Fred Blue, chairman of the ad hoc committee reviewing the Black Studies program, formally presented his committee's report. Dr. Blue asked for questions and was asked for clarification on the following items: a) that a general notation stating that Black Studies counts University-wide in the areas of Humanities and/or Social Studies vs. a listing of every course in Black Studies on individual program curriculum check-sheets. b) that no implication is intended that discriminatory practices have been going on in the hiring of full-service faculty (ref: Part III of the report).

The ad hoc Committee was commended by the programs division for an impressive report.

It was moved and seconded that the chair of the ad hoc committee be designated to submit the motion to accept the report to the Senate for further action. Motion carried.

Programs Division review^{ed} and approved the following program changes:

85-2 Internal rearrangement of course requirements in the BA-Economics program
