

Eastern Illinois wins semi-finals

Hard fought battle ends in loss for Penguins

by Bill Snier

It will be the Eastern Illinois Panthers opposing the Delaware Blue Hens in the Division II Championship game this weekend at Longview, Texas. The two teams gained this honor by Delaware destroying number-one ranked Winston-Salem, 41-0, and Eastern Illinois edging the number-two ranked YSU Penguins, 26-22.

It was a tragic end to an otherwise very successful year for the Penguins who had been pointing towards the national playoffs since the conclusion of last season. It was also a game of frustration and disbelief which had the Penguins' offensive unit standing in a sea of mud at the EIU 30 with thousands of fans streaming around them, awaiting one last play - a play that never came.

"The referee came over to me and told me we had one more play coming," stated Penguin coach Bill Narduzzi. "We stayed right there waiting for action to start again. But the next thing I know we're told it's over. The referee later told me he was overruled by the other officials because we had players on the defensive side of the ball. That's the case, he had no business signaling the ball ready for play."

The play in question occurred with about 20 seconds left in the game. The scorekeeper allowed the clock to run following a fake punt by Scott McGhee of EIU and the fans streamed on the field to celebrate. But the game was not over and the Penguins lined up for a play after the field was cleared. Bill Fink then dropped back to pass but slipped in the mud and fell to the ground. The Penguins frantically attempted to set up for another play, but the fans again streamed on the field with about five seconds left and the Penguins were never able to get set, even though the ball was marked by the official.

Eastern Illinois started the game with a bang on the opening kickoff. Return specialist Mark Campana took Chuck Haynali's kick and ran straight up the field for 90 yards, going untouched into the end zone. Dan DiMartino added the point for a 7-0 EIU lead.

On Eastern's first offensive possession, quarterback Steve Turk went to the air. But Tom Jaros made a diving interception on the Eastern 34-yard line. From there, the Penguins ran the ball eight times to paydirt with Robby Robson carrying the final yard. But a high snap from center made Chuck Haynali miss the extra point to keep EIU in the lead, 7-6.

Turk again took to the air, connecting on a screen to Poke Cobb that covered 39 yards to the Penguins' 33. Turk then hit Jim Warring, his favorite target who was destined to receive ABC's offensive player of the game award twice, and took the ball to the Penguin-8. Fullback Lonnie Denton covered the final eight yards for a 14-6 Panther advantage.

The Penguins attempted to get untracked in the second quarter, but a Snoddy pass was picked by Wilbert James at the EIU 11. The specialty teams then made another break for the Penguins when Joe Schartner blocked a punt by Larsen and it rolled out of bounds at the EIU 29.

Marschell Brumfield, showing the finest running form fans have seen since the Ashland game, covered the 29 yards in four carries for the tally. The Penguins try for two points failed as Snoddy's pass was batted down by an onrushing lineman.

Another mistake enabled the Penguins to assume the lead. Steve Turk again attempted to hit Cobb with the screen over the middle, but Tom Harder made the interception at the Eastern 33. It was Brumfield again, carrying the ball to the eight. Dwight Dumas then carried the final eight yards for a 19-14 lead following Haynali's conversion.

The Penguins started to move again following a punt. But an illegal procedure penalty set the Penguins back after they appeared to have the first down, at the EIU 15. Haynali then attempted a 37-yard field goal, but it went off to the left.

Another Jaros interception enabled YSU to go to the locker room with a 19-14 halftime advantage.

In the second half, Turk was intercepted again. This time it

Clinic provides medical services for students; needs volunteers

by Bob McKimmy

"We have supplied over $100,000 worth of services since opening," said Alice Hill, director of the YSU Free Clinic.

Operated by the Cooperative Campus Ministry, the Clinic, located in the basement of the First Christian Church (corner of Wick Avenue and Spring Street), is open from 7 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays.

The Clinic provides physicals, diagnostic services, treatments, referrals, counseling and some lab testing (pregnancy and V.D. testing, PAP smears).

"The Clinic can always use volunteers," Diane Kenney, advisor to CCM, remarked. Kenney said that volunteers could be people who are taking allied health or medical secretary courses, student nurses or people who may be interested in health services and would like some exposure to the Clinic operation.

The professional staff at the Clinic is made up of volunteers from the Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital. Since service is on a first-come first-serve basis, beginning Nov. 29, classic movies (Marx brothers, Charlie Chaplin, etc.) will be shown for those waiting. According to Kenney, the films will be shown between 7:45 and 9:00 p.m.

The Clinic, supported by donations and the CCM, opened in November of 1971 and was created to provide students with medical service on a campus that had no doctor.

Anyone desiring information concerning the Clinic can call 743-0439.

Reagan to speak at Powers as part of lecture series

"There is a distinct possibility that I'll be a candidate," said former California Governor Ronald Reagan about his 1980 presidential ambitions. "It might take something unforeseen for me not to run."

Reagan will soon be making some hard decisions concerning his political future, most likely early next year, but before he does, he'll make an appearance before YSU's Special Lecture Series. His speaking engagement is set for 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 6, in Powers Auditorium. His lecture is made possible by a grant from the Skeggs Foundation, established in 1966 in honor of the late Leonard T. Skeggs, Sr.

