Library Fund Drive Opens Mon.; "Mark Your Book" Is Theme

High School Seniors Take YU Examinations

The reference room of the library was very busy Tuesday, as many district high school seniors took the competitive examination for the sixty scholarships to be awarded for the 1959-1960 university semester. The scholarships range from $100 to $300.

The examinations were held at three separate intervals. They lasted approximately an hour and a half. After the students completed the test they had an interview with a faculty member and a tour of the department in which the student was interested. After the tour an informal reception was held at the President's home.

The selection of the winners will be made on the following basis:

- (1) the student's high school record
- (2) his rating in the competitive examination
- (3) the recommendation of his high school principal
- (4) his real financial need

All applicants will be notified as to whether or not they have won a scholarship.

Extend Time for Mustering Out Pay

Mr. Paul R. Kilfoyle, Manager of the local Veterans Administration Office, announces that veterans of the Korean Conflict who were eligible for Mustering Out Payments, but had not applied prior to July 16, 1956, may now do so. The previous deadline date of July 16, 1956 has been extended to July 16, 1959.

Veterans who feel they may be eligible should write directly to the branch of service in which they were serving and submit the original form DD 214 along with a request for Mustering Out Payment.

For additional information regarding possible eligibility, contact the Veterans Administration Office, 1218 Union National Bank Building, Youngstown, Ohio.

Petitions Now Available For Junior Prom Queen

Official Junior Prom Queen petitions are now available in the Dean of Women's Office in Main 210. These petitions must be signed by at least 25 full-time students of the junior class. A student may sign only one petition.

Any junior girl who is a full-time student is eligible to be nominated for Junior Prom Queen as long as she has a 1.00 cumulative point index. The candidates may be nominated by any full-time student of the junior class.

Elections Coming Soon

Elections for Junior Prom Queen will be held Monday, March 30th and Tuesday, March 31st. The candidate

THE MILITARY BALL, an annual affair honoring the graduating cadets of the ROTC corps at Youngstown University, will be held this year at Stambaugh Auditorium on March 7, 1959 from 9 to 11. Gabe Neopolitan and his orchestra will play. The dance is strictly formal and admission is $5.00 per couple. Pictured above are the Co-Chairmen, from l to r. Cadet Capt. Don Riley, Cadet Major Ron Stowe, and Cadet Colonel Robert Martin, Commander of the ROTC Corps.

Council Urges Organizations To Know Campus Regulations

Student Council members have decided to recommend to the administration many things which pertain directly to students and student organizations.

In an effort to make all organizations conscious of the regulations and functions of council every organization is given a copy of the Y.U.S.C. By-laws. The organizations have an obligation to read and comply with the regulations of Student Council as stated in the By-laws. Failure to do this will be classified as neglect on the part of the organization and will subject the organization to disciplinary action by council and the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee.

All students and student organizations should also endeavor to bring their problems and constructive criticism to the attention of Council. This can be effectively accomplished by use of the Student Council suggestion box, in the lobby of the library, and personal contact with Student Council members. In an effort to encourage student participation all council meetings have been and will continue to be, public meetings open to all who desire to attend. Remember that student government is everyone's job. Do Your Part.

Newman Club Holds Open Bowling Party

All Newman Club members and their friends are invited to attend a bowling party at the NorthSide Lanes on Sat., Feb. 28, from 7-10 p.m. Anyone interested is asked to sign-up in Father Petric's office immediately. The cost is 45¢.

Members of the Newman Club attended 11 a.m. mass and Communion at Cardinal Mooney High School on Feb. 22. A guest speaker was featured at a breakfast held after mass. At the regular meeting held that night Father Petric concluded the talks on marriage.

The Junior Prom will be held Friday, April 3, at the Idora Park Ballroom.

RIL Dinner Open To All Students

Students of Youngstown University are invited to attend the R.I.L. dinner dance on March 12, at 6:30 p.m. at Pilgrim Collegiate Church. The cost for this full-course dinner is $1.00. Interested students may sign-up at Rev. Linder's office.

