If you're satisfied with your present professional liability insurance plan, why switch to PICO?

As a PICO policyholder, you have the much preferred occurrence coverage, competitive rates and excellent services.

The requirement of your consent before the settlement of any claims prior to judgment is just one of the special features that makes PICO's plan superior.

As a PICO shareholder, you have a say in how the company conducts its business. You also have the opportunity to benefit, as an owner, from the growth and profitability of a stock insurance company.

Even if you think you're satisfied with your present professional liability plan, this is reason enough to switch to PICO.

Formed by physicians, to serve physicians.

A SECOND OPINION

Medicine is as much an art as a science. Well trained and qualified practitioners in the "healing arts" can have different opinions as to the course of medical and/or surgical therapy employed in a particular case, and, in the final analysis, there is no objective single correct way. The end result, therefore, may be the same in spite of the fact that differing modalities of therapy were used in cases with similar pathology. There is no absolute, step by step "cook book" that can be employed by the physician.

If the many articles in both the lay press and the medical literature can be believed, Americans by the thousands are being subjected to an inordinately high number of unnecessary operative procedures. They infer that, along with the high costs, there is the concomitant risk of complications and even death as a result of these "unnecessary operations."

In all of the current literature decrying the "unnecessary surgery" there is yet to appear an attempt to work out an objective definition, either by lay critics or the medical profession, of the word "necessary" as it applies to surgical intervention. Certainly no one would deny that an operation performed to prolong life, regardless of the quality (of life), or an attempt, even if unsuccessful, to cure a patient of a potentially fatal disease such as cancer, must be considered necessary even in the most unsophisticated or underdeveloped society (or culture). Few, also, would argue about the necessity of reparative surgery following acute trauma or the more chronic ravages of degenerative disease (e.g. total hip replacement).

Most emphatically, where the controversy arises is in that large range of procedures, which, indeed, do not prolong life nor repair the ravages of injury or disease, but rather they improve the quality of that life. Some examples —

1. A man with a non-incarcerated small inguinal hernia can wear a truss. This is a nuisance and he would not have to wear this truss if the hernia were repaired.
2. A woman with menorrhoea for 15 days of each cycle, not controlled by D & C or hormone therapy, can continue to use a larger than normal share of sanitary napkins. Hysterectomy, however, would permanently correct the problem.

Mrs. Kay Sarantopoulos

May 22, 1933 - October 6, 1978

It is with deep sorrow that the death of Mrs. Kay Sarantopoulos, President of the Women's Auxiliary, was perceived last month. Her death was premature and at best untimely. We have forgotten that death is uncontrollable and it is something that we can all expect. People die just as they have begun something new — experiencing some new possibility, grasping some new and vital insights and developing their personality. In the middle of developing one's self and of creating, death comes unexpectedly. This has been a month in which death has forgotten its place.

The death of the new Pope, for example, appeared somehow unnatural as did the death of the passengers on the 727 in San Diego. It is our human seed that makes us think that death should have a better sense of timing. We try to envision life in predictable patterns of growth and decline, and therefore feel cheated if someone we love does not fill out the time table.

Mrs. Sarantopoulos will be missed by all because of her enthusiasm as defined in its original meaning i.e. being inspired or possessed by the gods. Kay's love encompassed her family, church and community. She was an inspiration for those with whom she worked and a leader. She was an example to be followed and whose memory shall always remain eternal among those whom she loved and loved her. She was an example of the true meaning of love; she always gave of herself willingly without forethought of the cost. As St. Paul states, "I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that shall be revealed in us."

FROM THE DESK OF THE PRESIDENT

3. A person with nasal congestion due to a deviated nasal septum can continue to breathe through his mouth, but would be more comfortable if a submucous resection were done.
4. A patient with ugly scars on the face is not particularly functionally disabled. A revision of the scars may, however, restore some emotional well being.

An individual with protruding ears, a large nose, large or small breasts etc., can have the necessary corrective surgery, but is it necessary? Certainly the emotional well being of the individual could be enhanced.

These words "necessary" vs. "unnecessary" pose a significant dilemma. A question that is most formidable is: necessary for what? Certainly in backward, economically deprived, undeveloped and "emerging" nations, all people should be assured the minimum of medical care and surgery to assume a significantly long life, based on world averages. As a nation becomes more affluent we then think not only of survival and prolonging life, but rather we now concentrate on the improvement of the quality of the life we have prolonged. The automobile, 100 years ago, was unnecessary because it did not exist. The horse was necessary. In 1978 would most people think of the family car as an unnecessary luxury or an absolute necessity?

Will our Federal government in its "omnipotent benevolence" now take over the determination of that which is necessary versus that which is extraneous? Will the motivation for this determination be based on benevolence or rather "cost control?" We must go back to the basic fact—whoever pays the piper will call the tune.

I do trust that the simple definition of "necessary" will be expounded so that there are no misunderstandings later on. Will Washington, in telling us what it deems unnecessary, mesh with the needs and desires of the citizens of this land? I hope so.

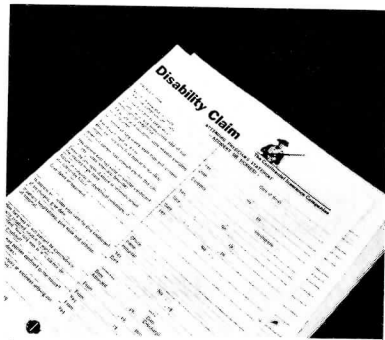

—George H. Dietz, M.D.

