by Liz Lane

Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Chi took top honors during the 26th Annual Greek Sing held Friday night at Stambaugh Auditorium.

More than 1,200 persons attended this year's Greek Sing which was dedicated to Mrs. Gertrude McCabe, university calendaring and scheduling coordinator.

This year's winners in fraternity competition went to Sigma Phi Epsilon singing "The Way You Look Tonight." Second place went to Phi Sigma Kappa and third place went to Sigma Chi.

The winners in sorority competition were Zeta Tau Alpha singing "Edelweiss." Second place went to both Delta Zeta and Alpha Omicron Pi in a tie vote. Theta Chi took the all events trophy.

The Panhellenic Council scholarship awards went to Pam Pogany of Zeta Tau Alpha and Dee Bosak of Alpha Omicron Pi. Delta Zeta took group scholarship award.

The Interfraternity Council scholarship award went to Mike Georgiadis of Theta Chi and Phi Kappa Tau took groups scholarship award.

The Panhellenic Council two-year awards were given to Patty Ondich, Jerri Ricketts, Carol Hayward and Patty Kremerer. Ann Stewart received the three-year award and Michele Murphy received the President's award.

The Interfraternity Council two year awards were given to Kevin Bart and Dale McCoy. Frank DiPiero received the three year award and Pete Mohl received the President's award.

Frank DiPiero and Ann Stewart were co-hosts. Opening remarks were presented by Dr. Charles McBriarly, dean of Student Affairs.

Collins to head Financial Aids

New director named

by Greg Garramone

William T. Collins Jr., assistant director of financial aids, has been named director of that department. The appointment, effective last Monday, was announced by President Coffelt. Collins succeeds Colonel John B. Wales, who retired at the first of the year.

The 39-year-old Collins joined YSU in 1967, when he was named assistant director of financial aids. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from YSU in 1961, and his M.B.A., also from YSU in 1976. He was Intrafraternity Council advisor from 1968-1970. Prior to his appointment to the University he was employed at Republic Steel.

Collins, a lifelong resident of Youngstown, brings with him "a commitment to the community, especially to the students" at YSU. "Let's face it, we're here because you're here. It's our business to help students, to give money to those who need it to further their education," said Collins. "During the 1976-1977 academic year over 7,000 students received financial aid," he noted.

As director, Collins will administer the system of evaluation and processing of applications for financial aids. This includes loans, grants-in-aids, scholarships, and part-time on-campus employment. He will also serve as a liaison between the various agencies and individuals who fund the department.

"John Wales did a fine job. I worked with him for ten years, establishing the Financial Aids Department. We share the same philosophy concerning student aid: work within the legal guidelines given to us, but do the most to get the student some money." Collins added, "The only improvement I would like to see initiated would be a more streamlined operation. The less a student has to run around, the fewer hassles he has to go

"We will work closely with students"

DiSalvo, Reitano run for office

The Jambar will be featuring the platforms, issues and answers of candidates running for Student Government president and vice president.

The presidential candidates and their running mates will be presented in the Jambar in alphabetical order according to the last name of the presidential candidate. Election of president and vice president of Student Government will be held on May 2 and 3.

"We need the students. We will work very closely with them," said Toni Desiree DiSalvo, candidate for Student Government President.

Both DiSalvo and her running mate, Anthony J. Reitano, said they feel communication between Student Government and the student is essential.

DiSalvo said she has tried to serve the students in the past as a Student Council representative and as a member of such Council committees as nominations, education and finance. While on Council, she was voted Outstanding Council member. Other committees on which DiSalvo has served are Academic Senate, Student Discipline Board, KCPB, Homecoming, and Faculty Evaluation.

One year ago DiSalvo served as Vice President of Student Government, but resigned when she felt she was not being allowed to function properly in that position. DiSalvo also withdrew from school before resigning, but said she had made the decision to resign as vice president before her withdrawal from school.

"I wasn't being utilized," said DiSalvo about her dissatisfaction as vice president and said she felt guilty for taking a stipend from the General Fee when she wasn't being allowed to do her job properly.

Reitano, too, was elected to serve a term on Student Council, but for health reasons was forced to resign before completing his term.

Both DiSalvo and Reitano agree that they've come together because they share the same ideals, and both stress the necessity of acting for and serving the students.

Honesty and sincerity count, they said, and they will work to put these two qualities back in Student Government.

DiSalvo stressed the role of the vice president in Student Government and said "I (as president) cannot do everything. I am going to work very closely with my vice president. We have to spread our authority to get more things done."