J&E Owners To Contribute Today's Proceeds To Drive

HAVE YOU MARKED YOUR BOOK?, will be heard frequently in the corridors of the buildings on campus next week, from March 2 through March 5, as the annual Student Library Fund Drive is conducted by students from the communication classes. In addition to individual contributions, the Fund Drive Committee is asking each campus organization to make a contribution as a group. The campaign begins officially today with the owners of the J & E parking lot contributing all proceeds from today's student parking to the fund drive.

I.F.C. is in charge of posters and signs, Pan-Hellenic Council is making the red and white book marks which will be given to each contributor, stating "I've marked my book."

Proceeds Go Towards Books

Funds contributed by the students will go toward purchasing a special set of books, to be designated by a student committee, in consultation with the librarian. This is planned as an annual event. Each year the contributions will be used to purchase a large set of scholarly works, which are not ordinarily obtainable through the library budget. Books purchased with these funds will be designated as student gifts.

The committee, with Gerard Repasky as Chairman, includes Dolly Shizza, Agnes Biscan, Ed Wall, and Leonard Loepp. All students are urged to participate as much as possible in the Student Fund Drive. HAVE YOU MARKED YOUR BOOK?

Attendance at Chapel Services Hits New High

Youngstown University students broke all records of attendance during Religious Emphasis Week, pushing the Lenten season off to a good start.

Thronges of students filled both St. Joseph's and St. John Churches in what could be a definite revival in chapel service attendance.

Protestant students listened to Rev. Richard Gay of Ohio Wesleyan University speak at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Father Faini, of St. Anthony's Church in Youngstown, spoke to Catholic students at St. Joseph's Church. Father Petric inaugurated Lent to campus and listed fast regulations. Ashes were distributed at Ash Wednesday services.

Mr. Jones Reveals Library Hopes to JAMBAR Reporter

By Agnes Biscan

Mr. George Jones, Youngstown University's affable librarian, is never too busy to conduct a library tour for interested students or to talk with students who frequent the library, which he terms one of the most modern, handsome libraries in America. The library, in use for six years, was a dream for many years during which it was necessary for students to depend on the public library alone.

The functional modern design of Y.U.'s library is partly the result of the efforts of Mr. James Wick, who traveled about the country inspecting similar buildings in an attempt to incorporate their best features into the new library.

Although comparatively new, the library is fast expanding, and is facing in the future a problem of accommodating periodicals and other volumes. In a recent interview, the current status of the library was discussed. At present the student lounge must serve partially as a student union; and although at times the informality causes inconsideration, Mr. Jones is sympathetic toward the problem. He reviewed the students' complaints about thoughtless behavior in the study areas, but feels that there has been much improvement in the past year.

Has Pride In Library
Justly proud of the library, Mr. Jones holds great hopes for the future. The pulse of any university is the library... the size and quality of its collection is a matter of great pride. It takes generations to build up a university library. At present, Y.U. is able to keep up fairly well on the new single books published each year, thus staying on a par with other schools. However, we are

Fraternity Suspended For Council Violation

The Student Faculty Discipline Committee Tuesday, Feb. 17, passed a motion making Nu Sigma Rho, (Sigma Tau Gamma) inactive for a period of three weeks beginning Mon., March 9th and ending Mon., March 30th.

This action was taken because Nu Sigma Rho failed to get the necessary approval of Student Council before changing its status from a local fraternity to a national fraternity, which was a violation of Section III, paragraph 2A of the Student Council By-laws.

Editorials . . .

Hail to SLAG (Keep It Clean)

The announcement that Youngstown University is to have another publication, a humor magazine called SLAG, came with great satisfaction to many students who are anticipating this sort of magazine.

We feel confident that those in charge of writing and editing this magazine are of the highest calibre and will do their best to give Youngstown a magazine which it has long needed, that being one of a strictly original, creative, adult, humor.

As long as that is what we can expect, everything will be in order. But for those students who are expecting border-line humor we can only ask that they not pressure the SLAG editors for that sort of thing. It is true that several of the bigger Ohio colleges have magazines which walk on the border-line of morality. These we can assure you are being run out of business, and we point as an example to THE GREEN GOAT, of Ohio University fame. The editors of this magazine are now before the grand jury on charges of publishing "lewd, lascivious, and obscene articles, photos and drawings."

