Golden Anniversary to Be Theme of Homecoming

The general theme of the 1958 Homecoming is the 50th Anniversary of Youngstown University. The theme for the floats should depict 50 years of progress and be directly tied in with the general anniversary theme.

Neon, Printing Co. Receive Award

The Youngstown Printing Company received an award for the printing of the university's 1958 Neon, edited by Ruth McKissick. The yearbook, printed in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the school, was chosen because Mead Papers Inc. felt that its effort to do "full justice to the university's half century of achievement in education resulted in an admirable book."

The Jambar, University Catalogue, and University Bulletin are also printed by the Printing Company.

YUSA Reserves Cheering Section

Y.U.S.A. is innovating a cheering section at the home football contests. The section will be reserved for members of Y.U.S.A. and they will be given "shakeaross" and megaphones upon showing their membership card. The cheering section will be located between the 40 and 50 yard line. Let's back the Y.U.S.A. in this fine effort to stimulate some school spirit.

Dr. Guthrie Impresses Students

"The simple accumulation of facts does not constitute an educated man", maintained Dr. Warren Guthrie, speaker at the Youngstown University 50th Anniversary student faculty convocation.

Dr. Guthrie cited a quiz program contestant who won thousands of dollars with his ability to retain obscure facts. However, this same contestant could not rise above a $70 a week job in the real world, where there are no isolation booths.

To avoid being a mere answer-box,

Guthrie suggested we "become good listeners".

To him a good listener is one who not only hears what is said, but becomes an active participant in the thought. On the student level, it would constitute the creation of ideas on the part of the listener as basic facts came forth from the teacher.

This concept is the basis and reason for upper level education. To learn this is to become a good student, well on the way to becoming "the educated man".

Anniversary Convocation Success; President, Students Honored

The Youngstown University Student Convocation, held in observance of the Golden Anniversary, gave the students an opportunity to honor President Howard W. Jones in a manner never before possible.

Those enrolled now and all those before them were in accordance with the Y.U.S.A. scroll, a tribute to Dr. Jones, "leader of Youngstown University during 26 of the 50 years of its existence."

Awards Given

In addition to President Jones, six students received awards. They were: Robert G. Martin, has been selected the Cadet Col. of the Youngstown University battle group.

Raymond G. Biles will serve as executive officer for the ROTC.

Edwin Kaiser was awarded the William F. Maag, Jr. scholarship. Kaiser is the Editor-in-chief of the Jambar.

The President and Mrs. Jones scholarship was awarded to Alan Hedgedus, a senior in the William Rayen School of Engineering.

James P. Carr, selected as the outstanding sophomore engineering student was awarded the Sigma Tau fraternity award.

Janice Georges received both the Omicron Lambda Biology fraternity award and the American Association of University Women scholarship

Student Opinion and the Newspaper

The Jambar's objective must be two fold in nature. First we must report the news and events most pertinent to the activities of the university. Our second objective is to reflect student opinion. This perhaps should be our chief function since the paper's publisher technically is student council and student council is elected by the student body.

However we must know what student opinion is before we can print it in our columns. It must be expressed by the students directly to the newspaper staff.

If a view is to be classified as student opinion and printable as such, it should be expressed by more than one student. Recently we have received various letters and comments about the football program at YU. Yet, the editorial staff does not feel that enough of the student body has voiced its opinion to reflect it in print. We solicit student opinion -- as long as it remains reasonable and mature -- bespeaking the level of the college intellect.

Preservation of Status Quo

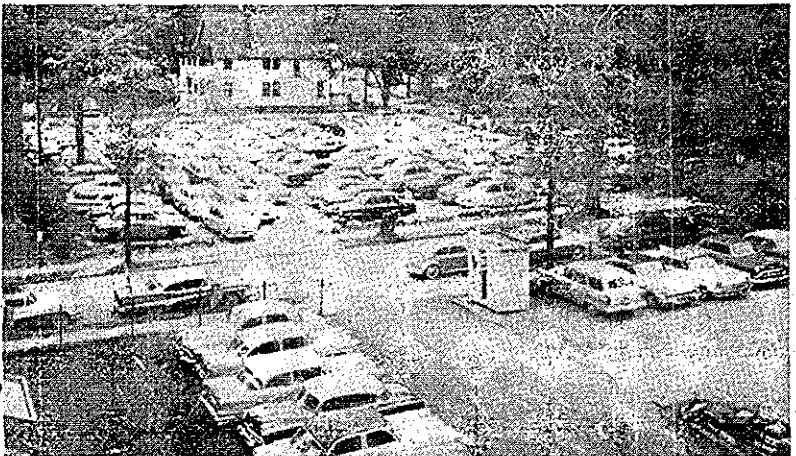

In recent years there has been a popular line of thinking that has pervaded the college campuses of the nation that is not conducive to a progressive society. It is indeed noticeable on our own campus. We have become victims of "suburbia" and "spectatoritis." Too often we fail to speak when the opportunity is ripe.