Also DiSalvo and Reitano feel that changes must be made in the Student Government Constitution because there are a lot of "ambiguities" in the document, said

DiSalvo. "I will not defend a wrong constitution."

One change DiSalvo and Reitano hope to make is the addition of a minority and foreign student position to the cabinet. Reitano said about foreign students, "As far as student activities go, I would say they are the most active students on campus."

DiSalvo added, "They (foreign students) are the most cheated students, too. I feel anybody who has to learn two languages, and who cares a lot about this University deserves to be heard."

DiSalvo said she would also like to see the Intrafraternity Council, Panhellenic Council and all student organizations become stronger because positive action lies in the strength of these groups of united students.

In the area of security, DiSalvo said she is not against the security system on campus as it stands, but wants to let security know how the student feels so that Student Government can help security.

Library typewriters are out of service

Although there is only one working typewriter available in Maag Library for student use, there are no immediate plans to replace the others that are out of service, according to Angela Mudrak, assistant librarian. "All the typewriters we had set aside for students to use are for the most part irreparable, due to wear and tear, and abuse," Miss Mudrak said. "These typewriters were not brand new when we made them available. They were quite used, and eventually just gave out." Miss Mudrak stated that the reason they would not immediately replace the machines was a lack of available funds. "I hope we get the money to do it. It was a service the library was happy to provide to the students, and hopefully we'll be able to again."

Suffered near-fatal accident Convery recovers from ski injury

by Molly Gerchak

"I intend to ski again," stated Dr. William R. Convery, counseling center, after a freak accident in January at Brandywine Ski Resort almost cost him his life and left him paralyzed on one side.

Convery is recovering at home after therapy at Hillside Rehabilitation Center, Howland. He said that he will be returning to work soon.

Convery said that he and his wife, Eve, had taken their two boys, Shawn and Brian, on a family outing the weekend of Jan. 28-29. He said that he has been skiing since 1962 and was giving the boys lessons.

He said that they had skied on Saturday night and Sunday morning, but they were not skiing at the time of the accident. They were at the bottom of the hill and he had implanted his ski poles into the snow in the appropriate safety position.

Convery said, "I reached over to check the bindings on Brian's skis; my skis slipped and I fell to the side. I caught the handle (hard plastic) of my ski pole in the throat. I immediately jumped up and then collapsed."

Mrs. Convery continued with the events that happened after he lapsed into unconsciousness, in which he remained for five days.

She said that after Convery fell, a paramedic standing next to them took charge until the ski patrol could get him to the lodge, call an ambulance and rush him to Brentwood Hospital. At the hospital, the first diagnosis was a concussion.

"I kept telling them he hadn't hit his head, he hit his neck. The doctor at Brentwood said it looked like a stroke, but that Bill was too young to have a stroke," Mrs. Convery stated.

She said that the doctor insisted on taking x-rays and when they couldn't find any fractures, Convery was transferred to St. Vincent's Hospital in Cleveland.

Dr. Desmond Erasmus, neurosurgeon, was called in because of his experience with one other case of the same kind. Erasmus determined that Convery had had a traumatic stroke.

Mrs. Convery said that after an angiogram was examined to locate a blood clot that was lodged in the carotid artery, surgery was performed on the vein in his neck and Convery was placed in intensive care, where he remained in serious condition for two weeks.

She said that the surgery was performed around noon on the day of the accident and at 11:30 p.m. she and the boys were still at the hospital in their ski clothes. "But, the worst part, if there was a 'worst' part, was after the surgery when Bill started having convulsions every five minutes that lasted eight hours," she said.

Erasmus told her that she didn't have to worry and that the convulsions were caused from brain swelling. The doctor stated that although he would be unconscious for a long period of time, he would live.

Mrs. Convery said her husband awakened gradually, but he couldn't open his eyes and he couldn't talk. He used his fingers to answer yes, no and maybe to questions. He was also very interested in where he was and why he was there.

She said that physical therapy had been started at St. Vincent's and was to continue at Hillside, but Convery developed phlebitis in his injured leg and physical therapy had to be postponed. He spent three weeks at St. Vincent's and two weeks at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown before the phlebitis cleared up and he could be transferred to Hillside for complete therapy.

Convery said that only after arriving at Hillside, did he know the full extent of his injuries. He had a loss of balance and paralysis of the left arm and leg.

He said that he has regained the use of his leg and walks predominately with a cane, but can walk without it. "I may have to rely on it (the cane) some and I'm able to move my arm now, which I couldn't do at all before April 11," he said.

