

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The first scholarships under the recently established J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation are expected to be awarded for the 1981 Fall Quarter at Youngstown State University.

The University Board of Trustees has approved an agreement with the Foundation which will provide $10,000 a year for five years.

The scholarships are to be awarded to undergraduate students from Mahoning County. Nominations for the awards are to be made by Buckeye Elks Lodge 73 of Youngstown, an affiliate of the Independent, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World.

Buckeye Elks Lodge has been a vital part of the Youngstown community for some 30 years. It has served everyone, particularly the underprivileged, without regard to ethnic roots, race or color. It has particularly reached out its hand to young people, providing a variety of programs that gave boys and girls skills, pride, opportunities to excell, and a sense of achievement.

All young students in this county will be eligible for Crandall Scholarships.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee will make the nominations for these scholarships on the basis of scholastic achievement and leadership potential. While they are academic scholarships, athletes will not be excluded.

They may be given to freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors in any associate degree or baccalaureate degree at YSU. Entering freshmen can also be considered providing letters of recommendation from their high school counselors or principals are submitted to the Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee.

MORE

Applications and further information may be obtained by contacting the Buckeye Elks Youth Development Center, 421½ North Ave., Youngstown.

Deadline for applying for the scholarships is March 23.

If funds are available, the scholarships can be renewed to recipients who remain in good academic standing for a maximum of 11 additional quarters.

The J. Ford Crandall Foundation established these scholarships at Youngstown State University to further the education of deserving young people in Mahoning County.

J. Ford Crandall, a Youngstown resident who established the foundation, died in 1947. He was a son of Nelson Crandall, a bookkeeper at the old Brier Hill Steel Co. and an early investor in Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., its successor.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee includes Mizell Stewart, exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks Lodge and president of the Ohio IBPOEW; R. Frank Huntley, coordinator of Human Services Programs of YSU's Department of Continuing Education, who is committee chairman; Atty. E. Winther McCroom, chairman of the screening committee; Fred Lynch, secretary; and Timothy Block, youth service counselor at the Buckeye Youth Center who is publicity chairman.

Others on the scholarship committee are: George Harris, also a counselor at the center, Atty. Joseph W. Maxin, McCullough Williams, Julius and Grace Stubbs, Wallace Mitchell, Ruth Jenkins, Christine Taylor, Nadine and Barbara Nall, Carrie Belcher, William Anderson, James P. Roberts, Hazel Benjamin, Charles Norwood, Wilbert Johnson, Nadine Stewart, Edward Lincoln, Carl Spence, Clarence Green, Alvin White, Sam Morris, Leonard McCormick, William Miller, and Henry McGee.

###

NEWS BUREAU

80 -

l a,c

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The first scholarships under the recently established J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation are expected to be awarded for the 1981 Fall Quarter at Youngstown State University.

The University Board of Trustees has approved an agreement with the Foundation which will provide $10,000 a year for five years.

The scholarships are to be awarded to undergraduate students from Mahoning County. Nominations for the awards are to be made by Buckeye Elks Lodge 73 of Youngstown, an affiliate of the Independent, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World.

Buckeye Elks Lodge has been a vital part of the Youngstown community for some 30 years. It has served everyone, particularly the underprivileged, without regard to ethnic roots, race or color. It has particularly reached out its hand to young people, providing a variety of programs that gave boys and girls skills, pride, opportunities to excell, and a sense of achievement.

All young students in this county will be eligible for Crandall Scholarships.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee will make the nominations for these scholarships on the basis of scholastic achievement and leadership potential. While they are academic scholarships, athletes will not be excluded.

They may be given to freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors in any associate degree or baccalaureate degree at YSU. Entering freshmen can also be considered providing letters of recommendation from their high school counselors or principals are submitted to the Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee.

MORE

Applications and further information may be obtained by contacting the Buckeye Elks Youth Development Center, 421½ North Ave., Youngstown.

Deadline for applying for the scholarships is March 23.

If funds are available, the scholarships can be renewed to recipients who remain in good academic standing for a maximum of 11 additional quarters.

The J. Ford Crandall Foundation established these scholarships at Youngstown State University to further the education of deserving young people in Mahoning County.

J. Ford Crandall, a Youngstown resident who established the foundation, died in 1947. He was a son of Nelson Crandall, a bookkeeper at the old Brier Hill Steel Co. and an early investor in Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., its successor.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee includes Mizell Stewart, exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks Lodge and president of the Ohio IBPOEW; R. Frank Huntley, coordinator of Human Services Programs of YSU's Department of Continuing Education, who is committee chairman; Atty. E. Winther McCroom, chairman of the screening committee; Fred Lynch, secretary; and Timothy Block, youth service counselor at the Buckeye Youth Center who is publicity chairman.

Others on the scholarship committee are: George Harris, also a counselor at the center, Atty. Joseph W. Maxin, McCullough Williams, Julius and Grace Stubbs, Wallace Mitchell, Ruth Jenkins, Christine Taylor, Nadine and Barbara Nall, Carrie Belcher, William Anderson, James P. Roberts, Hazel Benjamin, Charles Norwood, Wilbert Johnson, Nadine Stewart, Edward Lincoln, Carl Spence, Clarence Green, Alvin White, Sam Morris, Leonard McCormick, William Miller, and Henry McGee.

