a rather sorry mess. I can't figure out whether our coeds are slow or that they just don't know a good thing when they see it but in a few months three of our most important people (Middleton, Rempes, and Maloney) will be leaving school with their fraternity pins. Who are they? A couple of foolish and childish business school girls who insist that when they're in the lounge everyone should be aware of it. Not only do they shriek and bellow all over the place but also contribute willingly to the disgraceful conduct that goes on in the social room. Ask Haynes or Gubbins what became of their column that was going to put me out of business.

SCORED AGAIN

Mark up another for Jerry Vanish. He is the one who started the collecting of match covers for the boy in Niles. We like the enthusiastic way the student body had received the idea and is following it through.

Phi Sigs On Tour

(Last month, three Youngstown students made a trip to Florida. They were Chester McCracken, George Schuller, and Jim Turner. Since their return, they have had to answer so many questions, that they decided to give a brief summary of their jaunt in the Jambar.)

We motored down in a new car. Our route took us through Ohio to Kentucky, the Blue Grass country, over the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina, over the Blue Ridge Mountains of Georgia, and finally down into the warmest state of the South, Florida.

We came into Florida on the west coast. Our route took us to Silver Springs, world famous for the clearness of the water. Here come the movie producers to make their "under water" shots. We paid a visit to America's Taj Mahal, or as it is better known, the Bok Singing Tower and Mountain Lake Sanctuary. On the way to Orlando, we stopped at Winter Park to look up Joe Hanna, an ex-Yoco student now attending Rollins College. We came upon him suddenly on the campus. He made us welcome and proceeded to show us around the college. The enrollment is about 400 students. It has a large campus, with many beautiful buildings, most impressive of which was the chapel with its stained glass window.

A large lake lies adjacent to the college grounds and here the students enjoy fishing, swimming and boating the year round. Joe was very much "sold" on his college as was evidenced by the enthusiasm with which he showed it to us, although he does miss the snow and ice. He asked to remember him to all Yoco students when we got back home, which we did.

Taking the Tamiami Trail, we drove from Fort Myers on the west coast to Miami on the east coast. Miami was a surprise. It was larger than we had expected and very clean. At Miami Beach, we saw some very modernistic homes. All these had flat roofs and appeared to be hugging the ground. They are built to withstand a 300-mile an hour gale.

We had heard of the Florida Keys, a string of coral islands stretching almost to Cuba, so one morning we drove down to see them. We drove through the town where 300 people perished in the 1935 hurricane. The bridge to Key West has been gone for several years so a ferry steamer carries tourists there and points south.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

This week the Inquiring Reporter seeks student opinion on the question of subsidized football players.

Robert Carr, Sophomore, says, "It's one way to get a football, and it's being done."

Gene Chirelli, Senior, states, "Football players must be subsidized here because other schools do."

Gladys Miller, Senior, believes that it's the thing to do because we have competition and we must secure good material to start with.

Bob Saunders, Sophomore, says "I am not in favor of buying players because I think the fellows in school should have a chance at the team."

John Rotor, Junior, states, "I favor subsidizing because good football players are given a chance at an education."

"Pirates" Cast Made Public

The cast for "The Pirates of Penzance," Gilbert and Sullivan's original comic opera which will be presented in May by the students of Youngstown College, has been announced by Dr. Stearns.

Jean Zebroski again will play the lead. She will play the part of Mabel, General Stanley's youngest daughter.

Clarence Sumner, Jr., will sing the role of Richard, the pirate chief. Samuel, his lieutenant, is Woodrow Van Court. Frederic, a pirate apprentice will be played by Norman Gillette. Frank Stewart will be Major Stanley of the British Army. Edward, a burley Sergeant of Police is sung by Bernard Balmuth. Ruth, a piratical Maid-of-all-Work, will be taken by Margaret Olds. June Wymer as Edith, Lenny Evans as Kate, and Doris Cowdery as Isabel are General Stanley's daughters. General Stanley's daughters, Pirates, and Police will be sung by members of the Chapel Choir.

