Pre-Med Students Accepted into Post Graduate Schools

Six Youngstown University pre-medical students have received formal acceptances into post-graduate medical schools. Two other applicants are awaiting replies.

The six are: Charles Maas, Girard, Ohio - Ohio State University and Georgetown University. Maas is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity and Treasurer of Omicron Lambda, honorary biology fraternity.

Paul Monteleon, Girard, Ohio - Marquette and Ohio State University. Monteleon is an independent and president of Omicron Lambda fraternity.

Janice Georges, Youngstown, Ohio - Ohio State and Western Reserve Universities. Miss Georges is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority and Omicron Lambda.

Tom Gremmer, Youngstown, Ohio - Ohio State and Loyola University. Gremmer is a member of Omicron Lambda.

Jim Criscione, Girard, Ohio - St. Louis U. He is a member of Omicron Lambda Fraternity and Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society.

Anthony Pannazzo, Youngstown, Ohio - Ohio State University. Pannazzo is Vice-President of Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity and a member of Omicron Lambda.

It is a credit to the biology department that such a high percentage of its students are accepted into well-known medical schools.

Student Council Defines Term of Senior Rank

The question of eligibility for senior standing was the topic of debate at the Nov. 14 meeting of Student Council.

Primary purpose for settling the issue was to determine who was eligible to run for an elective office on campus.

The decision reached was incorporated into the bylaws as such: "A senior is defined as one who has enough credit hours passed so that he is mathematically eligible for graduation under his major in June or August and has applied for graduation."

Finance Committee

The Finance Committee of Student Council is charged with the duty of constructing the budget. This budget is subject to final approval by the Student-Faculty Relations Committee, which consists of three faculty members appointed by President Jones and the Finance Committee.