One of the great journalists of our time, Ray Sprigle, of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette stated: "We must become reactionaries and a positive force for something lest we become a negative nothing."

Our day is one of change! Do we all so firmly believe, "Let someone else do it, I dare not speak unless I stir up a reaction,?" Has our complacency gone that far?

It is high time that the students of Youngstown University become a positive force for something inside and outside of our little world of education.

Parking Situation Improves?

The faculty parking lot, top, formerly used by students, was nearly empty during the first week of school. However, employees of the Heller-Murray construction company have been given permission to utilize its facilities. Note the crowded situation in the student lot at 10:30 a.m., bottom, as compared with that of the faculty at the same time.

Graduate Exams To be Administered

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, required for entrance by a number of graduate business schools or divisions throughout the country, will be offered on four dates during the coming year, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test. During 1957-58, many students took the test in partial satisfaction of admission requirements of graduate business schools which prescribed it. Among these institutions are the graduate business schools or divisions of the following universities:

- Carnegie Institute of Technology
- Columbia University
- Harvard University
- Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- Northwestern University
- Rutgers University
- Soton Hall University
- Syracuse University
- University of Chicago
- University of Michigan
- University of Pennsylvania
- University of Virginia
- Washington University (St. Louis)

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each business school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business and when. Since many business schools select their entering classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to the 1959 classes are advised to take the test at as early an administration as possible.

No Faculty Stickers in Sight; Heller-Murray Uses Tod Lot

By Bud Byers

There has always been ill-feeling from the students at Youngstown University over parking at the campus. This reporter has gone to both the students and faculty personnel concerned with the parking problem.

The following is an anonymous letter from a student who has had damage done to his car in one of the student lots.

Dear Bud,
I have heard that you were doing a story about parking on the campus and I thought you might be interested in my opinion.

I have a 1958 model car and on one occasion I had extensive damage done to it by parking in a student lot.

I do not believe that any student was completely at fault, but I do think that they could be more considerate. I think that people should only drive to school when it is absolutely necessary. Some people depend on private transportation to get to school, but could use public transportation and be better off by doing it. Since we don't have more parking space, if the students got together we wouldn't have half the problem we have.

Sincerely,

H.B.

Lots Are Expensive

Bob Felling and Susan Neil state that they like the University very

The tests will be administered on November 1, 1958, and February 5, April 11, and July 25 in 1959. Applications and fees must be filed with the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey, at least two weeks before the testing date desired in order to allow ETS time to complete the necessary testing arrangements.

Student's Car Struck By Hitskipper

Ronald Shimko, 1164 Taylor Street, Warren, Ohio, is searching for the owner of a late model red station wagon which struck and damaged his car while it was parked at Arlington and Elm Streets.

The owner of the station wagon skipped immediately after the accident.

Two Youngstown University students witnessed the accident and took the license number of the fleeing car, but cannot be located.

Shimko asked that these men report either to the Jambar office or to him. He added that he would not press charges, but merely wants retribution for damages to his car.

much but if they had to depend on the parking lots every day they would have to drop from school because they could not afford it.

P. Calvin Pickard, Business Manager and parking supervisor, feels that it is a shame that people cannot have ample parking with the space that is available. He believes that if the aisles in the lots have to be filled the students should leave their cars in such a way that they can be moved. He said that it is not necessary to leave doors unlocked to do this.

Mr. Pickard also thinks that students should not drive unless necessary. He stated that the school has tried to obtain more student parking, but has been unable to come to terms with owners of such lots.

Construction Workers Use Tod Lot

Upon being asked about the conversion of the lot behind Tod Hall, he said that it was necessary to convert it from a student lot to a faculty lot to have parking space for teachers. He admitted that employees of the Heller-Murray Co. have been permitted to park in the converted lot, but only those that have importance in the work and will be here during the complete time of construction.

