To Train 10 More Naval Air Cadets

Youngstown College And Flying Service To Join in Program

Ten more U. S. Naval Aviation Cadets will be taught to fly at Bernard Airport and Youngstown College. Dr. Castle W. Poard, coordinator of the program announced.

The cadets arrived last week and will be housed in the college dormitory on Bryson street, spending about three hours a day in training at Bernard airport and the rest of the day in ground school work, military drill, and physical training.

The Hinkle Flying Service and Youngstown college are cooperating in the program. Each student is given sufficient flight instruction at the airport in 65 horse-power training planes to qualify for a private pilot's license.

Ten naval students have just completed the primary program in seven and a half weeks and have successfully passed the flight test Dr. Poard announced. He said three or four of these men will be assigned to a secondary civilian pilot training program, while the rest are being given a month's furlough and then will be sent to a "hardening up" school in Iowa in preparation for more training.

Frosh Are Half of 500 Enrolling

Five hundred ambitious students, jammed the halls Monday morning as Youngstown college marked the opening of its 34th year. Two hundred and fifty freshmen, nearly outnumbering the upperclassmen, ran about in a mad rush to find classes and purchase books.

Classes were cut short the first day to give the students a chance to make last minute adjustments, get lockers and purchase books and supplies from the bookstore.

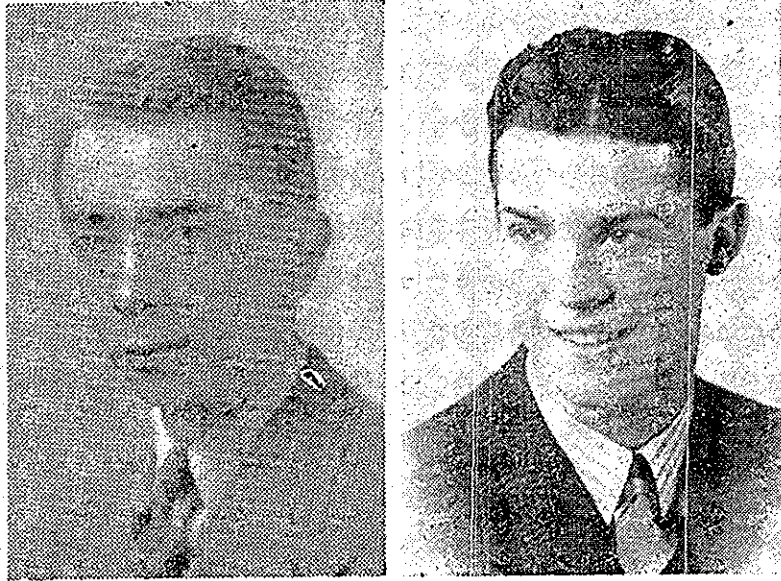

As usual the large majority of the freshman class comes from Youngstown high schools with several students enrolled from outlying districts, such as Struthers, Canfield, Boardman, Lowellville, and Girard.

Registration shows the most popular course to be engineering with science and business administration running a close second.

Kappa Sigma Kappa, Gamma Sigma Pigskin Hop to Be First Social Event

Notice the first date on this year's social calendar—September 19—the first annual Pigskin Hop, sponsored by Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity and Gamma Sigma Kappa sorority. The hop will be held in the college auditorium after the Youngstown-South Dakota football game. Music will be provided by a local dance band and admission will be 50 cents per

Three B's Will Be Covered in Popular Music Course

Serious students of the Three B's—Barrel House, Boogie Woogie and the Blues—have a Thursday date up at the music school this fall, when the class in popular music gets under way.

Given as a part of the work in dance band arranging, this course is the only one of its kind in existence—will outline the rise of jazz to swing, from the days of the New Orleans Giants—Big Eye Nelson, King Keppard, Joe Oliver, and Papa Lane—through the days of Bix and Tesch to Goodman, Dorsey and Miller.

