All hail to thee, O Youngstown,
Our Alma Mater fair;
In sunlight and starshine
We see thee in all thy glory.
The Red and the White, thy glorious colors,
Ever we praise and hold them

The Commencement Speaker

ATTORNEY JOHN H. BUSTAMANTE

Attorney John H. Bustamante has provided outstanding leadership to his community and the nation as well as to the legal profession. A partner in the Cleveland law firm George, Pegg and Bustamante, he was recently cited by Time magazine as one of 200 American Leaders for the Future. In 1967 he was presented the Southern Christian Leadership Conference Freedom Award by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and in 1969 was presented a key to the city of Cleveland for "Distinguished Service to Mankind" by the mayor on "John H. Bustamante Day." He was recognized twice in 1969 by the Ohio Senate for distinguished service to the State. In July 1974 he received a special citation from Mayor Tom Bradley and the City Council of Los Angeles.

Attorney Bustamante became the youngest chairman of a board of trustees of an accredited American college or university in 1964 when he was elected chairman of Central State University's board, a position he held for five years. He is currently chairman of the board and director of the First Bank and Trust of Cleveland, a director of the Higbee

Company, and a director of the Northern Ohio Redevelopment Corporation. He is a director, vice-president and general legal counsel of the P. W. Publishing Company which prints the Cleveland Call and Post newspaper. Formerly vice-chairman of the United Negro College Fund, he has also served on the executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A member of the American Bar Association, the Ohio State Bar Association, the Cleveland Bar Association and the Cuyahoga County Bar Association, he is also affiliated with the Cleveland Academy of Trial Lawyers, Ohio Academy of Trial Lawyers and the American Trial Lawyers Association. He is a life member of the National Bar Association.

Attorney Bustamante holds a bachelor of arts degree with honors in political science and a Juris Doctor degree from Boston University. He earned a master of law degree from Harvard University where he was a John Hay Whitney Fellow. In 1970 he was awarded the honorary doctor of laws degree from Central State University.

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND CEREMONY

The gowns, hoods, and caps worn in academic ceremonies today are relics of clothing worn in medieval times by students and professors. In the early universities — Bologna, Paris, Oxford — the undergraduate students had no prescribed academic dress but wore their usual clerical or ecclesiastical habits. The professors wore more colorful academic regalia than their modern day descendants. Probably the gowns and hoods were worn for warmth in the unheated halls where the lectures were delivered. From the sixteenth century on, there is a change to somber black and it is only in the hoods worn in academic processions today that the warmth and color of medieval academic pageantry is retained.

The hoods representing degrees granted by various colleges and universities have linings (turned to exhibit their hues to the fullest advantage) in the colors of the granting institutions. The facing of the hood represents by its color the discipline in which the degree has been granted: white for arts, letters, or humanities; golden yellow for science; purple for law; green for medicine; lemon yellow for library science; orange for engineering; drab for commerce or business; light blue for education; pink for music; brown for fine arts; apricot for nursing; dark blue for philosophy; scarlet for theology; citron for social work; sage green for physical education. It is possible, also, to determine from the length of the hoods the type of degree held by the wearer—quite long for the doctor's degree, medium for the master's, short for the bachelor's.

Since 1895, in the United States, the colors and types of caps and gowns have been largely standardized; in 1932 the code was revised to some extent, and in 1960 it was revised once more. A few American universities have adopted gowns other than black in color, and in European universities there is more diversity in cut and in the cap than prevails in the United States. Trustees and administrators of American colleges and universities, too, may wear regalia which is different from that commonly worn. The trustees of Youngstown State University wear a specially designed cardinal gown.

The bachelor's gown is worn closed; the master's gown is worn open or closed, depending partly on its tailoring and the wearer of the doctor's gown has the privilege of wearing it open or closed. The sleeves of the three types of gowns are of different lengths and cuts, and in addition the sleeves of the doctor's gown have three horizontal velvet stripes. The doctor's gown also has vertical facing of velvet in front. The stripes and facing may be either black or in the color representing the field in which the wearer has received the doctorate.

There are different opinions about the origin of the caps worn in academic ceremonies. One view is that the "mortar board" is in actuality adapted from the wooden square used by masons. Another is that it stems from the ecclesiastical or clerical head covering of the medieval period. The tassels worn on the caps may or may not be of the same types. In some institutions all master's and bachelor's tassels are black; in others the tassels, which are the same as the colors of the facings of the hoods, reflect the degree received. The tassels worn by doctors may be black or gold thread.

There is something of the same adherence to tradition in commencement processions that exists in academic garb, although each institution has the right to adapt the ceremony to its own requirements. The chief marshals lead the line of march, followed by the president, the speaker, trustees, and other members of the party to be seated on the platform. Then follow the faculty and the candidates for degrees. The procession at the end of the ceremony follows the same order.

Recipients of University Honors will receive special insignia, consisting of golden honor cords placed around the shoulders.