###

NEWS BUREAU

80 -

1 a,c

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The first scholarships under the recently established J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation are expected to be awarded for the 1981 Fall Quarter at Youngstown State University.

The University Board of Trustees has approved an agreement with the Foundation which will provide $10,000 a year for five years.

The scholarships are to be awarded to undergraduate students from Mahoning County. Nominations for the awards are to be made by Buckeye Elks Lodge 73 of Youngstown, an affiliate of the Independent, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World.

Buckeye Elks Lodge has been a vital part of the Youngstown community for some 30 years. It has served everyone, particularly the underprivileged, without regard to ethnic roots, race or color. It has particularly reached out its hand to young people, providing a variety of programs that gave boys and girls skills, pride, opportunities to excel, and a sense of achievement.

All young students in this county will be eligible for Crandall Scholarships.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee will make the nominations for these scholarships on the basis of scholastic achievement and leadership potential.

While they are academic scholarships, athletes will not be excluded.

They may be given to freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors in any associate degree or baccalaureate degree at YSU. Entering freshmen can also be considered providing letters of recommendation from their high school counselors or principals are submitted to the Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee.

MORE

Applications and further information may be obtained by contacting the Buckeye Elks Youth Development Center, 421½ North Ave., Youngstown.

Deadline for applying for the scholarships is March 23.

If funds are available, the scholarships can be renewed to recipients who remain in good academic standing for a maximum of 11 additional quarters.

The J. Ford Crandall Foundation established these scholarships at Youngstown State University to further the education of deserving young people in Mahoning County.

J. Ford Crandall, a Youngstown resident who established the foundation, died in 1947. He was a son of Nelson Crandall, a bookkeeper at the old Brier Hill Steel Co. and an early investor in Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., its successor.

The Buckeye Elks Scholarship Committee includes Mizell Stewart, exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks Lodge and president of the Ohio IBPOEW; R. Frank Huntley, coordinator of Human Services Programs of YSU's Department of Continuing Education, who is committee chairman; Atty. E. Winther McCroom, chairman of the screening committee; Fred Lynch, secretary; and Timothy Block, youth service counselor at the Buckeye Youth Center who is publicity chairman.

Others on the scholarship committee are: George Harris, also a counselor at the center, Atty. Joseph W. Maxin, McCullough Williams, Julius and Grace Stubbs, Wallace Mitchell, Ruth Jenkins, Christine Taylor, Nadine and Barbara Nall, Carrie Belcher, William Anderson, James P. Roberts, Hazel Benjamin, Charles Norwood, Wilbert Johnson, Nadine Stewart, Edward Lincoln, Carl Spence, Clarence Green, Alvin White, Sam Morris, Leonard McCormick, William Miller, and Henry McGee.

###

NEWS BUREAU

80 -

1 a,c

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

CUTLINE

Youngstown State University President John J. Coffelt, left, R. Frank Huntley, center, and Mizell Stewart, right, go over the agreement for the new Crandall Foundation Scholarships at YSU. A newly formed Scholarship Committee of Buckeye Elks Lodge, Youngstown, will screen and nominate Mahoning County students for the awards, made possible under the agreement between the J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation and the university. Stewart, retired Youngstown police sergeant, is exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks, president of the Ohio IBPOEW, and a member of the lodge scholarship committee. Huntley, committee chairman, is coordinator of Human Services Programs for YSU's Department of Continuing Education.

(YSU PHOTO BY C. J. MELNICK)

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 233

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

CUTLINE

Youngstown State University President John J. Coffelt, left, R. Frank Huntley, center, and Mizell Stewart, right, go over the agreement for the new Crandall Foundation Scholarships at YSU. A newly formed Scholarship Committee of Buckeye Elks Lodge, Youngstown, will screen and nominate Mahoning County students for the awards, made possible under the agreement between the J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation and the university. Stewart, retired Youngstown police sergeant, is exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks, president of the Ohio IBPOEW, and a member of the lodge scholarship committee. Huntley, committee chairman, is coordinator of Human Services Programs for YSU's Department of Continuing Education.

(YSU PHOTO BY C. J. MELNICK)

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 233

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill

Mailed March 4, 1981

CUTLINE

Youngstown State University President John J. Coffelt, left, R. Frank Huntley, center, and Mizell Stewart, right, go over the agreement for the new Crandall Foundation Scholarships at YSU. A newly formed Scholarship Committee of Buckeye Elks Lodge, Youngstown, will screen and nominate Mahoning County students for the awards, made possible under the agreement between the J. Ford Crandall Memorial Foundation and the university. Stewart, retired Youngstown police sergeant, is exalted ruler of Buckeye Elks, president of the Ohio IBPOEW, and a member of the lodge scholarship committee. Huntley, committee chairman, is coordinator of Human Services Programs for YSU's Department of Continuing Education.