As hep-cats know, there are great differences between jazz, swing, and popular music. The course will bring these differences to the attention of all who aren't in the know, and the fine points will be demonstrated by the use of records.

There is big-band style, small-band style, Dixieland and Chicago jazz; there are ballads, blues, shouts, and plantation hollers, get-offs, tail-gate trombones, scat choruses, dirty tones, and hot intonations. All will be included in the examples and the discussions.

In short, the course will cover the field, and give a complete picture of the dance music we hear today. It will include, dance band music, a study of the derivation of various styles, together with an analysis of the effect of early jazz music on modern swing. There will be no college credit and a special fee of $12.50.

Students interested in dance bands arranging can combine this course with technical music subjects and private lessons on instruments to secure a good background for the advanced course which will be available next year.

Popular music will meet each Thursday night at 7:30 in the music building. Mr. Dana will conduct the class, which is open to anyone interested. Registrations will be taken at a meeting in the music building on September 17, at 7:30 p. m. The first class will

Little Known of New Opposition

Squad to Be Without Many Former Standouts

On September 19th, the cry of "YEAH TEAM" and "COME ON YOCO!" will issue from Rayen Stadium as the 1942 edition of the YoCo Penguins tangle with South Dakota State in their initial encounter of the season. Little is known about the South Dakota team, but the fact that Youngstown is booking better opposition year after year gives the YoCo students and fans something to look forward to.

Allison Obtains M. A. From Northwestern

Mr. John F. Allison, member of the faculty, obtained his master's degree in business education during the summer months. He received his degree from Northwestern University by writing a thesis on "Retail Methods of Inventory."

Question Whether Pat Penguin Will Strut for Games

Frosty night—band—players—and a cocky little penguin waddling up the field. What a thrill the first time she heads for your bench. And our Pat is more than cocky; she's dictatorial; she demands entrance to your affections. Due to the shortage of housing in Youngstown, her highness has had to spend the summer in a Cleveland zoo. With the coming of football weather, speculations are being made as to whether she will be brought home. Since the demise of Pete II, her mate, Patricia has been all alone, and it looks as if she is likely to remain that way. Think of it! But orders are that she remain in Cleveland until a proper place is found for her here in Youngstown. But those who remember the vigorous campaign that raised the money to buy her are confident that YoCoites will respond and bring their mascot home. Time will tell.

Coach Dike Beede, with the assistance of Ralph Wolfe, Joe Morbito and Cy Warden, has brought the team up to par. Working with the smallest squad in the history of the school, they are confident of a team that will play good clean ball and fight until the last gun.

Newcomers in Lineup
The squad which takes the field against S. Dakota State will be without the services of such stalwarts as Colclaser, Roselli, Stone, Cestary, Halter, and Ed Kalwarski, all of whom are in the armed forces fighting a different type of battle. Coach Beede will miss the services of such grid-ders as Heber, Burns, Perantoni, Sontag, Warden and Gill, who all graduated last June.

Among the new ones in the lineup will be found such persons as Al Petrolini, Woodrow Wilson star, Al Perl, East High ace, Thompson, a product of Chaney, and Lucci, who fought for the Green and White of Ursuline two years ago. All of the newcomers are in fine shape and from all reports there are some fine players among them.

The squad broke camp at Yota on Saturday, September 5, and headed for Camp Fitch, where they will finish conditioning. All (Continued on Page 4)

Thomas and Henderson Commission'd

Dick Thomas and Harold Henderson, members of the '41 graduating class at Youngstown, were commissioned Second Lieutenants in the United States Army Air Corps at Lubbock Flying School, Lubbock, Texas.

The Lubbock Army Flying school is one of the newest and biggest in America's Victory Program. The men who attend Lubbock are trained in twin-engine bombers.

Lt. Thomas was editor of the Jambar in 1938-1939 and was a member of Sigma Delta Beta fraternity.