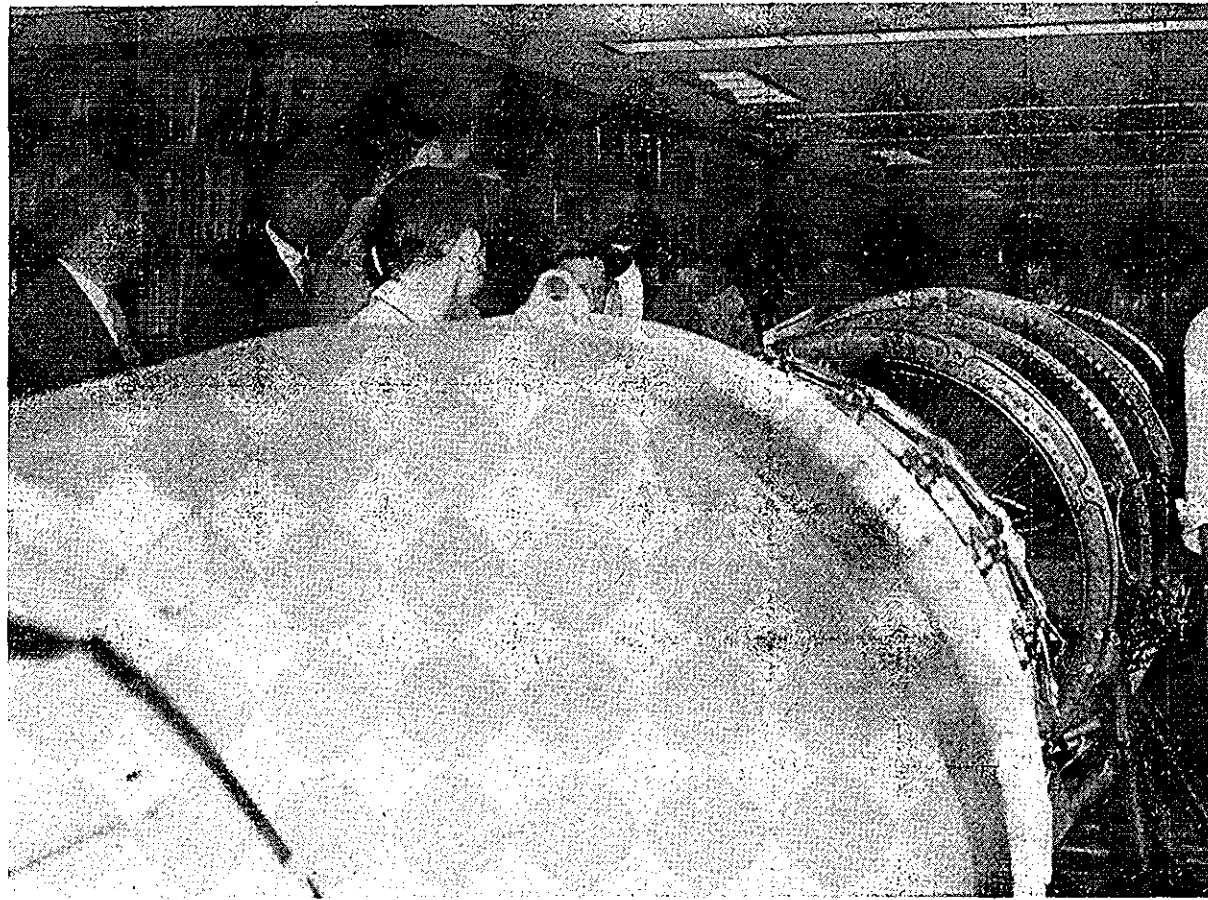

An analysis is made of all proposed expenditures with the aim being to present a well rounded program beneficial to all students.

The Finance Committee members this semester are: Leonard Leopp, Treasurer; Ed Wall, Committeeman; and Tony Martino, Committeeman.

The Student-Faculty relations committee consists of: President Jones, Dean Smith, Professor Dykema (Mrs.), and Mr. Pickard, and includes the members of the Finance Committee.

Hundreds Visit University For Golden Open House

Army Exhibit Most Popular

Visitors at Youngstown's 50th anniversary open house inspect an F-102 Delta Dagger turbojet engine. The engine was provided by the U.S. Air Force to give people an idea of some of the technical aspects of the motor.

Hundreds of visitors got a glimpse of Youngstown University at work earlier this week as part of the 50th Anniversary Year Open House program.

Parents, high-school students, area faculty, and professional people enjoyed a wide variety of exhibits ranging from a U.S. Army Satellite demonstration to exhibits showing the use of Polarized Light in Chemical Analysis.

By far the most popular attraction was the U.S. Army Satellite display in the Strouss Auditorium which featured a continuously running 5 minute movie on the development and final orbiting of the explorer I. Also available was a model of the Jupiter C Rocket, used in putting the first U.S. satellite into orbit.

All Departments Participate
All departments of the university participated in the Golden Anniversary event and many exhibits were of top professional quality, showing quite a few hours of hard work spent in preparation.

The climaxing event was the Faculty Convocation held Wednesday Evening at Strouss Auditorium. Dr. Howard Jones conferred honorary degrees to Clifford P. Hood, President of U.S. Steel Corp., William Halg Ramage, President of the Valley Mould and Iron Corp., and Walter E. Watson, retired Vice-chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Area Artists Present Annual Autumn Show

Feature attraction at the Butler Institute of American Art in Youngstown during November and continuing through Dec. 14th, is the 20th Area Artists Autumn Annual. This is a competitive show for artists in a 25-mile radius of Youngstown. Eighteen prizes, ranging from $10 to $100 were awarded.

Top prize of $100 for an oil went to Carl Jean Maringer who recently moved to Youngstown from Cleveland. Heidi Elsaesser won "Best in Show" prize. Among other winners were Dorothy D. Dennison of Poland, William E. Stone of Alliance, Martha Dale Coope of Canfield, Hans Hacker of East Liverpool, Ida Murphy of Struthers, Helen E. Faddis, Mrs. Mildred Ketchum, and Anne Popp of New Castle.

Pictures range from the very real, through phases of sur-realism to the very abstract. Generally, the show looks more professional this year than any of its 19 predecessors.

One-man Shows also are on the schedule through Nov. 23. Charles Dietz, Director of the Zanesville Art Institute, will exhibit 28 abstract paintings, and Dave Hostetler, of the Art Dept., of Ohio University will show 24 small bronze sculptures and drawings.

Hours for visiting the Institute are Sundays from 1 to 5. Weekdays, except Mondays, 12 to 5. Admission is free.

Courtesy Is Very Important; What Is the Rating of YU?

During this past week we have had many visitors at Youngstown University. This was an excellent opportunity to observe the courtesy of our students. How did you measure up? The impression we made on these people depended on every one of us.

Were your clothes neat and clean, or did we give people the impression that Y.U. students don't care how they look? Your personal appearance can mean the difference between a favorable or unfavorable first impression.

