Sax soloist Nistico to be featured Monday in a night of jazz at YSU

Tenor Saxophonist Sal Nistico will perform May 12 when Director Tony Leonardi presents YSU's Jazz Ensemble I and II night of solid jazz.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m., in the Chestnut Room, Kilcawley Center, and will be the final campus appearance of the outstanding ensembles, each composed of about 20 students.

Nistico is one of the jazz world's top featured soloists.

Nistico played a prominent role in helping launch the Woody Herman Band back into international recognition during the 1960s. His hard driving tenor sax sound has been a part of the Count Basie Band, Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Jazz Orchestra, Tito Puente and Don Ellis Bands, Chuck Israel's National Jazz Ensemble, and the Slide Hampton Band.

In 1959, he was a member of the Jazz Brothers, a group led by Gap and Chuck Mangione.

Nistico also led several groups of his own, both in the U.S. and Europe. He has many jazz recordings to his credit, the latest a release on Bee Hive Records entitled NEO/NESTICO.

Jazz Ensemble II will open the program with several selections which will include the "Tiger of San Pedro," by John La Barbera, and Don Menza's "Groovin' Hard."

Soloists will include: Jim Frengle and Bob Rollo, trumpet; John Olsson, trombone; Matt Marinelli, alto sax; Jeff Flink and Mark Seyerle, tenor sax; Jim Mayercak, piano; Mark Matcco, guitar; Gary Leone and Darryl Pellegrini, drums.

Jazz Ensemble I will open after intermission with a Thad Jones composition entitled "Cherry Juice." Included in their program will be an exciting samba by Menza called "Samandrea Swing."

Soloists will include: Jim Garber, piano; Bill Harrison and Jim Volenik, alto sax; Rande Isabella and Lennie Carkido, trumpet; Paul Hunt and John Reese, trombone; and Eddie Allen, drums.

Nistico will join Ensemble I on "Sister Sadie," a piece which brought him notoriety while in the Woody Herman Band; a ballad "Day Before Yesterday;" and two pieces by Swiss jazz composer, Victor Burghardt.

The tickets $2 may be purchased from Jazz Ensemble members, at the door, or by calling Leonardi at 742-3639. Seating will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Kilcawley gallery to display works of Steel Valley Teachers group

The Kilcawley Art Gallery is featuring the art works of the members of the Steel Valley Art Teachers Association in an exhibit opening Wednesday, May 14.

A reception with a string quartet from the Youngstown Youth Symphony is scheduled for 6 p.m. on the opening day. The show will run through Friday, May 30. The student symphony group will play selections by Mozart and Bach.

The Steel Valley Art Teachers Association includes art teachers from four counties: Mahoning, Trumbull, Mercer and Columbiana. A total of 16 association members will exhibit in the show and their works include a wide variety of media. Ron Mistovich, Boardman, is the current president of the association.

Other activities associated with the exhibit include two showings of the film, Art for Tomorrow to be presented at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., Wednesday, May 21 in the Kilcawley Center Art Gallery.

The Kilcawley Exhibit is sponsored by the Kilcawley Center Program Board's Art Gallery Committee. All Kilcawley Gallery exhibits are free and open to the public. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. through 8 p.m., Monday through Thursday and 10 a.m. through 3 p.m., Friday. Group visits are encouraged and may be arranged by calling 742-3575.

Artifacts return to Austintown log cabin site

More than 2,500 artifacts recovered during an extensive archeological excavation at the Austintown cabin site will be officially returned to that community by Dr. John R. White, anthropology.

The ceremony will be held at 3 p.m., Monday, May 12, in the YSU specimen repository, Room 455 Arts and Science.

Receiving the artifacts on behalf of the people of Austintown will be Ken Zinz, a limited service faculty member within the YSU history department and a representative of the Austintown Historical Society.

White and a crew comprised of both paid and volunteer YSU archeology majors began the excavation project in 1977. The artifacts will ultimately be housed (cont. on page 5)

Segal dedicates steel sculpture to Youngstown

George Segal's sculpture tribute to the Youngstown area steel industry will be dedicated at noon on Wednesday, May 14, on Youngstown's Federal Plaza. He began the project in a Bliss Hall studio last July.

