

May explain faulty extinguishers

Unreported fires suspected at Rayen Hall

by Naton Leslie

"First of all, I'd like to dispel the myth that our fire extinguishers didn't work," Ronald Aey, Training Officer, Physical Plant said yesterday in response to claims that fire extinguishers used by painters to control the fire in Rayen Hall, Friday, Sept. 22, were inoperative.

He continued to say that he has received a "witness report of a fire at (Rayen Hall) one day previous (Thurs. Sept. 21,) around 4:30 or 5:00 p.m." in which fire extinguishers were used. He added that this fire was in an area adjacent to the scene of Friday's fire which caused extensive damage to the roof of the historic building.

He said that both this earlier fire and possibly one "a couple of days earlier" were not reported to the University or the Fire Department and that the use of extinguishers on them had not been reported.

He theorizes that these were the same fire extinguishers which painters attempted to use on Friday's blaze.

The fire was reported to the Fire Department at about 8:30 a.m. Friday, about a half hour after employees of the Joseph Painting Co., reported to work. The company was contracted to remove the old accumulation of paint, in places up to 1/4 inch thick, and repaint the building.

The painters used torches to burn off the paint and reportedly set a fire bird's nest, which originally was thought to be the cause of the early morning blaze Friday.

Rayen Hall housed 14 bicarbonate of soda and muratic acid extinguishers which when inverted, issue a propellant used in fire fighting. Once used, these extinguishers cannot be reused.

In Aey's own report, which is not ready to be released, he gives details of his tests after the fire on remaining fire extinguishers in Rayen Hall. He said that extinguishers were tested, two drained completely, and found in working condition, one drained halfway, and one activated and then shut off.

He said that two extinguishers not completely drained would not re-activate, adding that if the painters had attempted, on Friday, to use extinguishers that were used on previous fires, they would not have discharged.

Aey added that is "a possibility" that Friday's fire may have been started by a spark from Thursday's unreported blaze, but that "we don't know." His own assumption is that Friday's blaze was "too extreme of a fire for (one of) a one hour duration."

Aey did comment on the possibility that there may have been an accidental discharge of the extinguishers, as evidence by acid-burn marks on the floor where they are stored. He theorized that the painters may have invested the extinguishers in route to the fire. They then may have righted them and, according to Aey, been unable to re-activate them when reaching the scene and assumed them to be inoperative.

"A used fire extinguisher is an empty fire extinguisher," said Nick Leonelli, Director, Campus Development. "They (the painters) tried to use fire extinguishers, but didn't use them properly." Leonelli stated that the painters "ran inside the building and started to run towards the fire and tilted it (the extinguisher). "Once it is inverted, and is righted, you lose pressure," Leonelli said.

Robert Arnold is CPA, explains trade

by Steve McClure,
YSU News

Images and objectives of the "certified public accountant" (CPA) have long been misunderstood in the American economic marketplace. And professional CPA's like Robert E. Arnold, associate professor and chairman of YSU's accounting and finance department, are making efforts to set the record straight once and for all.

Such a misunderstanding exists not only for the outside world but within the accounting profession itself. The bogged accountant's image is one which results from a multiplicity of accounting methods or procedures introduced by numerous government agencies, schools of education and accounting firms themselves.

Arnold contends the CPA profession is taking on dramatic changes for the better. "The dynamics of the profession have, in the recent past, been interesting, controversial and perhaps even irritating to some participants and observers." He says discussions with students indicate a "why-not-change" attitude rather than the "why-change." Said Arnold, "a very frustrating position to be in as an accounting educator, is having nagging ties to the present methodology and techniques, while at the same time having sincere doubts about why a current practice exists."

Searching for answers to some of these probing questions, Arnold set out on a survey to gather opinions of his peers. What he found was that the CPA needs a continuing professional education (CPE). In Ohio, for example, state law mandates that each CPA receive 40 hours of acceptable CPE credit each year.

From his survey questionnaire, Arnold determined that local CPA firms were complying with the CPE requirements by using external educational sources, with very little formal in-house training.

