Gaddis Chosen to Succeed Cronie on Y.U. Quarter Hour Show; Spring Budget Accepted; Classical Society Granted Charter

Student Council voted to accept three applications for co-director of the Y.U. Quarter Hour and disregarded four others which had not followed the proper application procedure. William Gaddis was selected from the three applications to succeed Barbara Cronie on the Y.U. radio show.

Council also approved and granted a temporary charter to the Youngstown Classical Society. The Society will be devoted to the study of Greek and Latin culture.

Jack Uslick, chairman of the Discipline Committee, announced in his report that library rules are being enforced. One student offender of the library rules has been reported and is scheduled to appear before council.

The chairman of the Social Committee, Jim Quilty, has contracted Woody Herman for the all-school May Day Dance.

Fred Middleton presented the spring, 1960 financial report. The cash available for allocation this spring amounted to $14,785.85.

Athletic Director, Willard Webster, after consulting Dale Brothers of the Finance Committee decided to eliminate Y.U.'s track team because of financial problems and a lack of facilities for visiting teams.

An Honor's Day was discussed and will be held this May in honor of day and night students. Students will be honored for scholastic achievement.

The problem of drinking at school functions was discussed at length by council. It was proposed that the student body should be informed of the consequences that will result if anyone is caught with alcoholic beverages. Jim Quilty informed the council that in a discussion with Pres. Jones, the Pres. threatened that any student or groups of students caught drinking at school functions will be expelled from the university.

Brucker Issues New Policy For ROTC

Beginning with the school year 1960-61, advanced ROTC Cadets will take about 20 percent of their instruction in subjects such as science, psychology, communications and political institutions, according to an announcement by Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker.

Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of Youngstown University, was notified of the change in a telegram from the Adjutant General, Department of the Army. To permit the change, military subjects such as crew-served weapons instruction will be given during the six-week summer camp period, normally attended during the junior and senior years.

Intellectual Stimulant

The Army anticipates that the new program will stimulate increased intellectual attainment on the part of the ROTC students - most important in this age of complicated weapons; lessen the training load on students, particularly those pursuing technical degrees; and make the overall program more attractive.

California University Offers Contest For Chemistry Students

Youngstown University chemistry students will be given a chance to show their knowledge, pick up a little cash, and perhaps contribute something to the field of chemistry through the annual contest in colloid and surface chemistry. This contest is conducted by the University of Southern California and sponsored by the Continental Oil Company.

Students of chemistry, biochemistry, and chemical engineering at all accredited colleges and universities in the United States and Canada are eligible if they are regular undergraduates on April 1, 1960.

The contestants may enter either a report on a research project conducted by themselves or an essay on the subject, "The importance of the ultracentrifuge in colloid chemistry." The best essay and the best report will each receive prizes of $500 and the second best $200 each under contest regulations. Honorable mention prizes of $50 each are also provided.

The deadline for submitting entries is July 1st, 1960. Entry blanks may be obtained immediately by writing to Prof. K.J. Mysels, Chemistry Department, University of Southern California, Los Angeles 7, California. The prizes will be awarded by a panel of anonymous judges and will be distributed Sept. 1st.

Greek Forums-Pan-Hel, IFC

Representatives from Reed-Barton Silverware Co. will be at Youngstown University on Friday, March 5 to display various silverware patterns to the Co-eds of the university.

The Co-eds will cast votes for the pattern they prefer and the pattern having the most votes will be placed on the open market.

Sorority to Sponsor Fashion Show

Sigma Alpha Iota will present a style show on April 1. One representative of each sorority will be selected to model.

All fashions will be furnished by Abrahams Ladies Apparel Store.

Money

Those students that bought tickets for a "benefit stag" which was supposed to be held on Jan. 28, but was cancelled, should see Al Strickland from 10-11 a.m. in the cafeteria. Return of the tickets will entitle such students to their money back.

Youngstown University's Inter-Fraternity Council met last week and amended their rush laws for the second time.

The new measure requires rushees to have a minimum 1.00 average based on twelve or more hours for the previous semester.