Admission to the YSU Special Lecture Series is free and open to the public. Tickets are not required. For further information, contact the YSU Alumni office, (216) 742-3496.

Today is the last issue of the Jambar until Jan. 5, 1979. The entire Jambar staff wishes you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Christmas projects offered to all university community

by Barb Crowley

Do you sometimes get the urge to be creative? To make useful and decorative craft projects? But have the cost and time involved in taking lessons turned you off?

Then the Kilcawley Crafts Center may be your answer. Open for five years, the Crafts Center, located on the second floor of Kilcawley has always been successful, but lately even more so. This may be attributed to the wide variety of popular craft workshops the Center has been offering.

One of these has been the series of "Lunch-hour Crafts" workshops. These workshops were offered throughout October for various projects, and are now being offered weekdays from 12 noon to 1 p.m., through Dec. 15.

The current "Lunch-hour" workshop is called "Calico Christmas," and offers instruction in holiday season crafts, including Christmas garlands, stuffed calico trees, braided and holly wreaths, Christmas tree skirts and more.

One reason for the success of the "Lunch-hour Crafts" workshops has been the leisurely, informal atmosphere.

Jan Sofranic, craft supervisor, says, "at Lunch-hour Crafts, we get faculty members, students, and staff together in an informal way. It's a relaxed atmosphere, helpful for students and faculty alike. It seems to break the ice."

Jan, a former YSU student, holds a degree in art education from San Francisco State University. She said she believes "anyone can be creative if they really try." Jan is assisted at the Center by a personally-trained and capable staff. They are Marie Witt, specializing in quilting and "Lunch-hour Crafts;" Kathy Frazini, needlepoints; Kathy Kessell, leatherwork, silkscreening, and stained glass; Marianne Kochis, who specializes in leatherwork and quilting; and, Vic Leone, a YSU graphic arts student.

Now through Dec. 5 the Crafts Center will continue to conduct a special series of Christmas Mini-Workshops. Visitors can learn to silkscreen their own Christmas cards, weekdays 10 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 3:30 p.m.

"These Christmas workshops," Jan explains, "are especially for people who are very busy and for persons interested in experiencing the sense of accomplishment derived from a long-range project. Instruction is offered in quilting, needlepoint, weaving, leatherwork and other lengthy projects."

Jan explains the difference between the appeal of the mini-workshops and instruction in quilting, weaving, needlepoint, and leatherwork: "Something like quilting usually appeals to those who have had experience and want to perfect what they already know, whereas, with the mini-workshops the results are instant. That's why they appeal to more people than weaving, etc."

Jan sees quilting as something of a "revived art." She points out, "That's why a lot of people are interested in it. It lasts a lifetime. There are also a lot of choices of colors and design that make it unique and make it your own."

So why not try your hand at something creative? The workshops at the Crafts Center are a good opportunity to learn versatile craft techniques in an atmosphere free from academic pressure.

In addition, the Center is sponsoring a Craft Sale from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 6. It will feature handcrafts made by students.

Brochures listing times of workshops for the remainder of fall quarter may be picked up at the Crafts Center. If you are interested in something not offered regularly by the Center, contact Jan between 10 and 5 Monday-Thursday, or Fridays 10 to 6.

Hard battle

was Kevin Statzer who made the grab at the YSU 15. The Penguins again moved to the Panther 12, but an offensive holding penalty took away a possible touchdown drive and the Penguins settled on a 42-yard field goal by Chuck Haynali, which made it barely over the crossbar, for a 22-14 lead.

An interception and a fumble halted Eastern drives in the fourth quarter as the Penguin defense rose to the occasion.

But the Panthers' frustration at mistakes finally ended as Turk connected with Warring for three passes, around a 24-yard run on a draw play by Poke Cobb, to score with 5:15 remaining. The Panthers' attempt for two points failed however, to keep the Penguins' advantage at 22-20.

But disaster struck on the Penguins' next possession. Snoddy, attempting to pitch the ball to Brumfield on the option, threw the ball high and Marschell could not find the handle. The resulting fumble was recovered at the YSU nine yard line. It took the Panthers only three plays to get into the end zone with Denton scoring on a three yard run for a 26-22 Panther advantage.

YSU then went on a final drive of their own. But it stalled at the Panther 35 as Keith Snoddy failed to connect with Randy Beal on three straight passes. That set up the final dramatic events explained earlier.

There were twelve Penguin seniors who played in their final game Saturday and we would like to salute them now for their poise and leadership throughout this season. They are: David Townsend, Marschell Brumfield, Bob Lombardi, Craig Nicholas, Ed McGlasson, Greg Fitzpatrick, Gary Letera, Tom Brown, Tom Farina, Mark Zetwick, Sam Barbera, Quentin Lowry and Emmett King.

To these men we say congratulations on a fine season and the same to the coaching staff and the remainder of the team. You showed more class in defeat than the other team did in victory.

S. Council seats new members; re-elects Massaro

Carr instructs students in art of scuba diving

by Bob McKimmy

"We have the finest diving program of any state university in Ohio," said John Carr, instructor of the YSU skin and scuba diving classes.

