MEDICARE DEFEATED — FOR NOW

On Wednesday, July 18, 1962, an editorial in our local paper carried the above caption. I fully agree with this ONE singular observation and opinion. Truly, July 17 was an Independence Day for 1962. As you know, on this date 52 of 100 Senators voted "aye" to table President Kennedy's Medicare Bill for this session. How long this action can be sustained will depend entirely on what we, as physicians and citizens, do in the very immediate future to preserve and improve where necessary the best health care system in the world. Our entire society owes a standing vote of thanks to all the members of our Freedom Team and its co-chairmen, Drs. McDonough and Schreiber. They all gave unselfishly of their time for the benefit of all citizens.

On page 270 of this bulletin is a copy of a letter written to Dr. George M. Fister, the new AMA President, by the Chairman of the National Affairs Committee of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce. I hope you will read it and weigh the suggestions carefully, not only as it pertains to our own problems but all of the other issues which can affect our futures in much the same manner as Medicare. More than a few of these other issues are just as threatening to our way of life and the heritage of our children.

Most of you will never know what a tremendous effort our local Chamber of Commerce puts forth to better inform our citizens on good legislation, as well as such detrimental legislation as Medicare. Only about 20 per cent of our society's members belong to the Chamber of Commerce. Had the Chambers of Commerce on the local, state and national levels shown only a 20 per cent support against Medicare I certainly believe the final vote on July 17 could have been reversed. I sincerely hope that most of you will give serious consideration, if you are not already a member, not only to join but to take an active part in the activities of our Chamber of Commerce.

It is my further hope that our members will heed not only Mr. Powers' suggestions pertaining directly to our profession, but also take prompt action concerning his statements in paragraph 1, subhead (c). These steps could assist in advancing our cause and also show a true interest and desire to preserve the entire Free Enterprise System in accordance with the Constitution and its Bill of Rights.

A REVIEW OF VICTORY

What a Spring and Summer this has been for the physicians of our Valley and this Country of ours! We have witnessed the defeat of Social Security Medicare and the battles of the Saskatchewan doctors. Political turmoil in medical circles is everywhere evident in the press: England, Italy, Australia, Hungary, Quebec, Saskatchewan, and Austria.

In our country the politics of legislation played an important role in Medicare's defeat, both in the House and in the Senate . . . as the Bulletin has outlined in this issue by describing the dilemma of Senator Randolph of West Virginia. However, the most important factor in the defeat of Medicare was the failure of the Administration to marshal overwhelming community-constituency support for Social Security Medical (or more truthfully, hospital care). There are many ancillary reasons for this lack of support, but the cardinal factor is that an "image" of the doctor in his relationship with his patient is still critical—and the balance of that power is the belief by a patient that his doctor is intensely interested in his patient's well-being and welfare. The doctor's moral influence must remain clear and become ever more evident.

Each of us, in every moment in our public and private life, must constantly remember to cultivate with our patients and friends—and the public—a rapport of such effectiveness, an interest so consuming, that the "image" shield will be many times burnished so that its reflected light will insure continued victory for what we earnestly feel to be in the best interest of our patients and therefore, our country.

In this regard we cannot defect from the discipline of our calling—with mutual regard comes mutual responsibility. With all due acknowledgement of the doggedness of adherence to principle which demanded utmost sacrifice on the part of our Saskatchewan brothers, our first obligation is to our patient—serving him in his best interests is to serve our community and country wisely. We must continue, as we have in the past, to influence legislation through our rapport with our patients and the exercising of our constitutional political privileges, rather than arrogant rebellion.

LETTER

George M. Fister, M.D.
535 N. Dearborn Street
Chicago 11, Illinois

Dear Dr. Fister:

The American Medical Association is to be commended on its unrelenting battle against Medicare. It has earned a brief respite.

Now that this fight is over, there are two points I would like to stress:

1. The A. M. A. must improve its public relations. The following are suggestions:

a. Take steps to show the public the value of freedom in choice of medical consultants and the privilege of the patient-doctor relationship.

b. Show the public by pertinent statistics that doctors do a lot of volunteer work—for nothing; this to offset the increasingly popular notion that doctors—already too wealthy—are only interested in their own fees.

c. Help get doctors off their duff on other issues besides Medicare which are threatening our way of life. Doctors, as a group and as individuals, have been below par in speaking up on political matters. Help get them active in politics.