The preliminary work saw two area steelworkers, Peter Kolby Jr. and Waymna Paramore, smothered in plaster in a ground floor Bliss Hall studio. Their plaster cast models were transformed into bronze figures which will be placed in front of an actual open hearth furnace donated on Jones and Laughlin Steel Co.

The process of raising monies for this project started approximately four years ago with a request for funding from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Ohio Arts Council.

As part of the agreed upon conditions, Youngstown Area Arts Council was required to match, with local monies, an amount equal to that which was funded from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Ohio Arts Council. Local banks, businesses, the City of Youngstown, various organizations and individuals, including services donated by iron steel and construction unions have helped to match the required amount.

Segal is an internationally recognized sculptor and artist known for his recreation of real life situations. Segal considers the Youngstown Federal Plaza steel sculpture to be his most significant work.

Council approves secretarial pay

by Yvonne Stephan

A proposal to fund a full-time classified secretarial position in Student Government passed at council's Monday meeting.

In other action, a motion passed to give a stipend to the student grievance officer, and Tony Merolla, Engineering representative, proposed a resolution requesting a reassessment of allocations for summer quarter instruction in the engineering department.

The Student Government's full-time secretary will receive $9,693 a year. This secretary will replace two part-time students who have been performing the secretarial duties. The combined salary of these students is $6,448, so there will be a $3000 increase to finance the full-time secretary.

Later in the meeting, Tony Koury, president of Student Government, announced that he would not run for re-election.

Koury said that he has achieved the goals for the job which he had set, so he said he feels that it is time to move on to other things.

Merolla proposed his resolution requesting a reassessment of allocations for instructions in the engineering department because engineering students have been protesting the inavailability of certain engineering classes in the summer.

As far as the grievance officer is concerned, Joe Castrodale has held the position for about one year and has received no financial compensation. He will now be receiving $1,260 stipend or 50 per cent of a full scholarship.

Council also passed the remaining items of the budget. This included giving the Student Government president a $2,520 stipend plus $504 in the summer, or 120 per cent of a full scholarship. A proposed $252 increase in the president's stipend was defeated by Council.

Other stipends will also remain the same including chairperson of Student Council who receives 100 per cent of a full scholarship, vice president of Student Government who receives 30 per cent and Council vice-chairperson and secretary who receive 20 per cent. Although the percentages remain the same, the monetary value will increase with the approved tuition hike. Therefore, there is an automatic $315 increase for president and chairperson, $94 increase for the vice-president and a $63 increase for the vice-chairperson

Med Tech symposium to improve technology practices, development

The Department of Allied Health in cooperation with the YSU Department of Continuing Education will present the tenth annual "Trends in Medical Technology" symposium, beginning at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, May 10 in Room BO24, in Cushwa Hall.

Specifically, the symposium is designed as an annual update on the latest developments in the fields of medical technology. Those who can benefit by attending the program include: pathologists, medical technologists, medical laboratory technologists, cytotechnologists, laboratory supervisors and medical laboratory technology students.

Symposium objectives are aimed at presenting various approaches to improving medical technology practices and providing participants with an opportunity for professional development and growth.

Funded in part by allied health department, "Special Improvement Grant" from the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, the program includes respected professionals from the Cleveland Clinic.

Opening remarks will be made by Dr. Nicholas Paraska, Dean of CAST and Dr. John J. Yemma, Chairperson, allied health. Joan L. Boyd, YSU Coordinator/Instructor of Medical Technology and Medical Laboratory Technology and a M.T. will introduce the program lecturers.

The symposium fee for individuals wishing to participate in the program sessions and lunch is $18. Full-time students may attend the program for $7.75.

Individuals attending the symposium will receive a certificate of participation upon completion of the program. For further information contact the YSU Department of Continuing Education, Professional Development Programs Division: 742-3358.

Editorial

Balderdash

It was recommended at Monday night's Student Council meeting that "part of the Jambar be dedicated to Student Council for the purpose of creating better public relations between Student Council and the student body." Balderdash.