Carr, who has taught this class for five years, began diving nine years ago. After graduation from YSU, with a degree in business administration, he took a basic sport diver's course at a private shop. Believing that there was a lot of improvement needed in diver instruction Carr did something about it. In 1972 he went to the YMCA Instructor's Institute and in 1973 was certified by the National Association of Underwater Instructors.

Diving is never adequately described; it must be experienced. Carr's varied and extensive diving experience includes dives in numerous lakes and quarries, East Coast wreck diving from Maine to Florida, cave diving in northern Florida, West Coast diving in California and the Baja, and taking eight trips to the Caribbean.

While diving is presently a sideline for Carr, he would like to make it a full-time occupation. He is the terminal manager for a local trucking firm and is working on a master's degree in education.

Carr teaches the 10-week class in diving fundamentals and theory that prepares students for open water diving. (Open water diving is diving out of doors in any open body of water).

Offered as part of the regular university curriculum on Tuesday and Thursday mornings or in continuing education on Tuesday evenings, the class in the natatorium at Beeghly Physical Education Center is "alive" with students eager to explore the realm of The Man From Atlantis.

Course objectives are: 1) to gain useful and efficient skin and scuba diving skills; 2) to learn safe diving techniques and proper equipment usage; 3) to learn necessary diving theory to facilitate safe sport diving, and 4) to prepare the student for supervised open water training.

After successful completion of the 10 week course and three open water dives, the student is eligible for basic scuba diver certification. (Dive shops and air stations will not sell air or rent equipment to divers who cannot show proof of certification).

At the outset of the skin and scuba diving class an aquatic skills test is given. A 400 yard non-stop swim, a 60 foot underwater breath holding swim, a surface dive to 16 feet, and a 10 minute drownproofing are mandatory for continuing the course.

Next, basic skin diving, with the use of mask, fins, and snorkel, and scuba diving, with the use of a buoyancy compensator, tank and regulator, are taught. There is emphasis on diving physics, physiology, lifesaving, first aid, and safety skills related to skin and scuba diving.

While talking about future projects, Carr revealed that an underwater film festival and a seminar on underwater photography are in the planning stages. "This spring an assistant instructor" (Cont. on page 6)

Come back happy

As the quarter winds to a close, the one thing above all others in the minds of most students is, of course, Christmas break. It gives one time to catch one's breath, to see and evaluate the direction one's life is taking, and to give of oneself in the true spirit of Christmas.

Often, we bury ourselves so deeply into our studies that we forget to maintain our own lives. Old friends fade slowly into the past. That great book you started right before the beginning of the quarter is still sitting where you left it in September. Did you ever get to talk again to that really fine person you met toward the end of summer? Are you studying toward a career you'll be happy with?

This break gives you time to check all this out, to see if things are going your way.

Take a little time to think about what is happening in your life. Throw out what is wrong for you, and try to make it right. Try to make it work.

Have a good time this holiday season. Pull out all the stops, and live for two and a half weeks. Finish that book, or give that old friend a call, or just disappear for a week-end. Make yourself smile.

Finally, let the giving spirit of Christmas charge you up, regardless of religion, make it a point to mark this holiday by giving parts of yourself to others. Material goods are easy to give, but one's own time is much more precious, and much more valuable to those around him.

Be careful during this holiday season. Be good to yourself and to those around you. Come back to school next quarter in "good, rested frame of mind." Come back happy.

very fine job they did this past season and also resolved that Student Council thank everyone who was involved in the making of the championship team - coaches, athletic personnel, Penguin Club, YSU Marching Band and the devoted fans - was passed unanimously.

The second resolution of the YSU Student Council stated that Sally Hotchkiss, ex-advisor to Student Council/Student Government, has devoted countless hours to aid and assist SC/SG, has tirelessly given to individual members of the Student Body her assistance and also has been a source of counsel for members of the Student Body at Large, was passed unanimously by Council. SC/SG duly recognizes Sally Hotchkiss and records her dedication and express their thanks and best wishes in all her future endeavors.

Dave Bozanich, Vice-President of Student Government announced the progress of the Day Escort Service and that applications to be a day escort are still available in the Student Government offices. The Day Escort Service is ready to go the beginning of winter quarter, 1979.

Power mad attendants

It is common knowledge that the parking facilities at this campus are not the best. However, it is not the lack of spaces which concerns me as much as a small group of power-mad attendants do. It seems that the parking lot attendants, who have the right to dole out tickets on violations, have at least doubled the number of tickets given out during a quarter at $5 each.

There have also been reports that a few attendants have been known to hide in concealed areas to trap unsuspecting parking violators. This form of trickery seems uncalled for.

Is this another disgusting way for the University to attempt to make money?

