YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University's Office of Continuing Education is offering a pilot enrichment program for children entering the second and third grades next fall.

Composed of ten different sessions, the "Adventures in Summer" program will be held from 8:30-11:30 a.m. June 16-27 at Hilltop Elementary School in Canfield.

Ten teachers from the Youngstown area will conduct the sessions, which feature a variety of experiences ranging from creating Egyptian artifacts and murals to designing a walk-on travel theme gameboard.

Dr. Juanita Roderick of Boardman, professor of Elementary Education and coordinator of the School of Education's Gifted Program at YSU developed the program. She is currently president of the Ohio Association for Gifted Children.

Philip Ginnetti, Lordstown Elementary School principal and faculty member of YSU's Elementary Education Department, will serve as coordinator and supervisor for "Adventures."

The fee is $195. It includes all materials and a certificate of participation.

To receive an informational brochure or to register, contact YSU's Office of Continuing Education at (216) 742-3358.

FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE

Mailed May 29, 1986

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - The 11th annual District Directors Institute on Federal Taxation will be held at Youngstown State University from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. June 13.

Specific topics of this year's institute will include: current developments, estate and gift taxes, shelters, tax practices and management, fringe benefits, and new and proposed legislation. These topics are intended to present a representative cross-section of current areas of importance and interest to tax practitioners, accountants, attorneys, insurance advisors and other interested individuals.

Participants will attend different concurrent sessions, which will be conducted by a panel of qualified, experienced practitioners and technical specialists from the Internal Revenue Service and tax professionals from the private sector.

Jack Petrie, taxpayer ombudsman from the IRS, will be the luncheon speaker.

The Accountancy Board of Ohio and Pennsylvania has approved the Institute for Continuing Education credit.

Sponsors include YSU's Warren P. Williamson, Jr. School of Business Administration and its Department of Accounting and Finance, and the Cleveland District of the IRS in association with YSU's Office of Continuing Education.

The registration fee for the Institute is $75 and includes participation, materials refreshments, lunch, parking, and a certificate of participation.

To register, or to receive a free brochure, call the YSU Office of Continuing Education at (216) 742-3358.