Did you take an interest in your classes? Remember the main reason we are in school is to obtain an education. Our social life should be secondary. We can show our interest in classes first of all, by being there on time! How many times have your classes been distracted by someone walking in late? When you do arrive, take an interest in what's going on. Come prepared to participate in discussions or answer questions.

Look Interested

Also, try to look as if you're interested in your classes. Men! Take your hats off. Look as if you want to stay even if you are anxious to get to the snack bar. Talk on a college level, both in and out of class. Give others a chance to speak - don't interrupt. Smoking in class and putting your feet on the chairs are very annoying to others, as well as being against the rules of the school. Another reminder-treat borrowed property with care-and be sure to return it.

As far as social life goes-do you try to be friends with everyone, or do you think that only certain people

Thanksgiving Theme

On Dec. 16, 1621, Gov. William Bradford and the Plymouth Colony gave thanks that their loved ones were safe and that a bountiful harvest had been reaped. This was a simple demonstration of faith in a new land that had seen half their members die from disease and starvation in their first year. This was the first Thanksgiving. To these hardy folk, these circumstances were cause enough to give thanks.

For us today, the import of Thanksgiving has lost much of its original significance as America has progressed from a country of agrarianism to that of a society dominated by industrialism. Concurrent with this obvious in our economic composition, there has been a change in our social attitudes toward those events that were greatly revered in a society of yester year.

That this change has been "proper and fitting" is a topic for a doctoral dissertation but one cannot help but wonder whether a society so concerned with the material things of life might not occasionally turn its thoughts to the human spirit and its Founder lest it engulf itself in a myriad of effects without contemplation for their cause. Certainly the "pause that refreshes" is applicable here.

Let us, then, amid our festivities on Thanksgiving Day, ponder before our sumptuous dinners and give cognizance to that Power which, ultimately, has enabled us to enjoy and partake of His dominion.

The Death of Intellectualism

Centuries ago the idea of the institution of higher learning was conceived. Those who so valiantly fostered this idea have since passed on to enter the annals of the immortal. The hope of these men was that the love of knowledge and the endeavor to enrich the lives of the world's inhabitants for years to come would never subside.

In years gone by the schools were not the ultra modern plants they are today but the love of learning was deeply intombed in the hearts of these men. One fear that the old line of intellectualism has died with its founders, for many groups congregate, thousands enter college each year but the fire of intellect-endeavor has vanished. There has been no perpetuation of the various schools of thought and as a result the works of the masters have been hurled into the halls of oblivion and the modern student suffers from an acute case of intellectual stagnation.

One does not expect to find every modern student a Darwin, Plato, Bach, Picasso or Einstein but one would hope to find that there is an awareness and appreciation of the many things these individuals have done in order that these things of aesthetic value may be propagated throughout the existence of man.

It is highly imperative that the modern student realize the crisis that faces education, culture and the American way of life. He must reassess his values for the sake of preserving an enriching the reservoir of human knowledge.

The last hope and plea is that the modern student will not go down in history as the assassin of intellectualism.

Football Season Ends

Everywhere around the nation basketball is making a substantial effort to grab the sports spotlight from the fading football season, and here at Youngstown, the basketball fever will soon reach the boiling point.

But before football descends too far into the past, we would like to take time out to congratulate this year's football team, and their Coach, "Dike" Beede, on a very fine season. We have had occasion, since Sept. 20, to witness very fine football, with opposition ranging from good to "national caliber".

In the face of such opposition as Ohio University, Gustavus-Adolphus, and Toledo University, we can feel proud of the 4-4 record piled up by this year's gridders.

We feel congratulations are in order, also, for the Youngstown University Student Association, which did a commendable job of working with the cheer leaders in raising the school spirit on the gridiron. Towards the closing of the season, the cheering of our students gave some semblance of what collegiate sports spirit should be. We feel confident this spirit will carry over into the coming basketball season.

Thanksgiving; Time To be Appreciative

By David Quartusen

Youngstown University students are looking forward to the first vacation of the school year, that of Thanksgiving. It will begin Wed., 10 p.m., Nov. 26 and ends Mon., Dec. 1. This occasion will afford an opportunity for scholars and faculty alike to take a welcome rest from classes for the purpose of giving thanks for the many benefits we enjoy.

Talking to one of our foreign students, Shahwan Khoury, a senior from Lebanon, your reporter gained an insight into what others think of this holiday. Shahwan began by mentioning that there was no holiday such as this in his native country. He stated that he was surprised to find people of different nationalities and races observing and remembering Thanksgiving together. Shahwan believes that this is a very great thing.

