THE COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER AND
CANDIDATE FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE
DOCTOR OF LAWS

JAMES E. FLEMING is a board member and past chair of the board of trustees of the Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine. Since 1981, he has been medical director of the Huron Road Family Health Center in East Cleveland, a medical complex devoted to serving the needs of the underprivileged.

Born in Midland, Pennsylvania, then a steel town of 4,500, Fleming comes from what he describes as "a socially and culturally deprived background." His father died when he was 11, and he had no role models for higher education. But he did have "an ability to learn." When he graduated from high school, he, like most of his classmates, went to work in the steel mill—but with a difference: Fleming also enrolled at Geneva College. Working full time and attending classes, he graduated from Geneva in three years with a degree in mathematics and pre-med science.

Fleming was the first minority from Midland to graduate from college, and he credits much of his success to the challenges posed to him by one of his professors. "Some of the greatest people in this country are teaching on college campuses," Fleming says, and his lifelong interest in education reflects that belief. He is a senior instructor of clinical medicine at Case Western Reserve University Medical School and served on the board of trustees of Kent State University from 1975 until 1983, when he was designated chair emeritus of the board.

After receiving his Doctor of Medicine from Howard University Medical School in 1962, Fleming served his internship and first year residency at St. Vincent Charity Hospital in Cleveland. He held second and third year residency in internal medicine and then became chief resident at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Cleveland. In 1962, he was appointed Associate Director of Pulmonary Services at the hospital, at the same time establishing his private practice.

From 1973 until 1975, Fleming served as Medical Director of Community Action Against Addiction in Cleveland. He is currently area medical consultant for the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation in Cleveland, Medical Consultant for the Department of Health and Human Services Bureau of Hearing and Appeals in Cleveland and medical director of the Carnegie Care Center, which provides nursing care for the elderly.

Fleming initiated the Huron Road Family Medical Center out of a commitment to bringing medical care to deprived areas. Through his efforts, funds were raised from philanthropic and corporate sources to finance the $1.5 million complex. Including Fleming, the center employs three full-time physicians who see an average of 300 patients during a six-day week.

Active in his professional community, Fleming is past president of the Cleveland Medical Association and a member of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine, the American Medical Association, the National Medical Association and the Sickle Cell Advisory Committee of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine. In 1987, he received the Provost's Award of the Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

Graduates who are awarded degrees at the end of the fall and winter quarters are recognized at Winter Commencement. Because the list of candidates for winter graduation had to be prepared ahead of time, it is tentative; the diploma, together with a certified transcript, is the proof of graduation.

Candidates for the degree Bachelor of Arts whose names are followed by the symbol (†) will receive their degrees from the College of Fine and Performing Arts. All other A.B. candidates will receive their degrees from the College of Arts and Sciences.

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND CEREMONY

The gowns, hoods, and caps worn in academic ceremonies today are relics of clothing worn in medieval times by students and professors. In the early universities—Bologna, Paris, Oxford—the undergraduate students had no prescribed academic dress but wore their usual clerical or ecclesiastical habits. The professors wore more colorful academic regalia than their modern day descendants. Probably the gowns and hoods were worn for warmth in the unheated halls where the lectures were delivered. From the sixteenth century on, there is a change to somber black and it is only in the hoods worn in academic processions today that the warmth and color of medieval academic pageantry is retained.

The hoods representing degrees granted by various colleges and universities have linings (turned to exhibit their hues to the fullest advantage) in the colors of the granting institutions. In addition, the facing of the hood represents by its color the discipline in which the degree has been granted: white for arts, letters, or humanities; golden yellow for science; purple for law; green for medicine; lemon yellow for library science; orange for engineering; drab for commerce or business; light blue for education; pink for music; brown for fine arts; apricot for nursing; dark blue for philosophy; scarlet for theology; citron for social work; sage green for physical education. It is possible, also, to determine from the length of the hoods the type of degree held by the wearer—quite long for the doctor's degree, medium for the master's, short for the bachelor's.

Since 1895, in the United States, the colors and types of caps and gowns have been largely standardized; in 1932 the code was revised to some extent, and in 1960 it was revised once more. A few American universities have adopted gowns other than black in color, and in European universities there is more diversity in cut and in the cap than prevails in the United States. Trustees and administrators of American colleges and universities, too, may wear regalia which is different from that commonly worn. The trustees of Youngstown State University wear a specially designed cardinal gown.

The bachelor's gown is worn closed; the master's gown is worn open or closed, depending partly on its tailoring; and the wearer of the doctor's gown has the privilege of wearing it open or closed. The sleeves of the three types of gowns are of different lengths and cuts, and in addition the sleeves of the doctor's gown have three horizontal velvet stripes. The doctor's gown also has vertical facing of velvet in front. The stripes and facing may be either black or in the color representing the field in which the wearer has received the doctorate.

There are different opinions about the origin of the caps worn in academic ceremonies. One view is that the "mortar board" is in actuality adapted from the wooden square used by masons. Another is that it stems from the ecclesiastical or clerical head covering of the medieval period. The tassels worn on the caps may or may not be of the same types. In some institutions all masters' and bachelors' tassels are black; in others the tassels, which are the same as the colors of the facings of the hoods, reflect the degree received. The tassels worn by doctors may be black or gold thread.

There is something of the same adherence to tradition in commencement processions that exists in academic garb, although each institution has the right to adapt the ceremony to its own requirements. The chief marshals lead the line of march, followed by the president, the speaker, trustees, and other members of the party to be seated on the platform. Then follow the faculty and the candidates for degrees. The procession at the end of the ceremony follows the same order.

Recipients of University Honors will receive special insignia, consisting of golden honor cords placed around the shoulders.