For the students who want this sort of "humor" may we suggest that plenty of newstands are loaded with magazines of this type. We are college students, and when we publish something for college students it should reflect an appreciation for the intelligence of its readers. To the editors of SLAG, our colleagues in journalism, we give salute and praise, and our promise that we wait in eager anticipation for the first issue in March. We know it will be a magazine of which all can be proud.

Library Fund Drive

Vandalism has become quite a problem on our campus. Some feeble-minded students seem to get enjoyment by destroying. The library has its share of trouble with these vandals. Many students seem to realize that stealing books is wrong. They realize that this feeling is not held in common by all. So those who have ethics and don't borrow books for indefinite periods of time, tear out the pages on which appear the desired material. Are these students so lazy that they cannot reproduce the section they desire word for word? The material must be edited as we have not yet heard of a case where a student has turned in an article torn from a book. The library furnishes typewriters for the students and still this stealing persists.

This is written to appeal to those who constantly use our library and use it without regard for their fellow students. There are penalties for anyone mutilating books, but it is very difficult to enforce these rules. It is time that these students who take pride in what they destroy have a rude awakening.

The library drive begins next week, and every student can do his or her share by taking pride in the library, and by using care in handling books and other library property.

The Campus Voice

By
Vilma Terle

Many freshmen and transfer students on campus have noticed that corsages are not popular at our dances compared to their popularity in high school and other campuses. Here is what a sampling of the student body thinks.

Roger Murray

A senior majoring in Mechanical Engineering, "So that everyone may take full advantages of our dances, I believe that corsages should not be given. I realize that corsages are expressions of esteem or affection, but actually they are a nuisance. Corsages are not needed to compliment our charming Y.U. coeds" (Editor's note: Save this last line for March 17).

Nellie Jo Moses

A 1958 graduate of Rayen. "When I was in high school it was a great thrill to get corsages for big dances. Now that I'm in college the novelty has worn off. I feel that it's only an added expense for my date as well as a nuisance to me. If my date does get the right color then where am I going to put it? Will it be one that puts pin holes all over my new dress? Or a wrist corsage that stops my circulation? Then I'm faced with the American custom of saving the flower! And so it sits around in my ice-box for months at a time till Mother threatens to make tossed-salad of them. In closing, flowers are thoughtful. I get the thought, but I wish I didn't get the flowers."

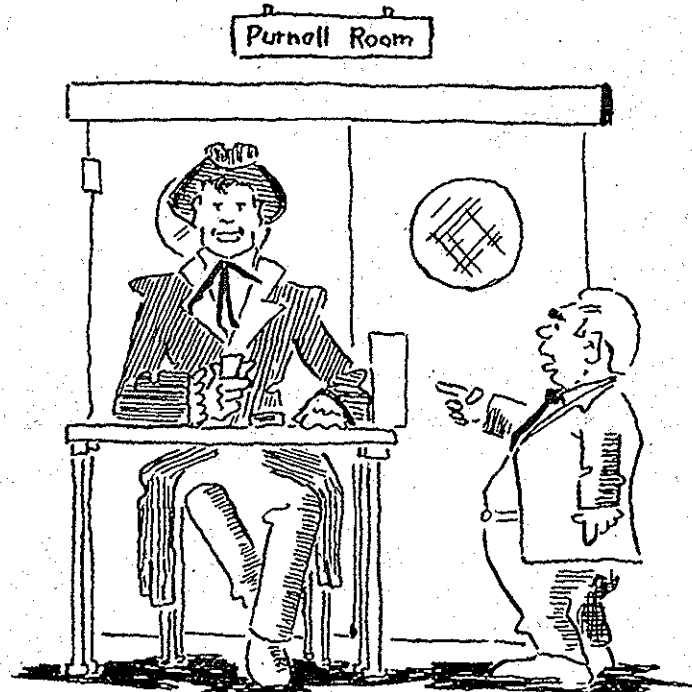

Fred Middleton

Is a Boardman High School graduate and a junior majoring in Industrial merchandising. "Reasons for taking the negative on the corsage issue: 1 - Survey among University coeds - they agreed that corsages aren't necessary but some do prefer colonial bouquets. 2 - There's added expense. Love is a many splendored thing and so is money. 3 - There's nothing like a corsage container between you and date in the car. 4 - Then there's always the chance that upon delivery the pink roses you ordered turn out to be yellow daisies. 5 - Corsages are for high school kids and Easter."