This Thanksgiving, let's try to be as appreciative as Mr. Khoury and give thanks for the many blessings we have here in America.

Student Health On Downgrade, Expert Warns

The emphasis on "speed over moderate travel," "inactivity over action," and "machines over men" threaten to make tense, physically deficient robots out of American youth, warned Dr. Shane MacCarthy, executive director of the President's Council on Youth, Fitness, at its fall meeting. The development of carting instead of walking, combined with the inverted sports pyramid in which only the very talented physically have a chance to participate, have made inroads on student stamina strength, and health according to recent studies, he asserted.

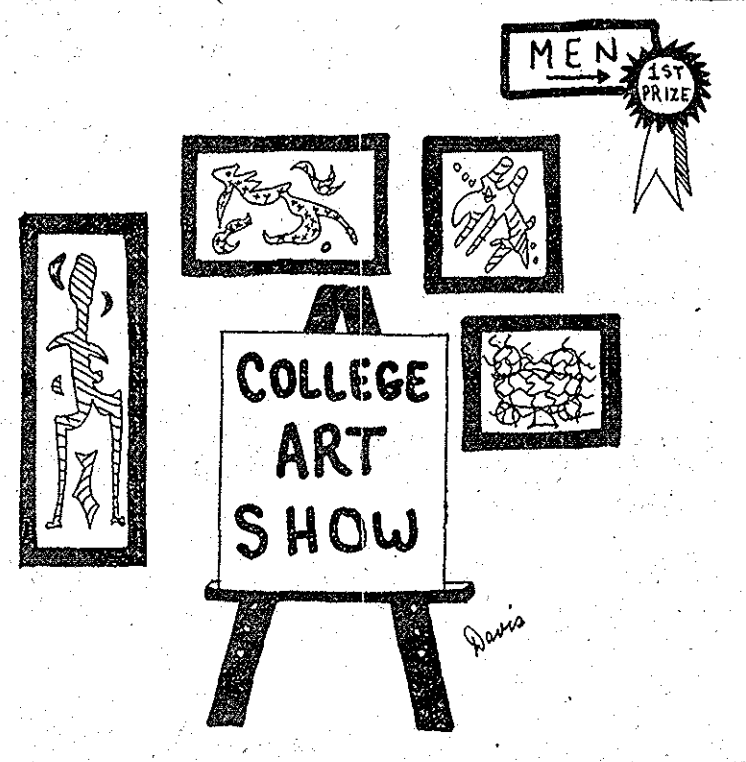

The President's Council on Youth fitness has worked on publicizing the need for greater emphasis on physical ability and on coordinating and encouraging programs in this area ranging from improved physical education classes, through 4-H, to bicycle riding. "The President's Council," noted Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, "is not solely interested in helping turn out four-minute milers, star pitchers and quarterbacks, or champion tennis players. True, we approve and encourage athletics. But our real objective is a program that helps youth to become fit—as future scientists, professional people, soldiers, workers, farmers, business managers, merchants, financiers—and above all, as husbands and wives, mothers and fathers of tomorrow. To be truly fit — truly up to the demands of life—requires much more than bodily strength. It involves the mind—the training of the mind—the emotions and their use and control—yes, and it involves the soul and spiritual growth, too."

The Council and the President's Citizen Advisory Committee on Youth Fitness which met with it called for seeking out and developing a body of facts about fitness, aggressively mobilizing the resources of government departments, building liaison between the Council and private groups; and encouraging non-governmental fitness promotion.

Doubts Popular Elections Will Benefit Independents

Editor of the Jambar
Sir:

I agree with your suggestion that candidates for Student Council present a platform of views which would be published prior to the election; but I rather doubt that it would be as great a benefit to the independent student as the editorial writer seems to think. The mere publication of a platform will not eliminate the need for active support of a candidate by some group.

The editorial ignores that fact that the average independent students are independent by choice. Many of them (along with many Greeks) have no time to participate actively in school affairs. However, this does not imply that there is an "absolute uninterested attitude" on their part; rather, it implies that theirs is a disinterested attitude, by necessity.

In reference to the comment "the independent is only one," may I suggest "How Big is One?" by Edward Weeks, which appeared in the August, 1958, issue of THE ATLANTIC. Mr. Weeks asks "Is the individual beginning to lose self-confidence and his independence? -- how big is one?" His answer is "One is as big as you yourself can make it."