Airing, Broadcast set for Sunday on ethnic program

"America's Ethnic Symphony," a television documentary which has Dr. Jim Dale of the Political Science Department as the Executive Producer, will be aired at 5:30 p.m., Oct. 8 on 21 and at 8:00 p.m., Oct. 17 on Ch. 45. The film will portray the rich diversity of ethnic activity in America using the city of Youngstown as an example. It reflects aspects of the city's growth through downtown renewal, the YSU campus, Mill Creek Park and city landmarks.

Liv Taylor interviewed gets a buzz out of life

Editor's Note: This is an interview with Livingston Taylor done by Jambar Staff reporters.

by Bill Rowan and Scott Morrow

Livingston Taylor greeted us aboard his opulent Rocket Silver Trails bus, attired in a T-Shirt and towel.

He was preparing to play an intense game of raquetball with his drummer. It was his way of unwinding from the "BUZZ" he acquired while performing at YSU's Beeghly Center on Sunday, Oct. 1.

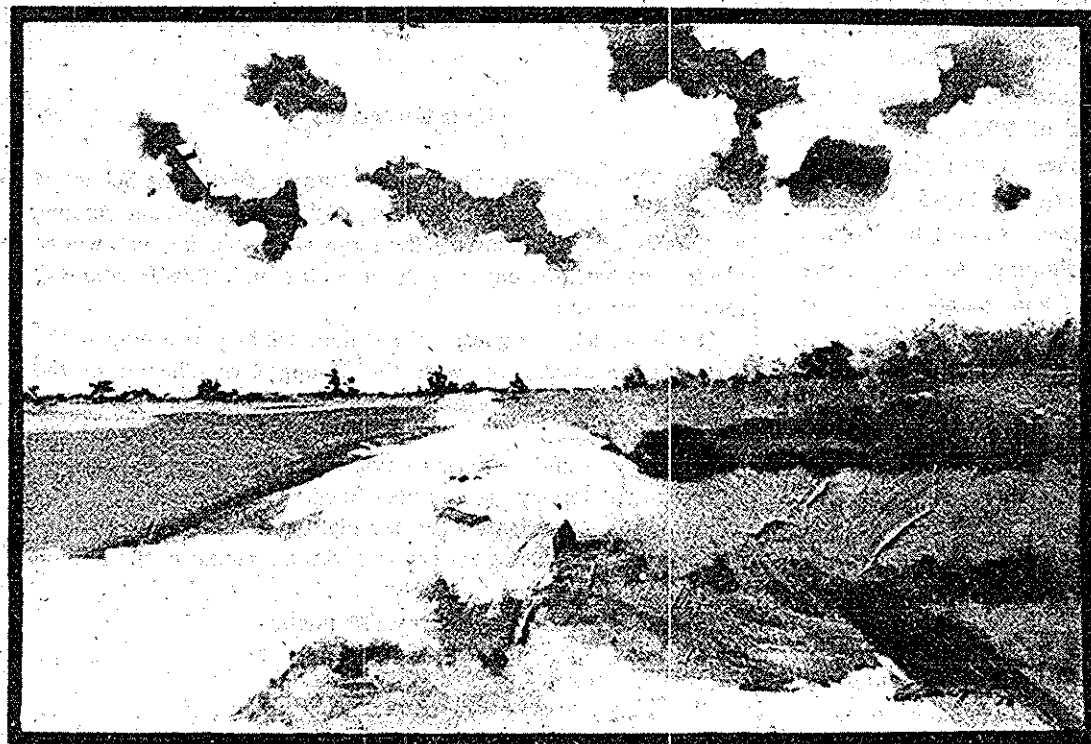

"Buzz" is the password for Livingston Taylor. A Buzz to Livingston is anything that turns him on. A recent buzz is spending time equally between Boston (his home) and Los Angeles, preparing for his next album. When asked what type of music he prefers he commented, "Anything that gives me a buzz. I like good music and deplore bad music."

