YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University's Reading Center, located in the School of Education on Elm Street, will begin summer reading improvement sessions June 19-July 15. Classes are from 9-11 a.m.

Parents who wish to enroll their children may obtain applications by calling YSU's Elementary Education and Reading Department at (216) 742-3251. A minimal fee will be charged.

An advanced graduate student will work on a one-to-one basis with each child, identifying and remediating specific reading problems. Upon completion of the reading sessions, recommendations will be sent to the student's home and school.

Enrollment is limited due to the individualized nature of the program. Students who cannot be accommodated during the summer will have first priority for the fall program.
