Council vetoes committee for special project work

by Karen Kastner

Student Council tabled a proposal to initiate a research and special project standing committee by a 17-1-3 vote.

According to Council Vice-Chairperson Ed Salata, sophomore, Engineering, members of the proposed group would act on matters not specifically the duty of other committees.

If the tasks or issues assigned to the research and special project committee proved too time-consuming (for example, security and rape, or child-care) an ad hoc group would be instituted, Salata said.

Some Council members questioned the need for such a committee since ad hoc groups can be readily formed for certain concerns.

Student Government President Tony Koury, junior, A & S, explained the research and special projects committee members would have experience working with each other, unlike ad hoc members appointed to a committee created as the need arose. Some representatives voiced the possibility of amending the committee proposal to include voting ad hoc members with special concerns and/or areas of expertise, as opposed to non-voting Council members informally attending the meetings.

Koury pointed out whether ad hoc members were granted the right to vote within the committee, Student Council as a whole still has the final word on (Cont. on page 8)

The seventy-second annual Homecoming is over except for the memories which will include the new record of excellence set by the YSU Penguins with their eighth straight win.

The team played Saturday at Falcon Stadium in Austintown to a crowd of 7,100. Scoring a 29-8 victory over Western Illinois, they assured their inclusion in the Mid-Continent Conference championship.

At half-time, A. C. McCullough announced the 1979 Homecoming king and queen. Gary Anania, senior, chemistry, was elected king while Melinda Ropar, senior, chemistry/pre-med, was chosen queen. Anania represented Phi Kappa fraternity and Ropar was the Sigma Sigma Sigma delegate.

The pre-game parade included float and decorated car competitions. Parade judges Pat Bleidt, Elaine Juhaszin, Charles McBriarty, A. C. McCullough of WHOT and Gary Cubberly of the Good Morning Youngstown program gave first prize of $100 to Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the float competition.

Second place prize of $75 went to Theta Chi fraternity/ Phi Mu sorority, and third place prize of $50 was given to Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

First place prize in the decorated car competition was won by the Liberation for Equality Toward Students (LETS). Zeta Tau Alpha sorority took second place while the Math/Computer Science Club walked off with third place.

Other highlights of the Homecoming celebration included a well-attended Moonlight Madness dance held at the Mahoning Country Club, Saturday night, a Friday night dance in the Chestnut room and trivia night with Thomas John in the Pub.

Escapeologist Manzini to perform

Mario Manzini, the USA Champion escapeologist, will perform his death-defying escapes 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 31, in the Chestnut Room, Kilcawley Center.

Manzini, holder of five Guinness Records for escapes, uses no tricks in escaping from cuffs, shackles, strait jackets, guillotines, and water tanks. By using body control, Manzini is able to release himself from the various hindrances.

Manzini became the "Great Escapeologist" by doing body-building exercises, studying various locks, using yoga and analyzing Houdini's stunts.

Performing these feats has been Manzini's dream since he was 4-years old. He saw Houdini's brother showing films of Houdini's feats on television, which inspired Manzini to begin practicing.

The practicing has led to some very amazing acts and world records. He has escaped from a strait-jacket on top of the Empire

State Building in 60 seconds, and has freed himself from 14 pairs of police handcuffs, prison leg-irons, neck cuffs plus tractor chains and locks while submerged in ten feet of water.

Penguins win 8 in a row

The YSU football team won its eighth straight game, and a share of the Mid-Continent Conference title with a 29-8 victory over Western Illinois in the annual Homecoming game last Saturday, at Falcon Stadium in Austintown.

Tailback Robby Robson led the way for the Penguins, picking up 175 yards rushing, and scoring three of the YSU touchdowns.

The Penguins now need a win this week over Eastern Illinois to give them their second straight undisputed Mid-Continent Conference title.

For details about the Penguin victory see the story on page 6.

Time factor crucial Committee seeks to resolve 'gripes'

by Karen Lynn Klein

"Somehow students are going to have to be taught what student grievance is about," said Dr. Robert Ameduri, senator serving on the Academic Senate.

Student grievances are "legitimate gripes" that are not resolved privately between students and faculty members, Ameduri explained.

In the event that a student feels it necessary to complain, grievance procedures—first, informal steps followed by formal steps—are available to students in order to establish justice for both parties concerned, he continued.

The Academic Senate, composed of faculty members and administrators, has final jurisdiction over any unresolved grievance that exists after the student (grievant) completes the steps in the formal grievance procedures, according to Ameduri.