This is only one of a series of stories on parking. Students and Faculty members are invited to express views by contacting the Jambar office.

Convocation Committee Expresses Gratitude

The members of the student convocation committee wish to express their deep appreciation for the participation of the University faculty, Mr. Crites - faculty advisor, and student body in the University's 50th Anniversary Convocation.

Organization Directory Material Is Needed

A directory of student organizations will be published in the Oct. 10 issue of the Jambar. Names of organizations and their presidents should be placed in Box 69 of the Registrars office no later than Oct. 8, 3 p.m.

Penguins Set for Friday Night; Initiate Home Grid Sessions

Gridders to Host Powerful Eastern Michigan Eleven

The YU gridders will inaugurate their 1958 home grid sessions tonight as they play host to a powerful Eastern Michigan eleven. The two squads met last year for the first time, with Youngstown coming home a 13 to 6 victor over the Michiganites. The Penguins will try for a repeat performance tonight, while Eastern Michigan will strive to reverse last year's results, which weren't decided until the final period in a close fought battle.

Eastern Michigan invades Raven Stadium tonight with practically the same line they manned against the Penguins a year ago. However, the beef-toters from Eastern Michigan have not only added experience since their last encounter with the Beedemen, but have also added a few pounds to help back up that experience and make it more forceful. YU's hard charging front wall will be outweighed by a slight margin.

The "T" formation and the winged "T" are what the Eastern Michigan aggregation seems to prefer. They are a fairly diverse squad who can mix their plays to meet the situation at hand. Their backfield, while lacking experience this year, nevertheless packs the weight necessary to move the pigskin straight up the center of the gridiron. This ground attack, combined with their passing attempts, will keep the Youngstowners on their toes most of the night.

Will See New Faces

The Eastern Michigan lettermen will see several new faces opposing them when they take the field at eight tonight. The home town fans will also be getting their first chance to see some of Coach "Dike" Beede's newly acquired grid aces in action. The fact that Beede is banking heavily on these newly-acquired additions in the future, was shown in the Ohio University game when he had six freshmen on the field at the same time at one point in the game.

Coach Beede is hoping that the Penguin's unique "T" formation will prove to be both puzzling and devastating to Eastern Michigan's defensive platoon. Beede is one of very few coaches who has his quarterback line up about a foot to the left and slightly behind the center. "This," he explains, "Enables us to snap the ball directly to either the quarterback the halfback or the fullback. As a result, we can use not only the standard "T" formation plays, but we can also use most of the single wing plays, especially the spinner series."

All in all, tonight's game shapes up as this. A heavy, experienced Eastern Michigan line, combined with a hefty but inexperienced backfield, is pitted against a similarly experienced, but slightly lighter, Penguin line, which supports a fleet-footed, deceptive backfield. From all indications, tonight's contest may be one of the most exciting of the season.

'Beedemen' Defeat New Haven, 20-15

The Youngstown University Penguins equalled their season record by defeating New Haven State Teachers College 20-15. This was the first victory for the Penguins after a 38-0 loss to Ohio University.

Penguin quarterback, Harold Green, a sophomore, sparked the Penguin attack by tossing two touchdown passes. He tossed a 32 yard pass to halfback Paul Cerimuga for the first touchdown of the second half and fired the game winning touchdown to end Tom Smolanovich.

After a scoreless first quarter Youngstown hit pay dirt on an eight yard scamper by Ray Carter. As the gun sounded for the close of the first half, the Penguins led New Haven 6-0.

New Haven Takes Lead

Early in the second half, New Haven started a 72 yard drive for a score. New Haven quarterback, Joe McHugh, winged a 34 yard pass to halfback Hank Luzzi for the 6 points. Colucci kicked the extra point and the New Haven Owls took the lead 7-6.

After the kickoff, the Penguins climaxed a 73 yard march with a Green to Ceremuga pass for the touchdown. Ray Carter registered for two and the score stood 14-7.

The Owls received the kickoff and Hank Luzzi had the crowd on their feet as he raced 94 yards for the touchdown. New Haven moved ahead 15-14. The Owls kicked off and the Penguins were on their way for their winning marker. Ray Carter scooted for 16 yards and a few plays later, Green fired the touchdown pass to Tom Smolanovich.