Fraternalities were required to submit a list of all rushees by last Tuesday. This was to permit IFC and the University to check the eligibility of rushees.

Other business included the selection of the Greek Day chairmen. Dave Williams and Herb Cleary of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were appointed as co-chairmen.

Also discussed were the Greek Sing and the IFC basketball competition.

Politics: Payola Type

Payola's investigating vulture has left the realm of T.V. and is invading radio. Disk jockeys are now on the menu. The record spinners have been accused of accepting money and as a result are being stripped of their jobs, their prestige, and their self-pride.

What are they guilty of? Besides committing the sin of our society? The desire for higher wage status.

Isn't it common practice among big business firms to wine and dine their prospective clients with the hope that their own profits will be increased? However, this is called good sales relations; and the men who pay for the goodies are considered successful businessmen.

Are the payola investigations necessary? Are they conducted as a service to the American people or are they imitating a series of senate hearings that were conducted during 1951? HUMANITARIANS or POLITICIANS; that is the question?

Of course, the benefits the public received from the elimination of their favorite T.V. programs remains unquestioned.

If something should be investigated then it should be the firms that PAY the OLA not the boys that broadcast the tunes.

The investigation is proceeding without difficulty and the end result will probably be a smashing victory for the investigators, insuring their re-election; along with the ruin of a disk jockey, his family, and his marriage. Is it worth it?

Wanted: One Football Stadium

In recent weeks the "letters from the People" column of the Vindicator has dealt with the establishment of a new football stadium for Youngstown University.

Last week a letter by Frank A. Russo, of the Wolves Club, made a lot of sense.

In his letter Russo stated that he was appointed by the Wolves to promote a drive for a stadium, but was persuaded by a county official to keep the issue off the November ballot. The club did so.

Russo further stated that this was an unwise move and expressed a desire to see the project revived. He cited a number of progressive intentions of the new city administration and pledged the full support of the Wolves club in the renewal of this project.

In checking into the Wolves Club we find that it is an organization dedicated to the betterment of the community and has no selfish interests.

At this moment plans are being made for the construction of a new student union building but as of this time no mention has been made of a stadium.

Should the Wolves Club re-open this noteworthy project the students at Youngstown University should not hesitate to pledge their full support to the drive.

Psychological Boost

Much credit is to be given to the Youngstown University Senate for the adoption of the four point grade system.

The four point method has been tested on many college campuses and has proven to be successful in all instances. This is another step forward for Youngstown University.

The three point plan, which Y.U. now uses, has many faults. One of the most blatant being that no points are received for a grade of "D" on the present system. In essence, this is what a grade of "D" implies on the grade plan we now use; you, the student, having passed the course as indicated by the "D", receive no credit points for passing. Then why have the "D" grade in the first place?

There is one detrimental aspect of the four point system. That is, when an "F" is received in a course no credit is given for repeating the course. Under the three point system the grade received for taking the course a second time is averaged in with the failing grade.

Youngstown University Records Office, the scene of much confusion, will undoubtedly welcome the new system with pleasure. With the high percentage of transfer students attending YU the Records Office spends a great amount of time in converting grades received on a four point system to Youngstown's three point plan. This probably causes many headaches for the Records Office staff and mistakes in the student's transcript. When the four point method goes into effect this conversion will be much easier to accomplish.

Psychologically we, the students, will be boosted by the fact that we will receive credit points for the "D's" we receive.

Chapel Services Slated Daily

parlor of First Christian Church will begin the activities on Mon. at 11 a.m.

Following the discussion period Dr. Evans will speak at a noon luncheon to which staff and students are invited. The luncheon will also be at the First Christian Church parlor.

Reverend Albert L. Linder's residence will be the scene of a buffet supper at 6:30 that evening when Dr. Evans will meet with the officers and committee chairmen of RIL.

The YU administration having offered release time from Mon. night classes, students attending night school will be released for 35 minutes, from 7:55 to 8:30 p.m. At this time Dr. Evans will speak to the Protestant students in St. John's Episcopal Church, and Father Petric will talk to the Catholic students at St. Joseph's Church.