Lt. Henderson was a member of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Prof. John W. Bare Faculty Advisor

You're on Your Own

To the Freshman class of 1946 we extend a welcoming hand and wish you a happy and successful year as freshmen at Youngstown College.

In addition to this greeting we pass on to you a few words of advice. First of all, consider carefully the potential advantages college life has to offer and think twice before making any decisions. What you do with the opportunities presented here will be entirely up to you and upon you alone rests the responsibility of success or failure.

At college there are very few so called 'musts'. You will be given the tools with which to work. If and how these tools are used will be a contributing factor in shaping your college life. What you get out of college is the direct result of what you put into it.

To make college a complete success enter into all the extra-curricular activities you can. By this we don't mean that you should neglect your books. Learn the value of the lounge and the library, frequent both places. Remember, unless you can do a thing well it's best not to do it at all.

The going at first will be tough but professors and upperclassmen are always willing to give a few pointers and their advice is yours only for the asking.

Campus Comments

Campus Comments is a tradition at Youngstown College. The column was first conceived by Frank Jaczko in the spring of 1936, when the Jambar was still in the experimental stage. During Jaczko's two and a half year reign as Campus Commentator, Petey Penguin became the shield and inspiration of the column, and continued to be the power behind the comments. The column has borne the ideas of such students as Dave Mackil, Dick Thomas, Bob Murphy and Martha Neag, giving out poignant comments agumented by constructive advice.

The following are excerpts from old Campus Comments.

FRANK JACZKO — 1938

Our first effort this time will be in our own behalf. We find it necessary to defend ourself against the serious insinuations that charge us with being Puritanical and narrow minded. The indictments are based on our own man campaign against conditions in the lounge. For several issues we have been harping on the gambling and promiscuous necking that is carried on in the social room. In spite of the adverse criticism from various sources we maintain that we are right in our crusade. Now we have nothing against gambling. One of our greatest joys lies in a friendly poker session and the biggest possible thrill we can experience is to go into a seven stud game with a pair of deuces buried. Nor are we down on boodeling. We are as fond of this interesting pastime as the next man. But we contend that there should be a definite time and place for both of these institutions and the lounge, while school is in session satisfies neither requirement.

DICK THOMAS — 1939

Some of the craziest games are played by these college crowds. Why just the other day in room 110 it was a game being played called Ball-ot, or something. Where the "ball" went part of the game comes in, we surely don't know — unless it's because most ball games have a 'Ball' somewhere in the name. But, come to think of it, there wasn't any ball used — unless the outcome of the game might have something to do with the name. We understand that sometimes the outcome is enough to make one ball—er—ah . . . bawl we mean. Yet we did hear another name for this crazy game which is easily understandable so many said it when the game ended. That name was something like: 'Oh Goody, Goody! We Did It Again!'

DAVE MACKIL — 1938

Several weeks ago we wandered up to the fourth floor and had the privilege of watching one of the school's dramatic groups go thru its routine play production practice. From our seat in the wings the stage was a hub-bub of activity. The various starlets were gathered around in small groups and whispering intently—evidently comparing and rehearsing their lines for the next production. The curtain finally went up 20 minutes late after the audience had shown a great deal of restlessness and the tank towners themselves had displayed a disposition to have the business done and over. During the first few minutes we tried to ascertain the name of the play on which they were working. Our first guess was a take-off from the old Bard's "Comedy of Errors," the second was, "Switch, Switch, Who's Got My Vote Now?" but finally the full import of our misdeed struck us—we had walked unheralded and unsung, smack dab into a Student Council meeting. This was not play practice but the real thing.

BOB MURPHY — 1940

In that Sanctum Sanctorium, which is appropriately called the lounge, class cutters, rag cutters, and throat cutters convene to do just that—loll and cut.

