Youngstown State University Youngstown, Ohio November 2, 1982 Vol. 64 - No. 12

Crowned as the 1982 YSU Homecoming King and Queen were Renee Timko, senior, business, and D. R. Trisket, junior, business. They were named during halftime of the game with Middle Tennessee Saturday afternoon.

Sills to talk, not sing praises of fine arts

Famed opera star Beverly Sills will open the fall quarter's Special Lecture Series at YSU with an address at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 3 at Powers Auditorium in downtown Youngstown.

Sills will meet informally with YSU students at 4 p.m. in Room 1026, Bliss Hall.

Also included in this quarter's Special Lecture Series will be Dr. Michael DeBakey, a leading pioneer in the field of heart surgery. He will lecture at 8 p.m., Nov. 30 in the Chestnut Room of Kilcawley Center.

Both Sills' and DeBakey's appearances are Skeggs Lectures and are free and open to the public.

A star of the world's great opera houses and general director of the New York City Opera since 1979, Sills will kick off YSU's "Fine and Performing Arts Month" which will be celebrated throughout November in conjunction with the University's Diamond Jubilee.

The legendary "Bubbles," who has taken her place among the handful of women in opera's top administrative ranks, will speak about life in the spotlight and the status of the arts in America today.

Sills appeared with both the Metropolitan and New York City Operas in New York and has started at the San Francisco Opera, Milan's La Scala, London's Covent Garden, the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires, the Vienna State Opera, the Deutsche Opera in West Berlin, La Fenice in Venice and San Carlo in Naples.

She has recorded 18 full-length operas and several solo recital discs.

Her "Manon" received the Edison Award for Best Operatic Album of the Year and her Victor Herbert album won a Grammy Award in 1978.

Sills started as a child star in the early 1930s and performed regularly on radio and television shows, from the age of 3 until age 12. Staging a comeback in 1945 in touring musical companies, she served a 10-year apprenticeship in a wide range of music from Gilbert and Sullivan to Bizet. The experiences launched her career with the New York City Opera, but it was her electrifying Cleopatra in Handel's "Julius Caesar" in October 1966 that finally revealed the full extent of her talents.

Over the next decade, a series of highly acclaimed debuts both at home and abroad attested to the widespread recognition of her interpretive skills and innate musicianship. Her repertoire of more than 70 roles included such dramatic coloratura vehicles as Lucia and Norma, as well as such comic parts as Marie in "The Daughter of the Regiment" and Rosina in "The Barber of Seville." Her last new role was Menotti's "La Loca," which he wrote especially for her and which world-premiered at the San Diego Opera in 1979.

A frequent guest on television talk shows, she is seen regularly as hostess/interviewer on "Skyline with Beverly Sills" over the Public Broadcasting System, and has been hostess/narrator on CBS-TV for the Young People's Concerts of the New York Philharmonic for the

Student General Fee Advisory Committee members selected

By ANNA STECEWYCZ

The final three student members of the General Fee Advisory Committee were chosen yesterday by President Coffelt and announced by Student Council Chairperson Cathe Pavlov.

The three students-Pavlov herself; Sherry Bird, senior, education; and Dawud Abdulla, sophomore, FPA, will serve as the student representatives on this administrative committee, which has input in how the General Fee is allocated for campus services.

Coffelt chose the students from a list of six chosen and approved by Student Council. They will serve until the end of spring quarter, 1983, with two other students chosen earlier, Cindy Beckes, Student Government President and Kathy Motichko, junior, A & S, a student chosen at random.

Assistant Secretary of Internal Affairs, Anita Kay, announced that she has contacted Small World Day Care Center, which is willing to offer students day care service at $15 a week, instead of the regular $35 fee.

She said the director is asking if he can possibly have YSU students majoring in child care and elementary education volunteer to help cut down the cost for his staff.

Kay said she will report on further details later and Charles McBriarty, Dean of Student Services, will look into the proposal.

The chairman of the Special Projects Committee, Cathy Malley, reported it may look into the possibility of having a handicapped ramp built near the main stairway outside of Ward Beecher Hall across from Engineering Science. It is not necessary to build one, since state law only requires that one ramp be built per building, but the committee will see if another may be added when Ward Beecher is renovated in June of 1983.