Convery said, "Since I have been at Hillside I have met a lot of nice people and seen a lot of heartbreaking cases." He suggested that volunteers, individuals and groups, from the University who would be willing to entertain the patients would be welcome from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. any day of the week.

Convery said, "I would like to thank all of the faculty, staff and students who visited me at the hospital, sent cards and flowers, and I would especially like to thank Chris Sweeney and Jim Morrison for finishing my fireplace, which I've been working on for almost a year."

Red Cross needs volunteers

Volunteers are needed to assist with the Red Cross blood drawing this quarter. Anyone interested should contact Bill Welsh at the Student Government offices located on the second floor of Kilcawley Center.

Approximately 15 volunteers per hour are needed. The volunteers may work at any of the following areas:

- registration - take donors name, address, etc.
- bag table - place numbers on donor's registration form and on bags and vials.
- bed area - help donors on and off tables.
- canteen - serve refreshments to donors.

All volunteers should be available for at least one hour of work, although anyone may work longer. Most of the jobs are relatively simple and no experience is necessary.

The blood drawing will be held on Tuesday, May 2, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Kilcawley Multi-purpose Room. All those who cannot donate are urged to work.

Student input

The Ad Hoc Calendar Committee has been looking into the feasibility of converting the YSU calendar from quarters to semesters.

The faculty was sent a survey asking for their responses to changing to an early semester system. Of the 70 per cent who returned the poll, 159 answered that they were in favor of the change, 84 said no and 30 stated they were undecided.

An effort should now be made to enlist responses from the student body on the idea of changing to an early semester system.

Dr. Nicholas Paraska, dean of CAST and chairman of the Ad Hoc Calendar Committee, told the Jambor, "We feel that the student voice needs to be heard on how we make the conversion because if we do, it would have an impact on the students. We can't ignore the student's feelings on that just the same as the administration can't ignore the feelings of the faculty."

One way of receiving student input would be to conduct a survey similar to the one given to the faculty. Questions regarding the early semester system could be put in registration material. This method would allow access to a large number of students.

Another method might be to enlist the aid of a sociology or statistics class and ask them to conduct a random survey on student opinions regarding the change to semesters.

Whatever means is decided upon, some action should be taken to obtain student input. The issue has too great an effect on students to let their opinions go unvoiced.

INPUT : Constitution Revolution

It is obvious that a very interesting series of events is taking place in the political establishment known as Student Government. The present leaders of Student Government and Student Council, as well as some candidates for those positions, have expressed the concern that Student Government needs restructuring. The events which are taking place this spring bring to mind a similar occurrence which took place in the not-too-distant past, when the leadership of Student Government felt that time was right for the restructuring of Student Government. The progressive spirit expressed by Student Government political actors is all fine and well; it shows that they recognize the short comings of the present Constitution. The similarity of today's Constitution revisionists and those of a few years ago is that, the call for change is still coming totally from the political establishment and not from the Student Body.

The Ad Hoc Committee on Constitutional revision of a few years ago enjoyed the support of the leaders of Student Government in its early organizational stages. The Jambor was instrumental, as it is today, in carrying stories and editorials pertaining to the reorganization efforts of the Committee. One of the main concerns of the Committee was a plea to the student body to get involved in the revision process by submitting ideas and attending well publicized meetings. The Ad Hoc Committee met through the summer, fall, winter and early spring quarters.

Membership on the Committee consisted of a majority of Council members, with just a few interested students joining in from time to time. As time passed, interest from Student Government leaders decreased, and by winter quarter had ceased altogether. The Council members on the Committee, as well as Council interest, changed with the frequency of elections. In the spring, a year after the Ad Hoc Committee was created by Council, there were only four original members of the Committee left.

The writers of the revised Constitution decided to submit the work to Student Council for their approval, so that the Constitution could be brought before the student body for acceptance in the spring elections. The Committee members found that the atmosphere for change had dissipated and the interest of Council in just a few quarters had turned to other things.

The loss of interest of Student Government leaders on the Committee and the inability of Student Government to stimulate the student body to become

Campus 'news'

As you are reading this, somewhere, someone is shuffling a deck of trick cards. Just think. It is thoughts like that which makes life interesting and full.

Today, some campus news you may not have heard, or read, for that matter.

Sorry graduating seniors, but there will be no sheepskins at graduation exercises. The price of sheepskin has gone up over 400 percent, so YSU officials (all of whom wear searsucker leisure suits), have decided to do away with sheepskins. Instead, the diplomas will be printed on erasable bond scrap paper.