In the old days before the advent of such things as fraternity houses, the Lounge held a greater significance. Plots were hatched; caucuses were held in the corners, and rushing was done brazenly and with much gusto. Thus the Place of the Smokey Mist became a tradition: When one spoke of Youngstown College he spoke of the lounge. It became a great selling point for prospective students. Of course Mr. Buchanan didn't dare expose parents to the perils of of the place. But once Junior caught the fever, saw Peg McFarland curl her sleek stems up and under, buddy, he was sold.

MARTHA NEAG — 1942

It is usually customary to bury hatchets after the issues for which they have been used, have passed. Likewise, I might have curbed my lampooning drive in regard to the Greeks except for various incidents which have occurred and which I am determined not to let pass unnoticed.

After my first venture into print, it was necessary for me to withdraw from public view somewhat. While two members of the faculty applauded my article, another glowered from a distance. A few Greeks were brave enough to continue speaking to me, the rest of the filial devotees bowed their heads in shame but none of them were brave enough to come to me and demand an explanation.

I felt justified in stating my opinions about this Greek letter organization business, and the fact that there were no voices in protestation to high heaven, leaves me with one possible solution . . . I must have hit the nail right on the head.

How Your Council Functions

The students of Youngstown college are organized under the name of Student Council of Youngstown College. Council operates under a constitution and has general oversight of all the student activities. Members of Council are made up from representatives of each social sorority and fraternity, one from each class and four at large.

Members of sororities will be hostesses at a tea sponsored by Mrs. Joseph Smith, for sorority-minded freshmen women, at Variety Hall, Thursday, Sept. 24, from 3 to 5.

The girls will chat informally over tea tables and cookies, with upper class women answering questions about the college. Mrs. Joseph Smith will preside at the tea service.

The purpose of the tea is to acquaint freshmen students with the members of Greek lettered organizations.

Fred Yost, Helen Rein, To Teach

The art classes of Youngstown College have as their new instructor, Mr. Fred Yost. Mr. Yost will fill the position held for several years by Clyde Singer, formerly instructor for the college and artist-in-residence at Butler Institute.

In the Youngstown College art classes, Yost will teach life drawing, composition and painting, but plans to draw upon his experience to teach any who wish to specialize on particular types of art. The Art Club room at the Butler Art Institute is adapted to such a plan. It has an etching press, work table, and sufficient room for several activities at one time.

Miss Helen Rein, senior instructor of clinical subjects at South Side unit of Youngstown hospital will teach a course in ward management at Youngstown College during the fall term.

Miss Rein is a graduate of the School of Nursing and Health of the University of Cincinnati. She received her bachelor of science degree from Cincinnati, where she took graduate work in pharmacology in the college of medicine. She has taken graduate work in public welfare and ward administration at Western Reserve University.

The course is offered to head nurses who are responsible for housekeeping and practical management of ward services in hospitals. The physical plant and nursing service will be covered.

The class will meet from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. Wednesdays and Fridays. Admission requirements are experience as head nurse or by special consent of the instructor.

Moving Day Ousts Day of Rest at Buechner Hall

Sunday, usually thought of as a "day of rest", was "moving day" for Buechner Hall girls. It certainly proved itself a happy reunion day, anyhow. A few changes in "roomies" and a number of new faces, such as Ella Jane Wood, Barbara Roberts, Jane Poppel and Mary Bell Gilberts, all swell kids.

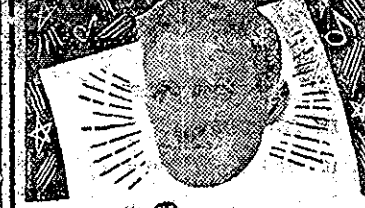

The D. M. I. seems to have a monopoly on the place, however, a few odd rooms here and there are filled with business and liberal arts co-eds.

Phyl Jones, YoCo's Interfraternity sweetheart of last year, has graduated from the college floor to the third floor.

Sorry fellows, the B. B.'s are not playing "hard to get". It's just that we conform to the same old hard and fast rules such as, in at 10:30 week nights, "steppin' out" Friday and Saturday nights with a couple of one o'clocks.