Student Council can recommend its little heart out, but it cannot expect this paper to serve as its own personal public relations organ. Neither can any other special interest group or individual on this campus.

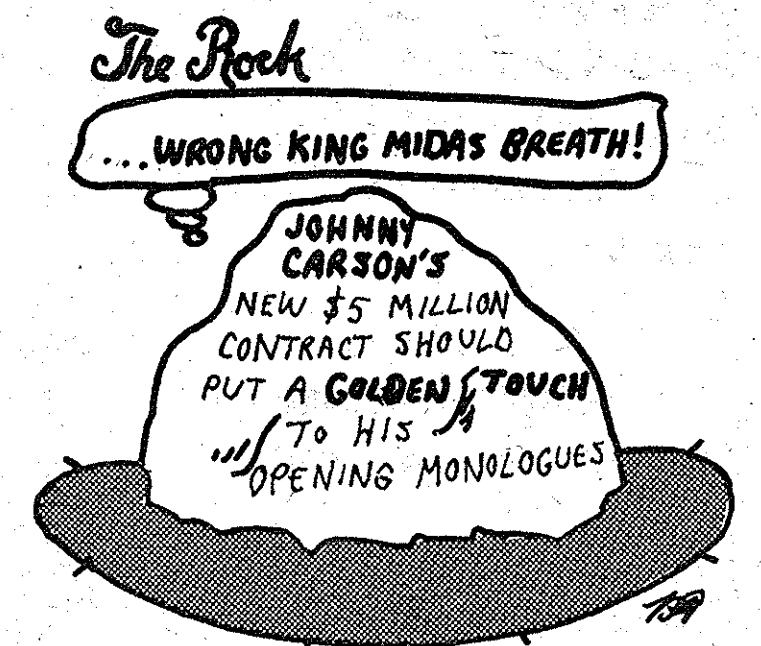

The primary criteria used to determine the contents of this paper, as was explained at the beginning of this academic year, is whether the material is newsworthy. We devote space to campus happenings which by professional journalism standards are deemed interest provoking enough to warrant coverage. Such items include hard news events, as a fire or a protest, an unusual hobby enjoyed by a YSU student, staff or faculty member, or a review of a play, movie or album which might interest students.

However, the Jambar is limited in the amount of its coverage by the size of both each semi-weekly issue and its staff of reporters. The number of pages run each issue depends upon the amount of advertising space sold. If many advertisers purchase space in a given issue, the paper may run 16 to 20 pages. However, should there be only a few advertisers, as has been the case most recently, papers of only eight or 12 pages will be published. With a small amount of space to work with, the Jambar must limit the number of stories and events it covers and promotes.

Also a factor in the amount and type of stories covered is the number of journalism students serving on the paper in a given quarter. The bulk of the newspaper's reporters are students enrolled in a journalism workshop class, and thus the number of writers varies from quarter to quarter. Currently, the Jambar has a staff of six students to report on the activities of 15,000 individuals. Right now, the Jambar has numerous story ideas in the works, but not enough people to report on them.

When and if Student Government/Council, or any other special interest group on campus does anything newsworthy, they can expect the Jambar to supply adequate coverage. But in the mean time, this paper will not stoop to becoming a public relations tool at the whim of a publicity seeking few.

Offers solution for class availability

To the Editor of the Jambar: Presently there is a crisis in the new Senior Electrical Engineering class. We are being deprived of Senior electives to complete our degree in the prescribed four years. There remain six weeks to resolve the problem, and thus restore the strength to our overall program. In lieu of this I would like to make some observations.

1. There are enough students, 50 to be exact, who would sign up for the proposed two extra summer classes.
2. Since these classes are designed to hold 20 students, each would be filled to capacity.
3. With the classes filled to capacity, they will pay for their instructor's salaries.
4. We have willing and able faculty who could teach such classes.

students, available faculty and no foreseeable monetary loss for the University. The students, faculty and administration are working toward a common goal, education. We are working together, and it seems these courses will benefit all. So, please explain to me, where is the problem?