Asked if he felt overshadowed by his brother James' success, Taylor replied, "Yes, I'm overshadowed by James, the Rolling Stones, the Who and Dave Mason. However, I feel I am unique and I have a very special talent that others do not have."

The intensity he displayed on stage is precisely how Livingston Taylor lives. He is intense in his belief that he will someday become a success like his brother James.

I found the interview to be quite a buzz. For me, Livingston was warm, open and sensitive to my queries. Look for Livingston in the future as he keeps buzzing along.

Country music concert planned for Oct. 28 in Warren

by Carol Geise

October is county music month across the country. And the Youngstown-Warren area is no exception.

Major Productions, headed by Brent and Karl Mager presents the Oak Ridge Boys, Nat Stuckey, and Brenda Kay Perry in concert, Saturday, October 28th for two shows at 5 & 9 p.m., at the Warren Packard Music Hall.

The Oak Ridge Boys are the hottest singing group in the country music today. Even rivaling to long-standing Statler Brothers this year for the Country Music Association's Group of the Year Award, their music is a gospel sound blended with catchy words. Originally The Oaks were a gospel group, and a very good one, too. They have won 3 Grammys. They have recorded such No. 1 hits as "Y' All Come Back Saloon" and "I'll Be True

Parade to open Homecoming event set for Oct. 21

The 21st of October will be a big day for Student Organizations at YSU. That's the date YSU will stage its annual Homecoming Parade and new this year... a caravan from Youngstown State's campus to Fitch Stadium. The theme for this year is "Still Crazy After All These Years!"

The parade will begin forming on the corner of Front and Champion Streets in downtown Youngstown at 10:00 A.M. The judging of the floats and decorated cars will take place before the parade begins between 9:45 and 10:15 A.M. The parade will begin at 10:30 after the winners have been announced and will travel to the campus of YSU. The caravan will leave YSU's Campus at approximately 11:45 A.M. and will travel to Fitch Stadium via Mahoning Avenue. The caravan and parade are great ways to show that we are still crazy after all these years.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the three best decorated floats ($100, $75, and $50) and to the three best decorated cars ($50, $30, and $15) entered in the parade by student organizations or any group of current YSU students. So if your organization wishes to enter a car, or just march in the Parade...or ride in the caravan... don't delay. You can help make this event show that we are "Still Crazy After All These Years."

to You" and their latest, "Cryin' Again". The Oak Ridge Boys are: Richard Sterban, Duane Allen, Joe Bonsell and Bill Las Golden. They work about 300 dates a year and have performed at Las Vegas' Landmark Hotel and have toured the USSR.

The Texas-born Nat Stuckey began his career in music as a disc jockey. Army duty sent him to New York and Korea working in radio and TV. After his return home, he moved to WKRH in Shreveport, La, and joined the cast of the popular "Louisiana Hayride" program. He has composed a number of songs made famous by others, including Jim Ed Brown's "Pop a Top", and Buck Owens' "Waiting in Your Welfare Line". Stuckey's first big hit came in 1966 when "Sweet Thang" was released. Two years and six charted singles later, he hit big again with "Plastic Saddle". Since then, he has had been almost continuously on the country charts and has had several albums. Some recent songs by Nat Stuckey include: "It Makes My Sun Come Up Each Morning", and his latest release, "Days of Sand and Shovels".

So it looks like the Youngstown-Warren area will be celebrating country music month in grand style this year, with this Major Productions show at the Warren Packard Music Hall. For ticket information call 753-2163 or in Warren 392-7636.

Guz is fanatic follower Listeners either love or hate Springsteen

About three years ago, Bruce Springsteen came to the attention of the American people via cover being hailed as "the future of rock and roll." Springsteen seemed to many nothing more than a super media hype. I was one of those people, I figured any recording artist who made it to the cover of Time, had to be questionable. I read the articles though, and was intrigued by the quotes from some of Springsteen's lyrics. But I did not buy the album.