Gamma Sigs Set Sweater Style

The Gamma Sigs are setting the style pace for YoCo's with their nifty new sweaters. Pay no attention to your latest copy of "Mademoiselle." Blue and white are the colors to be worn this year, kids. No shivering sisters at football games, either. They're warm!

The next time you see a hatching of uniformed lovelies swooping down the hall, don't be alarmed; they're not the latest enlistment in the WAACS or WAVES, they are just Gamma Sigs feeling proud as all get out in their new fall outfits.

Apprenticeship Course Offered

A new course in apprenticeship is being put into operation this year for Juniors and Seniors in the elementary education department.

Students taking the course will spend several mornings a week in a number of city schools as an apprentice teacher.

The purpose of the new course is to correlate theory and practice.

Penguin Squad at Camp Fitch Readying for South Dakota

Camp Shorts

(By McGowan and Williams)

Ed Lindsay has kept the mailman busy while at camp. He received three letters every day. Wonder who they were from?

Jack Cramb's cast will be the envy of every Penguin fan in the valley. All of the Penguin gridders have autographed it.

Cy Warden looked as brown as an Indian and looked rather out of place toting a .45 automatic around camp.

Some of the gridders are practicing up to meet the Japs. At least they were having target practice—and some of them are pretty good shots, so beware Hirohito.

The boys are having quite a time keeping little Tony Aiello, (the Fox), out of the fox holes around camp.

The lake was so inviting to the gridders that they swam nearly every day.

Al Petrollini is just waiting to meet some of the Yoco coeds. With his curly hair he should do all right.

A few of the members of the Varsity Club are worried about the Navy men who will receive training at YoCo. They are afraid they will have the women all signed up.

Section for Students and Faculty Only

Owing to the change in the federal admission tax, only college students and faculty members will be admitted to the student section at football games, Mr. D. C. Pickard, college business manager announced this week.

Students will not be permitted to take outside guests to this section during this season. However, if he wishes to take a non-student or non-college guest to any game, it will be necessary for him to exchange his activity ticket for a reserved seat. With the purchase of all reserved seat tickets the student will be required to pay the tax.

This year students are required to pay the 10 percent Federal Tax on admission portion of his ticket from his activity book. This tax amounts to 30 cents for the semester, payable whenever the student receives his activity book.

PENGUIN GRIDDERS

of the Penguins are in fine shape with the exception of Jack Cramb who fractured his leg at camp.

Three New Opponents
Coach Beede has not given any hint as to the lineup for the first encounter but the fans can be certain of seeing a fine game at Hayden Stadium on the 19th. Commenting on the possibilities of the Penguin's fifth season on the gridiron, Coach Beede said, "We'll give them the best we have. We may have to sacrifice a little class here and there until we get a game or two under our belts, but I am sure this gang will come through."

Every fan in the Mahoning valley is waiting to see how the Penguins will make out without the services of many of its veterans. They are all eager for YoCo to have a successful season, and from reports at the training camp it will be a successful season.

There are three new opponents on the Penguin schedule this year. They are S. Dakota State on September 19, Western Kentucky State Teachers on October 9, and the University of Toledo on November 4. All of the games except two will be home games. Youngstown plays St. Vincent at Latrobe, Pa., on October 2, and Geneva at Beaver Falls, Pa., on November 7.

Saturday night's opponents are from Brookings, South Dakota, are coached by T. E. McCrady, known as the "Jackrabbits" and their colors are blue and gold.

THREE B's
meet on September 24.

Special Note
A College-City Glee club, under Dana's direction will meet for rehearsal directly after the popular music class on Thursday evenings, provided an adequate membership can be found. Glee club will be formed for the purpose of studying and performing special arrangements of popular and standard music, as well as some outstanding classical choral works. Membership is open to all college and business school students. Further information may be had by contacting Mr. Dana.
