Ralston evidence supports Oswald's innocence

by Tin Evans

"Lee Harvey Oswald was more innocent than he's been judged," said Ross Ralston, criminologist, at a lecture Tuesday night, in the Chestnut Room.

Ralston has been investigating the assassination of John F. Kennedy for the past ten years and is the author of the book History's Verdict.

On Friday Nov. 22, 1963, President Kennedy was shot and killed at Dealey Plaza in Dallas, Texas. Sixteen years later controversy still surrounds his death. Commissions, committees and investigations, have failed to determine the identity of the killer(s), said Ralston.

He attributed this to the inefficiency of the Warren Commission, the Dallas police department, as well as subsequent committees formed to settle questions concerning the Kennedy assassination.

Most of the evidence involved in the case has been suppressed by the Federal government, stated Ralston. He sued the government under the Freedom of Information Act and won the case. He was able to obtain valuable information which helped to support his theory that JFK was not shot by Oswald, and that there was more than one gunman involved in the assassination.

According to Ralston, Oswald would be free today because of FBI and CIA irregularities in investigating the case, including an illegal search of Oswald's house. Two-thirds of the evidence has not been presented stated Ralston.

Ralston disputes the findings of the Warren Commission. "Nothing in this case was the way the Warren Commission said it was," continued Ralston. There was no cross-examination of evidence. The FBI "loaded the dice" against the accused.

Ralston says he believes that pictures showing Oswald

Mary Ann Echols selected

YSU grad named to new minority student services job

by Lisa Armour

The recently created position of assistant for minority student services will be filled in mid-December by YSU graduate Mary Ann Echols.

Dr. Charles McBriarty, associate vice-president for student services, explained that when Tom Franklin, counselor for black studies, left the University his position was redefined.

"The new position was created to better serve the needs of the minority student population at YSU on a university level."

He continued, "On at least two or three occasions, President Coffelt had met with Black students at his home and office, and they expressed a need to have someone at the university level to help them to form programs that meet Blacks' interests and needs."

McBriarty explained, "Echols' job will enable her to get to know the majority of Black students on campus and find out what their needs are, and what kind of actions and concerns they have that the University can better help them with."

Echols can do this by taking surveys of the Black population on campus and by directly questioning them, he said.

McBriarty noted that some Blacks feel that the programs, music and performers offered at YSU are geared towards whites.

McBriarty added that some Blacks think the academic preparation at predominately Black high schools is not equal to the academic preparation Whites receive at predominately White schools.

"Echols may develop tutoring programs that would help Blacks to become as academically prepared as they say the Whites are."

"Echols' job will also enable her to work with Al Bright, director of black studies, by giving administrative support to the Annual Black History Month which he works with every February," he stated.

Once Echols has identified what Blacks' problems are she will serve as a liaison between the University's Blacks and the University offices. She will be able to refer minority students on campus to those who can help them, he said.

McBriarty added that Echols now works at the Northeast Ohio Employment and Training Consortium.

YSU whips S. Dakota 50-7; advances to semi-finals

by Ron Anderson

The YSU football team thrashed South Dakota State 50-7, for a first round victory in the NCAA Division II play-offs.

The Penguins played both superior offense and defense in putting together one of their best games of the season.

In their last two games the Penguins have put 95 points on the board with their potent offense. An elated head coach, Bill Narduzzi expresses his feelings about the offense this way: "Anytime you get that kind of production in points, you've got to be happy."

The fantastic defensive effort which helped caused seven South Dakota fumbles, provided the Penguin offense with good field possession throughout the contest.

"I think our defense took a lot away from them," explained Narduzzi. "Turnovers are caused by putting pressure on them, and we had an awful lot of pressure defenses against them. Their quarterback had to throw some of them away, and he's never had to do that before," continued Narduzzi.

The big gun on offense again was junior tailback Robby Robson. Robby picked up 138 yards rushing on 28 carries and scored four touchdowns. With 1,282 yards this year Robson has become the single-season rushing leader in the YSU record book, and needs just 32 yards to become the career rushing leader.

"Robby ran today the way we expected him to run when we recruited him," explained Narduzzi. "He ran the way we expect him to run if we are going to stay in the play-offs."

Keith Snoddy's statistics as quarterback were not as impressive as they have been in

Poll questions effectiveness of Student Gov't

by Karen Kastner

In a recent on-campus poll, 137 participants did not respond to the question "How has (YSU) Student Government affected you?"