(YSU PHOTO BY C. J. MELNICK)

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 233

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill/TF

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Dr. John R. White, Youngstown, professor of anthropology at Youngstown State University, has been appointed for a three-year term to the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board by Governor James Rhodes.

White, the state's only practicing historic archaeologist, will begin his duties by conducting a workshop for Ohio city and county planners and administrators on the treatment of historical sites in county and urban planning. The workshop will be held Tuesday, March 24, in the Stark County Planning Commission offices in Canton.

The principal functions of the Historical Site Preservation Advisory Board is to guide the state policy in its cultural preservation program and to ensure that all federal, state and local laws on site preservation are conformed with by city and county planners.

The board works to prevent unnecessary destruction of historical sites through urban renewal, highway construction and the like.

Dr. White, a specialist in historical industrial-age sites, is one of three board members. He will be responsible for the areas of prehistoric and historical archaeology.

His work in this area has included the unearthing of the Eaton (Hopewell) Blast Furnace, by Struthers, the earliest blast furnace operation west of the Allegheny Mountains, the excavation at the Austin Log Cabin in Austintown, to determine the age of the structure under a grant by the Department of the Interior. Artifacts unearthed during that project are on display in the cabin. He also led excavations at Barnhisel House, a historic house in Girard.

MORE

Dr. White is also responsible for excavations at "Quakerstown," Pa., an early Quaker settlement near Hillsville. He is currently authoring a chapter on the methodology of excavation at industrial-age sites for a book on the history of this technology.

Dr. White has been a member of the YSU faculty since 1971. He has a bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College, and master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Oregon at Eugene. He has written numerous papers on his research, made presentations before national and international conferences, and has appeared before many organizations to review his explorations in this area.

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 230
1 a,b,c,d,2,2a

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill/TF

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Dr. John R. White, Youngstown, professor of anthropology at Youngstown State University, has been appointed for a three-year term to the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board by Governor James Rhodes.

White, the state's only practicing historic archaeologist, will begin his duties by conducting a workshop for Ohio city and county planners and administrators on the treatment of historical sites in county and urban planning. The workshop will be held Tuesday, March 24, in the Stark County Planning Commission offices in Canton.

The principal functions of the Historical Site Preservation Advisory Board is to guide the state policy in its cultural preservation program and to ensure that all federal, state and local laws on site preservation are conformed with by city and county planners.

The board works to prevent unnecessary destruction of historical sites through urban renewal, highway construction and the like.

Dr. White, a specialist in historical industrial-age sites, is one of three board members. He will be responsible for the areas of prehistoric and historical archaeology.

His work in this area has included the unearthing of the Eaton (Hopewell) Blast Furnace, by Struthers, the earliest blast furnace operation west of the Allegheny Mountains, the excavation at the Austin Log Cabin in Austintown, to determine the age of the structure under a grant by the Department of the Interior. Artifacts unearthed during that project are on display in the cabin. He also led excavations at Barnhisel House, a historic house in Girard.

MORE

Dr. White is also responsible for excavations at "Quakerstown," Pa., an early Quaker settlement near Hillsville. He is currently authoring a chapter on the methodology of excavation at industrial-age sites for a book on the history of this technology.

Dr. White has been a member of the YSU faculty since 1971. He has a bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College, and master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Oregon at Eugene. He has written numerous papers on his research, made presentations before national and international conferences, and has appeared before many organizations to review his explorations in this area.

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 230
1 a,b,c,d,2,2a

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Contact: Bob McGill/TF

Mailed March 4, 1981

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Dr. John R. White, Youngstown, professor of anthropology at Youngstown State University, has been appointed for a three-year term to the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board by Governor James Rhodes.

White, the state's only practicing historic archaeologist, will begin his duties by conducting a workshop for Ohio city and county planners and administrators on the treatment of historical sites in county and urban planning. The workshop will be held Tuesday, March 24, in the Stark County Planning Commission offices in Canton.

The principal functions of the Historical Site Preservation Advisory Board is to guide the state policy in its cultural preservation program and to ensure that all federal, state and local laws on site preservation are conformed with by city and county planners.

The board works to prevent unnecessary destruction of historical sites through urban renewal, highway construction and the like.

Dr. White, a specialist in historical industrial-age sites, is one of three board members. He will be responsible for the areas of prehistoric and historical archaeology.

His work in this area has included the unearthing of the Eaton (Hopewell) Blast Furnace, by Struthers, the earliest blast furnace operation west of the Allegheny Mountains, the excavation at the Austin Log Cabin in Austintown, to determine the age of the structure under a grant by the Department of the Interior. Artifacts unearthed during that project are on display in the cabin. He also led excavations at Barnhisel House, a historic house in Girard.

MORE

ADD ONE

Dr. White is also responsible for excavations at "Quakerstown," Pa., an early Quaker settlement near Hillsville. He is currently authoring a chapter on the methodology of excavation at industrial-age sites for a book on the history of this technology.

Dr. White has been a member of the YSU faculty since 1971. He has a bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College, and master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Oregon at Eugene. He has written numerous papers on his research, made presentations before national and international conferences, and has appeared before many organizations to review his explorations in this area.

###

NEWS BUREAU
80 - 230
1 a,b,c,d,2,2a