

FOR RELEASE: Immediate
Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University will hold a Crime Prevention Awareness Fair, sponsored by YSU's Personal Security Committee, from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Monday, Oct. 19 and 1 - 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, in Kilcawley Center Arcade.

The fair is free and open to the public.

Representatives from various agencies across the tri-county area will be present, including the Mahoning County Sheriff's Department, the Youngstown Police Department and the Victim Witness Assistance Program.

Slides and films on crime prevention, dangerous drugs displays, and karate demonstrations are also planned for this year's fair. In addition, Campus Security will do personal identification engraving of valuable belongings free of charge.

YSU's McGruff, the "Crime Dog," will be present. Created by the National Crime Prevention Council and Ad Council to emphasize crime prevention, the University's McGruff is portrayed by students trained by YSU Campus Security.

The Crime Prevention Awareness Fair is part of activities being held on campus during National Crime Awareness Month.

###

NEWS SERVICE - DS

87-

FOR RELEASE: Immediate
Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University will hold a Crime Prevention Awareness Fair, sponsored by YSU's Personal Security Committee, from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Monday, Oct. 19 and 1 - 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, in Kilcawley Center Arcade.

The fair is free and open to the public.

Representatives from various agencies across the tri-county area will be present, including the Mahoning County Sheriff's Department, the Youngstown Police Department and the Victim Witness Assistance Program.

Slides and films on crime prevention, dangerous drugs displays, and karate demonstrations are also planned for this year's fair. In addition, Campus Security will do personal identification engraving of valuable belongings free of charge.

YSU's McGruff, the "Crime Dog," will be present. Created by the National Crime Prevention Council and Ad Council to emphasize crime prevention, the University's McGruff is portrayed by students trained by YSU Campus Security.

The Crime Prevention Awareness Fair is part of activities being held on campus during National Crime Awareness Month.

###

NEWS SERVICE - DS

87- 100

FOR RELEASE: Immediate

Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University will test its new outdoor tornado/emergency alarm system at approximately 1:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23.

The alarms, which will sound a continuous signal, are on the roofs of Maag Library and Beeghly Center and should be heard anywhere on campus and in the immediate area.

If anyone has an questions concerning the test, they may contact Herbert Moore, designer, University Facilities Office, at 742-3492.

##

NEWS SERVICE-RM

87-102

FOR RELEASE: Immediate

Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University will test its new outdoor tornado/emergency alarm system at approximately 1:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23.

The alarms, which will sound a continuous signal, are on the roofs of Maag Library and Beeghly Center and should be heard anywhere on campus and in the immediate area.

If anyone has an questions concerning the test, they may contact Herbert Moore, designer, University Facilities Office, at 742-3492.

##

NEWS SERVICE-RM

FOR RELEASE: Immediate
Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The attractive campus of Youngstown State University has been featured in three publications.

Park Maintenance and Grounds Management, a national magazine for park and grounds managers and supervisors, used four photos of YSU students doing grounds work around campus with an article reporting that these part-time, trained students do one-quarter of this maintenance work. The article by Anthony Siracuse, YSU groundskeeper supervisor, said these students are a helpful, reliable part of the staff.

The magazine has a national circulation of about 20,000.

District Heating and Cooling, a trade journal with circulation in the U.S. and Canada, used a color photo of the campus core by Elise Cleary, YSU photographer, on its cover. It also carries three other photos and an article on Youngstown Thermal Energy Corp.'s steam heat services to the University and the community.

Catalyst, a company publication of Catalyst Thermal Energy Corp., parent firm of Youngstown Thermal, carries a color photo of the campus.

Park Maintenance and O.M. Scott & Sons' ProTurf Magazine had published photos and stories about YSU's manicured campus last fall and winter.

Henry A. Garono of Hubbard is manager of the University's Campus Grounds Department, which beautifies and maintains the 100-acre campus. The department is part of University Facilities under Executive Director Edmund Salata.

##

NEWS SERVICE-RM
87- 101

FOR RELEASE: Immediate
Mailed Oct. 13, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The attractive campus of Youngstown State University has been featured in three publications.

Park Maintenance and Grounds Management, a national magazine for park and grounds managers and supervisors, used four photos of YSU students doing grounds work around campus with an article reporting that these part-time, trained students do one-quarter of this maintenance work. The article by Anthony Siracuse, YSU groundskeeper supervisor, said these students are a helpful, reliable part of the staff.

The magazine has a national circulation of about 20,000.

District Heating and Cooling, a trade journal with circulation in the U.S. and Canada, used a color photo of the campus core by Elise Cleary, YSU photographer, on its cover. It also carries three other photos and an article on Youngstown Thermal Energy Corp.'s steam heat services to the University and the community.

Catalyst, a company publication of Catalyst Thermal Energy Corp., parent firm of Youngstown Thermal, carries a color photo of the campus.

Park Maintenance and O.M. Scott & Sons' ProTurf Magazine had published photos and stories about YSU's manicured campus last fall and winter.

Henry A. Garono of Hubbard is manager of the University's Campus Grounds Department, which beautifies and maintains the 100-acre campus. The department is part of University Facilities under Executive Director Edmund Salata.

##

NEWS SERVICE-RM
87-