The Collegiate Angle . . .

by Lenny Evans
 Even though we knew that it must inevitably happen, we were shocked when we heard that Herr Hitler had actually taken possession of Austria. We knew exactly what would follow, robbery, murder, perjury, turmoil; yet we were horrified by it. We held very little faith in the optimistic vapourings of the few who still thought Hitler might keep his word but we hoped that they might be right. Central Europe is seething, it is almost impossible to define clearly just what is taking place.

The Morning After
 However, it is safe to say that, after the initial cheers and revelry have worn away, the Reich will wake up with a headache and will see her new acquisition as it really is: impoverished, hungry, impatient, and demanding. Then will come the gigantic job of relieving unemployment, of attempting to provide food for Austria in practically 100 per cent non-reliance efficient. Austria has never been self-supporting. She must import 90 per cent of her petroleum and the great majority of her coal. This is just a beginning. Austria it is true, is rich in iron ore and lumber, but it will be a long time before these potential assets will even begin to balance the losses.

As for Austria herself, she will not feel the transition of government as much as the world outside. We are too prone to forget that the former government was very nearly as dictatorial as the Hitler one. Minorities, both Nazi and Socialist, were not only unrepressed in the government, but were cruelly persecuted. Remember the massacre of the Socialists and the Trade Unionists in 1934. This does not in any way condone the cruelty of the Nazis, but it is best to recognize the true facts of the case and realize that the former regime was certainly not a credit to democracy.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

The results of the 1937 Academy Awards were generally agreeably accepted through there were a few surprises. This writer was practically benumbed and totally disheartened when his own "best list" coincided in not a single instance with the selections of cinema authorities. However, we boldly and brazenly condemn the Academy for the grave injustice meted out to one Paul Muni.

In this writer's opinion, either his Wang of "Good Earth" or Emile Zola in "The Life of Emile Zola," by far, excels any performance of the last few years... except his own portrayal of Louis Pasteur in "The Story of Louis Pasteur." It was argued that Muni should not be given the award twice in a row. But let it be noticed that Luise Rainer received the actress' award for the second successive year. However, this is all... Cosmopolitan Club Joins Peace Group

The Cosmopolitan Club has become a member of the International Relations Club which is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The main purpose of the club is to recognize the vital need for an intelligent public opinion and to study and discuss international affairs in an honest effort to clarify their own minds as to present problems. They also recognize that all students of international affairs do not think and feel alike, and they agree to grant as much freedom of thought and expression to their fellow members as they demand themselves.

The faculty advisor guarantees that books and material to be sent by the Endowment to the club from year to year to serve as a permanent library will be available to the whole college.

The members also have a right to attend Regional International Relations Club Conferences, because the Club is eligible through affiliation with the Carnegie Endowment.

All College and Business College students are welcome to join the International Relations Club together with the Cosmopolitan Club.

Fencing Fast Becomes Favorite Coed Sport

During the last week the girl's fencing class has enlarged considerably. The very first beginners have been spreading the news and a great deal of enthusiasm among the other students.

George Mogan, the instructor, is trying to arrange a fencing match between the students of the Fred Kothiemer school and the co-eds of Youngstown College. Watch the Jambar for the announcement of the match.

The new comers to the class are Betty Hessel, Nancy Findley, Louise Landers, Clara Esterhay, Mary Petransky, Marge McKeown and June Wymer.

"The Jambar" Was Once A Metal Rod Used In The Steel Mills

Recently there has been enough interest in the name of this newspaper to warrant the editors delving into records to find out whence it originated. As far as it has been possible to ascertain, there is not another paper by that name in the world.

The word Jambar has always been a source of puzzlement to incoming students. Those who appear to have the most trouble with the name, however, are exchange editors of other college papers. Regularly, Jambar mail comes addressed to The Jam Bar and to The Jumbo. The fact is that the city of Youngstown used to be known far and wide in steel circles as the Jambar Region. Most old-timers say that this name was given the town by hoboes arriving on box-cars. The first thing they saw was steel mills. The Jambar for which the town

Owls Down Barbs For I. M. Title

In the last of a three game play-off series, the Owls put forth a third quarter spurge to defeat the Barbarians, 27 to 26, for the intramural basketball championship.