The independent students who are interested in student affairs are participating in them -- witness the editors of two student publications, and the hard-working officers (greek and independent) who manage to hold together the somewhat crumbling structures of the many student organizations on campus.

In advocating popular election of Student Council officers, it seems that you could present more valid, convincing arguments than "The election of Student Council president by popular election could be a step in school participation by the independent."

Respectfully
Agnes Biscan

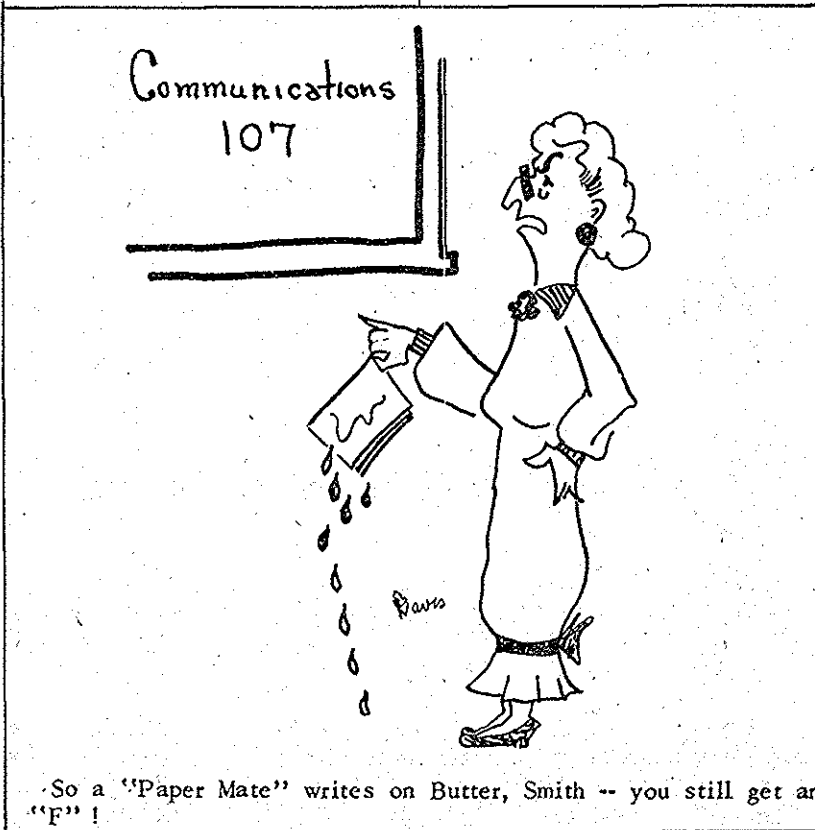

No Limit

Outstanding students at Hiram College, in Hiram, Ohio, will find no financial limits on their ability to take additional college courses under a revised program of intensive study. Under the tuition bonus plan, students who achieve a scholastic record of 3.5 out of a possible 4 and maintain this as a cumulative average, can take additional courses without special permission and without extra charge.

The bonus is designed to encourage superior students to take full advantage of their time and talents.

Thanksgiving Vacation

In observance of the Thanksgiving Holiday, classes will be dismissed on Wed. Nov. 26, at 10 p.m. and will be resumed on Mon. Dec. 1, at 8 a.m.

IFC Football Season Ends; Championship Game Planned

The IFC football season ended play last Sunday with no surprises. The field was muddy, but still there was plenty of scoring. Kappa Sigma Kappa won the Division A championship by easily downing Nu Sigma Rho, 26-0. The Kappa Sig's had a touchdown after two plays of the game. Bob Cain passed to Corbett and then to McCarthy for the touchdown. The Cain to McCarthy combination worked for two more touchdowns. The Kappa Sig's defense was especially sharp in holding down the Nu Sig's to hardly a first down.

The TKE's rolled over the Sig Eps' 40-0, to tie for second place. The winners were the most improved ball club at the end of the season. Petzansky scored three times. Steel, Agresta, and March each had one. Most of the scores came through the air on the undermanned Sig Eps.

In Division B action, Alpha Phi Delta scored on the last play of the game against Phi Gamma. Tony Martino passed to Tom Fortunato for the margin of victory, 7-0. The victory earned a tie for second place.