On Tues., March 1, Chapel Services are to be held at 9:30 a.m. "Your Religion - Fog of Faith" is the title of the address that Dr. Evans will give in St. John's. After Father Petric's talk in St. Joseph's, Joe Zitnik and Ted Von Schulick will serve for Father as he conducts benediction service.

The annual Faculty Staff Dinner will be held at the First Presbyterian Church at 6:30, Tues. evening. Dr. Evans will address the group on "The Lay Mores Today".

Following the dinner, at approximately 8:30, Dr. Evans will meet informally with students for discussion and questions and answers.

The last talks of Religious Emphasis Week are scheduled for 11 a.m., Wed. March 2. At that time Dr. Evans will speak in St. John's on "Your Marriage - Duet or Duel". Father Petric's talk at St. Joseph's will precede distribution of ashes and Mass at 11:45.

Student Opinions Hypocrites?

The Feb. 19 issue of the Jambar was very impressive with its headlines of BROTHERHOOD. In short, it read something like this: BROTHERHOOD BELIEVE IT - LIVE IT - SUPPORT IT! And yet on these same pages were articles admitting "ill-feeling" between two organizations on campus, complaining that "certain organizations are favored", and criticizing a previous administration's lack of "foresight". Isn't this a contradiction of principles?

A newcomer to our campus states she was "impressed with the friendliness and lack of prejudice which is quite the opposite on many other American campuses." However, she went on to say she was also "disappointed in the pettiness and apparent immaturity". And she appears to have hit it right on the nose. Don't you think it rather hypocritical to proudly claim membership to this institution one minute and verbally tear apart it's very crux the next minute?

Obviously, the latter is the easiest way to accomplish nothing, the surest way to maintain attention and the least exemplary of BROTHERHOOD. It appears that more might be accomplished if people with legitimate complaints would take the initiative toward remedying the undesirable situation rather than namecalling and pointless bickering. It is easier to receive the acts of BROTHERHOOD than to execute them; but they are the foundation of this institution; and on these little acts depend the education we receive, the social relaxation we get and the preparatory experience for life. So when you feel critical, consider first, whether you are contributing toward improving the situation, or if you yourself could handle the circumstances in a more adequate manner.

Name withheld upon request.

Newland on Raucous Sounds

Rock and Roll Shows Lack of Talent

Newland

By Lynn C. Newland

"What in the World's Come Over You?" I pondered over this question last Sunday only I applied it to contemporary teenage music. I supplied my answer by composing these lines; What is Rock n' Roll music?, when, "Along Came Jones," and yelled "Yakety, Yak." The music and its performers are synonymous in that they both lack musical quality and creativity. This appears throughout our society.

I don't pretend to be a music critic; what I'm interested in is the reflection Rock n' Roll casts on young minds.

In the first place, air waves are so jammed with Fabian's Avalon's and Nelson's that not only teenager's, but all radio listener's are forced to suffer the raucous sounds of this cheap music called Rock n' Roll.

Fabian, the latest teenage idol, is a typical artist; artist is used here in a narrow sense. A look at his background explains his obvious lack of musical ability.

He was discovered (as if he were worth searching for) at the age of 14. His manager hired four voice instructors to improve Fabian's singing ability, but their efforts were all in vain. Because Fabian's voice lessons were failures has certainly not deterred his career as a teenage idol and rock n' roll artist, on the contrary, this has undoubtedly aided him. One of the attributes of an artist today is the complete absence of musical talent.

It is interesting to note the quantity of popular songs expounding love, especially teenage love. This is especially interesting in the light of the current high divorce rate. Evidently words such as "put your sweet lips a little closer to the phone" don't endure the hardships of marriage.

Fabian, Nelson, Avalon and the like, or ilk, provide teenagers with the superficial security they strive for. And, American teenagers continue to emulate rock n' roll singers and spend much of their time and money in the process.