It was necessary to play three games in order to decide which was the better team; the Owls won the first 21-18; whereas the Barbarians won the second 32-12.

Tom Gondel took the individual honors in the tourney by scoring more points than any one else.

The Owls appeared to be a "hot and cold" team composed of individual stars, who when they worked together presented a championship outfit. Those who will receive the intramural basketball awards are: Gondel, Prezioso, Farkas, Van Such, Sofranko, Pressly, Vinski.

College Boxers Meet Setbacks in "Golden Gloves" Tournament

Luck seemed to be against our college boxers when they took part in the N. E. O. Golden Gloves Tournament at the Y. M. C. A. recently.

Four men entered the tournament from Youngstown College, and all managed to reach either the finals or the semi-finals.

Dave Nemeth, a recent transfer from Penn State, was eliminated in the finals of the heavy weight division as a deep gash over his eye proved too much of a handicap. Bill Berkovitch, 135 pounds, was eliminated in the semi-finals after putting up a terrific battle.

Erwin Baily, 160 pounds, received a split lip in the finals, so the referee was forced to stop the bout.

Tom Fagadore, 147 pounds, after showing some real talent in his previous fights, failed to show up for his semi-final match.

This will be the second year of play in inter-collegiate tennis for Mount Union. Though it is not official, as yet, Case may be added to the schedule.

The schedule as announced by Athletic Director Foard is as follows:

- Mon., May 2 .. Mount Union here
Fri., May 6 .. Hiram .. here

Mon., May 16 .. At Mount Union
Mon., May 23 .. At Hiram
Thurs., May 26 .. At Westminster

Penguins, Titans Clash Under Assumed Names

With Youngstown and Westminster playing under different banners in the Boardman Open Basketball Tournament, the Penguins again succumbed to their rivals 45 to 28. Youngstown's entrance was based on the backing of Thombs Brothers, whereas Kendall Oils were the Westminster sponsors. Both teams acted independently of their colleges, and entered only as a means of playing more basketball.

The Penguins were forced to defeat the Sharon Buhl Club, conquerors of the outstanding local Works Accounting team earlier in the season, in order to gain the position as finalist.

The Penguin-Titan contest was practically a petition of their last meeting, as Andy Demo's 22 points for Westminster proved too great a handicap for the Youngstowner's. Tony Vivo was the Penguin high-point man with 11 points.

Proposed Honor Society to Have Greek Letter Name

Delta Epsilon is the name which has been given to the new honor society proposed by Professor Doll at a recent Student Council meeting.

The faculty committee, headed by Dr. Frank Semans is still considering qualifications necessary for a student to become a member of Delta Epsilon. One prime factor in selecting members is that they shall be chosen strictly on a basis of scholastic ability.

Phi Sigs Defeat Intra-Mural Champs In Preliminary

With Rheiner, Litvin and Thomas adding the scoring punch and with McLaughlin, Holmes and Medicus playing great defensive ball, the Sig Delts completely outplayed the Phi Gams in their annual inter-fraternity basketball game, 47 to 20.

The annual contest, always a traditional event looked forward to with much impatience, was played at the Y gym on Saturday evening immediately before the inter-fraternity dance at Pioneer Pavilion.

Although the difference in scores was great, the contest was interesting and scrappy from start to finish as both teams were giving their "all" to add to their total wins.

The game started fast, and at half-time the Sig Delt's were leading 23 to 10. In the second half, a Phi Gam rally was short lived as the Sig Delt zone defense became too tight for their opponents to break through.

In the prelim the night school fraternity, Pi Sigma Epsilon, proved themselves to be too much for the intra-mural champion Owls by defeating them 27 to 15. Bill Sheetz was the star for the winners with 12 points to his credit.

Summary table with columns: Sig Delts, G.F.P., Phi Gams, G.F.P., Rheiner, Corlet, Litvin, Sylak, Thomas, Seefried, McLau'n, Wolf, Holmes, Taylor, Medicus, Anderson, Agnone, Elset, Morey, Totals.