Also seniors, graduation exercises have been changed. It had been planned that exercises would include jumping jacks and running in place. No more. Now, seniors will be required to do 800 push-ups and 500 windmills. Congratulations to all of the seniors who will be leaving YSU. Remember what Socrates once said, "Hello, my name is Socrates -- could you tell me what time it is?"

Speaking of graduation ceremonies, the commencement speaker will be the dancing bear from Captain Kangaroo.

His talk will be on the subject "How To Get a Job On The 'Captain Kangaroo Show.'"

Confidential sources have disclosed that they intend to remain confidential for at least three more weeks.

In other news, there is a rumor afloat that YSU has lost its lease, and will soon have a "going-out-of-business" sale. Supposedly, soon there will be full page ads in the Vindy reading, "We Goofed," the ads will go on, "We forgot and lost our lease, so that means bargains for you-our loss, your gain, shop YSU today." If the rumor is true, I want first dibs on the coffee machine in Lincoln.

Yesterday, it was learned that there is a student on campus who is not apathetic! The student is supposedly very happy at YSU. Tests are being conducted on the student.

Mary H. had a dilly bar yesterday. Some of it dripped on her new tee shirt that reads "Its a Whole Lot of Living." Sorry to hear about that Mary.

There has been a sharp rise in drugs on campus, according to one security officer.

"Yep, there has been a sharp rise in drugs on campus," the official told me the other day. He went on to state, "This weather certainly is nice, sure beats the rough winter we had."

Soon, there will be a "Lets Beautify YSU" campaign. Tentative revisions include pink plastic flamingos for every 3 cubic feet of ground, and styrofoam flowers.

Anyone who has detentions they have not served, must serve them by May 20. If not, letters will be sent to parents.

Jack and Jill went up the hill. Sources close to Jack reported that the venture was to "fetch a pail of water." As the story goes, Jack fell down, and broke his arm, and Jill came tumbling after. Jack is in intensive care at Northside, so drop him a line, or a pail of water.

A hippy has been discovered on campus. Reports have it that the hippy has long hair and a turquoise roach clip. The hippy will be on display at Kilcawley from 10 till 2 on Monday.

Letters

Paid Representation

To the editor of the Jambor:

How many students know that a percentage of your "hard earned" general fee dollars goes for payment of Student Government/Council officers? Only you (students) can determine if those dollars have been well spent during the past few years or if they have been wasted dollars.

Student Government should be run by student input and ideas, not planned out in advance like an advertising campaign.

Back to dollars and sense. The Student Government president stipend, or the amount of money allotted during a specific term totals $1,250 per year, or roughly $139 per month for the term in office. Other members are stipend as follows: Vice President - $400 per term; Chairperson - $1,250 per term; Vice-Chairperson - $350 per term; and Secretary - $250 per term.

Will you allow this waste to continue? If you really care, please gather all of the information you can on the candidates for the election. And be sure you get out and vote on May 2 and 3.

Publications committee will convene concerning minority representation in university and student publications

by Irene Taylor
Student Council reporter

Dr. Taylor Alderman, chairman of the University's Publications Committee, will convene the Student Publications Committee to review complaints on minority representation, according to a letter presented in Student Council yesterday.

Alderman was responding to the complaints of a student group concerned with minority representation in University and student publications. Alderman said the publications committee will convene once he receives written complaints listing what the concerns are.

He also said that complaints about University or student publications must be submitted in writing. This gives the publications editors an opportunity to prepare a response to the allegations.

Carano said he also contacted Dr. Lawrence Looby, associate vice-president of public services; Barbara Scott, administrative assistant in the alumni office; Phil Snyder, University Relations director, and Hugh Grosz, Affirmative Action Director, concerning the minority representation concerns. He said "These are the individuals who have the authority to act on this subject, and they are open to anyone wishing to discuss this matter."

The group is primarily concerned with inclusion of more pictures depicting minority students in University and student publications. The group defines minorities as handicapped, black, older, international, and Spanish-speaking students.

In other action, Council voted approval of the idea to place a female undergraduate student on the Search Committee for the job of Director of Campus Security.

Carano said he would approach Dr. John Coffelt, President of YSU, to see if he's willing to accept recommendations for placement on the Search Committee. Carano also instructed Ray Robinson, Nominations Committee chairman, to prepare an ad for the Jambar, seeking applicants for the position, if Dr. Coffelt is in agreement.