How to pass a disability income problem on to an insurance company.

If you become disabled, your earning power could be interrupted. Maybe for a long time. But your everyday expenses might well continue.

It makes sense to buy a Disability Income Plan ahead of time . . . one that goes into action when the unexpected happens. We have the Plan for you . . . the only one that is sponsored and officially endorsed by both the OSMA and the Mahoning County Medical Society.

NO MORE TANKS!

The amazing Bendix Respiratory Support System makes bulky, high-pressure oxygen cylinders a thing of the past. This attractive, furniture-like unit literally manufactures oxygen from normal room air. The RSS draws room air through a series of carbon filters and molecular sieve beds to remove impurities and extract nitrogen content. The resulting oxygen enriched air, dialed in at concentrations of 90% at 2 liters per minute to 48% at 10 liters per minute, is delivered to the patient through conventional cannulas, masks and humidifiers. RSS operates without liquid or high-pressure cylinders and requires no chemical or gas filling. And, the high cost, inconvenience and patient apprehension of oxygen tanks in the home is eliminated. Only a small portable back-up cylinder is recommended. RSS operates on regular household current and is medicare-approved for purchase or rental.

CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION

As the final year of the first CME triennium approaches, many physicians will be completing their 150 hours of required continuing medical education. It has been suggested by the Ohio State Medical Association that doctors should not wait until December of 1979 to submit their CME credits to the Ohio Medical Board. It is feared that a deluge of last-minute submissions will cause undue problems for the Board and doctors alike.

For up-to-date information on the CME program, watch for the December issue of the Ohio State Medical Journal. The issue will be devoted to Continuing Medical Education.

NOMINATIONS IN NOVEMBER

Nominations for officers, council and other offices will be in order at the November 21st meeting of the Mahoning County Medical Society at the Youngstown Club. The Nominating Committee report will be presented and further nominations may be made by members by secret ballot. Reservations may be made at the Medical Society office. Wives and husbands of members are welcome.

CANCER "SMOKEOUT" IS NOV. 16

From the Bulletin

FORTY YEARS AGO — NOVEMBER 1938

Our Society hit the jackpot that month. Just read the imposing list of new members: Herman Ipp, G. E. DeCicco, Herbert Hutt, John Renner, Barclay Brandmiller, Joseph J. Sofranec, William E. Sovik and Alexander K. Phillips, all outstanding members.

Dr. J. H. Talbott of the Massachusetts General Hospital addressed the Society on "The Use of the Chemical Laboratory in Diagnosis and Practice of Medicine". Dr. Talbott led the group from the Harvard Fatigue Laboratory whose research work here in Youngstown in 1934 solved the problem of heat cramps in the mill workers.

THIRTY YEARS AGO — NOVEMBER 1948

A leading article in that issue was written by John L. Scarnecchia on "Retrodiscalplacements of the Uterus". Dr. Scarnecchia received word in October of his election to fellowship in the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Bryan Hutt passed his examinations successfully and was accredited by the American Board of Pediatrics. Dr. E. R. McNeal opened his office for the practice of Internal Medicine.

Dr. W. H. Bunn was elected President and Dr. R. B. Poling Vice President of the new Youngstown Heart Association.

Dr. W. J. Flynn became an active member of the Medical Society.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — NOVEMBER 1958

Editor Morris Rosenblum wrote: "The premise that physicians should adhere exclusively to the practice of medicine is outmoded. A doctor, like every other professional, business, trade or industrial worker has a debt of responsibility to take an active interest and working part in Civic and Community affairs".

Frank Gelbman had a very informative article on the Dangers and Complications of Hypnosis.

New members that month were Robert Warnock, Winifred Liu Mutschman, Julius Nemeth, Joseph Tandatnick, Henry Ellison, Curtis Fisher, John Hyland, Milton Lenhart, Samuel Petraglia and Arthur Whittaker.

New members of the American College of Surgeons were Bert Katz, John Guju, Richard Murray, Cal Kunin and Ed Thomas. Alexander Calder opened his office on Glenwood Avenue.

TEN YEARS AGO — NOVEMBER 1968

The Medical Dental Bureau introduced the new "voice page" System so that doctors could get their messages wherever they might be. With the new gadget you couldn't even find peace in the bathroom or the golf course. Oh, the joys of scientific progress!

There was an article in this issue of the Bulletin explaining to the members what an "Extended Care Facility" (ECF) was and the requirements needed for patients to qualify for ECF care under the Medicare plan. The "guidelines" kept changing so much that we had to install a department of Social Service in our hospitals to handle all the details.

New members that month were Dr. Gene Fry, Dr. Louis Alexander and Dr. Wm. Moskalik. Dr. Sanford Gaylord gave a lecture at the University of Pittsburgh on the use of the new fiberoptic gastric camera.

—Robert R. Fisher, M.D.

Our Blue Shield professional relations managers are busy people, constantly out calling on doctors and their office staffs. Which means that if you phone, the area manager may not be in right at that moment.

However, expert help may still be available. The area office secretaries are trained and capable in providing assistance with the more common and frequent kinds of matters.

They can check on the status or disposition of claims, answer questions about whether a certain service is payable under a specific contract or find out if the patient is a currently enrolled Blue Shield subscriber.