Thomas E. Morgan, in the March issue of Esquire describes Rock n' Roll singers and their teenage followers in this manner; "mediocrity falling in love with its own image."

It probably won't be long before we will be able to purchase vinylite statues of Conway Twitty and friends. Can't wait.

Chessman's Legal Pyrotechnics Postpone 'Grim Reaper' 11½ Years

By Paul C. Jagnow
(Jambar city editor)

It appears that convict Caryl Chessman, like the fabled cat, has nine lives.

He has proven this by cheating the San Quentin gas chamber eight times with his legal flamboyance and assorted appeals to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Chessman's latest appointment with the Grim Reaper was scheduled for 10 a.m. (1 p.m. Youngstown time) Fri., Feb. 19, but a telegram from the State Department tipped the scales of justice back to Chessman's side and resulted in his getting a 60 day reprieve.

Fearing possible hostile demonstrations from the country of Uruguay during President Eisenhower's trip to that country, the State Department wired California's Gov. Edmund Brown and explained of the serious repercussions that were popping up throughout, not only the Latin American countries, but the whole world concerning Chessman's execution.

Although the telegram gave no Federal recommendations for a reprieve, the administration readily admitted that the telegram was an influence for the side of clemency. After all, state governors do not ordinarily receive telegrams in the middle of the night from the State Department concerning the futures of convicts.

Late Thursday afternoon the entire Uruguayan cabinet called on American Ambassador, Robert Woodward and warned him in no uncertain terms what might occur if Chessman was executed. Uruguayan officials hinted at demonstrations and other chaotic disturbances during the visit of President Eisenhower on March 2 if the execution was carried out as scheduled.

The grounds for hostile feelings mimicked the protests of other countries of the free world. The inhumanity of executing a man after permitting the case to drag out for 11 years was the main protest raised by the Uruguayan cabinet.

Fortune Intervenes for Chessman Cause

It was after the telegram was sent that Dame Fortune stepped in to play her part for the Chessman cause. A deluge of telegrams, pleading for clemency, were lying on Gov. Brown's desk. Among these was the State Department's wire. It was only luck that selected this particular telegram to be opened by the Governor.

When Chessman was notified of the reprieve, he stared with disbelief at Warden Fred Dickson and said, "Warden, you wouldn't kid me, would you?" "No, I wouldn't kid about a thing like that," the warden replied. Chessman just stood there tense and trembled. After asking Dickson to thank the Governor he was taken back to Cell 23, where, during his imprisonment in death row, he had written three of his best-selling books.

During the 11½ years of his imprisonment in death row of San Quentin, Chessman served as his own legal advisor, wrote three books (a fourth is now impounded in the prison safe), became engaged, gotten himself into income tax trouble with the Federal Government and has caused a world-wide undertow concerning whether or not he should be executed.

Overall Picture for Indians Is Optimistic One Says Lane

By Rich Passan
(Jambar sports editor)

Last week this reporter had the distinct pleasure of listening to perhaps the most dynamic and colorful man in baseball today, general manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians. The event was the "Get Acquainted With the Indians" luncheon for the press and radio men from the Youngstown area. It was held in the Jade Room of the Mural Room.

Lane completed two major trading deals this past winter. These transactions brought Johnny Temple and Bubba Phillips to the Tribe. Lane feels that even though he gave up 19 game winner Cal McLish, his pitching staff will be better in 1960. The reason for this, being a tighter infield defensively which will ultimately add two or more victories to each pitcher's record.

Lane went on record as saying that Cleveland has the best infield in the American League. The addition of Temple will help Woodie Held to become a better shortstop defensively while Vic Power and Bubba Phillips are first rate infielders.

The outfield with Tito Francona in left, Rocky Colavito in right and either Jim Piersall or Carroll Hardy in center combines speed, power and good hitting.

The departure of Minnie MInoso to the White Sox gives the sensational "Tito" Francona a chance to play a position that he is used to. At 25, Francona appears to have found a home on the shores of Lake Erie.