2. The A. M. A. must come forward, and sell, an alternative to Medicare. If Kerr-Mills is doing the job, it needs to be publicized. Also repeated hammering on the progress made in private insurance. The battle is won but the war still needs to be fought.

I am one of a group active in the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce in opposing the cradle-to-grave philosophy of government, including Medicare. Let's get all groups who are concerned working actively toward the same objectives.

A. M. A. is to be congratulated on the job it has done; but it must continue, improve, and extend its fight.

Very sincerely yours,
John Weed Powers

Chamber of Commerce

NEWSPRINT ROUNDUP

Included in this section is a crosscut of editorial opinion and newspaper quotes, relevant and irrelevant to our first round battle with Medicare.

National Observer

"The Politics of Defeat"

"West Virginians shoved John F. Kennedy a long way toward the White House in their presidential primary on May 10, 1960. But last week, West Virginia loomed large in the amazing legislative licking the President took on the Medical Care Bill, his worst setback yet.

"The vote that sent the bill tumbling was delivered by a long time administration supporter—60-year-old Jennings Randolph, the junior senator from West Virginia. With his vote he hoped to save West Virginia's state government $11,000,000, taking officials back home off the book.

"The medical care bill, aimed at providing limited hospital care through an increase in Social Security payments, was hauled before the Senate as an amendment to a general Welfare bill, and it was that same bill that Senator Randolph and his close friend, Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D., Okla.) were counting on to legalize West Virginia's spending of $11,000,000 in Federal Funds that auditors recently declared to be illegal.

"Senator Randolph was caught in a dilemma. On the one hand, he favored medical care for the aged under Social Security. On the other hand, he wanted to save his troubled state as much cash as he could.

"But he knew that passage of the bill with Medicare attached would only have led to the whole bill being stymied in Congress. Without the amendment, the Welfare bill was routine.

". . . Senator Randolph's problem—and Medicare's fate—came to a head on Tuesday.

". . . The voting got underway. It was obvious that the final tally was going to be very close. When the clerk came to Senator Randolph on the roll call a hush fell on the chamber. 'Yea,' the Senator answered. The spectators gasped.

"Democratic leaders had been pressuring Senator Randolph for a 'Nay' vote. If they had gotten it 84-year-old Carl Haydler of Arizona would have reluctantly voted to keep the bill alive.

"After Senator Randolph defected, Senator Hayden went ahead and voted to table the bill too.

"The final vote was 52 to 48."

". . . It's clear that the King-Anderson Medical Care Bill died for lack of massive public support."

George E. Sokolsky

"These Days" "The Importance of Timing"

". . . In the field of economics, objective advice is utterly impossible. The objective person, in this field, can only be an empty headed technician who says that here are a bunch of figures, do with them what you can. Figures do not lie, but they require interpretation at every stage!

". . . The Medicare Bill must be judged from this standpoint. Tacking it on to the Social Security System presupposed that Social Security is popular. Workers regard it as a payroll tax. They prefer benefits outside of Social Security and union contracts prove this to be so. Many occasional and marginal workers decline jobs when they are asked for their Social Security numbers.

" . . . If the object of Medicare was to help those over 65, it should not have been tied to the Social Security System. If its object was to expand the Social Security System, it was bound to fail.

" . . . A system of medical economics can be worked out which will function if it does not get mixed up in the side issues. Advice on this subject of a beneficial nature can come to the President, not from the top men of the profession, the great names, men likely to be connected with foundations or associations, but by polling general practitioners, the men actually involved in the problem."

Drew Pearson

Detroit Free Press

"It's now estimated the doctors lobby organized by the American Medical Association has spent $7 million to defeat medical care for the aged."

Charles Lyle, Chairman, Oakland County G.O.P.

Detroit Free Press (In Answer)

"This, of course, is not correct; the American Medical Association has spent this money to defeat the King-Anderson Bill which reports to provide medical care for the aged, but in reality falls so miserably short of doing the job that needs to be done that it deserved the defeat it suffered.