A few weeks later, I heard for the first time "Born to Run" at a friend's house. That is when it hit. The music was not something that one could listen to and say "that's a nice melody." It either arrests, or you detest. Very few people can say they can take or leave Springsteen's music. It is a love/hate thing with Bruce Springsteen's music. I for one am a fanatic.

This past June, Springsteen's

Gov'd returns after study european organs

Dr. Ronald L. Gould, professor of music, has returned to the YSU campus following a very successful and rewarding faculty improvement leave.

During a four month stay in West Germany (in and around the Hamburg-Bremen area), Dr. Gould examined extant organs built by the seventeenth century master craftsman, Arp Schnitger. He researched 17th and 18th century keyboard performance practices under Professor Harald Vogel of the North German Organ Academy. In addition to his extensive study of organs, Dr. Gould also completed a study of historic restoration and new organ building techniques at the Beckerath shop in Hamburg and with the organ building company, Fientrop-Orgelbouw in Zaandam, Holland. Fientrop-Orgelbouw recently installed a pair of organs in Bliss Hall, home of the YSU college of fine and performing arts.

Rayen Fire

"The fire extinguishers were checked and charged just before the fire, that is, this summer," Leonelli added.

Roy Infante, Youngstown City Fire Inspector and the representative from the Joseph Painting Company were unavailable for comment.

album was released, "Darkness on the Edge of Town" (on Columbia Records), rates as one of the best albums of this year wait. "The Boss" has come through with some of the most poetic lyrics he has even written, and some of the best music he has ever done. "Badlands," the first track, is sheer adrenalin music. It has the power and the drive that one does often find lately in rock records.

The first song on side two is "The Promised Land." It is one of the best on the album, complete with a beautiful sax performance by Clarence Clemons. "Factory," the second cut on side two conjures up images of a Youngstown steel mill.

Early in the morning factory whistle blows,
Man rises from bed and puts on his clothes,
Man takes his lunch, walks out in the morning light,
It's the working, the working, just the working life."

Probably the best song on the album is "Prove It All Night." In the song there is a guitar riff which could best be described as "Guitage." Remember the Beatles' oldies? Recall the solos - those songs had? Well, it is something like that, but...I don't know how to describe it, I've never heard a guitar make those kinds of noises.

A fine album. If you've never heard Springsteen, it is about time to widen your horizons, if you've heard him and liked him - buy the album as soon as possible. If you don't have the money, sell your books, hock your shoes, do whatever it takes to get the "grease" to buy the album. If you've heard Springsteen, hated him, well save your money for an Olivia Newton-John album or something. And, if he is in concert anywhere within a two hundred mile radius, see him, you'll probably never see a better live show.

I only hope the next Springsteen album doesn't take three years to arrive.

Precautions

Some of the revelations that have recently come to light connected with the Rayen Hall fire are disturbing. The possibility that one or more fires may have occurred before the main blaze reflects a laxity in precautions that cannot be ignored.

The painting contractors, who were working with butane torches, should have been schooled in fire prevention techniques, as well as in the use of fire prevention devices. This is only common sense. Instead, the painters apparently tilted the fire extinguishers and rendered them useless.

Another important consideration are fire prevention devices themselves. Why didn't the painting contractors have their own extinguishers on hand and within reach? Why wasn't a hose available, connected to a faucet, that could have put out any blaze in a matter of minutes? After using the fire extinguisher on a previous blaze, why didn't the painters report it, so that the extinguishers could be recharged and be assured that the earlier fire had been put out?

Clearly, an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fire is warranted, as well as the precautions taken by the contractors themselves. A fire should not have occurred at Rayen Hall the first time. With the proper precautions, it should not happen again.

Question:

I think I may be pregnant. How soon can I have a test done?

Answer:

Pregnancy can be detected as early as 42 days from the first day of your last period. These tests are 95-98 percent accurate, but can have false results if done any earlier.