Under Finances, Council approved the allocation of $130 to the Liberation of Equality of Students organization. The funds will go to two student representatives who were invited by President Carter to attend the presidential committee on Employment of the handicapped. Council also approved an allocation to the Lebanese Student Organization to bring in Edward Ghobie, ex-ambassador from Lebanon to the U.N., as a guest speaker.

Credit Union joins 'Valley' campaign

The YSU Credit Union has joined in the fight to Save our Valley, and now the YSU community can pledge its support to that campaign.

Save Our Valley is a campaign whereby persons deposit money into a savings account as a pledge of their support to the rebuilding of the Campbell Sheet and Tube works. It is hoped that the federal government, when it sees how much support the campaign is getting from the people of the Mahoning Valley, will allocate funds for the rebuilding and restructuring of the Campbell steel works.

Ranger Curran, president of the YSU Credit Union, said that opening an account of this kind does not mean this money cannot be touched. You can take out the money in the account at any time.

The YSU Credit Union is a financial institution open to all University faculty, staff, students and their dependents. Through the Credit Union, these people can save or borrow money.

involved in the revision efforts, led to demise of the new Constitution.

The interest of political leaders in endeavors of this type is essential. Their continued support through the long process is the basis for solid decision making and implementation.

Another important factor to consider when a Constitutional change is attempted is the Student Body. Without the active support of the Student Body, the interest of Student Government and its leaders may again be side-tracked, and a much-needed new Constitution put on the back burner. All attempts must be made to activate interest and support from the Student Body.

It is vital to the students at YSU that a strong Student Government exists. Without Student Government and its potential powers, the student body would be at the continued mercy of the University administration. It is better to have a representative body speaking on behalf of 14,000 students, than to have just one student trying to receive fairness and justice through bureaucratic Administration red tape.

Ex-ambassador Eban to be Special Lecture speaker

Abba Eban, former Israeli Ambassador to the U.S. and foreign minister of Israel, appears as part of YSU's Special Lecture Series at 8:30 p.m. on Monday, May 1 at Powers Auditorium.

Eban's lecture, "Toward a World Community," is one of two Skeggs Lectures this spring. No tickets are required for the speech.

A native of South Africa, Eban was educated at Cambridge University, where he later taught. His political role in Israeli foreign affairs began in 1948, when the country was seeking admission to the United Nations. Two years later, after Israel's admittance to the U.N., Eban was made Israel's Ambassador to the U.S. At 35, Eban was the youngest official to hold such a position in Washington.

Eban returned to Israel in 1958 to become President of the Weizmann Institute, a center of scientific research. He was named Israel's deputy prime minister in 1963 and became foreign minister in 1965.

Throughout his career, Eban has spoken against the misusers of human rights. He has been acknowledged in wide circles as an international statesman and brilliant orator, and likened to Winston Churchill in his use of the English language.

The Skeggs Lectures are in tribute to the late Leonard T. Skeggs Sr., who played an important role in YSU's development. The Skeggs series was established in his memory in 1966.

Only 23% of businesses to hire

Employment outlook is flat

While there are indications of new employment activity in certain business areas, the overall outlook for employment in the Warren and Youngstown areas for the first three months of 1978 is flat, according to a quarterly survey of Warren/Youngstown businessmen released recently by Manpower, the world's largest temporary help service.

Michael Werner, owner of Manpower's office for Warren and Youngstown, said, "Manpower's survey of hiring intentions for the first quarter of 1978 (Jan., Feb., March) finds 23% of the businessmen surveyed project hiring plans. This must be viewed in a perspective that includes the massive decreases in the city's major industries in 1977. Most of the projected hirings are in the areas of public utilities, wholesale and retail merchants, education and service industries," Werner said.

Overall, 57% of the firms contemplate no change in employment levels and 20% are considering decreases.

Nationally, while seasonal factors will result in slower U.S. hiring pace during the first quarter of 1978, hiring confidence among the more than 5,000 U.S. businessmen interviewed continues to be positive.

The current survey results indicate that hiring plans for the quarter are slightly more optimistic than the figures from a similar Manpower survey taken one year ago when an annual hiring pattern that added over 3,000,000 jobs to the U.S. work force was established.

A seasonal drop in hiring is expected due to lower activity in the wholesale-retail fields and the influence of winter weather on Midwest and Northeast construction areas.

Excluding these seasonal factors, hiring should continue in a positive direction.

The quarterly employment outlook survey is conducted as a public service by Manpower, Inc. Designed and administered by Manpower's International Research Department, the survey uses a statistically representative sample of approximately 5,000 large public and private employers, distributed among 10 industry sectors and some 150 U.S. cities.