Publicity committee chairman, Pat Sorenson, announced plans to increase publicity for Student Council by submitting Jambar ads and photographs, as well as display fliers, posters, and glass directories around campus. Council members were asked to fill out a survey stating what method they feel is the best way to improve relations between Student Council and the student body.

Homecoming produces lasting memories 'as time goes by'

By LESLIE MYERS

The 1982 Homecoming festivities came to an official close with the semi-formal dance held at the Brentford House, Saturday night, but many lasting memories of the events will remain.

For Renee Timko, senior, business and D. R. Trisket, junior, business, these memories will last a lifetime. Timko and Trisket were crowned as the 1982 Homecoming Queen and King for this year's celebration. Doing the honors of crowning were last year's Queen, Laura Morris, junior, CAST, and King, Paul Brubaker, junior, A&S.

The Homecoming King and Queen were chosen by the YSU students by popular vote during the previous week. The rest of the Homecoming Court was chosen by a panel of YSU faculty, staff and students, based on the students' participation on and off campus, their academics and a screened interview with the panel.

Also winning in the Homecoming festivities were Delta Zeta sorority and Phi Kappa Tau fraternity for their first place float in the parade. Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity captured second in the float competition and Phi Mu sorority and Theta Chi fraternity finished third.

The YSU Centurians won first place in the car competition for the parade, while the Youngstown English Society took second place.

The float and car competitions were judged by various faculty and staff members preceding the Homecoming parade. Also entered in the parade were area high school bands, cheerleaders and majorettes, local dance corps, the YSU band and majorettes and local dignitaries. The Grand Marshalls for the 75th anniversary Homecoming parade were Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Rosselli and Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Webster.

Preceding Saturday's parade was an informal dance on Friday night in the Chestnut Room, Kilcawley. During the dance, the finals of the beer chug were held, Tom Flaherty, freshman, A&S, outchugging John Ivan, sophomore, FPA, to take first place.

Other big winners in the week's festivities were Ken Gribbschaw, junior, A&S, Jeffrey Cipriano, freshman, A&S, and Jerry Seiple, graduate, who won first, second and third place respectively in the Budweiser Light Mini Marathon.

The race was a 2.23 mile run around the outside of the campus. Participation in the Mini Marathon was high, with 42 runners vying for the first place title. Gribbschaw, Cipriano, and Seiple all received trophies, which were given by Budweiser.

Secrist trial date set

By JIM DEVINE

The trial of Robert H. Secrist, English, charged with corrupting a minor, has been set for 9 a.m., Monday, Nov. 29.

Visiting Judge Clyde Osborne (retired) set the trial date late yesterday afternoon after ruling on two defense motions to suppress evidence gathered against Secrist by the Youngstown Police Department.

Osborne sustained a motion by defense attorney R. Scott Krichbaum to suppress a statement made by Secrist following his arrest on campus last Jan. 27. Osborne ruled that Secrist at the time of his arrest had indicated he wished an attorney and that no counsel was present for Secrist when he made that particular statement, in violation of the Miranda Rule, which guarantees counsel to the accused.

Osborne reserved ruling on a motion that would suppress evidence based on observations of police called to investigate a possible burglary in progress at Secrist's Madison Ave. home last Jan. 20. Osborne said he would not rule on the motion until "it becomes pertinent."

Osborne also sustained a defense motion to close the suppression hearing to the media. Krichbaum contended the items disclosed during the hearing "would make it impossible for a fair trial to be held in Mahoning County." Osborne then ordered the media to leave the courtroom.

He denied Attorney William H. Bodah's motion to allow the media to re-enter the courtroom, ruling that any coverage of a pre-trial suppression hearing might prejudice a jury if the evidence is presented later at trial. Bodah appeared for the Youngstown Vindicator and WFMJ-TV.

Osborne disclosed his rulings to the media at the conclusion of the suppression hearing late yesterday afternoon.

He was assigned to the case by the Ohio Supreme Court after Judge Charles Bannon withdrew. Bannon is teaching an Ohio Criminal Code Course at YSU this quarter.

Penguins on parade

The Jambar/John Celdonio, Dave Westover, Clem Marlon

Editorial: A surprise in every box

For a while there, it was embarrassing. Reports of product tampering were all over the newspapers: foul play from Colorado to Florida. Nationwide there was a pre-Halloween deluge of incidents, but nothing gruesome from Youngstown, Ohio.