Prior to that, the Student Academic Grievance Committee, composed of six faculty members, six students, and one administrator, acts as a referee during the informal and formal grievance procedures to help resolve grievances, he added.

Ameduri stressed that students suffer the consequences of their own ignorance because they "don't know their actual rights in the grievance procedure ahead of time. They will wait until they have a problem and end up falling into the time trap (deadlines)."

Examples of "legitimate gripes" that would warrant grievances, Ameduri continued, would be "classroom inconsis-ency in both the grading system and requirements expected, unreasonable amounts of work—although that's hard to define, and when an instructor fails to pass out a syllabi."

Ameduri further stated that "instructors should actually be forced to distribute a syllabus to each student within a reasonable amount of time."

Other factors, such as misunderstandings and personality conflicts that could subject the student to unfair treatment "are potential unfair occurrences that students have to put up with" to a certain extent, Ameduri emphasized.

However, before a problem gets out of hand, Ameduri recommends that "both parties (student and instructor) should and can smooth out the problem between themselves, if approached properly."

If the problem cannot be worked out privately, Ameduri stressed again the importance of the time factor involved in both the informal and formal grievance procedures.

The grievant should, as soon as possible, pick up a Student Academic Grievance Disposition Form in order to begin the informal grievance procedure, Ameduri explained. Forms can be obtained from Charles McBriarty, vice president of student services, Tod Administration Building, or Tony Koury, Student Government president, Kilcawley Center.

Grievant's are also unaware that they have the right to select an advocate (another student) to represent them during grievance procedures," he continued. The names of persons who have performed such advocates in the past can be obtained from McBriarty or Koury.

Time is against the grievant who does not move quickly, according to Ameduri, and is disclosed in the informal procedures as follows:

Step 1—

A meeting between student and faculty member is arranged. (must be arranged within six days of the date the grievance was filed). If the problem is unresolved, proceed to step two.

Step 2—

A meeting with student, faculty member and chairperson, (must be arranged within 12 days of the date of step one).

If the problem is still not resolved, proceed to step three.

Step 3—

A meeting with student, faculty member and dean, (must be arranged within 12 days of the date of step two).

Again, if the grievance has not been resolved, each party (student and faculty member) must submit a written statement to the chairperson of the Student Academic Grievance Committee. The chairperson will then call a fourth hearing.

If the committee rules in favor of the grievant, it can only recommend a requested grade or other change, but cannot mandate any change.

However, because the department chairperson's responsibilities are to both faculty members and students, Ameduri continued, he

'Bring Your Kid' day changed

by Karen Kastner

"Bring Your Kid To School Day" has been changed from Nov. 1 to Thursday, Nov. 8, by members of the student group working to secure state funds for on-campus day-care.

On this date, students are to bring children to as many classes as possible who would be accommodated by such facilities. At noon, parents and children are to meet in Room 239, Kilcawley Center, for a question and answer session to which President John J. Coffelt will be invited. Cookies and milk will be provided for the attending children.

The purpose of the noon rally is to evoke student and community interest in the passage of a bill now in the Ohio Senate Finance Committee to appropriate to YSU $1,500,000 for a daycare facility and $160,000 for a child development center, according to Student Government President Tony Koury, junior, A&S.

Parents bringing children to class will illustrate the stress placed on students who must find care for their children off campus, Bud Marshall, junior, CAST, has stated.

A booth will be set up Oct. 6 through 8 in Kilcawley for the purpose of collecting statistics on parents-students, and on people who would attend YSU if day-care were available.

Marshall has said that the need for on-campus day care has already been established through numerous polls and questionnaires.

Further, Marshall stated he is willing to take the tally cards to the Senate Finance Committee hearings on the bill, tentatively scheduled for Nov. 7 and 8. The father of two young children, Marshall explained making the trip to Columbus would be less expensive in the long-run than paying baby-sitters indefinitely.

Coffelt received correspondence Oct. 16 (the date it was to be returned) from Finance Committee members requesting his list of financial priorities. Marshall noted the possibility that the refurbishing of several buildings, such as Tod Hall, the School of Business Administration, and Ward Beecher, may take precedence over day-care on Coffelt's priority list.

It is not yet known whether administrators will be requested to testify at the Senate hearings on the bill.

Music Review

Buffet's madcap music goes Carribean

by Tim Fitzpatrick

"I'm really proud of this," Jimmy Buffet is quoted with good reason as saying in a recent Rolling Stone interview, in reference to his latest album release Volcano.