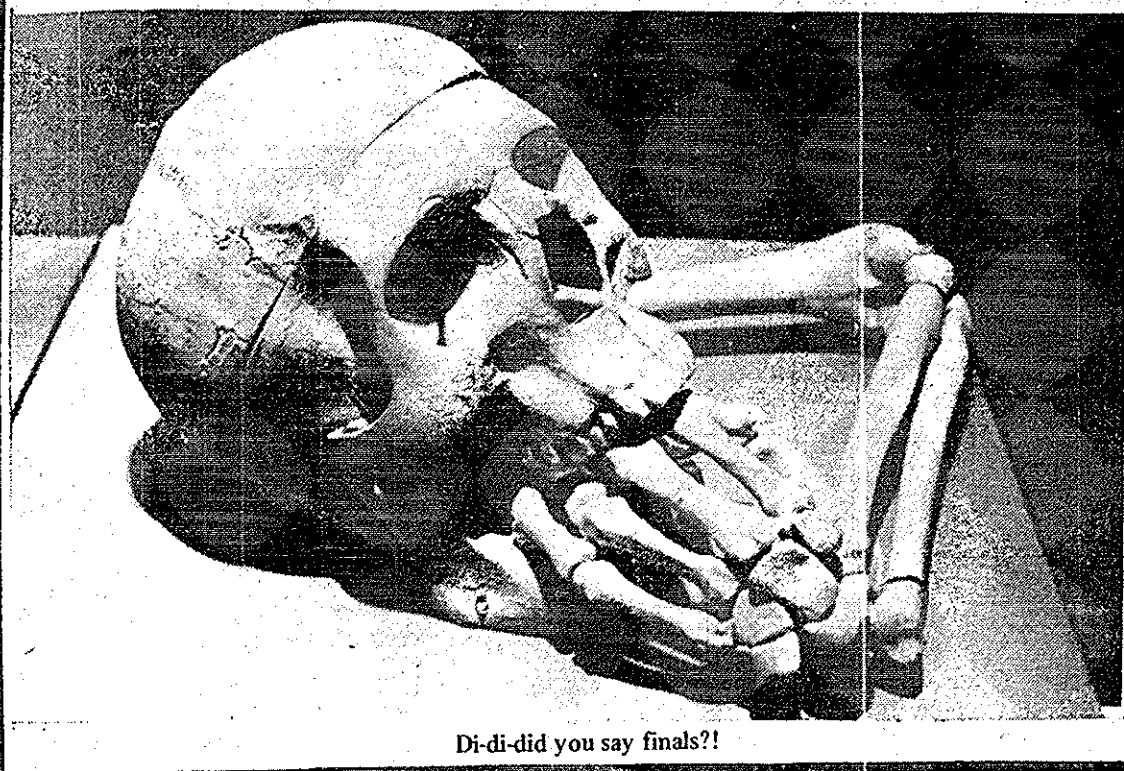

It seems to me that while this University milks students in other areas (such as the jump from $2 to $6 to drop a class) it seems that Mr. Minnis' department could attempt to give the students a break.

One solution would be to only ticket the most flagrant violations, instead of handing out a $5 ticket for every small, insignificant infraction. It would also help if the department could check up on its employees to make sure that they do not misuse their power and practice ethical tactics of ticketing.

Harry S. Truman Scholarship

On Nov. 28, 1978, the nominating committee selected Joseph A. Castrodale, to be YSU's nomination for the 1979 Harry S. Truman Scholarship. This scholarship is "...awarded on the basis of merit to students who will be juniors in the forthcoming academic year and who have outstanding potential for leadership in government." The scholarship covers room and board, tuition, fees, and books up to a maximum of $5,000 per year.

YSU's single nominee will compete with other nominees from Ohio colleges and universities for the single Ohio Harry S. Truman Scholarship.

Memory Course

The Victoria Woodhull Memory Course will be offered by Angela Victoria Woodhull at the Youngstown YWCA from 6 to 10 p.m. on Thursday evening, Dec. 7. The one night session will concentrate on training students to improve their powers of concentration and to learn to focus specifically on the information at hand.

Miss Woodhull, who holds a degree in Psychological Foundations from the University of Florida, is currently working on her doctorate. The Memory Course has been presented at the University of Florida. The course will focus on identifying faces and names accurately, remembering numbers using the mnemonic techniques.

Reservations may be made in advance. All reservations are on a first come, first served basis. The fee for the class is $10. Reservations may be made by mail to the YWCA, 25 West Rayen, Youngstown, Ohio 44503. For further information call the YWCA, 746-6361.

ROTC Toys for Tots Drive

The students of the Military Science Department, in conjunction with the United States Marine Corps Reserve, are sponsoring a "Toys for Tots" drive in order to help those who are less fortunate than most. We are asking that everyone - faculty, staff, and students - donate an undamaged, repairable, or new toy. Collection bins are located in the following buildings: Kilcawley, Beeghly, Arts and Science, Cushwa, Engineering Science, Maag Library, Lincoln, Bliss, Ward Beecher and the Pollock House.

If you have any questions about the drive, please contact Delores Hudock at the Pollock House, telephone number 3205 or 3206.

We only have until Dec. 20, so remember, the kids are counting on you.

White, Guest Speaker

Dr. John White of the Sociology-Anthropology Department was the guest speaker at the December meeting of the Youngstown branch of the American Association of University Women, on Saturday, Dec. 2. Dr. White's address was "Out of the Ivory Tower: The Role of Archeology in the Community." He discussed urban archeology, the application of the methods and theories of anthropology-archeology to the solution of current community problems. He discussed in particular his work at the Eaton (Hopewell) Furnance, the Austintown Cabin, and his forensic work for the Summit County Coroner's Office.