"Mr. Pearson's further statements ignore completely the millions and millions of dollars 'anonymously' spent by proponents of the King-Anderson Bill, with their giant rallies held all over the United States, the nationwide television presentation of President Kennedy and the thousands and thousands of brochures, pamphlets and other materials in support of the Bill. We are not told who is paying the bill for this.

" . . . the issue was whether or not the King-Anderson Bill was the best way to solve this problem."

Of Abraham Ribicoff

Time

"Of his less than white-hot campaign for Medicare, a Democratic member of the House Ways and Means Committee grumped, 'If Abe was really for this bill we might pass it.'"

San Francisco Chronicle—Associated Press (July 20)

Family doctors who run Britain's state Medical Service demanded pay raises yesterday, claiming some of them earn little more than unskilled workers. The British Medical Association was told that:

- Doctors are falling behind the rest of Britain in living standards.
- Britain is losing thousands of doctors to higher salaries in other countries.

One was a man who retired at the age of 70. He ran out of money at the age of 92, so of course the Republicans accused him of poor planning.

This fellow, eight years later, went to live with a daughter and eight years later his son-in-law retired. There wasn't enough money to take care of both families, so we are now providing for him.

QUICK FACTS ABOUT O.M.I.

The preliminary processing of Ohio Medical Indemnity claim forms is coordinated with the Blue Cross office through which the subscriber is enrolled.

An application card is completed by subscribers when they enroll in O. M. I. These enrollment records are maintained, and serviced, in the seven Blue Cross offices in Ohio; it is from these records that we establish the subscriber's eligibility for claim benefits.

Our staff of examiners check the claim form for correctness and determine what the payment of indemnity will be for the specific service under the particular contract. In addition to the schedule of indemnities listed in the contract, each examiner has a precedent list of approximately 1,200 procedures, or combinations of procedures, for which we have established indemnities.

Occasionally, an examiner receives a claim for a procedure which does not appear in the contract or precedent list. It is then referred to our Medical Consultant who advises us the relative position of this specific service among the procedures for which we have established indemnities.

Claims requiring additional information are referred to the correspondence section for reply. A letter of explanation is mailed to the subscriber on rejected claims. The approved claims are routed to the check writing department for preparation of indemnity checks.

Next month business operation.

How to join the "CORONARY CLUB"

Ten rules for membership in the "Coronary Club"—all invitations to heart attacks—are cited by Francis J. Curtis, St. Louis business executive.

1. Your job comes first; personal considerations are secondary.
2. Go to the office evenings, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.
3. Take this briefcase home on evenings you don't go to the office.
This way you can review completely all troubles and worries of the day.
4. Never say no to a request; always say yes.
5. Accept all invitations to meetings, banquets, etc.
6. Don't eat a restful, relaxing meal—always plan a conference for the meal hour.
7. Regard fishing, hunting, golf, bowling, billiards, cards, gardening, as a waste of time or money.
8. Believe it's poor policy to take all the vacation allowed you.
9. Never delegate responsibility to others. Carry the entire load yourself at all times.
10. If your work calls for traveling, work all day and drive all night to keep the next morning's appointment.

The second plaque honored him as General Practitioner of the Year.

LETTER

Wednesday, July 18, 1962

Congratulations, Dr. Stertzbach:

To you, and the Medical Association, on a job well done. Perhaps, sometime, in the near future, the American public will realize that the defeat of the King-Anderson Bill was for their benefit in preventing the seeping in of socialized medicine.

Ninety-five per cent of the American people still do not know the very limited scope that this bill covered, but are under the impression it would cover all medical, hospital, medication, etc., because we have had to explain it to them in our stores.

Again, congratulations on a public relations job, well done.

20 and 10 YEARS AGO

Thirty Years Ago—August, 1932

The depression was bad. Superintendent Byron Stewart of the Youngstown Hospital said that hospital income was down from $18,000 to $5,000 a month. Doctors were no longer able to carry the load of caring for indigent patients and were calling for payment out of public funds. Banks were failing and mortgages were being foreclosed. President Hoover said prosperity was just around the corner.