As Publicity Committee Chairperson in charge of the project, James Del Garbino, sophomore, FPA, reported at Monday's Student Council meeting this and other data collected by means of the Student Government-sponsored questionnaire, distributed Nov. 6-14 by Council members.

Also in regard to the above Student Government has not affected them; 15 did not know; 13 said "indirectly"; seven, through events and organizations; five, by making them aware of activities; four, by offering the escort service; three, by opposing the semester system; two, in regard to "parking;" one each for policies affecting students, "security," and "Homecoming events."

In addition, 113 of the respondents were able to recall the name of the Student Government President, Tony Koury, senior, A&S, while only 22 could recall that of the Student Council President, Bob Wasko, sophomore, CAST.

A total of 148 responded negatively to the question "Do you know where to get in touch with your representatives?"; 72 positively. On the average, respondents could name only three of the 25 Student Council members.

According to the data collected, 179 "always" read the Jambar; 12 do "sometimes"; and 37 do not. When asked if they "read the Student Council news,"

143 said they do not; 52, "always"; and 35, "sometimes."

In regard to the question "What do you think the purpose of Student Government is?" 53 responded "to represent students and their opinions"; 35, "to solve students' problems"; 19, "to act as a 'go-between' for students and administrators; 18, "don't know"; 13, "to offer student activities."

In addition, 11 stated the purpose is "to better the University"; ten, "to protect students' rights"; five, "to provide information"; and "to govern students"; 3, "to benefit representatives' resumes"; two, "to make laws," and "to solve grievances."

Also, on the average, the respondents rated Student Government's effectiveness at five on a from one to ten. Finally,

Student ideas aid service

Hotline needs volunteer workers

by Tim Fitzpatrick

"We are making a particular thrust to recruit YSU students because we have found them to be well-suited for this type of work," explains Catherine French, administrative assistant.

French reports that Help Hotline, a 24-hour crisis intervention and referral service, is in need of volunteer workers. She states that students, particularly those majoring in some aspect of social services, are the focus of Help Hotlines recruiting program.

"Students bring a lot of enthusiasm and new ideas to the job with them. They can work flexible hours and the learning required for the job comes easy to them.

"This type of work is excellent for students majoring in social work. They can see first hand what they are learning and learn some things that are not in the books," French elaborates.