Toys for Tots

The YSU Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) is assisting the United States Marine Corps in the annual "Toys for Tots" drive this year. Lt. Col. Bob Shea, YSU professor of military science, cited the concern for others as a major motivating factor behind the drive.

ROTC Cadets are asking YSU students, faculty, and staff to donate new or used (repairable) toys to the campaign. There are "Toys for Tots" barrels located in every building on the campus. Those wishing to make a large contribution, please call the military science department, (216) 742-3205.

Alger's Booklet

Horatio Alger is not dead! At least not at the Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County. A brand new booklet, "Start Your Own Business," features quotations from Alger's works as well as an annotated list of books that tell not only how to start a business but also make it "pay off."

Free copies of the booklet are available at the Main Library's Science and Industry Department and all of the branches of the Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County.

Republic lot closes

Beginning winter quarter, the Republic Steel parking lot formerly used by YSU students will no longer be open, announced Don Minnis, director of auxiliary services.

Minnis stated that because only "50 or 60 (people) used the lot" and that the cost of running a bus all day was $100 a day, it no longer seemed necessary or advisable to keep the lot open. "It just never caught on," Minnis added.

Minnis continued in advising the 50 or 60 who use the lot should begin using the new parking deck on Wick Avenue which opened this fall.

Cross Country Skiing

Anybody interested in country skiing is cordially invited to a free demonstration on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 3 p.m. at the Ford Nature Center on Old Furnace Road in Mill Creek Park. Arni Nashear, a cross-country skiing expert, will be on hand to demonstrate equipment and techniques used in this rapidly growing sport. A special film will also be shown.

Dana Performance

The Dana Chamber Orchestra will give its first and only performance of the fall quarter, 1978 on Dec. 6 at 1 p.m. in the Band/Orchestra Rehearsal Room of Bliss Hall, Room 2036.

The music to be performed will be a complete performance of the Symphony No. 8 in F Major by Ludwig van Beethoven, a kind of mini-concert in anticipation of Beethoven's birthday on Dec. 16. The concert is free and open to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Group licenses psychologists

Sally Hotchkiss named to board

Governor James A. Rhodes has recently appointed YSU faculty member Dr. Sally Hotchkiss to the Ohio State Board of Psychology. She will be serving a five-year term on the state board which has the responsibility of licensing qualified psychologists (including school psychologists) in Ohio. The state appointed board also functions in the reverse responsibility of revoking, when necessary, psychologists' licenses.

Dr. Hotchkiss joined the YSU faculty in 1968 and received her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in psychology from the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Hotchkiss serves as vice-president on the board of the Mahoning County Diagnostic & Evaluation Clinic and is on the vestry of St. James' Episcopal Church. Within the community, Dr. Hotchkiss is known as a counselor to numerous groups on the subject of "death and disease" as well as for her contributions and work with the local chapter of "Make Today Count," an organization devoted to improving the quality of life for those suffering from life-threatening illnesses.

Professionally, Dr. Hotchkiss is a member of the Ohio Psychological Association, the Midwestern Psychological Association and the American Psychological Association.

At the university, Dr. Hotchkiss has memberships on the University Senate and in numerous NEUCOM (Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine) committees. The Ohio State Board of Psychology appointment made it necessary for Hotchkiss to resign her services as advisor to the YSU Student Council and student government.

Students, faculty study Medieval era instruments

by Ed Shanks

Lots of people know what the musical instrument called the recorder is, but how many people do you know that know what a crumhorn is?

Patty Gretsinger, Diane Santelli, Sharon Rienerth and Georgianne Vay know. They play both instruments.

For the uninformed, a crumhorn is a J-shaped, thin wooden instrument. It has finger-holes like a recorder, and comes from about the same historical period, but unlike the recorder, the crumhorn has a double-reed not unlike that of a bassoon or oboe, except that it is short and wide, and held in place by a brass protective covering.

"The crumhorn has a narrow range," said Santelli, "only about ten notes."

"There are four horns," added Rienerth, "the soprano, alto, tenor, and bass crumhorn."

Due to the practice room being too small to accommodate the four girls, a photographer, and a reporter, the practice room door had to be left open. This naturally drew spectators. Some of the comments overheard ranged from: "Sounds like a cross between a kazoo and a foghorn." to "Hey, those sound neat... What are they?"

The group was practicing for a performance at Austintown Fitch High School, where they will play their recorders today, but "the crumhorns are a little out of tune," as Vay put it.

Also interested in Medieval musical instruments is Dr. Medieval Alleman, who owns a Mozart-era clarinet and an oke. Alleman has

Vonnegut lonesome no more

"This is the closest I will ever come to writing an autobiography...It is about what life feels like to me...It is about this terribly old man in the ruins of Manhattan, you see, where almost everyone has been killed by a mysterious disease called 'The Green Death.'"

With a relective "hi ho," Kurt Vonnegut writes the prologue to his most recent novel, Slapstick Or Lonesome No More!, ($2.95no. 18009-0), to be published for the first time in a Dell/Seymour Lawrence mass market paperback edition on Dec. 5, 1978. Backed with a 350,000 copy first printing and a major newspaper advertising campaign, Slapstick is the latest addition to the Vonnegut library which includes eight novels, two plays, two collections of short stories, and two additional books of criticism and which currently has more than 11,000,000 copies in print.