Had our loonies lost that zest, zeal and love of life required to put a razor blade in an apple and give it to a youngster? Perhaps the economy was to blame. When things are this bad, who has time for fun?

By Saturday we were losing ground to every other crime center in the country. There was talk of panic. Little kids did not know what to do. There were no pins in their candy bars. Halloween would be ruined.

Then our beloved loonies pulled through.

There were a couple scattered incidents reported on Saturday, and by Monday morning, area lunatics had re-established themselves as a force to be reckoned with.

Staples, nails and pins popped up in area candy bars and popcorn balls.

So far, no one has been hurt. But that's okay.

The important thing is that the Youngstown chapter of the Moonstruck Meanies of America is alive and well. Now area fathers won't have to try to explain to their long-faced kids why children in Florida and Colorado got sharp and shiny toys in their candy and they didn't.

Good thing, too.

Actually, the last minute comeback was partially ruined by the rain and the warnings which kept many youngsters home Sunday evening.

So we may not make the front page of the New York Times for this one, but we can hold our heads high anyway. Ah, what the heck — our loons deserve a nice, big round of applause.

Clap clap clap clap . . .

One for each of you.

And hold the penicillin.

Commentary: Lone Star definitions

By JOHN CELIDONIO

Book banning seems to be the latest fad. We've had book banners in this area, out there in the Jackson-Milton School District, for a while now. But Ohio book banners are nothing compared to those in Texas.

Last year the good people of Texas took their war against smut right to the source. They removed the Webster's dictionary from the list of approved books for the classroom because, according to Texas Education Commissioner Raymon Bynum, it includes seven words judged unfit for broadcast in 1973 by the Supreme Court.

Bynum has now warned textbook publishers that they should delete all references to VD and sexually transmitted diseases from texts aimed at grades 4 through 8 because some local school districts may consider such subjects too much for tender minds.

With all the health authorities warning that VD and herpes are reaching epidemic proportions, I fail to see the logic of mentioning these diseases in textbooks. Ignorance is certainly no vaccine.

I've always had trouble following this type of reasoning, since it certainly doesn't match my experience with kids today. What are you supposed to tell kids about sex, then? That humans reproduce by budding like the amoeba?

I especially hadn't realized that Webster's dictionary was obscene. I usually judge a dictionary by the number of four letter words and other so called obscenities it defines. I figure that if a dictionary doesn't include the words commonly used by a large part of the populace, it can't be worth buying.

Since kids have to know a word to look it up anyway, what does banning a dictionary that lists the word accomplish?

For that matter, don't parents want their kids to know how to swear in alphabetical order?

Those parents in Texas are probably just too ashamed to admit that they don't know what the kids are talking about. I have a solution for that.

I have begun work on the complete, unabridged dictionary of modern obscenity. I welcome all contributions, but I'm afraid I'll have to restrict sales with the following condition: No book will be sold without a signed note from a child.

OK, LISTEN UP... FIRST THE UNION STEWARD HANDS OFF TO THE PLAYERS REP... THUS ALLOWING THE GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE TO KNOCK OUT A MANAGEMENT NEGOTIATOR WHILE THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL GOES FOR THE EXTRA POINT...

Claims union wins economic gains

To the Editor of The Jambar:
I wish to respond to three of Professor Waldron's claims in his attack upon the faculty union (Jambar, Oct. 22).

First, Dr. Waldron expressed doubt that the faculty union had won any tangible economic gains for the faculty. Here are some facts which he overlooked:

1. In 1973, over and above the negotiated salary increase, the Agreement provided that $175,000 be set aside for redressing "inter-university" and "intra-university" salary inequities. This fund was distributed to the faculty as part of their permanent nine month salaries. Women as a group received a higher percentage increase than men as a group in this adjustment due to the fact that the data showed that women had suffered salary discrimination.

2. In three out of the last 10 years, the average salary increases negotiated by the faculty union at YSU have been the largest increases among Ohio's 12 state universities. The years and the average nine month salary increases (approximate) were 1975-76: 14%, 1976-77: 13%; and 1981-82: 11%.

3. In pre-union days, there was no provision for "overload pay," as exists now. In 1981-82, for example, YSU faculty received in excess of $80,000 in overload pay.