The survey results reflect employment intentions for the next 90 days. Some of these intentions may change unexpectedly.

Manpower is a major employer of office workers and semi-skilled and skilled workers in a wide variety of fields. The firm has an annual work force of more than 500,000 employees through its more than 700 offices in 33 countries. Of these, more than 450 offices are located in the U.S.

DiSalvo

Tighter control on Student Council is another change DiSalvo would like to see. She said Student Council representatives don't do enough for those students they represent and she would like to see more effective communication between Council and those students.

In regard to a judicial branch in Student Government, DiSalvo said she did not think it was a good idea. "We can't even control Council and they want to form another branch?" she questions.

Reitano also had some ideas and opinions on the early semester system, which the University is in the process of studying.

"I don't think the student is adequately informed about the disadvantages of the semester system. I would like to find out a little more myself. If some of the students knew how long it would take them to graduate if they were undecided and wanted to follow a couple different fields, they would leave school. I think one of the worst things that could happen to YSU is the semester system," Reitano added.

Both DiSalvo and Reitano said that no matter what the circumstance, they would uphold and fight for those policies and rights that the YSU student felt were most important, even if it went against what they felt was right. "The student always comes first," said DiSalvo.

Rape victims advised to fight back by Stanford self-defense teacher

by CPS

When discussing the possibility of rape or assault, women are usually advised to skip the self-defense and comply with the assailant.

Matt Thomas, self-defense instructor at Stanford, doesn't think passivity is always the best option. He teaches a variation of self-defense that combines classic methods with "fighting dirty."

Psychological ploys are also stressed. His basic advice is simple: Use your wits and common sense to avoid an assault whenever possible. But if someone grabs you, strike back hard and fast. Don't hesitate to kick a man when he's down.

For example, one of Thomas' students was coming home from a party when she was grabbed from the rear, dropped into a doorway and slammed against the wall. When her assailant started to talk to her, she used an open hand strike to the throat. He was still unconscious when police arrived 10 minutes later.

Another student was grabbed in an icy parking lot. She fell to the ground. As her assailant approached, she kicked him in the groin. He was still disabled when the Harvard police arrived 15 minutes later.

Non-violent methods were employed by other students. One woman was followed home by her assailant. Instead of going to her own door, where assaults often occur, she broke the window of her most belligerent neighbor, just as her attacker started to rush her. When the neighbor emerged yelling, the man fled.

Another woman was surrounded by a young gang in Cambridge while waiting for a friend. When the friend arrived, the two pretended to be lesbians. The youths threw bottles but did not assault them.

Thomas has taught over 1,000 women, several of whom have since become teachers. His interest was triggered six years ago when a woman black belt in karate was raped by an unarmed assailant. She apologized to her teacher and to Thomas, her senior instructor, for disgracing her training.

"I felt we had disgraced her by teaching her an art and not self-defense," Thomas recalls. He investigated the records of 2,700 assaults and designed his course accordingly.

"Most women get assaulted in dim light. I teach them to fight in the dark."

"Since they normally aren't wearing loose fitting clothes or walking barefoot on specially treated floors, I teach them in street clothes and shoes, in a variety of settings, without warm-ups.

Most importantly, in karate sparring, women hold their punches to prevent injury to their opponent and try not to strike vital areas like the eyes, throat, temples, knees, and groin. These are the very areas a woman must strike unless she has developed crushing power. They are the only areas I train them to strike, and I

Marijuana warning issued; Mexican herbicide is lethal

Warnings recently have been released that potentially lethal marijuana is being imported from Mexico, where the crop is sprayed with the herbicide paraquat.

Paraquat is a colorless, odorless and lethal chemical that causes respiratory failure and damage to the kidneys and liver. Paraquat accumulates in the body and its effects are irreversible.

The test is done with water, baking soda (sodium bicarbonate) and sodium dithionite, a chemical commonly used in photo-fixing and available in photo supply stores.

The test is as follows:

Take the amount of marijuana used in one cigarette and wash it in 5 cc. of water, agitating gently for 15 minutes.

Filter off the leaves and collect the solution.

Add about 1/10 gram each of sodium bicarbonate and sodium dithionite. If the solution turns bluish-green, the herbicide is present.

react accordingly, providing instant feedback.

Women need to knock an assailant out rather than just injuring him. Kicking the model mugger when he is down is the hardest psychological barrier to overcome.