Nick Krull
Senior, Electrical Engineering

The question is now: "Where is the problem?" There are ample

Explains Kilcawley art show is not student exhibit

To the Editor of the Jambar: Thank you for running a picture of our current Art Gallery show on the front page of your May 6 issue. However, though the work is by Pat Brown, it is not "one among many student entries" but rather is one of the pieces in the touring show "Womensart '79." "Womensart '79" closes Friday, May 9. The Senior/Graduate Show opens June 4 and people interested in participating may get information from the Gallery or the Kilcawley Staff Offices.

By the way, Ms. Brown is from Perrysburg and may or may not be a YSU graduate. She is one of 39 women from Ohio whose works were accepted for this show from the 380 women who submitted entries.

Theatre Review

Spotlight scenes prove tedious

by Yvonne Stephan

The scene changes went smoothly but Spotlight Theatre's A Man for All Seasons dragged on.

Although it is supposed to be a drama, there was but one dramatic scene in the whole play, the second scene of the first act, with Robert Dubec, junior, F&PA as Cardinal Wolsey and Gary Solomonson, graduate student, as Sir Thomas More. Dubec carried the scene. His character called for him to be dynamic, and he was, except that his voice, which I presume was supposed to be deep, seemed garbled at times.

In this second scene as throughout the entire play, Solomonson stayed very low key. He seemed to elicit no emotions. Solomonson was consistent, he stayed on the same plane all night even in scenes which called for some emotion.

Three members of the cast merit special mention. Patricia Ennis, as Lady Alice More, Sir Thomas' wife, showed that she truly could act. She appeared natural and did not over play her minor role. The emotions she exhibited were realistic.

Martin Barabas, graduate student, The Common Man, was another good performer. He opened and many times closed every scene. He was witty, cocky and at times absurd. Barabas evoked the only spontaneous laughter in the entire play.

Another performer who did well especially in the second act of opening night, was Robert Phillips, senior, F&PA, The Duke of Norfolk. While the second act calls for a strong character which he played well, the first act features the Duke as a light jovial individual. In this role Phillips overacted, appearing quite flamboyant.

Timothy Cassidy, sophomore, F&PA, would have been better had he not spoken so fast and had he not appeared mechanical at times. Philip Gentle, as Thomas Cromwell spoke as if his lines were too long, therefore his speeches sounded tedious.

During the beginning of scene six in the second act of this Spotlight Theatre Production, Barabas tells the audience what will happen to all the characters in the room except for Thomas More.

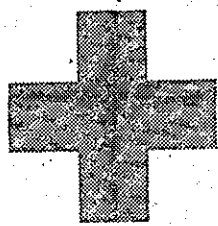

If I didn't have a program, I would have assumed that the play was nearing the end, but three acts remained. Perhaps if the synopsis of the characters were set at a later time in the play, it would not have broken the flow of the production, as it did.

While set construction was very simple, it was more than adequate in portraying the sixteenth century.

The production is directed by Dr. William C. Hulsopple. He is assisted by Robert Mortz, YSU graduate.

Final performances of A Man for All Seasons are tonight and tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Ford Auditorium in Bliss Hall.

YSU mark slips to 10-14; sore arms plague pitchers

by Ron Anderson

The season continues to get longer for the YSU baseball team as a combination of factors, including defensive lapses and sore pitching arms, saw the Penguin nine able to win only one of their last three games.

The Penguins got off to a rocky start in the first game but managed to settle down in the second game for a split of the twinbill in Tuesday's doubleheader with Clarion State.

In the first game all seemed to be going well with the Penguins jumping out to a five-run lead after just the first half-inning, but the roof caved in as the big inning came back to haunt the Penguins again. Clarion scored seven times in the first and five times in the second en route to a 15-11 victory.

Glenn Head, Mark Schlarb and Bob Moliterno pitched for YSU allowing a combined total of 15 runs on 14 hits, while striking out six and walking one.

Mike Nittoli had another big performance with the bat in the first game as he went 4-for-5 with a double and two runs scored.

Dave Zeigler tripled and homered in five trips to the plate, driving in six of the 11 YSU runs.

Scott Bass turned in a perfect 2-for-2 performance with three walks.