The overall picture, according to Lane is an optimistic one. Although he didn't come right out and say that the Indians are going to win the flag, he did say that if they didn't the race will be mighty close.

The team Lane fears most in 1960 is not the Chicago White Sox but the New York Yankees. The feeling is that Early Wynn will win no more than 14 or 15 games for the White Sox this year. The younger pitchers will have to come through.

Speaking of young pitchers I neglected to examine the Cleveland pitching staff which Lane had nothing but high praise for. The moundsmen are led by Gary Bell 23, Jim Grant 23, Jim Perry 22, Herb Score 25, Bobby Locke 25, and the "old man" of the staff Jack Harshman 32. The acquisition of veterans Ernie Johnson and Leo Kieley not only strengthens the bullpen but adds the necessary experience.

Getting back to the pennant race, Lane fingers the Detroit Tigers as the dark horse. With Jim Bunning, Frank Lary, Don Mossi and Paul Foytack hurling and Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline providing the offensive punch, the Tigers definitely rate the role of serious contenders.

The Bronx Bombers according to Lane pose the most serious threat to the Indians. A healthy Bob Turley and Bill Skowron plus good years from Gil McDougald and Yogi Berra could easily result in a pennant winning season for the Stengelmen.

Lane cited some individual performers on the 1960 Indian roster. Highest praise was given to pitcher Jim Perry who in his rookie year compiled a respectable 12-10 record. The one asset that aided Perry was his confidence out on the mound. Tito Francona's main attribute is his desire to play the game of baseball. It was this attribute that helped Tito bat a sensational .363 last season.

The only criticism Frank Lane has of Indian manager Joe Gordon is his handling of pitchers. Lane, to a certain extent, blames pitching coach Mel Harder for not taking charge. That is, he offers little advice to Gordon as to whom should pitch on a certain day and whom shouldn't. Otherwise, Lane regards Harder as the best pitching coach in the business.

The overall picture for 1960 is a bright one for the Indians due to the additions of Temple, Phillips, Norm Cash and John Romano and the added experience gained by the young pitching staff during the 1959 campaign. As a final note, Lane glowingly stated that the 1960 version of the Cleveland Indians will be a more exciting ball club and definitely bear watching.

Bowler Turns Golfer

There was quite a bit of laughter when a golfer appeared on the links wearing a glove.

But since that day, you really aren't much of a golfer without one.

This may be the same story in bowling, where the fabulous Don Carter has introduced to the world what he claims to help him the most - - a bowling glove.

Bowling is one sport where not many innovations have been made in regards to equipment. But a quick glance at several lanes finds a few keglers sporting the Carter glove.

"This glove guarantees better control and more lift with the ball," confesses Carter. And he ought to know.

Right now Carter's rated bowling's No. 1 man and many tab him to become the pin sports first millionaire.

So if you think a glove can help your bowling, don't be ashamed. Remember the golfer's success story. And Carter is counting all that money.

It could be you!!!!

Four Teams Dominate Intramurals

Bombers, KSK, Lead Div. 1; New Castle Beatniks Head Div. 2

By Pete Arlow
(Jambar sports writer)

Four undefeated teams dominate play in the intramural Basketball League as action swings past the midway point in the season.

In Division I Dave Johnson's Bombers and Kappa Sigma Kappa are battling it out for the top spot with identical 4-1 records. The Bombers look to Matt Bozichovich and Dickie Lewis for their scoring punch while Jim Brahney and Ron Guerrerri lead the Kappa Sigs.

The two undefeated teams in Division II are New Castle, with a 5-0, and the Beatniks with a 4-0 record. Pete Leonard is pacing his New Castle team with close to a 13 point average. The Beatnik's Wally Boyer tops his team in the scoring column.

Fusco A.C. with a 5-0 mark leads the pack in Division III, followed closely by Theta Chi and Alpha Phi Delta, both with 2-1 records. Fusco's 6'5" center Sheldon Cunningham is the intramurals top rebounder and is the team's top scorer.