Buffet makes use of his classical combination of rum-drinking, women-chasing songs alternated with sensitive ballads, and adds a new dimension, a Carribean sound.

The resulting music has the listener conjuring up images of smugglers coves, sunny beaches and in Buffet's own words, "paradise." This new sound can be attributed to his recent move to a Carribean island.

He apparently tired of his home in Key West and decided to anchor his fifty-foot ketch in the waters off Saint Bart's Island where he and the Coral Reefer Band wrote the songs for the latest album.

Volcano starts side one with "Fins," a song about the "sharks" that live on the land. "But now she lives down by the ocean. She's taking care to look for sharks. They hang out in the local bars and they feed right after dark."

"Fins" is a classic example of Buffet's escapism music, indicative of his refusal to take himself or his music seriously. However, it appears doomed to receive an overdose of radio air-time, spoiling its musical appeal.

The Carribean influence on the music is not noticed until the second song, "Volcano," the title cut of the album. Here, a judicious use of native Carribean instruments combined with Buffet's madcap lyrics creates the new effect.

"I don't know, I don't know,

I don't know where I'm gonna go when the volcano blow."

"My girl say to me. Mom you better watch your feet. Lava come down soft and hot. You better lava me or lava me not!"

The remainder of side one reverts to Buffet's sensitive side with mellow songs of sailing and women. He is accompanied in vocals on some of the songs by James Taylor and Taylor's brothers Alex and Hugh.

The music of side two also features easy-listening music. However, it is broken up by the song "Boat Drinks." This light-hearted tune promises to be another Buffet classic.

The effect of the Carribean influence is again noticeable. "This morning I shot six holes in my freezer. I think I've got cabin fever. Somebody sound the alarm. I've got to go where it's warm."

The release of Volcano is one more step on the way to super-stardom for Buffet. It is a far cry from his first album Down to Earth which sold only 324 copies.

Buffet's manager predicts that Volcano will be Buffet's best selling album. Many of his other albums have gone platinum and some individual songs have gone gold.

The reason for Buffet's success? Rolling Stone reports "His recent success seems both accidental and incidental: a journalism major in college, a failed Nashville songwriter, a former reporter for Billboard who writes witty and unconventional songs.

"Any guy who's penned minor classics as 'Why Don't We Get Drunk and Screw' and 'My Head Hurts, My Feet Stink and I Don't Love Jesus' is maybe operating with his own particular vision of the universe."

How does Buffet feel about his success? It might be summed up in the lyrics from his song "Stranded on a Sandbar," off the Volcano album, "I love this life as jester. Seems to keep me movin' around."

Group is organized Activities planned for area gays

Youngstown area gay persons have organized a group to provide a much needed opportunity for free rapping and socializing away from the gay/bar scene.

The group meets on the third Saturday of each month for a pot-luck dinner and get-together.

The pot-luck dinners which started regularly in October have been successful in helping Youngstown gays meet together in an atmosphere that provides for both good food and for good informal rapping. Both men and women from the area are attending and contributing to these stimulating and relaxing get-togethers.

The group is supported by area gays, and also by persons from a similar group serving the Kent-Akron area; individuals from the group have attended and have contributed much to the discussion.

Besides planning future activities, the group's raps at previous meetings have ranged from social to religious to political to purely personal topics.

During the second October get-together, several persons who had attended the Oct. 14 National March On Washington played their recordings of Troy Perry and other speakers at the Washington Rally after the march.

For information about the group, write PO Box 1742 Youngstown, OH 44501.

Editorial Procedure grieved

The Student Academic Procedure, initially designed to provide an avenue for student redress of perceived classroom inequities, is little more than a placebo, giving the appearance of a legitimate "gripe-solving" mechanism, yet having little or no actual power.

Should a student choose to go through the long, drawn-out procedure involved in filing a complaint (which itself is a deterrent to potential grievants) and if perchance he misses no filing deadlines (if mid-terms, finals, classes, term papers, and homework are not particularly time consuming, the grievant should have no problem with this), the complaint may eventually be heard by the Grievance Committee.

The Committee will then decide in either the student's or the faculty member's favor concerning the alleged inequity of the situation.

If the Committee decides that the faculty member was at fault, i.e. in favor of the student, it may "recommend" that the instructor take action to alleviate the inequity.

However, the Committee can not mandate that a faculty member act to correct the inequity. In essence, it is a paper tiger, which may "frighten" a few people, causing them to act, but which really has no power to enforce changes.