Butchie Shon

A freshman majoring in Elementary Education. "I don't care for corsages but as long as they're not on my expense account, I wouldn't complain if I got one. I've yet to find a date that brings a corsage any way near the color of my dress. It takes too much trouble changing the flower from the coat to the dress. The corsage never lives through the dance, the petals always fall off or you drop the pin and never get to wear it through the whole dance."

"...look cowboy, --- there's no card playing in here till after 3 o'clock."

Upper Classman Disagrees With Freshman Habits

Dear Editor:

I have a grudge against the freshmen. At noon in the cafeteria there are the usual crowd of people trying to find a place to eat. And there we find the lowly freshmen, looking like convicts from a high school, trying to be big shots, holding up seats for no reason at all.

I have seen them turn down 5 anxious people who had to make a class just so they could hold an empty seat. The point is, they did not have it saved, though that is what they said; they just wished to sit there and chew gum or smoke with an empty seat among them. Once they have finished eating, they just take up cubic space.

Let's hear some viewpoints of other students about this problem. Also, why don't students carry back their trays when they are finished eating as most college students do in college cafeterias?

An Upper Classman

Asks Safeguards

To the Editor:

I have noticed in the past two weeks several articles on library fund drives.

Through hearsay, it has been suggested that in the past year many volumes have been removed dishonestly from this library. There is no doubt that many of these volumes are removed by unprincipled students.

It has also been suggested that certain members of the faculty are building a formidable library at home by being "above" students and with a false sense of dignity refuse to open briefcases to authorities at the check-out desk. Another loss is realized through the basement door which is used by personnel of the record's office and should be locked at all other times.

This is not the case, however, and these same aforementioned students use this door to their own personal selfishness.

I know, as well as any other person on this campus, that where there is a will there is a way to continue to be a biblioklept. If more preventative measures are taken, more ways will be found, but why leave the door open to criticism ..... to out and out thieves?

The College Student

To the Editor:

A philosophical thought.

What does a student think while he roams the college campus going from class to class during the day. Or what does he think when he stands on campus and stares at the stars at night. Behind this student's thinking may be the man of tomorrow. A chemist a teacher, or maybe a lawyer, proving that a man is innocent of a crime he did not commit. Or will he be a bum a thief, or maybe a man facing death for a crime he did commit.

Look at this student as he stops, pauses and looks about. What will he be in this great world of tomorrow? WHAT WILL HE BE?

NAIA TOURNAMENT BEGINS MONDAY AT SOUTH FIELD HOUSE

Penguins Gunning for 3rd Trip to Nationals at KC

For the third consecutive year Youngstown University will be the host team at the Ohio Collegiate NAIA basketball tourney which will be held at South Field House on Mar. 2-3.

Mainly through the fine effort of Penguin Athletic Director Willard Webster, the basketball mentors chose the Field House as the site. The Field House stands out among other college arenas for its seating capacity.

Coach Dom Rosselli's Penguin hoopsters will be carrying one of the most potential teams in many years into the tourney. Definitely slated are also Baldwin-Wallace, 9-9, and Findlay College, 13-5. The last team position will be filled by either Wilmington or Defiance. The winner goes to Kansas City for the national NAIA play-offs.

Try a Third Time?

Last year Youngstown beat Wilmington for the championship at the Field House, then went on to Kansas City where they reached the quarter-finals before being stopped. Two years ago the Penguins beat Steubenville and again lost in the quarter-finals at Kansas City.

The time-table calls for Baldwin-Wallace to meet Findlay College in the first game Mon. night which is slated to begin at 7:15 p.m. Then Youngstown will meet Wilmington at 8:30 p.m.

Tues. night, the last night of competition, pits the losers of Mon. night's action for the consolation prize at 7:15, and then the previous winners battle at 8:30 for the trip to Kansas City.

