

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Mailed October 8, 1987

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The Women's Resource Center of Youngstown State University will sponsor three programs on women's rights Oct. 19, 20 and 21.

Different areas will be covered in the programs. All are free and open to the public, and will be held in the Ohio Room of YSU's Kilcawley Center on Spring Street.

The first, from 7-9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 19, will concern legal issues surrounding sexual harassment in school, the workplace and housing. Women who have been involved in harassment proceedings will share their experiences. The program's panel will consist of attorneys Barbara J. Angelo, Anna Marie Ciambatti, Ishraq Hafiz, Cheri Howard and Patricia Roberts.

Co-sponsor of this program is the Greater Youngstown Chapter of the National Organization of Women (NOW), with support provided by the Youngstown Chapter of The American Society of Women Accountants, the League of Women Voters, YWCA, Citizens League, Planned Parenthood and the Trumbull County NOW.

The second program, on personal safety, will be held from 1-2 p.m. Oct. 20. Ms. JoAnn Ezzo, former counseling coordinator for the Cleveland Rape Crisis Center, will present the program on rape awareness and prevention. Participants will learn to trust intuition and control individual safety.

The final program, concerning child sexual abuse, will be from 4-5:30 p.m. Oct. 21. Presentations will be given by members of YSU's Survivors Support Group, the Youngstown Help Me Group, which meets at Family Services, and the Youngstown Prosecutor's Office.

For further information, contact Danna Bozick, coordinator of YSU's Women's Resource Center, at 742-7310.