If an inequity is determined to exist through the Procedure and by the Committee, action should be taken to correct it. Yet, there is no guarantee that this will happen.

As it stands, the Grievance Procedure merely serves to pacify students, deluding them into believing that they have an effective means to remedy injustices which they have perceived, heard and acted upon.

Appreciates student support

To the Editor of the Jambar: As 1979 Co-Chairmen of Homecoming, we would like to thank the entire student body for participating in the many Homecoming activities throughout last week.

We would especially like to thank the executive committee; Tracy Cooksey, publicity; Rick Eckman, parade; Mary Sullivan, king-queen; Mary Beth Magula, Saturday Night Dance; Eunice Queener, Friday Night Dance; Teresa Nephew, daytime activities, and Doug Shilliday, campus competitions, for all the extra time and hard work that they put into working with their committees.

To Phil Hirsch, Bob Stasko, Sharon Blackman, Tim Miller, David Johnson, Jim Morrison, and Carol Hayward, who acted as advisors, we appreciate all your dedication and supervision in helping us plan all of our events.

There are other individuals who helped the committee, Mary Lou Partridge, Print Shop; Ron Cusano and Dave DeGood, artwork; Rowena Gréco, secretary; KCPB; Tri-County Distributors, prizes and balloon; The Jambar, coverage; Student Council and Student Government; University Relations; publicity and photographs. To anyone not mentioned above who added to our fantastic week of activities we give our thanks. And last but not least of all, we thank the best Homecoming Committee ever. There has not been a group of individuals who worked together as this group did. For seven months they organized, planned and worked together on events that were well coordinated and executed for the student body.

Championship in sight

YSU victory extends unbeaten streak to 8 games

by Ron Anderson

The YSU football team assured themselves of at least a part of the Mid-Continent Conference championship for the second straight season, with a 29-8 victory over Western Illinois in the annual Homecoming Game at Falcon Stadium in Austintown Saturday.

A crowd of 7,100 saw the Penguins get on the board first as linebacker Jeff Gergel set up the YSU drive by intercepting a pass from backup quarterback John Staback with four minutes left in the first quarter, which put an end to a Western drive.

The Penguins then took over the ball on their own 8 yard-line and began a march taking them 72 yards in only seven plays, capped by a six-yard pass from Keith Snoddy to Tom Meola, for a 7-0 lead.

The next Western drive stalled in the second quarter, and following a 42-yard punt return by Pat Durina, the Penguins needed to cover only 28 yards for a score.

The 28 yards were picked up by Robby Robson along with a touchdown to give Youngstown a 13-0 lead.

The Penguins scored again late in the second quarter as they drove 80 yards on 16 plays, capped by a one-yard scoring plunge by Robby Robson that enabled them to enjoy a 19-0 halftime lead.

The third quarter saw no scoring for either side, but it did see the Penguins begin a drive that would carry over into the fourth quarter for a score. The Penguins drove 80 yards in 14 plays, capped by a 52-yard field goal by Carey "Sugar-foot" Orsz for a 22-0 lead.

It was Western's turn to score next, and to ruin a shutout bid by the Penguins, while keeping intact a streak of being able to put points on the board in 116 straight games.

Western drove 80 yards in 15 plays, with quarterback Kevin Conolly hitting tailback

Jerry Bey with a 20-yard TD pass. Conolly then found tightend Mike Maher for the two point conversion which closed the gap to 22-8.

An onside kick attempt failed as Tom Meola recovered the ball for the Penguins and took it to the Western 40-yardline.

Senior reserve quarterback Bill Fink then directed the Penguins the final 40 yards in 11 plays with Robson again going over from one yard out, which made the final score 29-8 in favor of the Penguins.

"I thought we won the game very sloppily," was YSU coach Bill Narduzzi's reaction to the Homecoming contest.

"When you get as many penalties and fumbles as we did, you can't really be happy with anything except the victory and the effort," Narduzzi stated in appraising the Penguin's five fumbles and six penalties.

"We have got to play the way we played today minus all of the penalties and minus all of the turnovers in order to beat Eastern Illinois next week," explained Narduzzi.

While the dynamic duo of Keith Snoddy and Jim Ferranti had another in a long line of super days, the offensive star for the Penguins was junior tailback Robby Robson.

Robson had his best day at YSU in picking up an incredible 175 yards rushing in 38 carries. Robson also scored three of the YSU touchdowns. The 38 carries by Robson broke his own single game record set earlier this season.