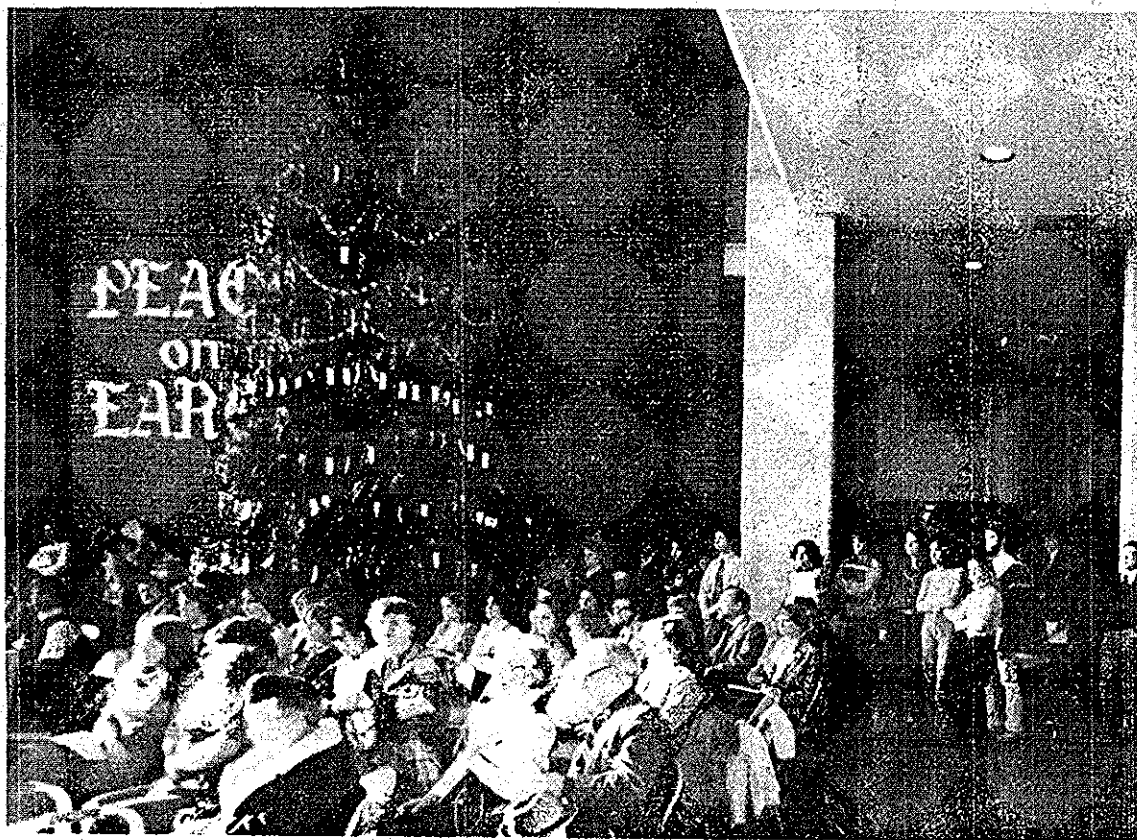

Interested students can contact French at 747-5111. All workers are required to attend 40 hours of instruction including training in communication skills, crisis intervention and the use of the Help Hotline files.

Help Hotline workers, French reports, will deal with a variety of problems and community needs. "We get calls ranging from a need for transportation or lodging to calls from people who say they are going to commit suicide."

The Hotline also answers for some other social service agencies after 5 p.m., she explains. Workers will be trained to respond to the needs of calls for these agencies as well as those of the Hotline.

The number for Help Hotline is 747-2696 in the Youngstown area and 424-7767, 426-9355 (toll free) for the Columbiana area. Help Hotline is sponsored by the Mahoning County Mental Health and Retardation Board and Title XX of the Welfare Department.

CHRISTMAS CHEER--The children of St. Jude's will not be disappointed again this year because Phi Mu Alpha Singonia (professional music fraternity) is running its second annual decorate a tree for Christmas program. The group raises funds by selling personalized name tags that are hung on the tree. The tree above is a result of last year's efforts.

Editorial

Project 'priorities'?

Administrators of YSU have once again demonstrated their priorities in the operation of the University. Not surprisingly, these do not lie in what most individuals would consider the students' best interests.

Ed Salata, dean of administrative affairs and ringleader of the YSU building brigade (whose main purpose seems to be to fabricate useless construction projects which feast on state capital improvement funds) recently presented a list of project priorities to the Ohio State Senate.

The Senate is currently considering a bill which would provide $20 million to YSU for construction projects.

Among the administration's "priorities," as presented by Salata, were: a $10.4 million addition to Ward Beecher (the building was just recently expanded to include a chemical storage area); a $4.1 million bridge between Ward Beecher and the Engineering and Science Building (so students will not be damped in wet weather as they walk the 50 yards between the two buildings); another bridge, this one over Lincoln Avenue; a skylight in Cushwa; and an addition to the Central Plant boiler.

At the same time, the University ignored the need for an on-campus day care facility and pre-school development center: projects many students could actually benefit from.

However absurd the University's "priorities" may seem, they have remained consistent over the years. The administration has regularly ignored the needs of students, as well as academic concerns, while "enhancing" Youngstown's north side with frivolous and often elaborate architecture: Tod Hall, housing the infamous "Star Wars Suite," boasts an elaborate lobby (seldom used) and an extravagant trustee meeting room (occupied for approximately two hours, five times a year).

Whom is the University trying to impress? Should not the administration focus its attention on student and faculty needs?

It is time for the administration to wake up. They need to re-evaluate their priorities. Stop wasting money on useless projects. Make YSU more than "just a pretty face."

Asks for donations to pay medical fee
of leukemia victim

To the Editor of the Jambar:

On Monday, Nov. 19, relatives and friends paid their final tributes to 19 year-old Bobby McHenry, who succumbed to leukemia after a very courageous two and one-half year battle against the dreaded disease. Those of us who were close to Bobby throughout his long battle were simply amazed with the fight that Bob put up right to the very end.

As I pointed out in a previous letter to the editor, the family has incurred some astronomical medical expenses as a result of Bobby's long illness. We, the members of the Bobby McHenry Benefit Fund Committee, are out to aid the family in raising these needed monies, and we need your help! Anyone wishing to get involved with us in any capacity, is urged to contact me at 792-7542.