Most martial arts don't explain how even in submission there are opportunities to strike back and win, or to submit and endure. There are times to fight and times to endure. A woman should know how to distinguish between these times.

YSU splits twin bill with Geneva; DiRienzo delivers key hit in victory

by Bill Snier

For the third time this year, the YSU baseball team played a doubleheader and managed a split of the two game set with their opponents. Last Saturday it was Geneva College who provided the opposition with the Penguins dropping the first game, 1-0, before coming back to sweep the nightcap, 3-2, at Pemberton Park.

In the first game, starter Dave Dravecky pitched well enough to win his second victory in as many outings. But Geneva starter Bob Speice continually frustrated the Penguins, holding them scoreless although they nicked him for six hits and five walks.

Dravecky only gave up three hits, two of them coming in the fourth inning when Geneva got the only run of the game. A single by Carr, a walk to Terrill, and a run-scoring single by Breneman gave Geneva their only tally. Dravecky also struck out six batters while walking only three.

The Penguins, on the other hand, left a total of nine men on base during the game, at least one man in every inning except the sixth. YSU had a chance to tie the ballgame in the seventh when Mike Woytek doubled leading off the inning. Dave DelBene sacrificed him to third, but, with one out, Speice got both Al DiRienzo and Dino Balkan to pop out in the infield to seal the verdict.

In the second game, a two-run outburst by the Penguins in the seventh inning enabled YSU to sweep certain victory from the hands of Geneva. Lee Rudibaugh, earning his first start of the year, got credit for the victory.

The Penguins got their first run in the fourth inning when Wayne Zetts reached first on an error. A wild pitch moved Zetts to second and a sacrifice by Ken Clark moved him to third. From there, Zetts scored on an RBI single by Joe Iacabucci.

Geneva had broken on top in the fourth on a single by Carr, a sacrifice by Terrill and a single by Growso. Then Geneva came back to take the lead 2-1 in the fifth when Rudibaugh walked Terrill with the bases loaded after three consecutive hits.

This set the stage for last inning heroics by the Penguins. Dravecky, pinch-hitting for Lucklan, grounded out to open the inning. But Jeff Sattler, pinch-hitting for Andy Saxon, singled and Dan Valentine, pinch-hitting for John Hogan, was safe on an error by Geneva's third baseman. Patrick, who started Geneva, walked DelBene to load the bases with one out to set up the possible play at any base. But Al DiRienzo made the plan backfire by rapping a single scoring two runs to bring victory to the Penguins.

Rudibaugh, the YSU starter, gave up eight hits while striking out seven and walking only two. He also retired the last seven men to face him in the victory. The Penguins managed only five hits off Geneva starter Patrick, but made them count.

The Penguin baseballers return to action this afternoon at 1 p.m. when YSU will journey to Alliance for a date with Alliance College. They will also be on the road Wednesday for a game at Hiram College.

The current statistics for the Penguins, who are now 4-3 overall, finds Wayne Zetts at the top of the list in average among the regular starters. Zetts has seven hits in 19 times at bat for a .368 average. Dino Balkan leads the team in hits with nine. Balkan and Al DiRienzo lead the team in runs batted in with five apiece. Rick Philbin, Balkan and Andy Saxon have each hit one home run apiece to lead the team in that department.

As a team, YSU is batting at a .315 pace with 59 hits in 181 times at bat. The pitching staff has a combined earned run average of 3.12.

The Penguins are 2-2 at home and 2-1 on the road.

Tennis Results

YSU's tennis team, with their six match win streak halted last weekend, will have two opportunities to get back on the victory trail this week.

YSU will entertain Slippery Rock on Monday, April 24, at Volney Rogers Courts. Coach John Keil and his netters then will journey to nearby Kent State on April 28-29, to participate in the KSU Invitational at the host school, Toledo, and Western Michigan.

The Penguins six-match victory streak came to a screeching halt last weekend in Athens, Ohio, as YSU lost matches to both Ohio U. and Western Michigan. The Bobcats edged the Penguins 6-3, but YSU suffered a humiliating 9-0 defeat to WMU.

In a weekend when there were few highlights, junior Butch Thomas won his match against Ohio U. to extend his personal win string to 7-0 before losing his match against Western Michigan. The Penguins double team os sophomore Bill Dunn and senior Bob Green pulled a doubles win in the Ohio contest, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Keil sees Western Michigan as the team to beat in the KSU tourney: "Western Michigan will be tough to beat, but I think we can do well against Kent and Toledo if everyone plays to their ability."

INTRAMURALS

Softball

Intramural softball action was rained out on Saturday, but Sunday's games were played as scheduled.