Division IV is led by the Jayhawkers who boast a 6-0, while the Eagles are a close second with a 4-1. The Jayhawkers have one of the league's top scorers in Merrett Hughes with a 12 point average.

Delmar Stanley of Sigma Tau Gamma is presently the intramurals' top scorer. "Stan" has hit for 103 points in 5 games and boasts a terrific 20.6 average. His highest output was in a game against Beta Tau where he tallied for 42 points.

Youngstown Drops Final Home Tilt, 97-76 Yugovich Turns in Best Game of Career With 33 Points

By Pete Arlow

(Jambar sports writer)

Youngstown dropped a 97-76 decision to Akron U. in the home cage finale. This game marks the Penguins fourth straight loss with three suffered at home.

Mickey Yugovich proved to be the only bright spot as he hit for the highest total of his career by garnering 33 points. It was the finest show Mickey put on in his four years of cage action. "Yug" now has 1854 points and is the second all-time scorer next to Tony Knott.

The game can be summed up with a glance at the statistics. Akron hit on 55% from the field while Youngstown shot a little under 40%. The Zips also dominated the boards and out-rebounded the Penguins 50-31. Akron proved to be unbeatable with their sharp field goal accuracy throughout the game.

Climon Lee, 5'9" junior tossed in 32 points for Akron on an amazing 14 out of 19 shots from the floor, with 7 for 7 in the second half. Two other Akron players hit in double figures. They were Bob Whaley, with 21 points, and Alex Adams, with 24 points.

The Penguins close the season with three away games and will have a hard time finishing with a .500 mark.

Track Team Dropped

The track team will be discontinued with the opening of the spring sports season this year.

Willard Webster announced that due to insufficient funds one of the spring sports which include, rifle, baseball, golf, tennis, and track, would have to be dropped.

Webster felt it was hard to decide which sport would have to be cut.

Varsity spring sports allocation is budgeted from Student Council. Student Council did not allocate enough money to include all of the regular sports. Therefore, track being the most expendable was dropped.

Running true to form with many of the other sports at Youngstown, the track team is lacking many facilities.

The Y.U. cindermen don't have their own track, and have to share one with a local high school. Most of the time Y.U. was not able to use the track because of high school activities.

Chess Tourney At YMCA

The Mahoning Valley Chess Club will conduct its annual open tournament at the Central Y.M.C.A. in Youngstown beginning Sun. Feb. 28.

The remainder of the tournament will be held on the following two Sun., Mar. 6 and Mar. 13. The tournament is open to the public. Entry fee is $4.

For further information contact Al Wellman at 2051 Summer St.

Heartwarming Display

It was heartwarming to see Youngstown University students and fans alike joining to salute Mickey Yugovich in his final game before the local delegation at South Field House the other night.

Never in the history of the school has an athlete received such a thunderous ovation.

With just seconds remaining in the contest, Coach Rosselli substituted for his scoring ace and without hesitation, the 1,200 fans broke into applause -- the likes of which haven't been heard here ever.

Yugovich is certainly deserving of the gesture, his athletic accomplishments bringing fame to the university on a national basis.

While a freshman, Mickey added the clinching points in the Ohio NAIA finals, sending Youngstown University off to Kansas City for a national tournament.

His work during the next few years proved tremendous, Youngstown venturing three straight times to the NAIA meets and making many friends along the way.

Yugovich now stands as the second best scorer of all time here at the university.

Thank you Mickey, you've been wonderful to the university and we really enjoyed your play the past four seasons.

Chessman's Legal Pyrotechnics Postpone 'Grim Reaper' 11½ Years

Throughout the various legal battles, Chessman has maintained he was innocent of the 17 crimes for which he was convicted in May, 1948.

The 17 crimes as "The Red Light Bandit" of Los Angeles' lovers' lanes, did not include murder. Chessman was condemned to death for kidnaping for robbery with bodily harm, punishable by death under California's Little Lindbergh law.

Both victims were women. Both were subjected to perverted sexual attacks.

One girl was committed to a mental institution following the attack by "The Red Light Bandit", who approached his victims in an auto equipped with a flashing red light like a police car.