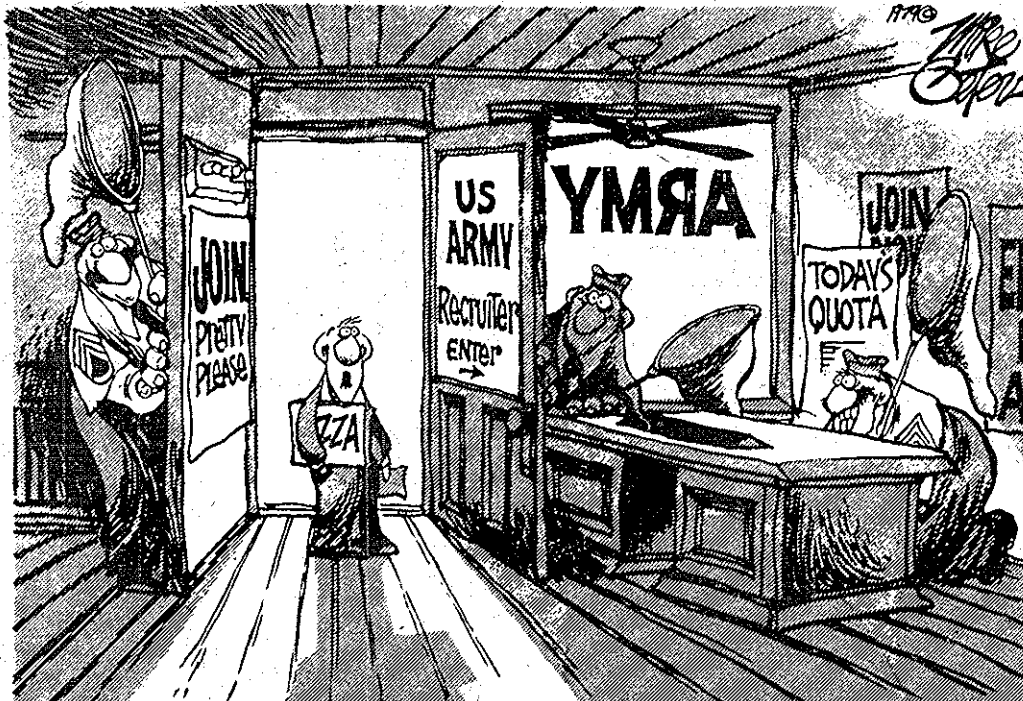

In the meantime, for those wishing to contribute, checks may be made payable to the Bobby McHenry Benefit Fund, payable to any branch of the Union National Bank. Thank you so very much.

Says registration
here is efficient, procedure is good

To the Editor of the Jambar:

I would like to take this opportunity to state that I heavily disagree with the article dealing with registration at YSU that appeared on Nov. 20, 1979.

As far as I am concerned, we have a system that is very well organized compared to other universities.

I have personally attended registration at Kent State and Akron University and I feel I can say that compared to these universities, we have a system that is efficient.

When you have to stand in line for two to three hours, only to be told to go to the end of the next line, or when you have to run all over campus to gather the papers you need to register, the YSU procedure begins to look pretty good.

I realize that for some students this is most likely the only university they may have every attended. But I feel that before a person takes a stand, they should look at both sides of an issue.

In closing I would like to add that I feel the ladies we have working at registration are doing a fantastic job. So, instead of the students taking a negative stand, they should take a positive stand and say thanks to these ladies.

'Faculty Forum' to discuss events, implications of Iran's revolution

A timely "Faculty Forum" providing a first-hand look at the Revolution in Iran, plus reports on its implications for both the Middle East and the U.S., will be presented 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 28, in Lecture Hall, Arts and Science.

The program on Iran concerns its problems, fast-moving events, and the possible effects of the revolution on the volatile Middle East and the U.S.

Main speaker will be Dr. Hassan Ronaghy, economics, who will discuss "The Inside Story of the Iranian Revolution." He recently returned from three years of work and study in Iran.

Ronaghy holds degrees in Agriculture Economics from Shiraz University in Iran, Southern Illinois University, and the University of Wisconsin.

While in Iran, Ronaghy was a visiting professor at Shiraz University and also served as assistant to the Mayor of Tehran after the revolution.