Vonnegut explains in the Prologue to Slapstick that he day-dreamed this story on a plane ride with his brother en route to his sister's funeral. As he falls asleep he dreams of a hundred-year-old man who lives in the next century surrounded by a huge collection of candlesticks in the ruins of the lobby of the Empire State Building. The old man is a gigantic, 7-foot tall, twelve-toed, twelve-fingered, four-breasted monster who is named Dr. Wilbur Daffodil-11 Swain.

For many years, Vonnegut has been an American literary hero. His is a far-out imagination which always winds up on target-an irresistible humor with a superb cutting edge, a storytelling talent that makes reading a pleasure as well as a mind-jolting experience. He is, as Graham Greene has declared, "one of the best living American writers."

As if scheduling classes each quarter isn't bad enough, giving it religious overtones is even worse.

Final exams from the previous quarter symbolize death. After week upon week in the same classes, the final exam marks the end of that life, and students must move on to the "hereafter."

The big old church on Wick and Lincoln, or Jones Hall, is the site of registration, or "judgment day." The computer is "God," the women behind the desk are "angels," the policemen are "guardian angels," and so on.

As I approached the "gates of heaven," I was confronted by a fat guardian angel.

"Name," he said.

"Sheban."

"You're late," he said.

"I know," I answered, "but all the cemeteries had 'lot full' on them."

"OK-move along," he snapped.

I was on my way. I had been preparing for this moment for a long time. I hope I hadn't forgotten anything.

A group of us souls were taken to several rows of altars, and instructed to review our sins. The mortal sins were numbered on a long blackboard in front of the altars. An older angel was adding some new sins to the list of old ones. I only had four sins to my name, and I hoped that none of them would be mortal ones.

"Let's see" I thought to myself "0946 isn't mortal, 7451 is OK, 3234 and 5602 aren't up there either!"

So far I should have no problem getting to heaven. I now joined my fellow souls in line, anxiously awaiting judgment.

In the background, I could see angels feeding new lists of sins and souls on to God, as He rattled and clicked.

"God must be getting old," I thought, "and how can he keep every person's sins straight?" I wondered.

Suddenly, an angel behind the main altar summoned me forward. This was it-if I had a heart it would have been in my throat.

"Soul number 296-66-2201," said the angel, "I'm sorry to inform you that sin number 5602 has just been made a mortal sin," she said.

"But..."

"No buts about it, 296-66-2201-be gone!" she commanded.

My luck had changed. I was being sent to Purgatory! The only way out of Purgatory is to get a signed permit from one of the guards.

Fortunately, I only spent about one hour in Purgatory, but I had heard that it could take days or even weeks.

A guard's secretary signed my permit, and before I knew it, I was back in heaven.

The angel again summoned me

Concert review

Queen presents fine show

by Guz Scullin

About three years ago, I saw one of the best rock concerts of life - yes it even is up there with the Rolling Stones and other rock heavyweights. It was an English band who was just on the verge of really making it nationwide. They had been fairly successful, but they were riding the crest of superstardom. Their name was Queen, and the concert was at the Cleveland Public Hall. The show had all of the elements: a great light show, astoundingly accurate acoustics, and top-notch performance from all band members. Lead singer Freddy Mercury had a stage presence which could only be rivaled by the likes of Mick Jagger. I saw Queen again about a year or so ago at the Colliseum. They were still good, but could not match the flare they had on that eventful night in 1976.

On Saturday, Nov. 25, Queen played another concert at the Colliseum. They have lost more of their sparkle, but they, nonetheless, put on one of the finest shows in rock.

My main gripe with the concert is that it was at the Colliseum. If it all possible, avoid it like the plague. It is a big, ugly barn that was built for basketball and hockey. Rock concerts cannot get a sporting chance there. It was not built for acoustics, and the seating arrangement is fairly terrible if you get caught in the back of the arena. It just is not suited for rock concerts.

Now, as far as the band, they were very good, but they lacked the magic of the first time I saw them. Perhaps it is their new style of music, many more operatic numbers. The opera songs are written by Mercury, the lead vocalist. Mercury plays the piano. When the band plays one of their operatic songs, Mercury is anchored to his piano. This is a shame for Mercury is one of the finest stage personalities around. He can move a crowd his way, and keep them, but he cannot do this when he is sitting at his piano. It is difficult to explain, but imagine seeing the Stones, and every other song Jagger paces to a piano, and sits. It just joses the pace of the whole show.

The band played a wide variety of songs off of their seven albums. They did many of their songs off of their latest "Jazz," an album which shows yet another new direction for the band. Highlights included "Fat Bottom Girls," and "Bicycle Race." From the old albums, they did some of the more popular tunes. "Somebody to Love," "Bohemian Rhapsody," "Tie Your Mother Down," "Killer Queen," "You're My Best Friend," and "Keep Yourself Alive." There was something for everyone, and the crowd loved it.