Play-off Planned for Sunday

This Sunday is the championship game between Division A winner, Kappa Sigma Kappa and Division B winner, Zeta Phi Eta. Game time is one o'clock. Both teams have tough defenses with only six points having been scored on the Zeta Phi's, and only twelve points on the Kappa Sig's. Both have a real good passer and a few good receivers. Each team has some good running half-backs.

The only disadvantage is manpower shortage of the Zeta Phi's. Their men will have to go both ways while the Kappa Sig's have an offensive team and a defensive team. The game is almost a repeat of last year when the Zeta Phi's won, 12-6, in a thriller. This year's game should prove like-wise.

Intramural League Meeting Is Planned

Dom Rosselli, head basketball coach, has announced that all teams wishing to enter the intramural basketball league should have a representative present at a meeting Tues., Nov. 25, 12 noon at the athletic office. The league is open to all groups independent or otherwise.

QUE'S QUIPS

By Jim Quilty

If an individual has ever participated in any competitive sports, he (or she) knows well the value of a pat on the back or a loud yell praising his efforts, whether it be a winning or a losing one.

Throughout most of the football season, as a matter of fact for the last three or four football campaigns at Youngstown, little or no support has been shown toward the Penguin gridders despite many fine football exhibitions.

Many words were spoken and written blasting the student body for their non-support. It appeared to go in one ear and out the other.

Without warning, the whole stadium, especially the cheering section, at Rayen Stadium erupted in a flow of cheers during the Youngstown-Gustavus-Adolphus game.

The contest was bitterly contested with the Penguins losing by a touchdown on a disputed call, 26-20.

Gives Players Incentive

But even the quelling game didn't prevent the players from hearing the cheers. The players noticed the yelling and gained that little something that spurred them nearly to a victory. They really felt good.

Even older followers of the Penguins commented on the cheering. Orchids go out to the "new" cheering section.

Reports coming back from Toledo indicate great size and depth were encountered in the Penguins 21-8 loss there Saturday night.

Penguins End Season at .500

The loss ended the season for the Penguins and dropped them to an even .500 percentage, four wins against four losses. Dike Beede's gridders picked up steadily after a slow start despite one of the toughest schedules in recent years.

Football fans in Youngstown can definitely look forward to coming years with great expectation and anticipation. Five seniors, four of them regulars, will be lost come 1959.

However, the number of returning lettermen will more than suffice for the loss of glue fingered end Tom Smolanovich, fast charging tackler John Krafcik and John Armeni, and fullback Ray Carter. Herm Yassall, the fifth member of the quintet, received a back injury midway through the 1957 season and was used only sparingly since.

Zeta Phi Battles Kappa Sigs

Inter-fraternity council football ends Sunday with a duplicate of last years title contest. This puts Zeta Phi against Kappa Sigma Kappa. The Zeta Phi's have run roughshod over four division opponents by at least four touchdowns each game. The Kappas were held to a 15-6 win over the Tekes but haven't been challenged since.

Joe Allegretto, Corky Parm and Mel Klinger have supplied the offensive punch while Bob Cain, Jim Corbett, and Jerry McCarthy lead the Kappa Sig scoring.

Game time is 1 p.m. at Borts Field.

Fraternity Grid Competition

Phi Gamma's back Frank Naunecola attempts an end run as Ed Stizza of Alpha Phi Delta closes in. Alpha Phi Delta won the contest 7-0.

Toledo Defeats YU Gridders in Muddy Battle

Youngstown University closed the football season bowing to Toledo University on a muddy, rain-soaked field. The loss for the Penguins gave them a record of 4-4 over the season.

Those who witnessed the game saw a good preview of next years team. Injuries were common to the seniors. Armeni, Krafcik, and Giambattisti were out for a while. The underclassmen seeing lots of action were Jordan, Deley, Sevich, Lucente, Stumpo, White, Johnson, and Morkasky.

Toledo led at the end of the first half, 8-0. Their ground game controlled the two periods. In the second half, things were turned around. This time, the Red and White dominated the game with their passing gains and some nifty running by half-back Dave Johnson. Harold Green did most of the passing as the team hit on 10 of 35 passes for 115 yds.

The Penguin score was set up by a pass from Green to White. With the ball on the seven yard line, Johnson scored in two plays. The two extra points were scored on a Green to Johnson pass. Toledo was given two scores by the Penguins. One was on a blocked kick and the other a fumble.

Roos Transfers To Waynesburg

Bill Roos, sterling shooter of last season's Penguin rifle team which gained runner-up honors in the Lake Erie Intercollegiate Rifle Conference, has transferred to Waynesburg College in Waynesburg, Pa.