4. The faculty union has successfully resisted administrative efforts to reduce the summer pay formula to bring it in line with less generous ones which are typical in the state. This pay standard is 1/40 of the prior academic year's salary for each credit hour taught. This is important in that a very high percentage of YSU faculty — 2/3 to 3/4 in a given year — teach in the summer.

5. In pre-union days, the average faculty salary at YSU fluctuated between last and next to last in Ohio. Since 1975, beginning with the 2nd Agreement between YSU and YSU-OEA, the YSU average salary has been in the upper half in the state. We have risen as high as second in average salary. Two of our ranks, Assistant Professor and Associate Professor, place near the top in the state year after year.

Next, Dr. Waldron complained that the Agreement, as applied, penalizes productive faculty in favor of the aged and infirmed.

To test this I did a spot check of promotions in rank for two years. If Dr. Waldron's claim is accurate, there would be no promotions granted on an "outstanding" basis to faculty members; instead, only those qualifying for "satisfactory" service would receive promotion. In 1981, however, more than half the promotions granted were granted to those deemed "outstanding," that is, those who had spent relatively little time in rank. In 1982, 20% of the promotions granted went to those deemed by their colleagues and the administration to be "outstanding."

Finally, Dr. Waldron, in several places in his article, charged that those faculty who are not members of the YSU-OEA are denied "the usual academic benefits" bestowed upon YSU-OEA members. Here are the facts:

1. Since the very first YSU-OEA Agreement in 1973, non-members have received the same salary increases and fringe improvements as members.

2. Non-members have served on the same department, college, and university committees as members. For instance, in 1981, four of the 32 members of school/college promotion committees were non-members. In 1982, five out of 32 were non-members. In both these years, the percentage of non-members on the school/college promotion committees, exceeded the percentage of non-members in the faculty as a whole.

3. Non-members have received at least 17 Faculty Improvement Leaves since the YSU-OEA first negotiated them in 1977. Ninety-six have been given. Thus, non-members have received 17.7% of all those given. Here, too, the percentage of non-members who have received FIL's exceeds the percentage of non-members in the faculty as a whole.

4. Non-members have received 33 of 237 promotions, or 13.92%, over the last 7 years. Once again, the percentage of non-members who have received promotion exceeds the percentage of non-members in the faculty as a whole.

Tony Leonardi, Director

WITH SPECIAL GUEST ALUMNI

YSU's Jazz Ensemble I will present its first concert of the 1982-83 season with special guest alumni at 8 p.m., Monday, Nov. 8, in the Chestnut Room, Kilcawley Center.

Presented in celebration of YSU's 75th Anniversary, the concert will feature seven alumni who have gone on to excel in the world of professional jazz. Tony Leonardi, assistant professor in the Dana School of Music of YSU's College of Fine and Performing Arts, is director of the Jazz Ensemble.

The alumni include Harold Danko, piano, who has toured internationally, Ralph Lalama, tenor sax, who is currently playing with the Mel Lewis Jazz Orchestra; Jimmy Masters, trombone, who is playing with the Widespread Jazz Band; James Weidman, piano, who is playing with Abbey Lincoln; Glenn Wilson, baritone sax, who is touring Europe and Japan with Lionel Hampton; Dave D'Angelo, alto sax, who recently performed in the road show of Annie when it appeared at Powers Auditorium; and Rob Bulkley, drums, who is a free lance musician in New York City. (The Ford Auditorium in YSU's Bliss Hall is named after Bulkley's grandfather.)

A new album produced by Bulkley, and featuring Danko, Lalama, Masters and Leonardi, will be sold at the concert with proceeds going to the YSU Jazz Ensemble. The album can also be obtained by phoning Leonardi at (216) 742-3639.

The Nov. 8 concert will be recorded and made available as an album to the general public.

Tickets for the concert are $3 in advance, $4 at the door and may be purchased from Jazz Ensemble members or by phoning the Dana School of Music at (216) 742-3636 or 742-3639.

Artist's forum scheduled

Ohio Artists' Network will meet Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Butler Institute of American Art to provide a forum for individual visual artists to discuss interests and concerns, and to disseminate important information about the arts community.

Included in the morning session are presentations of programs and opportunities for visual artists by the Ohio Arts Council's Individual Artists Program staff as well as by Louis Zona, director, Butler Institute; Barbara Davis-Probert, director, Youngstown Area Arts Council; Susan DePasquale, Director, Trumbull Art Guild; and Carolyn Ask, director, Fine Arts Council of Trumbull County.