In the second game, Clarion scored a run in the bottom of the first off of YSU starter Bob Haseley, which proved to be their only tally of the game. YSU scored twice in the sixth and three times in the seventh for a 5-1 win.

Haseley worked seven innings on the mound for a complete game victory. He allowed only one run (it was unearned) while scattering four hits.

Bob Gardner led the hitting attack, driving in three runs and scoring once while getting a pair of hits in four trips to the plate.

The first game of yesterday's doubleheader with California State (Pa.) went into extra innings before the Penguins were handed a 5-4 loss.

Bob Moliterno got the start and pitched brilliantly for the Penguins despite the loss. Of the five runs allowed by Moliterno, only one was earned, as errors plagued YSU when California State scored four times in the second.

The fact that Moliterno retired 19 straight batters late in the game is evidence of his strong performance on the mound.

The Penguins sent the game into extra innings when Mike Popio hit a pinch-hit single to lead off the ninth. Mark Billy, who ran for Popio, advanced to second on a bunt by Joe Jacobucci, and following a fly to center by Scott Bass, Billy scored on a single by Mike Nittoli. California State then scored the winner in the top of the ninth.

The second game of the doubleheader was called off because of poor weather conditions.

YSU's record now stands at 10-14 for the season. The Penguins will try to improve on that mark as they hit the road for a pair of doubleheaders. They will play at Penn-State-Behrend on Saturday, and will travel to Kent State on Tuesday.

Winners dressed in white for annual spring scrimmage

by Tina Ketchum

For the second year in a row, the White team was the winner of the annual Red and White scrimmage game held last Saturday at the Girard High School stadium.

Coached by Dale Fryzel, Ken Kish, Pete Lymber, and Joel Cockley, the White squad prevailed over the Red team, coached by Bill Narduzzi, Fred Thomas, and Bob Dove, with a 14-5 score.

Just three plays into the game, Jeff Gergel, of the White team, grabbed an interception from Red quarterback Les Pakalnis, which led to an early 6-0 lead after Paris Wicks charged from the five-yard line to score. Mike Portilla's extra point kick was good and brought the score to 7-0.

With the clock showing just 3:55 left in the quarter, the White team surprised everyone with its second trip across the goal line when Tim Gardner ran around the left side, breaking loose for a 59-yard scoring run on the first play of the series. Portilla's second extra point then had the White team leading 14-0.

The defenses of both teams took over in the second quarter as neither side tallied any points, with the score remaining 14-0 at the half.

After a scoreless third quarter, the White squad took control of the ball on the Red's one-yard line after the Red team failed to gain 10 yards early in the fourth period.

The Red squad got points on the board for the first time, after Wicks was brought down in the endzone by Dave Morvay, for a Red safety to make it a 14-2 ballgame.

The follow-up punt by Chris Weber was returned by Brett Modic from the 33-to the 45-yard line, where the Red squad began an advance to the White's 17-yard line.

After an incomplete third-down pass from Pakalnis to Robby Robson, the Red squad added three more points to its ledger with a 35-yard field goal from Jeff Wakefield to make the final score 14-5.

Both sides had individuals turning in fine performances. Featured on the Red squad, offensively, were Pakalnis, Robson, Jeff Johnston, Randy Beal, Sam Grooms, Bob Strauss, and Shawn Boyle. Defensively, the Red team was led by Modic, Jeff Kieffer and Bob Hill.

"We felt by the draft, offensively, we actually had the advantage," commented offensive line coach Bob Dove of the Red team.

"We gave up the ball on fumbles and didn't score when we were on the goal. If we had concentrated, we could have won," continued Dove.

Gergel and Joe Schartner were the standouts defensively of the White squad, with Bob Porter featured on the offensive line, along with quarterback Gary Fritz, Jeff Patterson, Curt Downing, Gardner, and Wicks.

"Defensively, we were as good as we thought we would be and our offense, which was our main concern, showed some degree of success," stated defensive coach Ken Kish from the White side.

Weber gave another respectable performance playing on both sides of the field. For the Red team he punted 194 yards for an average of 36.8 yards per kick, with the longest flight 47 yards. From the White's side, Weber booted the pigskin 175 yards with a 35-yard average and the longest gain 40 yards downfield.