There will be an All-Tourney team picked and an outstanding player will be named. Last year Bob Attenholt was chosen Outstanding Player.

"Yugie" Sets Mark As Penguins Win

By Paul Jagnow

As Youngstown University chalked up an easy 95-63 victory over Alliance College, Penguin forward Mickey Yugovich exceeded the 400 point mark, etching his name a little deeper into the annals of Y.U. sports history.

Yugovich a junior, succeeded in achieving this feat once before, in his freshman year, when he netted 503 for the season. Mickey also led the Penguin offensive against the visitors from Alliance, Pa. by bucketing 24 points.

Lake Stars

Herb Lake, who combines a lot of talk with superior ball handling, tossed in 22 markers and pulled 32 rebounds, almost surpassing his own single game record of 33 which was set last year. Midway through the second half Herb received loud cheers from the fans, when he ambled down-court and "dunked" the ball through the hoop for two points.

The local basketekers started slow but pulled swiftly away from their opponents when Yugovich, Lake, Gordon, and McElroy started to connect. Despite sudden spurts from Alliance, the Penguin quintette managed to stay between 15 to 20 notches ahead of the opposing team.

St. Francis Wins

St. Francis avenged an early season defeat at the hands of Youngstown University by handing the Penguins a 91-80 setback in a rematch played at the Frankie's court.

Earlier in the season the locals snapped an eight game Frankie winning streak.

Beanie Gordon again excelled,

Seats for Tourney

Students who wish to see the NAIA tournament at South Field House on Mon. and Tues. are reminded that their activity books DO NOT cover admission into the games. Those wishing seats must contact the Athletic Office, or pay general admission at the door.

Cafe Sets New Hours

Mrs. Conway, manager of the Cafeteria and the Snack Bar, announced this week that the cafeteria will now open daily at 7:30 A.M. to help relieve congestion in the Snack Bar.

Mrs. Conway has had much experience in the management of the cafeteria, and she stresses home cooked foods for the students.

Track Practice

Varsity track practice has been going full speed since Monday afternoon, when practice opened at Wick Park. The Penguins are limbering-up for an indoor meet on Mar. 23 at the Dennison Relays at Granville, Ohio.

Anyone interested in joining the team can stop at the Athletic Office from the hours of 3 to 4 p.m. and sign up.

riffing 31 points through the hoops and Mickey Yugovich and Jim Cramer both hit in double figures.

Penguins Open Quick

The Penguins broke into a quick 6-0 lead and held sway until midway through the first half when a St. Francis spurt wiped out a 20-14 lead and at the half way mark, after Youngstown rallied, the score was 44-41.

In the second half the St. Francis team began to find the range, and despite the efforts of the Penguinmen, were able to stay away out in front.

Penguin JV Team Having Good Season

Youngstown University's Junior Varsity team has compiled a good record this year with fourteen won and only four losses. Last Tuesday they evened the score with Duquesne in Pittsburgh by trouncing them 66-49. The Dukes had won a previous match 67-66. Bob Chuey and Larry Galcik featured in the win with 15 points apiece.

Did you ever hear the story about the three little ink drops who cried and cried because their mother was in the pen and they didn't know how long the sentence was going to be.

Publishing Methods Study at Radcliffe

POVERTY CAN BE FUN

It is no disgrace to be poor. It is an error, but it is no disgrace. So if your purse is empty, do not skulk and brood and hide your head in shame. Stand tall. Admit your poverty. Admit it freely and frankly and all kinds of good things will happen to you. Take, for instance, the case of Blossom Sigafos.

Blossom, an impecunious freshman at an Eastern girls' college, was smart as a whip and round as a dumpling, and scarcely a day went by when she didn't get invited to a party weekend at one of the nearby men's schools. But Blossom never accepted. She did not have the rail fare; she did not have the clothes. Weekend after weekend, while her classmates went frolicking, Blossom sat alone, saved from utter despair only by her pack of Marlboros, for even an exchequer as slim as Blossom's can afford the joys of Marlboro—joys far beyond their paltry price: rich, mellow tobaccos, lovingly cured and carefully packed; a new improved filter that works like a charm. Croesus himself could not buy a better cigarette!