Guest artists James Pemetto and Russ Maddick of Youngstown, John Winslow from Washington, D.C., and Cynthia MacAdams of New York City, will participate in a panel discussion of artists' career planning and lifestyles, moderated by artists' career consultant Jean Appleby from the University of Akron.

The afternoon session of the Network meeting will present approaches to marketing art. Panelists include gallery owners John Davis, John Davis Gallery, Akron; Edward Leffingwell, Insignia Gallery; Eleanor Bonnie, director, Novart (a corporate art consulting service in Cleveland); and H. Daniel Butts III, director of the Mansfield Art Center and juror for the "44th Annual Area Arts Exhibition" which opens at 5 p.m. Saturday at the Butler Institute. The Network meeting will conclude with a tour of four downtown artists' studio/lofts followed by opening receptions at the Butler Institute and Insignia Gallery.

In conjunction with the Ohio Artists' Network Meeting, a reception, poetry reading and exhibition will be held at the Trumbull Art Guild, 720 Mahoning Avenue, N.W., in Warren. Area poets Mary Brizzi, Terry Murko, and Jim Villani will give readings of their work with Gail Gordon-Trunick exhibiting sculpture and assemblages.

The Ohio Artists' Network Meeting and the events surrounding it are free of charge. For additional information, contact Lance Kinz, coordinator for the Network, at the Ohio Arts Council, (614) 466-2613. The Network meeting is cosponsored by the Ohio Arts Council, Butler Institute of American Art, Fine Arts Council of Trumbull County, Trumbull Art Guild and Youngstown Area Arts Council.

The Ohio Arts Council was established by the Ohio General Assembly in 1965 to foster and encourage the development of the arts and to preserve Ohio's cultural heritage. Offering a wide variety of programs and services for the design, performing, literary and visual arts, the Ohio Arts Council assists individual artists, community groups and organizations throughout the state.

Broke But Bright? Earn over $1000 a month!

How many corporations would be willing to pay you over $1,000 a month during your junior and senior years just so you'd join the company after graduation? Under a special Navy program we're doing just that. It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate-College Program. And under it, you'll not only get great pay during your junior and senior years, but after graduation you'll receive a year of valuable graduate-level training that is not available from any other employer.

If you are a junior or senior majoring in math, engineering or physical sciences, find out more today. And let your career pay off while still in college. Minimum requirement: 3.0 GPA. Sign up for an interview in the placement office 9 & 10 November 1982. Bring your transcripts or call Randy Record at 216-545-4797.

Professor Harris sits on her own geological discovery

By MARY ANN DeCHELLIS

If Ann Harris, geology, can't find her back yard some morning, it will be no one's fault but her own.

Several months ago Harris was researching a newly discovered mine located on E. Judson Avenue. It just so happened that the house next door was for sale. So she bought it, after looking it over. "If this mine should happen to cave in, it will take part of my back yard and also my neighbor's garage," Harris says.

The mine, estimated by Harris to be 260 feet deep, is one of five in Youngstown that will be filled this year. The others are located on Shelby Road, Lucius Avenue, Hine Street and Lansdowne Boulevard.

When she's not teaching at the University, Harris spends most of her time searching for and filling in abandoned coal mines in the Mahoning and Shenango Valley area.

Harris recently gave a lecture on "Abandoned Coal Mines in the Mahoning Valley" at Wayne State University in Detroit.

Her talk was based mainly on her work in the Mineral Ridge area between Youngstown and Niles, where she had assisted the U.S. Office of Surface Mining (OSM) in locating and filling mine shafts.

The OSM used a special television camera that was lowered into the holes to examine old shafts and empty spaces found under the surface. A video-tape of the incident is now at the YSU media center and will soon be available for engineering-geology classes.

"My main concern is that Ohio is one of the few states without mine subsidence insurance," Harris says. Such insurance would cover property damages due to earth movement.

Harris adds that 36 of Ohio's 88 counties have this same problem.

Mines were discovered beneath the home of the McBrides, a Mineral Ridge family, on July 4, 1982. The McBrides had taken out a $20,000 loan before the discovery, but once the mines were discovered, the loan was rejected by the bank. The gas company disconnected their gas because of the hazard to the gas lines.

The McBrides are now living in a trailer.