Roos, who gained All-America honors last year, is one of the two top riflers who will not return. Graduation took Mary Lou Moss, the squad's No. 2 shooter.

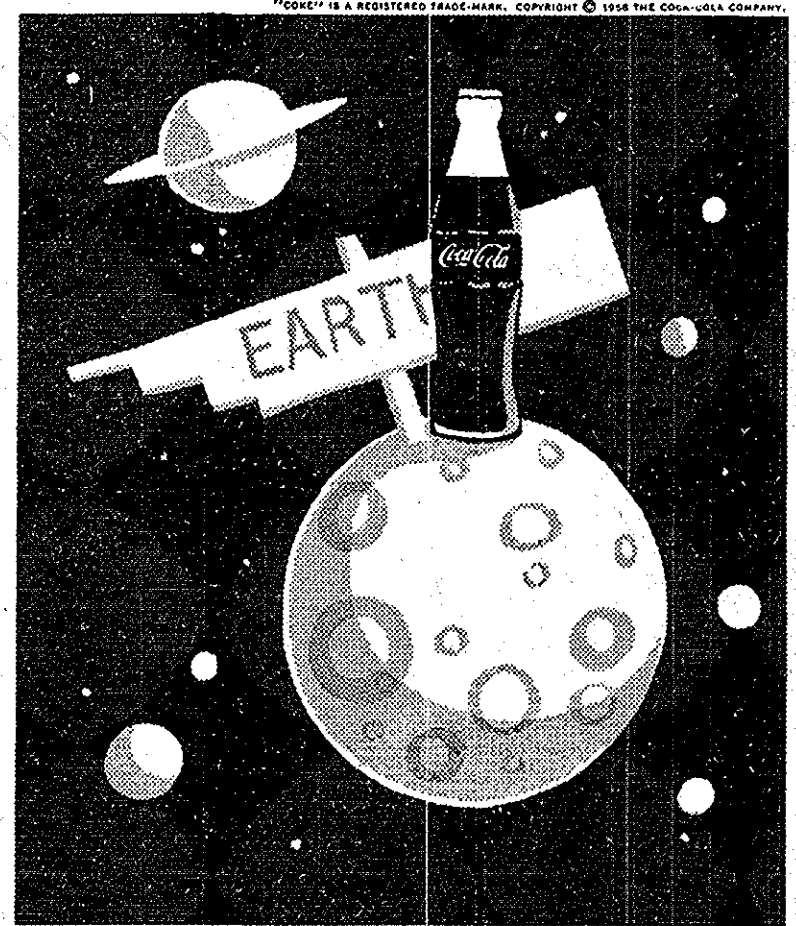

Lt. John R. Harlan is at the reins of the rifle team this season. He succeeds M/Sgt. Nick Felt, now serving in Germany.

Jr. Varsity Defeats Baldwin-Wallace

Youngstown University's freshman team charged back in the last half to defeat Baldwin-Wallace, 28-18, Monday at Volney Rodgers. John Kolesar provided the spark for victory on his zig-zag runs of 57 and 78 yard runs in the second half. The Little Penguins were losing at the half 18-12.

Baldwin-Wallace scored first, but the Penguins came back when Jim Richards scored from his quarter back position on a 60 yard keeper play. Bill Hollis showed some excellent pass catching ability when he snagged one of Richards aeriels for a 43 yard scoring play. Hollis also scored the four extra points on two passes.

Baldwin-Wallace was on a scoring march with the score 20-18 in favor of the Little Penguins. A fumble recovery on the 22 yard line by Wally Boyer ended the threat. Shortly after, Kolesar clinched the game on his long run. The Prosh ended the season with a one and two record.

Out of this world!

Space travelers—be on the alert! Make sure there's a cargo of Coke tucked away in the rocket! You may not be able to buy your favorite sparkling drink on the moon . . . but that's just about the only place you can't. So when you're ready for the big lift, be sure the cheerful lift of Coca-Cola goes along!

THE CLOTHES YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

In this column we take up fashions for college men, which means of course, the Ivy Look. Today's Ivy Look clothes have made a great stride forward. Not only do they have thin lapels, three buttons, narrow trousers, and a minimum of shoulder padding, but—now hear this!—this year they are actually covered with ivy!