The Penguins had one touchdown nullified. A 32 yard touchdown pass to veteran end Mike Grambattista was erased by an off-side penalty. The Penguins forward wall John Abdo, Pete Arlow, John Armeni, Jim Sevenich along with ends Gambattisti and Larry Jordan did a very commendable job. It was a much deserved victory for the Penguins.

Mangum Named New Rifle Coach

Official announcement has been made of the appointment of M. Sgt. Woodrow W. Mangum, Assistant Instructor in the Department of Military Science and Tactics, as University Rifle Team Coach for the coming year. M. Sgt. Mangum replaces M. Sgt. Nick Felt who was transferred this past summer.

Any student in the University who is interested in trying out for the team is encouraged by Sergeant Mangum to contact him in the ROTC office located on the third floor of Pollock House or to report to the Army Reserve Center, 399 Miller Street, any afternoon Monday through Saturday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Rifles, ammunition, and equipment are furnished by the University.

The first match is scheduled for Oct. 17, with Duquesne University. Applicants for the team are therefore urged to submit their names to Sergeant Mangum at the earliest possible time.

QUI'S QUIPS

By Jim Quilty

Youngstown University had just been badly beaten by the Ohio University Bobcats, a powerful member of the Mid-American Conference. The score was 38-0.

The downstate school had thrown in three teams, each one as heavy and rangy as the one preceding. Speed was all that separated the first unit from numbers two and three.

Up and Down the Field

Through 60 minutes of playing time, their giants pushed Youngstown up and down the field. In fact, Tom Richards 25 yard run, on which he nearly broke away, was the only place in the entire contest for the Penguin rooters to rise to their feet. Ohio U. was not just a good team that Saturday afternoon, they were a great team.

But in Youngstown on Sunday, mummies against Coach Dike Beede and his 'A' offense had begun to circulate. The old cries, "That offense is obsolete", "You don't know what you're doing," were floating in the air throughout the college campus.

The Penguins had lost to a fine team but the sideline quarterbacks blames everything on the coaching and the 'A' formation.

Why does Beede stick to the same offense year after year, even though he realizes public opinion and proven statistics supporting other formations dictate differently?

First to Use 'A'

One reason may be, he was one of the first to use and perfect it and hates to see it deserted. Power to the line on quick hitters can't be stopped by any other formation. The passer gets back in the pocket more quickly, giving him more time to spot eligible receivers. But what after that?

The 'A' losses one of the most valuable assets in football deception. The defense has only to look to see who received the snap from center. And speed is wasted. With two ten-second men in the backfield, there's quite some speed not being taken full advantage of.

The majority of the squad, though definitely not all, are of opinion that a new formation might lead them to a better season. The 'T' and 'Split T' and Single Wing have all been proven. Why not give them a try?

Huge Line at New Haven

The New Haven College team sported one of the biggest lines, as small colleges go, in the country. They averaged over 220 pounds from tackle to tackle. This is written prior to the game and whether or not the local's 'Pony' line were able to hold their own wasn't known.

Youngstown's first home game is this week with Eastern Michigan supplying the opponent. Last year Youngstown nipped them, 13-6 and hope for a similar outcome this year.

Football Squad Receives Permanent Practice Field

Youngstown University football squads have a permanent practice field as the result of a recent contribution of eighteen acres of land on Belmont Avenue. The donation was made by local business man and sports enthusiast Arnold Stambaugh.

The Liberty township location will be the site for all future football practices and very possibly the home grounds for the Youngstown University gridiron stadium.

With the receiving of the new land came many problems that must be solved before improvements can be made to any great extent.

Parking Again

One problem is the usual parking issue. Roads would have to be built to and from the field and large parking lots established to accommodate the large volume of traffic.

Before any major developments are begun, land must be obtained to provide for a practice field, stadium, and a parking space. This type of undertaking would run into an overwhelming amount of money.

Minor improvements have been made under the competent supervision of "Dike" Beede. The grounds have already been scraped and planted.

To Erect Equipment Bldg.

Plans are being studied for the erection of an equipment building on the grounds. Uniforms and medical supplies could be stored in the proposed building.

Goal posts for the new practice field were donated by the Johnson Lumber Company of Canfield.

Unlike Harrison field and the archery field, several squads of the Penguins can run plays or study defenses without crowding into each other as in the past.