They're still making house payments on a home they can no longer live in.

According to Harris, Congressman Lyle Williams and Senators Harry Meshel and John Glenn are trying to get low cost loans for the McBrides.

A major engineering job is required to stabilize these mines and it costs an average of $50,000 to fill in one mine.

To fill in the mines under the Himrod bridge, for example, costed $125,000 for a two-block area. A quarter of a million dollars was allocated to the state of Ohio from federal money to help fill these mines.

Harris first became involved in mine shafts in 1977 when a double car garage of a Hilda Avenue residence caved in. A year later there was another cave-in on Normandy Drive in Youngstown.

"Since 1977, there have been more than 30 cave-ins in the Mahoning County," Harris says.

"People aren't aware of it and we need public support," she adds noting that anyone interested in helping out in field work or office work should contact her at 742-3612.

government brochure stating the purpose and goals will also be presented at the next council meeting after it is revised by Student Government President Cindy Beckes.

The Department of Major Events' proposal to the administration concerning stadium concerts is in the final stage and a report will be made soon. Contracts for simulcasts of nationwide concerts are being reviewed by Phil Hirsch and K.J. Saturn. Also, final negotiations with promoters in Cleveland and Pittsburgh are being carried out in regards to block seating for YSU students ordered in conjunction with bus fare to the city. A proposal is also being submitted for "small hall" concerts on campus.

In other business:

- Internal Affairs is meeting with the Department of Urban Studies to finalize the questions which will be appearing on the student Council ballot in the form of a referendum vote.

- A report on the Campus Escort service is being submitted to the Budget Committee reflecting the numbers of escorts run in the past and the areas escorts are called upon to cover. The committee was asking specific questions regarding liability, budget and protection for the escort service.

- Cindy Beckes asked in her report that all YSU students get out and vote in the elections tomorrow so they can make their voices known to the legislators.

Penguins deny stats in Homecoming victory

The Jambar/Clem Marion

Paris Wicks ran wild against the Blue Raider defense, picking up 168 yards in 33 carries. Wicks' rushing output more than doubled what the Middle Tennessee defense had been allowing per game.

By DAN PECCHIA

Statistics lie. If they didn't, Middle Tennessee State's defense wouldn't have been as vulnerable against the run as it was losing 11-10 to YSU Saturday.

The Penguin offensive line continually bored holes in the much-feared Blue Raider defense as YSU tailback Paris Wicks slithered for 168 yards. MTSU, which entered the game as the sixth-best defense against the run among the nation's Division I-AA schools, didn't live up to its billing.

Blue Raider defenders were constantly left empty-handed during Wicks' field day. YSU's rushing total of 172 yards more than doubled what MTSU allows on the average: a mere 80 yards.

"We knew what we were up against," said Penguin offensive guard Bob Bogner, "but we also knew our offensive attack was strong."

The performance pushed Wicks' total to 1,014 yards on the season. It also marked the second time in as many games that the All-America tailback went over the 150-yard mark. He had 214 against Austin Peay in YSU's last outing.

"It's just a matter of getting up to the line," Wicks said after the Penguins raised their overall record to 3-5. "They (offensive linemen) make it easy."

The Penguins and the Blue Raiders both are now 3-3 in the Ohio Valley Conference, deadlocking the two squads in third place. MTSU is now 6-3 overall.

"We're finally playing the football we're capable of playing," Bogner declared. "We limited our mistakes and when the time was right, we scored."

The Penguins' scores came on a safety, a 49-yard Paul McFadden field goal and a 18-yard touchdown run by Mike Sloe. MTSU lit the scoreboard on a 36-yard Kelly Potter field goal before scoring on Kevin Baker's 43-yard touchdown jaunt and Potter's conversion kick.

See Football, page 12

The Jambar/Clem Marion

Mel Romine (79) buried MTSU quarterback Butch Hamby for a loss on this play. Romine anchored a defense that nailed Blue Raider ball carrier behind the line of scrimmage for 62 yards in losses.

Freshman Rick Boysen carves niche in record books in leading Penguin soccer team to best season ever

By ROGER BANYOTS

How do you spell soccer? YSU spells it R-I-C-K B-O-Y-S-E-N!

Rick Boysen, a freshman, is to YSU soccer this year what water is to fish. In the words of a teammate, "he's fantastic."