Mercury has one of the finest voices in rock, and surely the best high voice around. Brian May is incredible. He is the closest thing to Jimi Hendrix's innovation with guitar since Hendrix's death. John Deacon also shone. Roger Meddows-Taylor did a few very good drum solos. The band was tight.

If you have never seen Queen, or never heard them (is that possible?), at all costs, get exposed. They do a fine performance, I am just prejudiced because of past exposure. But, try not to catch them at the Colliseum. Would you go to the Tomorrow Club to see a basketball game?

Grapplers split tri-meet

by Bill Snier

The YSU wrestling team will carry a 1-2 record into Tuesday's match with West Liberty State following a split in a triangular meet held Saturday at Fairmont State College.

In their first match, the Penguins defeated Thiel College, 23-15. But in the second match, the Penguins were edged by the host team, Fairmont State, 28-23.

"I was frankly disappointed by the team's performance," stated head coach Norm Palovcsik. "We gave up too many points in the Fairmont match with two pins, a default and a superior decision for 24 points in four matches. We are capable of doing better than that."

Palovcsik cited the performance of Jack Ritter and Ken Moser, who defeated two very tough opponents, as the most outstanding of the meet. The coach was upset by a default against Mike Hardy in the Fairmont match. "Hardy had been unnecessarily rough in the take-down. Since the wrestler was unable to continue, he won by default. I felt we were taken advantage of," stated the coach.

Other dual winners for the Penguins included Dan Dinger (superior decision, disqualification at 126) and Dane Stilgenbauer (decision and pin at 158). Jim Miller (134), Ken Hrycyk (167), and Steve Schneider (190) also were victors during the meet for the Penguins.

"I feel that the fact that we have lost our two matches by a total of five points or less is indicative that we are competitive," stated Palovcsik. "I feel that we should be 3-0 at this juncture. But we need a maxi-

Basketball season opens with win

by Bill Snier

A young hustling YSU Penguin basketball team overcame an eight-point deficit and an early cold spell Saturday night to defeat the University of Maryland-Eastern Shore, 78-70, in their season opener at Beeghly Center.

The Penguins started three freshmen in the game and the trio combined for 67 points in the victory. Forward Dave Ziegler topped the Penguins with 29 points, with 18 of those coming in the first half. Freshman guard Bruck Alexander took over in the second half, scoring 18 points, to finish the game with 26. The third member of the trio, center Ricardo Ragland, chipped in with 12 points. Ragland and Ziegler also tied for rebounding honors with nine apiece.

"I was very impressed by the poise shown by a bunch of young kids," stated Penguin head coach Dom Rosselli. "Our offense ran smoothly and they ran their patterns well. It was a team game of defense with Miodrag, Ragland, and Ziegler providing the muscle inside."

The game had a very slow beginning as neither team could score a bucket until guard Ron Shelly popped in a number with almost two and a half minutes gone in the first half. Alexander countered for the Penguins, but Maryland-Eastern Shore then ran off eight straight points before the Penguins got one back on a jumper by Ziegler.

Ziegler then single-handedly pulled the Penguins back into the game by hitting his next eight shots to close the gap. Alexander then went to work, first of all connecting on two free throws to tie the game and then connecting on a short jumper off the glass to give the Penguins the lead at the 4:56 mark.

After Alan Davenport retired the game on a jumper, the Penguins managed to score 9 of the next 11 points to assume a lead they never relinquished at the half, 39-32.

In the second half, it was more of the same as Alexander, Ziegler, and Ragland alternately put the ball in the hoop to keep Maryland out of range of the Penguins. Eastern Shore did manage to get within three points at the 10:25 mark, but the Penguins scored six straight points to keep the game out of reach.

For Maryland-Eastern Shore, All-American candidate Ken Simmons topped the scoring with 24 points, 18 of those in the second half. Freshman forward Mark Butler added 10.

The Penguins were able to connect on 32 of 59 shots from the field for 54 per cent while Maryland-Eastern Shore connected on 34 of 67 for 51 per cent. The Penguins actually won the game at the foul line where they connected on 14 of 22 free shots while Maryland only hit on two of five.

The Penguins will return to action on Saturday night at Beeghly Center against Mount Union College. Tip off time is set for 8 p.m. with the JV game set to get underway at 6 p.m.

Swimming

The YSU men's swimming team opened their season on a successful note Saturday as the Penguins defeated Edinboro State in a dual meet, 61-39, at Edinboro.

The Penguin swimmers took first place honors in eight of the twelve events to capture the meet by a relatively easy margin.

The swimmers assumed control early in the meet as the 400-yard medley team of Todd Spencer, Larry Smith, Doug Shilliday, and Greg Stikes swam to victory in a time of 3:46.23. Paul Lonneman then took first place honors in the 1000-yard freestyle in 10:58.

In the third event, junior Tom Bosse established a new YSU school record and an new Edinboro pool record in winning the 200-yard freestyle in a time of 1:46.75, almost four seconds ahead of his nearest competitor.

The other victories for the Penguin swimmers were by Ran Randy Ballard in the 50-yard freestyle, Todd Spencer in 200-yard individual medley, Doug Shilliday in the 200-yard butterfly, Jeff Weller in the 100-yard freestyle and Tom Bosse again in the 200-yard backstroke.