"Robby obviously came to play," suggested a proud Narduzzi, "you could tell it the first time he had the ball under his arm."

On the defensive side of the field for the Penguins, the efforts of Dan Novak, Kevin Statzer and Pat Durina played a large part in the YSU victory.

Novak, filling in for the injured Tim Zetwick at defensive tackle, had an exceptional day both against the run and the pass. "That's the type of effort that you have to get out of an injured position in order to play championship football," said Narduzzi.

Statzer picked off a pair of passes, and Durina supplied another interception to help check the Western passing game.

It was a record-breaking day for the Penguins as Keith Snoddy dy and Jim Ferranti joined Orosz and Robson in the record books.

Snoddy's first quarter touch-down pass was his 33rd, breaking the old mark of 32 set by former YSU great, Ron Jaworski.

Ferranti's six receptions gave him 48 for the season, breaking the former record of 47 which he set last year.

Coach Narduzzi was also quick to point out that the Penguins have established a new team record. "We're the first YSU team in the history of football to win eight games in a row," related the coach.

The Penguins now prepare to take to the road once again as they travel to Charleston, Illinois this Saturday for an afternoon contest with Eastern Illinois, the team that beat YSU out of the play-offs last year.

Penguin bowlers remain tied with Bowling Green

The YSU Bowling Club team returned from Toledo Saturday with a 4-2 record for the day.

The team took two games in the morning from Cleveland State. Mark Novotny shot a 606, and Anthony Ahladis chipped in with a 581 to spark the Penguins to victory.

The afternoon saw the Penguin keglers take two of three games from Cuyahoga Community College Metro with Mark Novotny leading the way again with a 572 total.

After two weeks of league play, YSU is tied with Bowling Green for the lead in the Ohio Intercollegiate Bowling Conference Northern Division, with identical 8-4 records.

Harriers split meet

Cross country season ends

YSU's cross country team ended its season by splitting a quadrangular meet on Saturday after traveling to Forest Hill Park.

The Penguin Harriers finished on top of John Carroll with a 13-22 score, but lost to Case Western Reserve with a score of 15-50. YSU RESULTS: Dave Petrol, 18:17; 11. Mark Kozlowski, 28:18; 12. John Lynch, 28:34; 16. Matt Jones 29:08; 18. George Garchar, 29:23; 22. Ed Duda, 30:18; 23. Brian Mosko, 30:20.

Gains three wins

YSU placed in tournament

The YSU women's volleyball team has assured itself of a place in the Ohio AISW State Tournament by sweeping three victories Saturday afternoon in Beeghly Center.

YSU beat Toledo 15-8, 11-15 and 15-10 to start the day. The Field hockey loses last home game of season Friday

YSU's women's field hockey team lost its last home game of the season Friday to Westminster College with a 1-0 score.

The Penguins, with a record now of 4-5, had a goal waved off early in the first half for a zone violation. Westminster Titans scored soon after and went into the second half with a 1-0 score. The Penguins were still unable to score against the visitors, even going after the opposition's goalie with an all-out effort.

Senior Leslie Ingram played heroically during the final minutes of the game. The Penguins' all time leading scorer played for the last time before a home crowd.

YSU coach Denise Vanaman said after the game, "Leslie showed what intercollegiate athletics is all about today. She dove all over the frozen field in below 20 degree weather." Coach Vanaman also praised the fine work of fullbacks Anne Kaneski and Sandy Gieseler.

After the game, Vanaman announced that the Penguins had received an invitation to the Ohio AISW Tournament at Wooster, Nov. 2 and 3. The team plays again at Ashland College on Tuesday at 4:30 p.m.

Grievance

or she "has the jurisdiction to deprive a faculty member, if need be, the privilege of instructing any one course in his/her department."

If the committee does not rule in favor of the grievant, the grievant should immediately pick up a Student Academic Grievance Disposition Form in order to begin the formal procedure. This form can also be obtained from either McBriarty or Koury, Ameduri said.

The formal grievance procedure is much longer and involved procedure in comparison to the informal procedure. It consist of 14 steps which require hearings and written statements similar to the informal procedure, Ameduri continued.

each issue brought before it by various entities.

In other business, Council disapproved an appropriation by an 18-0-3 vote for a speaker to a club whose officials failed to comply with procedures specified in the Student Council Constitution. Advisor Charles J. Carney said approval/ disapproval by Council was inappropriate and unnecessary because action by the club requesting funds was unconstitutional and therefore null and void.