To the editor of the Jambar:

In reference to the Dave Mason concert the other night, we would like to make a few comments. First let us say we hope we are wrong. However it seemed rather apparent that the audience (what little there was) did not appreciate Dave Mason's music. If they did, it was shown in rather strange ways. Sitting on ones hands is not the way to let an entertainer know he is playing before a receptive audience. There were many occasions in which the band asked for participation from the crowd. When three members of a band begin clapping it is a sign for the audience to join in with them. Later, during the song, "Share Your Love," Dave Mason softly commented on the amount of singing done by the audience. He simply said, "I hope this school doesn't have a choir." As was said by Jackson Browne, "People you've got the power over what we do, you can sit there and wait or you can pull us through." Let's keep this in mind when Stephen Stills comes to town.

To the editor of the Jambar:

I would like to take this opportunity to publically thank a few people for their outstanding work on the Dave Mason concert. These include my Executive Committee: Bob Osiniak, Doreen Barnett, Kevin Bart, Pam Spon and Robin Brown. I would like to thank Joe Jackanich and Tony Koury for service "Above and beyond the call of duty." Our Production Crew was fantastic, hanging in there from 8:00 a.m. Sunday morning until 2:00 a.m. Monday morning. I would also like to thank all the students who supported the concert. Finally, I would like to thank Mark Shanley for his encouragement, supervisory capabilities and his sharing of his vast concert knowledge in organizing our concerts and being around to make sure things ran smooth. Please forgive anyone that I may have overlooked, your work was greatly appreciated.

ing. For the larger firm, more in-house training existed. Not because of a higher level of professional concern, but because of the availability of physical and human resources.

Although never able to replace the human touch in any profession, the computer unquestionable has influenced public accounting more than any other single thing in recent years. Arnold comments that with more firms using the computer as an auditing tool, accountants with strong computer backgrounds may have advantage over others. "Like it or not," Arnold says, "the technical sophistication of the computer is here to stay... there will be a need to have at least a working knowledge of the computer in order to function effectively in the public accounting arena."

Guz gives "soap" synopsis plans to continue dialogue

by Guz Scullin

It was mid-afternoon, I had just returned home from yet another excruciating day of college existence. It was time for some relaxation, so I plopped in front of the television. After ten minutes, I finally deduced why the TV was so boring, I had forgotten to turn it on. So, I rose, and with the flick of a wrist, the screen exploded with sound and sight. I sat down again. Then it occurred to me what I had done - I had slipped into the dreaded "Soaper Syndrome"! The show on the television was the successful soap opera titled "My Kids, Their Friends, Lovers, Meager Acquaintances, And Whatnot." For those of you who are not regular viewers of the show, I will give you the basics.

First, the story takes place in a small town in the southeast section of the Northwestern U.S. The main characters are the family named "The Secrets." Madge Secret is the mother of most of the Secret children. She is the mother of Ted Secret (the impotent orthopedic surgeon), Hal (the drunken architect who for years has been trying to develop the first horizontal skyscraper), and Fawn (a woman of insatiable desires, and minute intellect). Madge is not sure if Fawn is really her daughter, and Fawn suspects that Madge might be a great aunt. Madge suspicion arises from the fact that both Ted and Hal (her real sons?) have blue eyes, brown eyelashes, and redish hair, and are over six feet tall. Fawn, on the other hand, has brown eyes, a black moustache, blond eyelashes, and brown hair, and is only 3 ft. 2 in. tall.

Fawn thinks that her real mother was a woman named Zana Tzyski, a Russian agent who Fred Secret (the father of the Secret children - for the most part), fell in love with on the Staten Island ferry. In one episode, Fawn tried to trace her roots. The search was futile as she ended up in a forest looking at an elm tree with initials carved in it. She decided she was "barking" up the wrong tree. Fawn is a self-confessed, semi-virgin.

Fawn's best friend is a sweet lass named Viv. Now then, Viv is a practicing virgin. Viv in one episode confided to Fawn that she would "keep practicing till I get it right."