However, Marlboro's most passionate admirers—among whose number I am paid to count myself—would not claim that Marlboro can entirely replace love and romance, and Blossom grew steadily moroser.

Then one day came a phone call from an intelligent sophomore named Tom O'Shanter at a nearby men's college. "Blossom," said Tom, "I want you to come down next week for the barley festival, and I won't take no for an answer."

"No," said Blossom.

"Polish girl," said Tom gently. "I know why you refuse me. It is because you are poor, isn't it?"

"Yes," said Blossom.

"I will send you a railroad ticket," said Tom. "Also a small salami in case you get hungry on the train."

"But I have nothing to wear," said Blossom.

Tom replied, "I will send you one suit of cashmere, two gowns of lace, three slacks of velvet, four shoes of calf, five socks of nylon, and a partridge in a pear tree."

"That is most kind," said Blossom, "but I fear I cannot dance and enjoy myself while back home my poor lame brother Tiny Tim lies abed."

"Send him to Mayo Brothers and put it on my tab," said Tom.

"You are terribly decent," said Blossom, "but I cannot come to your party because all the other girls at the party will be from rich, distinguished families, and my father is but a humble woodcuter."

"I will buy him Yosemite," said Tom.

"You have a great heart," said Blossom. "Hold the phone while I ask our wise and kindly old Dean of Women whether it is proper for me to accept all these gifts."

She went forthwith and asked the Dean of Women, and the Dean of Women laid her wise and kindly old hand on Blossom's cheek and said, "Child, let not false pride rob you of happiness. Accept these gifts from Tom."

"Lord love you, Wise and Kindly," breathed Blossom, dropping grateful tears into the Dean's reticule. "I must run and tell Tom."

"Yes, run, child," said the Dean, a smile wrinkling her wise and kindly old eyes. "And ask him has he got an older brother."

Looking U Around . . .

By Pat McCaren and Frank Guarnieri

LOOKING AROUND THE LIBRARY ... Despite the checks at the exit of the Library, there are still a lot of books going out each year. Why is it necessary to use the money from the Library Fund to replace books instead of to buy new ones? Would you like to buy a steel mill? There is a spare one left over from the Open House. It has been pushed to the second floor. How about that mobile hanging over the entrance to the library? It is quite fascinating, and no doubt many hours of work went into it. Yours truly is thinking that the artist either had the patience of Job, or he acquired a terrific vocabulary of unprintable exclamatory comments while the mobile was under construction.

Attention Hibernians! Only 18 days 'til St. Patrick's Day.

LOOKING AROUND THE CAFETERIA & SNACK BAR ... Now that the Cafeteria is open at 7:30 A.M. maybe one will be able to find a seat for a quick snack in the morning. We had thought that the swaybacked coat rack in the Snack Bar had been repaired until the other day when we found ourselves in a rainstorm of books from the top of the rack. Someone finally readjusted that vending machine in the SB that was happily dispensing 30¢ cigarettes to even happier students for only 25¢.

Food for thought ... You are holding 10¢ worth of newsprint (materials only)!

LOOKING AROUND THE CAMPUS ... Have you seen that 1959, Wing-Swept, 4-wheel car ruiding around the streets on only 3 wheels? Detroit is trying to save money in many ways now ... 3 wheels, 2 carbs, rubber bands instead of engines, etc. Seriously fellow students, think of the money in tire wear you could save. As we look through the new record albums, the best idea to come from the platter factories is the new "Sing Along" disk. They are really great for almost any type of party, especially as an ice-breaker. An honorable professor says that another one of the new Motor City creations looks like an aircraft carrier going backwards down the street. The trunk of this car is supposed to resemble the flight deck. Any ideas on which horseless carriage this is?

Lawrence College in Wisconsin, noted that the alumni and students do not seem extremely interested in giving to the institution as those in older, longer established schools do. Each year it will be spent in a different department." By purchasing books in this way, the entire library will be enriched. It takes generations to build up a university library, and it is hoped that each student will feel a responsibility to aid the library both as a student and as an alumnus.