During half-time, Bob Hill and Joe Koken were honored as the most improved defensive and offensive players, respectively, this spring.

As a "reward" for winning, the White team was served a roast beef dinner Tuesday night while the Red team feasted on beans and cornbread for their efforts.

"Overall, it was a fun game. Both sides had fun, and we (the coaches) found out alot," said Kish. "Youngstown State's going to have another great football team."

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute. Even though you're in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive.

Maybe even irresistible. See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL, ON US

You read it right.

The Army's Health Professions Scholarship Program provides necessary tuition, books, lab fees, even microscope rental during medical school.

Plus a tax-free monthly stipend that works out to about $6,450 a year. (After July 1, 1980, it'll be even more.)

After you're accepted into medical school, you can be accepted into our program. Then you're commissioned and you go through school as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

The hitch? Very simple. After your residency, you give the Army a year as a doctor for every year the Army gave you as a med student, and under some conditions, with a minimum scholarship obligation being two years' service.

INTERNSHIP, RESIDENCY & CASH BONUSES

Besides scholarships to medical school, the Army also offers AMA-approved first-year post-graduate and residency training programs.

Such training adds no further obligation to the student in the scholarship program. But any Civilian Graduate Medical Education sponsored by the Army gives you a one-year obligation for every year of sponsorship.

But you get a $9,000 annual bonus every year you're paying back medical school or post-graduate training.

So you not only get your medical education paid for, you get extra pay while you're paying it back.

Not a bad deal.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE

The rich tradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication, even heroism. And it's a challenge to live up to.

Today, an Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A BSN degree is required. And the clinical spectrum is almost impossible to match in civilian practice.

And, since you'll be an Army Officer, you'll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You'll also enjoy travel opportunities, officer's pay and officer's privileges.

Army Nursing offers educational opportunities that are second to none. As an Army Nurse, you could be selected for graduate degree programs at civilian universities:

ADVANCED NURSING COURSE, TUITION-FREE

You get tuition, pay and living allowances. You can also take Nurse Practitioner courses and courses in many clinical specialties. All on the Army.

While these programs do not cost you any money, most of them do incur an additional service obligation.

A CHANCE TO PRACTICE LAW

If you're about to get your law degree and be admitted to the bar, you should consider a commission in the Judge Advocate General Corps. Because in the Army you get to practice law right from the start.

While your classmates are still doing other lawyers' research and other lawyers' briefs, you could have your own cases, your own clients, in effect, your own practice.

Plus you'll have the pay, prestige and privileges of being an Officer in the United States Army. With a chance to travel and make the most of what you've worked so hard to become. A real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

Though you're too late for a 4-year scholarship, there are 3-, 2-, and even 1-year scholarships available.

They include tuition, books, and lab fees. Plus $100 a month living allowance. Naturally they're very competitive. Because besides helping you towards your degree, an ROTC scholarship helps you towards the gold bars of an Army Officer.

Stop by the ROTC office on campus and ask about details.

UP TO $170 A MONTH

You can combine service in the Army Reserve or National Guard with Army ROTC and get up to $6,500 while you're still in school.

It's called the Simultaneous Membership Program. You get $100 a month as an Advanced Army ROTC Cadet and an additional $70 a month (sergeant's pay) as an Army Reservist.

When you graduate, you'll be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, but not necessarily assigned to active duty. Find out about it.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK

You can get a $1,500 bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units. Or up to $2,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,000 a year for about 16 hours a month and two weeks annual training.

And now we have a special program to help you fit the Army Reserve around your school schedule. It's worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE

Some may find college to be the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help them, too.

A few years in the Army can help them get money for tuition and the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money saved for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if one qualifies, a generous bonus is added to that.

So 2 years of service can get you up to $7,400 for college, 3 years up to $12,100, and 4 years up to $14,100. In addition, bonuses up to $3,000 are available for 4-year enlistments in selected skills.

Add in the experience and maturity gained, and the Army can send an individual back to college a richer person in more ways than one.

We hope these Army opportunities have intrigued you as well as surprised you. Because there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.