Ted Secret (Fawn's brother?) is married to a woman named Patty. The couple have five children, none of which are Ted's. Ted does not know that he is impotent, but he does suspect he may have sinus trouble. The real father of the first two children, is a despicable cad named Dave Warscar. He is the local town racketeer. He did a stretch of time in the slammer once for selling a warped Wayne Newton album to an undercover cop. Larry Sinister is the father of the other three children. He is a taxi driver with no apparent ambition in life. Sinister fares well as a cab driver one could sock in the kisser.

One of the more interesting characters on the show is a nurse at the hospital named Carla LaLaLaBa. Carla is in love with Hal Secret (remember he is the drunken architect). Carla loves him with all her heart, and most of her body.

Some of the minor characters, I shall just glaze over briefly. Gary Fairmud: proprietor of "Fairmud's Garage Sale, and the town mayor. He swings with Patty Secret on occasion.

Linda Truents: Linda has undergone five sex changes. At the present time, she is contemplating another as her blue dress is too big for her.

Newt Hiyootdooin: The town intellect who subscribes to Reader's Digest. He suspects that he might be legitimate.

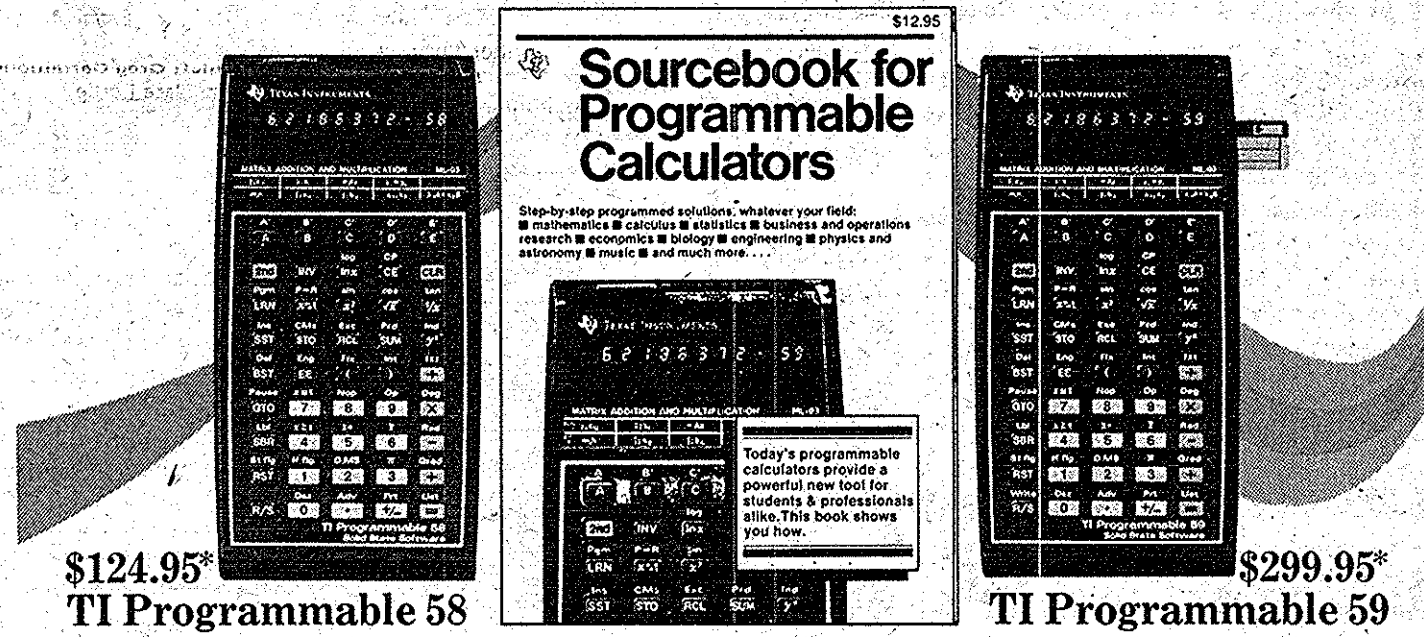

The next article will include more on the show, and some of the dialogue which has taken place on key shows. Till then.

sports... Penguins to face stern test Sat. ; YSU ranks fourth in National poll

by Bill Snier

The YSU Penguins will face their toughest test of the season Saturday when they face the Panthers of Eastern Illinois.