"I was particularly pleased with our performance in the meet," stated Penguin coach Tucker DiEdwardo. "I didn't feel, however, that the victory came against a very good swimming team, but the team performed well."

This week, the Penguin swimmers will go up against a good swimming team in Marshall University. "I feel that the team will be really tested this week against Marshall," stated DiEdwardo. "They tied for first-place honors in our invitational last week and are a tough Division I school. We have never beaten them at their facility."

The Penguins will face the Thundering Herd on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. at Marshall.

"Ah yes," she said, "soul number 296-66-2201. Do you have the signed permit?"
"Yes Miss Angel, I do," I said as I handed it to her.

"Very good; you may move along now."

I was sent right up to God himself, who personally printed out my permit to heaven on a yellow sheet of paper. When He was finished, a smiling angel gave me my permit. She then directed me towards the last leg of my journey-The Main Altar of Imperial Angels.

As one of the Imperial Angels looked over my yellow permit, I couldn't help but tremble.

"Soul number 296-66-2201," she bellowed, "is all this information correct?"

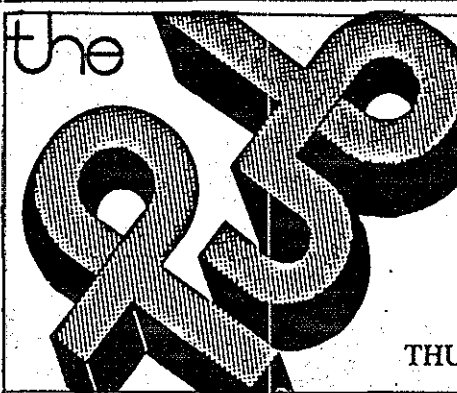

"Y-yes, y-your Highness," I spluttered, as she eyed me up and down.

"Very well," she said? as she stamped my permit with an official "APPROVED."

"Congratulations, soul 296-66-2201. You will receive your bill for $285 in the mail," she informed me.

"You mean you have mail up here in heaven?" I asked.

"Air-mail, of course," she said, as I flew off to my penthouse-cloud, overlooking Steubenville, Ohio.

YSU speakers take first in team honors at Miami U. Program planned to salute Norway

by George Cheney

The YSU forensics team concluded its fall season on Dec. 1 and 2 by capturing first place in team sweepstakes at the Miami University Individual Events Championships in Oxford, Ohio. This marks the first time a YSU squad has won an individual events tournament.

With this performance, eleven students are now qualified for the national tournament to be held in Whitewater, Wisconsin, in April. Kai Sorensen, speech coach, says, "Never before have we had so many students involved or such high quality performances in every event." This can be seen in the fact that the team has 23 events qualified. The first category of events is called limited preparation. Those qualified in extemporaneous speaking include George Cheney, Dan O'Rourke, Matt Sobnosky, and Peggy Senzarino. O'Rourke and Sobnosky have also placed in impromptu speaking.

In one of the public speaking events, informative, Carole Colburn, Rick Schilling, and Cheney are qualified. Cheney is also qualified in rhetorical criticism and persuasion. In after dinner speaking, Josanna Parenti and O'Rourke have placed.

The final group of events involves oral interpretation. Those who are qualified in prose include Schilling, Frank Trimble, and Dave Cipriano. Schilling has also placed in poetry, along with Colburn, Cipriano, Trimble, Linda Dohar and Rich Core. In dramatic duo, the only event involving two contestants, YSU has qualified a duo of Colburn/Schilling and O'Rourke/Cheney.

Other students competing for the team include Lateefa Duke, Eric Raymer, Chris Pruitt, Michelle Sledge, Mike Ballard, Gary Galletta, Renee Rigas, and Bonnie Dickson.

Besides intercollegiate competition, the YSU speech team has involved itself in campus activities. On Nov. 8, the team performed in an open house attended by over 100 spectators. In addition, YSU sponsored its own two-day tournament on Nov. 17 and 18, which involved over 25 students from basic speech courses. Dr. Dave Robinson, Director of Forensics, says that the tournament was valuable as a learning experience for many students at YSU.

In commenting on the open house, Dean William McGraw, College of Fine and Performing Arts, says "more activities of this type are needed to expose forensics to the campus and the community."

Sorensen plans more team presentations for the winter quarter, in addition to the six tournaments in which the students will participate.

The victory for the team at the Miami tournament tops off the most successful fall season ever for a YSU squad. Overall team rankings at tournaments earlier this fall include: second place at Clarion State College, fifth place at Heidelberg College, fourth place at Ball State University, and third at the YSU tournament.

Theatre YSU, an annual event sponsored by the theatre department, plans a salute to Norway in February. The salute focuses attention on Norway because Henrik Ibsen, writer of the play A Dolls House, came from Norway. The YSU theatre department production of the play will run in conjunction with the planned salute.

"We hope to offer a variety of Norwegian films and have WYSU broadcasts of Norwegian artists," and Dr. Bill G. Hulsopple, Director of Theatre. "Alpha Psi Omega, the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, will be serving food prepared from recipes supplied by the Norwegian Embassy," he added. Additional information will be available as the event draws closer.