In the 1960's, while at Shiraz University and participating in the revolution, he was jailed by the Shah's secret police.

Also participating will be Dr. Saul S. Friedman, history, who will discuss "Implications of the Iranian Revolution: Middle East," and Dr. Joseph T. May, history, will speak concerning the "Implications of the Iranian Revolution: United States."

Dr. George D. Beelen, chairman of the history department, will be the moderator for the forum.

"Faculty Forum" events are offered by the College of Arts and Sciences to provide students, faculty and the public with information and insight on various topics by qualified experts from many fields.

The "Forum" is free and open to the public. In addition to questions and discussion with audience participation after the program, there will be a reception afterwards about 9:30 p.m. where the speakers will meet informally with interested persons.

Marks third tournament

YSU forensic team places fourth

The YSU Forensics team placed fourth out of fifteen schools in overall sweepstakes at the Falcon Fest Individual Events Tournament at Bowling Green State University, Saturday, Nov. 17.

Tim Coombs, sophomore, speech, placed third in impromptu speaking with a discussion of Plato's views on the power of persuasion. Frank Trimble, sophomore, speech, placed fifth in impromptu speaking, with a different approach to the same topic. Peg Senzarino, junior, telecommunications, placed seventh in extemporaneous speaking with a discussion of the future of the Democratic Party.

Ten other students also participated in a variety of public speaking and oral interpretation events.

This marks the third tournament for the YSU team this year, who earlier placed first in sweepstakes at Clarion State College and hosted the Old Traditional Tournament here at YSU.

Any student interested in competing in Forensics at YSU should contact coach Jim Lallumia or any member of the team in Bliss Hall 2017.

Student named 'Miss Hope' by unit of Cancer Society

For the third consecutive year, a YSU nursing student has been selected by the Mahoning County unit of the American Cancer Society as "Miss Hope" for 1980. Alberta Duncan, sophomore, CAST, who is currently working toward her B.S. in Applied Science, was chosen to represent Mahoning County in the "Miss Hope of Ohio" finals in Columbus.

As "Miss Hope" for Mahoning County, Duncan will appear at various educational, community and social functions representing the American Cancer Society, and will assist in their numerous programs.

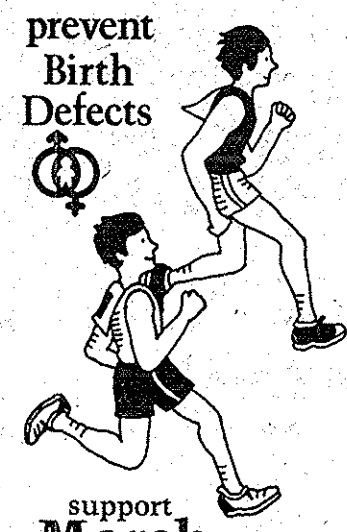

Duncan is a graduate of the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Canton. She has served as a U.S. Air Force nurse in Abilene, Texas, and has worked for the Upjohn Company as a nurse coordinator.

While in Texas, she also worked for three years as a nurse in Dallas. In the Youngstown area, Duncan worked one year with the Youngstown Hospital Association.

Speech on Kennedy shooting

holding the gun which he supposedly used to shoot the President were tampered with. Five eyewitnesses stated that the assassin was wearing a light colored, short-sleeved shirt. On that day Oswald wore a long-sleeved, dark colored shirt to work. Oswald did not even run after the shooting, he went home.

The government's chief witness, Charles Givens, who was questioned several times, had parts of his statement changed from his original one, Ralston said. Many simulated tests were re-enacted to determine whether Oswald could have been the gunman and, according to Ralston, most have shown that he, in fact, could not have been.

Because of the almost physical impossibilities revealed in scientific evidence, the Warren Commission created the single-bullet theory, which stated that a single bullet hit the President, killing him, and then wounded John Connally.

Ralston presented an enormous amount of evidence which would lend doubt to this theory's credibility. He states that it is probably the most bizarre of all the theories surrounding the case.

Recently, there has been a request to exhume the body of Oswald to see if it really is his body, but Ralston does not support this idea. "The man should be allowed to rest in peace," he said.