Five cases of typhoid fever were reported. The State Board of Health was supplying arsenicals free for the treatment of syphilis. Arsphenamine and Bismuth were the drugs of choice. The Wassermann test was used for diagnosis. The doctors enjoyed an old-time picnic at Heberding's Indian Creek Farm. They rowed on the lake and swam in it, played baseball and pitched horseshoes; then they stuffed themselves with fried chicken and corn on the cob washed down with prize Holstein milk.

Twenty Years Ago—August, 1942

There was such a rush of applications for commissions in the armed forces that the Office of Procurement and Assignment was swamped. A list of names of those who applied looked like a roster of our entire membership. Members listed who were leaving for active duty included B. I. Firestone, H. E. Hathhorn, P. M. Kaufman, J. E. L. Keyes, Herman Kling, P. R. McConnell, W. D. McElroy and Ivan Smith.

The Mahoning County Welfare Department was handling the medical care of the indigent sick under Director Isadore Feuer. The Bulletin said he was a shining example of a public official who combines in action both prudence and good faith.

Loren Shaffer of Detroit addressed the Society on "Modern Management of Early Syphilis." He described the new rapid treatment with Mapharsen, giving 1.2 mgm per pound of body weight by intravenous drip every day for five days. This was known as the "Five Day Cure."

Special prominence was given to a long article on Poliomyelitis, a timely subject and serious problem those August and September days. Treatment with hot packs and the use of the Drinker respirator were described.

Ten Years Ago—August, 1952

Ten cases of poliomyelitis were reported that month and Health Commissioner Tims hoped the situation would not get as bad as 1951. He urged everyone to avoid mixing with strange crowds, fatigue, chills and overexposure to direct sun. He advised against giving children routine immunizations during the polio season. Jonas Salk was working on his vaccine down at Pittsburgh but we still had a year to wait until it was ready.

Dr. W. H. Bunn proposed a Home Care Program in Youngstown for chronically ill and aged persons. It was intended to empty hospital beds filled with chronic cases and make them available for acute cases. The plan was talked about for a long time but it never passed the experimental stage.

The Keogh-Reed bill was being pushed in Congress. It provided for a voluntary pension plan for the self-employed, including physicians. Nothing ever came of it, either.

The Commerce Department reported that the mean net income of physicians in private practice in 1951 was $13,378.

Frank W. Morrison opened his office for general practice at 1506 Market Street. Sam Schwebel re-opened his office for the practice of dermatology.

Hats were worn by men as well as women those days. The Scott Company had them in six colors for $8.50.

IF concern about high cost has kept you from prescribing topical steroids

... THESE FACTS MAY CHANGE YOUR MIND

Perhaps you have hesitated to prescribe the benefits of a topical steroid because of concern about high cost.

Perhaps you have felt that the packaging of topical steroids sometimes provides inadequate, uneconomical quantities to suffice for a complete course of treatment.

If any of these considerations reflects your thinking, we believe you will be interested to learn that an effective, yet reasonably priced topical steroid now is available for your patients with dermatologic disorders... DILODERM[®] Cream (brand of dichlorisone acetate).

As a matter of fact... you will find not only that DILODERM Cream is beneficial in a wide variety of dermatoses responsive to topical steroids, but also that it costs less in most instances than generic hydrocortisone creams. In addition, DILODERM affords even greater savings over other topical steroids. Actually, the 15 Gm. tube of DILODERM Cream costs less than virtually all other topical steroid preparations now prescribed.

As a matter of economy... the 15 Gm. tube of DILODERM is well suited for the treatment of large skin areas or extensive lesions. It provides three times as much medication for only slightly more than double the cost of a small 5 Gm. tube of unbranded hydrocortisone.

To sum up... DILODERM Cream in the 15 Gm. tube is effective, economical in price and economical in use.

Also available: DILODERM Cream, 5 Gm. tube; NEO-DILODERM[®] Cream 0.25%, 5 and 15 Gm. tubes; DILODERM and NEO-DILODERM Foam, 10 Gm. dispensers; DILODERM and NEO-DILODERM Aerosols, 50 Gm. containers.

For complete details, consult latest Schering literature available from your Schering Representative or Medical Services Department, Schering Corporation, Bloomfield, New Jersey.