Four other men have been convicted for kidnaping with bodily harm. Three were executed in 1936, while the fourth went to the gas chamber in 1955.

Crime Career Began Early in Youth

Chessman started his career in crime early in his youth and began his official criminal record when he was 16. Charges filed against him ranged from car thefts and robberies to assault with a deadly weapon, when he shot a policeman in the leg.

Actually it wasn't a question of his guilt or innocence that led to his unprecedented battle to escape execution.

The death of the court reporter, before the trial notes were transcribed, led to the legal razzle-dazzle that has cost the taxpayers an estimated quarter of a million dollars. Upon the death of the court reporter, another reporter started the tremendous job of translating the trial notes. Chessman contends that the trial records are faulty and that he hasn't had a fair shake and that the old notes should be put aside and a new trial begun.

Thus began the series of appeals to the high courts. In 1958, however, Superior Judge Walter R. Evans ruled that the corrected transcript was sufficient to express the trial adequately.

Technicalities of legal arguments became undermined in a tidal wave of public opinion and a flurry of editorials and petitions urging that Chessman's life be spared.

In a sense the many delays and the lengthy and repetitious legal maneuvering have tended to a caricature the American system of justice.

There is, however, a chance that Chessman will be able to escape the gas chamber and have his sentence commuted.

Capital Punishment May Be Abolished

This will be possible only if the California Legislature rules for the abolishment of capital punishment. This question has cropped up again and again in the past and has been defeated each time by the lawmakers.

Opinion varies decidedly among the legislators and Gov. Brown has been criticized severely for his actions in the Chessman case.

Opinion around Sacramento has it that the debate will be short and that the legislature will vote to keep the death penalty despite the furor caused over Chessman.

Chessman ordeal is turning into a case against capital punishment rivaling that of the Leopold-Loeb murder trial of the 20's. In the Leopold-Loeb trial, noted criminal lawyer, Clarence Darrow, pleaded his entire case against capital punishment and secured life sentences for the defendants.

If Darrow were alive today it would be interesting to hear his comments on the Chessman case.

Chessman Involved In Death-Row Romance

Chessman became involved in a death row romance in 1954 and announced his engagement to Frances Anne Couturier, a divorcee with two children and former housekeeper for Chessman's father. Nothing has been heard in recent years of the romance and it is presumed to have faded away some where between Chessman's frequent bouts with death.

Repercussions over the execution of convicts is nothing new. As recent as 1958 there have been instances of public opinion so strong that the Federal government had to inform state governors of the powerful ill-feeling present.

The most recent case was that of Jimmy Wilson, a Negro, sentenced to die for stealing $1.95. In this case it was necessary for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to inform the governor of Alabama of the violent repercussions. Wilson's sentence was commuted shortly thereafter.

It is possible for Chessman's execution to be re-scheduled for the 61st day from the onset of his reprieve. Only then will we see if Chessman has the fabled nine lives.

STEP OUT IN IT

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-priced three can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider to what lengths Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheels melt bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.

Butyl rubber body mounts—Thicker, newly designed body mounts further insulate you from the road.

Body by Fisher—Only Chevy in its field offers the polish and craftsmanship of Body by Fisher.

Foam cushioned seats—Chevy offers foam cushioned seats in both front and rear in all series but one.

Safety-Girder frame—X-built and not merely X-braced, the Safety-Girder frame affords greater rigidity to minimize twisting and squeaks.

Hydraulic valve lifters—Oil hushed hydraulic valve lifters reduce engine noise to a whisper.

Cushioned steering shaft—A universal joint and cushioned coupling keep those annoying road tremors from the steering wheel.

Precision balanced wheels and tires—Here again Chevy has shown concern for your comfort by eliminating vibration in this vital area—tire life is longer, too.

Easy steering ratio—Chevy's high ratio Ball Race steering takes the work out of steering for you.

Superior weight distribution—Chevy rides better, handles better and stops better because the car's weight is more equally divided between the front and rear wheels.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.