In the current Division II national rankings released Wednesday, the Penguins jumped up to fourth place which is where they were two weeks ago. The Panthers, on the other hand, dropped from the fourth spot in the rankings after Saturday's upset loss to Akron. EIU is currently ranked eighth in the nation with a 4-1 record. Two other teams from the Mid-Continent Conference are also ranked; Northern Michigan is currently fifth and the Akron Zips made their first appearance in the poll holding down the sixth spot.

The Panthers feature a new coach and a whole new look over last season. Last year, the Penguins bombed the Panthers, 52-22, at Rayen Stadium. The Panthers subsequently went on to finish with a 1-10 record. The Panthers felt a change was needed so they hired Darrell Mudra, who, in his 17th year as a head coach has an overall record of 114-51-2. Mudra then recruited over twenty junior-college transfers and 33 freshman to help upgrade his program.

The Panthers feature an explosive offense and a sturdy and solid defense. EIU is scoring at a 33.2 point per game clip, which places them third in the conference behind YSU and Northern Michigan. The Panther defense gives up only 14 points per outing which also places them third in the Conference.

When you talk about the Panther offense, you start with holdover Poke Cobb. The junior speedster leads the Panthers in scoring and has also rushed for 576 yards in 125 attempts. He picked up 143 yards in 25 carries against Akron Saturday.

The Panthers did pull at least one gem out of their newcomers in junior college transfer, Steve Turk. The junior quarterback has connected on 62 of 113 attempts for 1,102 yards and nine tallies. He has excellent receivers in sophomore flanker Scott McGhee, who has hauled down 20 passes for 486 yards and four tallies.

Defensively, the Panthers are anchored by junior middle line-backer Alonzo Lee, who has recorded 66 total tackles so far this season. Another threat is senior tackle Tom Seward who has recorded 60 tackles this season.

Saturday's game has been designated as Mahoning Bank Day. Four hundred red and white rain ponchos will be given free to the first 400 children, 12 years and under, who are accompanied by a paying adult. The ponchos, made of rain resistant vinyl, have a YSU helmet logo on the front with the wording "Rally Round the Penguins" appearing on the back.

Kickoff is slated for 1 p.m. Sports Information Director Dick Sapara advises all Penguin fans to leave for the game as early as possible to avoid the confusion and traffic congestion generated by last week's Saginaw game.

Soccer team drops second; YSU starters fail to show

by Bill Snier

The YSU Penguins not only lost a soccer game Wednesday, but they also lost another battle in the process. That battle had to do with fatigue. First of all, let's look at the game and then the other battle.

The Penguins put up a game battle before succumbing to Malone College, 2-1, in two overtimes.

YSU drew first blood in the match, scoring a goal early in the first half. Malone scored their lone goal of the regulation time with only six minutes remaining in the match. The Penguins' lone goal was scored by Craig Peck, who has scored many of the team's goals so far this season.

The first overtime was scoreless. In the second overtime, Malone kicked home a goal with a little over five minutes remaining in the overtime period. By the way, all goals were scored with the benefit of the wind at the team's back. The Penguins had a few open shots toward the end of the overtime period, but could not connect.

I mentioned earlier that the Penguins were also battling fatigue during the match. Why? Well, according to head coach George Hunter, the Penguins only had nine men show up for the trip to the game. Since it takes ten players to field a full team to start a game, the Penguins found themselves in a bit of a dilemma.

"We pulled out the van to leave for the game and saw a student, who looked rather the athletic type, and asked him if he wanted to play some soccer. He said okay and hopped in. When we were on our way, he asked where we were playing and I replied in Canton. The guy then said he couldn't go, because he had a class, but I told him you're here now and we're not turning back," explained Hunter.

Hunter explained that the Penguins' roster lists about eighteen names but five of those signees have never reported to practice. So he now has a team of about thirteen members and, being a part-time coach, he doesn't have the chance to see them that often.