Rick rewrote the Penguins' record books and is on the verge of putting out his own edition.

In 11 games, Boysen has scored 10 goals and three assists. The record for goals in a season was six, set by Paul Fuhr in 1980 and by Bill Oakley the following year. Boysen still has two games to go.

Boysen also has tied the record for most goals in a game (3), which is shared by Oakley and Fuhr. He also owns a share of the record for most points in a game (7) with Oakley and is in the process of setting the record for points in a season, which was 19, B.B. (before Boysen). The freshman superstar is at 23 and counting.

The record for shots in a season is 51 (Oakley 1981). Boysen is just four shy. He already owns the record for shots in a game with 14.

"A lot of shots on this team means Rick's hungry for the ball, wants to score and knows where the goal is," Coach George Hunter said.

Yet, Boysen's most impressive record is the one he'll notch with goals in a career. The present mark of 11 is held by Oakley, but Boysen is just a goal away from tying it.

"In the future, with his experience and his teammates' experience, there's just no telling what he could do," Hunter said.

Sure, the YSU soccer program isn't the most prestigious: it's not comparable to the New York Yankee franchise. In eight years of soccer, the Penguins have yet to register a winning season.

However, Hunter's fifth team needs only one win out of its next two games to become the first squad to record a winning campaign. It's players like Boysen that can turn a program around, as the ledger shows.

Still, Hunter doesn't single Boysen out as the unit's sole hero.

"We're not a one-man team because anyone can be marked out of the game," Hunter said. "Ten players have scored for us, but Rick - he's hungry. He's hungry and talented to get the job done, and the players know it."

His aggressiveness can be seen in the number of fouls he's committed. Officials have nailed Boysen 18 times this season, ranking him second on the team behind Roger Groff, who has 26.

How did Boysen get into this game? He said that it all started in fourth grade, but it wasn't until the ninth grade that soccer really turned him on.

He attended Ringgold High School in Pittsburgh, Pa. where he

See Boysen, page 12

The Jambar/John Saraya

Thanks to freshman Rick Boysen, YSU soccer is looking up.

Soccer team still seeking seventh win

The quest has been delayed again.

YSU's soccer team bowed 6-2 to Gannon (Pa.) College last Saturday, in an attempt to register its seventh win of the season. Instead, the Penguins fell to 6-5 on the campaign.

YSU will try for its seventh win Wednesday in a 2:30 p.m. game at Hiram College.

Should the Penguins defeat the Terriers, they would secure the first winning season in YSU soccer history. After Hiram, only one game remains on the season.

YSU was outshot 31-6 in falling to the Knights. According to YSU coach George Hunter, the Gannon players weren't the only barriers to the Penguin offense.

"Every time we crossed midfield, we were stopped by the referees' whistles," said Hunter, after his club was called for fouls 32 times. "It was pathetic. We don't foul that much."

Sophomore Mark Janison and freshman Paul Whitney scored one goal apiece to lead YSU. Freshman Rick Boysen recorded his twenty-third point of the season when he assisted Whitney's goal (In statistical scoring, goals count as two points, assists as one.)

Pete's Beat

I am the YSU Homecoming King! What's this about voting for somebody else? Didn't you see the crown I had on for Saturday's game? Well, unless you were one of the 7,014 fans at the game, you didn't see that I was dressed as the king—a position rightfully mine. The fact that I wasn't named king didn't bother me because I know in my own mind that I am the king.

VOLLEYBALL: Penguins win tourney

The YSU volleyball team won its first invitational tournament of the year with a first-place finish at Saturday's Allegheny Invitational. Led by Meg Diebel and Sandy Treece, the Penguins made quick use of their five opponents. Penn State-Behrend, Chatham, Jamestown Community, Villa Marie and Indiana — all Pennsylvania schools — fell in straight games to the YSU squad. Coach John Tokash will take his Penguins on the road again (there's been just one home game) against Grove City (Pa.) College next Saturday.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK: Paris Wicks

Paris Wicks went over the 1,000-yard mark for 1982 with a total of 168 rushing yards against Middle Tennessee State Saturday. Wicks' Jambor Athlete of the Week Award is his second of the fall quarter.