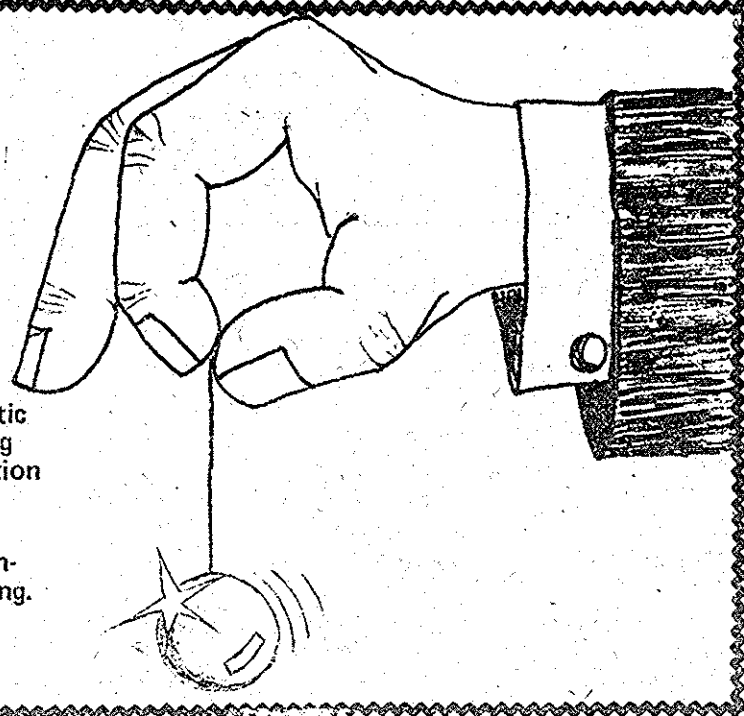

Ralston says he feels there was more than one gunman involved in the shooting, possibly three or more. He conjectures that there were gunmen on the grassy knoll in front of the procession, and that their plan was to catch Kennedy in a cross-fire. Ralston provided a great deal of evidence to support this theory.

The most impressive aspect to the Warren Commission was its membership, according to Ralston. It was headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren and included such names as Allen Dulles, former CIA director, and then Congressman Gerald Ford. The public believed the findings of the Commission on the basis of its prestige and not the facts because there was too much material to read, claimed Ralston.

When the commission was hearing the evidence presented by most of the key witnesses involved, they were never in full attendance except for the testimony of Connally. Even when Jackie Kennedy testified, there was not a full panel of the commission members present, said Ralston. And most of Connally's testimony, which refuted the findings of the commission, was dismissed because they said they felt he was confused.

Many doctors, most of whom were experts in their respective fields, believed that Kennedy was shot from the back and the front, the front shot being fatal, said Ralston. The first autopsy report was destroyed, and Kennedy's clothing has never been released. "History was rewritten to de-politicize the crime," stated Ralston.

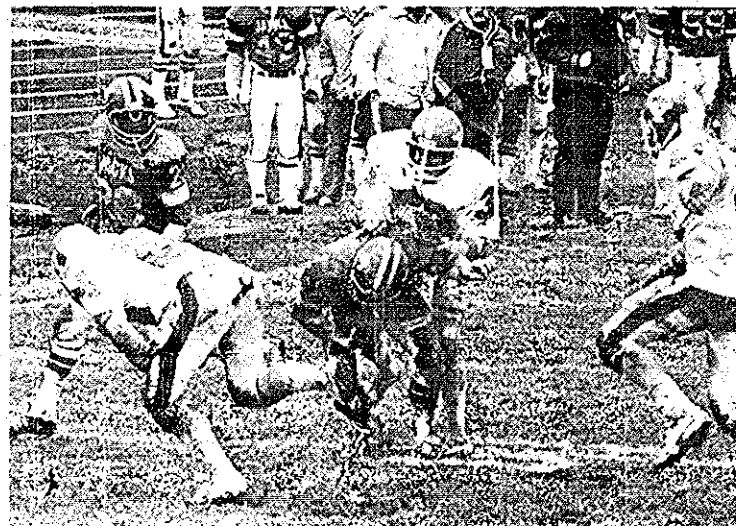

Films, photos, the Connally file and other evidence exists which all contradict the single-bullet theory of the Warren Commission. In October of 1964 Time-Life did an article on the anniversary of the assassination. Ralston said they had two different issues, the first of which was shredded and never made it to the press. He says this just adds to the evidence to support his theory that there was more than one gunman.

While Ralston believes that there was more than one gunman involved, he did not say who he thought was behind the murder. He presented a vast amount of information and evidence to support his theory, but he left the final decision up to the audience.