"We're a young team, though. There is only one senior on the team with no juniors, eight sophomores and one freshman in the starting line-up. If we can keep this unit together, we could be pretty successful over the next two years," Hunter stated.

In the loss, Malone just wore the Penguins out by using their full eighteen man roster liberally while the Penguins had to go with the same ten men all the way. "We probably could have beaten them if our regular team would have shown up," stated Hunter.

The Penguins now stand at 0-2 for the season. Their next match will be Wednesday, Oct.

11, at Mount Union College. The Penguins first home match will be on Oct. 18 at the Canfield Fairgrounds against Mercyhurst.

INTRAMURALS

Soccer Rosters

Today is your last chance to enter a team in the Intramural soccer competition. To enter as a team or individual, you must come to the Intramural Office, located in Room 322 Beeghly, and sign up a team or ask to be placed on a team. It is not necessary to be highly skilled players to participate. Come and learn how to play an exciting sport.

Play begins on Monday, Oct. 16 at Volney Rogers Field in Mill Creek Park. There will be a captains' meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 11 at 7:00 p.m. in Room 216 Kilcawley. Every team must be represented at the captains' meeting where rules and schedules will be available.

Soccer Officials Needed

Any student interested in being a paid soccer official should sign up in the Intramural Office now. Only a basic understanding of soccer rules is necessary, as we will train you. A soccer officials meeting will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 11 at 8:00 p.m. in Room 216 Kilcawley. Please plan to attend the meeting or make special arrangements with the Intramural Office.

Football

Once again it is Intramural Football Season, and it might as well be titled "Return of the Ohzones," the team that devoured all of its opponents last year enroute to the All University Championship. And the Ohzones promise to even better this season. Play starts this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 7 and 8, at Borts

Field. A total of 63 teams comprised of fraternity, sorority, independent men, and independent women teams are competing for what they hope will be a University Championship. Each week a "Top Ten Teams" ranking will be posted for the men's division, including the sororities. Other teams who figure to be in the running for the championship in the men's independent division are the Austintown All Stars, Roundballers, B.M.F., Bo's Pros, and the Fishermen. Theta Chi and Sigma Chi are good bets to return as powers in the fraternity division. And in the women's division, the Ram Jammers look tough along with Army-Navy Club, All Stars, and the newly formed Banana Babes.

Tennis Doubles Competition Begins

Competition has begun for men's tennis doubles, women's tennis doubles, and co-ed tennis doubles. Any student who has signed up for this activity is urged to check the tournament board in the Intramural Office. Deadline dates have been set up and anyone not playing their matches by the deadline date will automatically receive a forfeit.

YSU Bowling Club to Meet

The YSU Bowling Club will hold its first meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 11 at 1:00 p.m., Room 239 Kilcawley. Membership is open to any student currently enrolled at YSU. Meetings of the club are open to any interested person.

Mountaineering #1.

FUNDAMENTALS OF MOUNTAINEERING

What is mountaineering all about? Funny you should ask. Because we just happen to have an answer. (Ah-h, life's little coincidences.) Mountaineering is a skill, a science and an art. Yet anyone with a thirst for excellence and normally developed motor skills can master it. Simply study these fundamentals and follow them faithfully.

1 Step one, appropriately enough, starts by selecting the correct site. To do so, pick up a bottle of Busch. This is commonly called heading for the mountains.

2 Okay, here's where the fun begins. Hold the mountain firmly in your left hand, grasp the mountain top with your right hand and twist the little fella off. There you go.

3 Now for the tricky part. Neophytes, listen up: the proper pour is straight down the center of the glass. Only in this way will the cold, invigorating taste of the mountain come to a head.

4 Once poured, pacing becomes paramount. As any seasoned mountaineer will tell you, the only way to down a mountain is slowly, smoothly and steadily - savoring every swallow of the brew that is Busch. If you're a bit awkward at first, don't be discouraged. Perfection takes practice. Soon enough, having emptied your glass and filled your soul, you too will be a mountaineer.