This new development, while attractive beyond the singing of it, nevertheless gives rise to certain hazards. For instance, people keep trying to plant you on Arbor Day. Indeed, this is precisely what happened to two SAE's of my acquaintance, Walter R. Gurlash and Fred Rasp. Before they could protest, they were snatched up, planted, limed, and watered, and today they support a hammock in Cut and Shoot, Vermont.

People keep trying to plant you on Arbor Day...

Let us now discuss shirts. Again this year the campus favorite is the good old Oxford with button-down collar and barrel cuffs. This is without doubt an admirable garment, but let me ask you a question: if you don't wear anything but Oxfords, what do you do with all the cuff links people have been giving you for your birthday since you were twelve years old?

Well sir, some fellows have their wrists pierced, but what E. Mackenzie Sigafos, a Chi Psi of my acquaintance, did was to take a dozen pairs of his handsome gold monogrammed cuff links and string them together in a charm bracelet for his girl, Jo-Carol Isobar.

(It turned out, incidentally, to be a mistake. In short order so many admirers accrued to Jo-Carol on account of her gorgeous bracelet that she grew tired of plain old E. Mackenzie, and one night when she was seated on a bench in Lovers Lane throwing sticks for E. Mackenzie to retrieve, she suddenly, cruelly, without warning, told him they were through.

"I am heartbroken," said E. Mackenzie, heartbroken. "But if go you must, give me back my charm bracelet."

"No, I will keep it," said Jo-Carol.

"What for?" said E. Mackenzie. "You can't wear it. The initials on the cuff links are all mine—E.M.S."

"Ha, ha, the joke is on you," said Jo-Carol. "Yesterday I was voted Miss Chinese Restaurant of 1958."

"So?" said E. Mackenzie.

"So," replied Jo-Carol. "E.M.S. does not stand for E. Mackenzie Sigafos. It stands for Eat More Subgum!"

A broken man, E. Mackenzie today squeezes out a meagre living as a pendulum in Cleveland. Jo-Carol was killed in a tong war.)

But I digress. We were talking about well-dressed men, and the one essential for every well-dressed man—and every well-dressed woman too—is a well-dressed cigarette—neat, compact, flavorful, and correct for work or play, sunshine or shower, repose or revelry, darkness or light. And where does one find such a perfect companion? Just go to any tobacco counter and ask for Philip Morris. Ask for it in long size or regular. Ask for it in soft pack or hard. But ask for it; that's the important thing. Don't just stand there making cryptic gestures at your tobaccoist. He may be armed.

Looking Around...

John Poulson Sam Sanfillipo

Unless a drastic and unexpected visit from a close and very dear friend becomes a reality, this week's column will be written by a singleton. It's up to the readers (if any) to affix the blame.

There has been a rumor around campus that the Purnell Room is becoming an IN place for the OUT people. It has been noticed that OUT people are carrying on way OUT activities.

Around this campus, certain organizations are having their Beautiful pictures taken for the Blissful Edition of the Yearbook; however, in this issue certain restrictions are being imposed upon them. A motto has been formed -- Viva La Independency.

Did anyone, just anyone, notice that this column was left out of the last issue? We must have a whole hoard of readers because if we remember way back, we think we can recall one person. (Hi Mickey.)

Eight more weeks of school left, or, eight IN weeks for two OUT people who are trying to become IN in the OUT world. Lots of luck, Doc. Harder tells us. Who was it that said a college graduate had a future? (Please contact Jambar office if you know.)

By the way, what is the overall length of leotards? (Just a passing comment that we hope passes on.)

Please contact the Jambar office about suggestions why you think the paper didn't come out last Friday. The winner will receive one free EDITOR along with all male members of the staff.

FLASH !! The Institution regime is once again on the warpath. Watch your language men. You may become IN in the OUT world.

Another FLASH !! Look out for the influx of various small insects on our campus. We hear that some are hibernating in the beards of Kappa Sigma Kappa. Do any members of the female sex have an itching sensation?

Why, why, why did they fill in the hole in front of the snack bar? For once we get something original on our campus and they louse it up. We hear that they buried our Student Council. So much for mediocrity. Now it's your turn to say something John.

I think it's all been said Sam. We'll leave it up to Mickey now and we'll see dear old Y.U. in another century or so ...

 are good enough for you? Remember if you feel this way, others may feel the same way about you! Also how were your manners in the Snack Bar this week?

 Most of us put on our best manners when we have company, don't we? But let's remember that we owe the same courtesy to our professors and fellow students as we owe to visitors. Don't turn off your manners just because open house is over.