Hana's Bananas kept their record unblemished as they scored a 14-3 victory over Valley Crew. The Ohzones defeated the O-A's 13-1, while Niles All Stars beat Gaf Staff 12-2. Kilcawley Diseases rolled to a 11-0 win over Y.S.A.S., while Bo's Pros edged CAST Raiders 14-13. HOE Club scored a 14-6 win over J.C. and the Kingsnakes, while Red Pride picked up a forfeit from the Tribe. The Roundballers notched a 13-0 victory over A.S.C.E.T. II, and the Fishermen squeaked by Gib Stit 8-7. Phi Sigma Kappa defeated Phi Kappa Tau 9-4, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon scored a stunning upset over Theta Chi to win 13-12 in the bottom of the seventh.

Water Polo

In water polo action, Kilcawley II peeled Hana's Bananas to win 9-1, while Nu Sigma Tau forfeited to Sigma Chi. Sigma Phi Epsilon defeated Phi Kappa Tau 8-1 and Phi Sigma Kappa scored a 1-0 win over Theta Chi.

Weather plagues golf team; Penguins on road this week

YSU's golf team's biggest challenge last week was the weather, and with three meets cancelled, Coach Bill Carson and his linksters hope that this week the sun will finally begin to shine and permit them to get some much needed action.

The Penguins will be on the road twice this week, traveling to Pittsburgh Wednesday, April 26, for a meet with the University of Pittsburgh. This weekend, April 28-30, YSU will journey to University Park, Pa. to participate in the Penn State Invitational.

This tournament will be a 20-team field with 54 holes of competition. Practice rounds will be held on Friday, while the official action begins Saturday with 27 holes of golf on both days. Besides YSU and the host Nittany Lions, Carson and his golfers will be facing the likes of West Virginia, Rutgers, Virginia Tech, Nay, Bucknell and Pittsburgh.

Hampered by an inexperienced golf squad that has been consistently inconsistent, Carson has been searching for the right mix of talent that will bring YSU back to the clubhouse victorious.

"I've been shuffling players around trying to find the right combination," said Carson.

In their only dual match of the season thus far, YSU defeated Hiram 402-434. Two days before that win, YSU finished third in the West Virginia triangular. In that one-day tourney, sophomore Mike Kowalczyk fired an 18-hole total of 77, while sophomore teammate Ken George carded a 78.

Anthropologist to speak Thursday

Dr. B. Thomas Gray, from the department of anthropology at Case Western Reserve University will speak at YSU on Thursday, April 27, in Room 236 Kilcawley Center.

The topic of the lecture will be, "Recent Insights in Human Origins: New Finds From the Afar Depression (Ethiopia). Gray will reveal his recent findings on Australopithecus africanus, an early hominid relative to man. Australopithecus has been described as looking like an ape from the waist up and like a man from the waist down. This creature walked erectly on two legs as a man, but massive jaws and pronounced brow ridges characterized his physical appearance as ape-like.

Gray, who also works at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, has won the Newbell Niles Puckett Award for Outstanding Graduating Seniors in Anthropology from the anthropology department at Case.

His most recent field work has been conducted at Afar, Ethiopia, where in 1976 he was field director of paleontological collections of the International Afar Research Expedition.

Workshop set in self defense

Self defense tips just like the one below will be demonstrated at a workshop for women interested in learning to protect themselves.

The workshops are beginning from noon to 2 p.m. today and Friday in the Ohio Room of Kilcawley and may continue for the remainder of the quarter. No fee will be charged.

Karate experts will be teaching classes that are sponsored in conjunction with Student Government and the American International Karate Association.

Dana announces lineup

Fine and Performing Arts school gets cultural enrichment

Music, theatre and the arts YSU's college of fine and performing arts is setting a good example when it comes to enriching the cultural community.

The YSU Dana School of Music has announced its lineup of events for May and June, leading off with the Monday, May 1 performance of the Dana Woodwind Quintet at 8 p.m. in Bliss recital hall. The program is entitled, "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue." Other Monday performances are: May 8, 8 p.m., Stambaugh Auditorium, the YSU Symphonic Wind Ensemble and Concert Band, conducted by Robert E. Fleming and Joseph Lapinski. Guest artist will be Charles Schleuter, principal trumpet of the Minneapolis Symphony. May 15, 8 p.m., Stambaugh Auditorium, the YSU Choral Union and Dana Symphony Orchestra. Directors are C. Wade Raridon and William Slocum.