CROSS COUNTRY: OVC schools bury YSU

Last Saturday's Ohio Valley Conference Invitational proved too much for the Penguin cross country team. The seven-school meet ended with YSU in last place with a 179 total. Penguin arch-rival Akron won the tourney with 29, followed by Murray State with 49 and Middle Tennessee State with 79. YSU was led by Rich Brauer's 24th-place finish, while Ed McQuillan came in 34th.

FOOTBALL: Western Illinois boss quits

Western Illinois football coach Pete Rodriguez has had enough. Rodriguez, in his fourth year with the Leathernecks, has announced his resignation, effective Dec. 31. Western Illinois, which faces YSU Saturday at Macomb, Ill., went 3-8, 4-6, and 5-6 over Rodriguez's first three years as coach.

Before this season started, the coach said, "This is the group of young men we have been waiting for." Now, after eight games with his "senior class" Rodriguez's club is 1-7 with just two games left.

Upon resigning, Rodriguez said, "... I had hoped to bring Western football back to a winning tradition. Since this is now an impossible task, I believe it is appropriate to announce my resignation."

BASKETBALL: Women have early workouts

Under new coach Jeff Cohen, the YSU women's basketball team has been rising early.

Cohen is holding practices at 5:30 a.m. to prepare the Penguins for their opener, which is less than a month away. Instead of beginning practice Oct. 15, as usual, the YSU cagers had to wait until they had a coach. Consequently, practice didn't begin until late last week, although conditioning had been going on since mid-October.

The Penguins open their 1982-83 campaign Nov. 26 at the two-day Kent State University Invitational. After a Dec. 1 meeting at West Virginia University, the team opens at home against Ohio Univ-

Middle Tennessee quarterback Butch Hamby (10) is dragged to the turf by Penguin defensive end Tom Cullen. The sack resulted in a 15-yard loss and a safety. In all, the Penguin defense registered four sacks on the afternoon.

The Jambor/John Cellidonio

At least two YSU "fans" enjoyed Saturday's Homecoming game.

Billy Sanford and Robert Johnson — two of Mike Rice's prospective basketball recruits — expressed appreciation after viewing the game from the press box.

More importantly, the two towering giants expressed an eagerness to play basketball at YSU. "Definitely," they said in chorus.

Nothing is official yet, however. Rice said earlier that he wished to sign two recruits within the next few months. If signed, they would not become eligible until next year.

Both Sanford and Johnson stand about 6-8 and both are still seniors in high school. Sanford is presently attending Chris County High in Cordeal, Georgia while Johnson is enrolled at Western High in Detroit, Michigan.

A third prospect — whom Rice identified as being from New Jersey — did not attend the game with Johnson and Sanford.

 played baseball, football, ice hockey, and, of course, soccer. He has a talent with his feet that most people don't have — a talent that caught Hunter's eye. "We wanted him before we saw him," Hunter explained. "Then after we did, we wanted him even more."
 Boysen's high school milestones include the record for goals in a season — a whopping 40. At the moment, Boysen is undetermined with his college major. What about soccer as a profession?

"It may be a dream-come-true — the ultimate. Realistically, though, I don't think so," he said.
 A favorite pastime of Boysen's is skiing, both on water and on snow. He said those activities also help his conditioning. Boysen plans to work out with weights to strengthen his legs and body during the offseason (He must be looking to knock the ball through the net).
 "I need a stronger shot," he said. Boysen is definitely a team player. "No question about it — he gives up as many (shots) as he takes," Hunter said. Boysen looks out for the team, too. "Not everybody receives the credit they deserve," he said. "I especially feel sorry for the defense, because they never get any credit."

 The players have respectful opinions of Boysen, also. Midfielder Joe Cerminara, lone senior on the team, described him as "a very down-to-earth guy."

"Success hasn't gone to his head," he added. "He's a team player. He's always in the right place at the right time and that's a sign of a good forward."
 His roommate, freshman midfielder Paul Whitney, agrees. "He's an excellent player," Whitney said. "He's a true student athlete — very unselfish." There seems to be no doubt that freshman sensation Rick Boysen is kicking more than just black and white soccer balls.

Football

 The biggest defensive play of the contest occurred with 11:02 left in the first half, when defensive end Tom Cullen raced through the MTSU line to drag Hamby down in the end zone. The 15-yard loss awarded the Penguins a safety — their first points. McFadden's field goal — his 10th of the season — came with 10:13 left in the game and cut the MTSU lead to 10-5.