Male cheerleaders needed for winter

The YSU cheerleaders are in need of male student partners to help with stunt routines during basketball season.

Former high school athletes, gymnasts or anyone who wants to get involved are asked to either contact Pauline Noe, assistant athletic director, in Room 302 Beeghly, or attend a meeting with the cheerleaders at 3 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 28, in the Beeghly front lobby.

No commitment is expected from those attending the meeting. It is just an opportunity for the student to see what is involved.

in answer to the question "Is this the first time Student Government has contacted you?" 207 stated "yes"; 24 "no."

At the last meeting, Spitzer pointed out that "questionnaire" had been spelled incorrectly on the form.

The committee members have tentatively scheduled a "Meet Your Council Representative Day" for Wednesday, Jan. 16, in Kilcawley Center.

Council unanimously approved Gary Anania, junior, A&S, as liaison to the Pan-Hellenic Council. Anania was recommended by Koury.

Also, Koury reported that YSU possesses the equipment necessary to sandblast the area around "the rock." He said using this machinery would cut costs for Student Government which is financially responsible for "the rock."

Penguins advance in play-offs

(Cont. from page 1) other Penguin victories this season, but coach Narduzzi is quick to point to his role as the leader of the team.

"Keith Snoddy was not as hot as he normally is," related Narduzzi, "but anytime you are the field general that puts up 43 points before you leave the game, you've done a whole lot of good things."

Narduzzi was especially pleased that every time the Penguins had the ball inside South Dakota State's ten yard line, they were able to score.

"When we get the ball down there inside of the ten yard line we say we are going to put it in the end zone," explained Narduzzi. "We're going to put our best back behind our best blocker and score."

To single out one or two players who were the keys to the defense would be really difficult. The linebackers and the line were able to keep tremendous pressure on their quarterback. The backs came up with key interceptions, and the ends were able to contain the quarterback.

If there is one defensive statistic that sums up the kind of day that YSU had, it would be their holding South Dakota State to a total of zero yards gained rushing. Combine that with four pass interceptions and three fumble recoveries, and you have a super day for the defense.

The fact that the second and third string players were able to put a total of 14 points on the board in the fourth quarter, is an indication of the YSU dominance in the game.

"Anytime we can put the second team in, and let them get that kind of game experience, it has got to help YSU football somewhere down the road," Narduzzi stated.

In the first half, it was all YSU as they rolled-up 22 unanswered points, on scoring drives of 12, 73, 51 and 47 yards. The first two scores of the half were an eight-yard run by Keith Snoddy and a 24-yard field goal by Carey Orosz. The final two scores of the first half belonged to Robson as he plunged one yard for the first and scampered 47 yards for the second.

The Penguins put 28 more points on the board in the second half on drives of 19, 44, 76 and 82 yards. Robson scored the first two on runs of five yards and one yard respectively. The third score came on a 45-yard pass from Bill Fink to Randy Beal.

Curt Downing, a freshman who finished as the number-two YSU rusher with 54 yards, scored the final TD on an eight-yard run.

The lone South Dakota score of the game came early in the third period, as the Jackrabbits marched 42 yards in nine plays with quarterback Gary Maffett firing a nine-yard scoring pass to halfback Brian Bunkers.

The Penguins will now be given the opportunity to host their second play-off game, as Alabama A & M will travel to Falcon Stadium this Saturday.

After the win over South Dakota State, coach Narduzzi summed up what is ahead for the Penguins as they prepare for the semi-finals, and possibly the National Championship game. "Whoever comes in here, or wherever we go to play, we are going to be facing one of the best teams in the country," stated Narduzzi.

Tickets for the contest are now on sale at the Beeghly ticket office.

The game is scheduled to begin at 12:50 p.m., with ABC giving network coverage to the contest. The game will be blacked out in the Youngstown area unless the game is sold out far in advance.

Semi-final tickets on sale in Beeghly

All tickets for the upcoming NCAA Division II semi-final football play-off game between YSU and Alabama A & M this Saturday at Falcon Stadium in Austintown, are now on sale at the Beeghly ticket office.

Reserve seat tickets are priced at $5.00 each, and general admission seats are $4.00 each. YSU students may purchase general admission tickets for $2.00 when presenting a student ID card for each ticket.

YSU students must also present their ID card at the game, when they purchase a discount ticket.
