COLLEGE PLACES TWENTY-TWO STUDENTS IN "WHO'S WHO"

Outstanding Men and Women in American Colleges, Universities Included in List

Twenty-two Youngstown College students qualified for Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges this year. Students are selected on the basis of scholastic activities and grade averages.

Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges is an institution designed to aid future employers and future college graduates. It includes a placement service for those students who have been included in one or more of their annual publications.

Each year a book is published which lists the outstanding students in every college and university in America. Essential information about each student listed is also kept on file for reference when these students apply for jobs.

The 22 selected from Youngstown College are listed as follows:

Vincent A. Altier, Bertha Arnold, Ward H. Baker, Stephen T. Bencetic, Lawrence Blazina, Albert E. Brennan, Jack C. Cramer, Harry J. Deskin, Mary Wilma Donnelly, Isabelle Durso, David J. Keaggy, John E. Lenhardt, John A. Loney, Patricia Lynch, Robert MacDonald, Pauline M. Meinen, Clarence J. Partridge, Frank L. Schermer, William P. Slifka, Mary Vesey, Florence E. Wells, Robert E. Weyer.

Only juniors and seniors in any institution may qualify.

Newman Breakfast On Sunday, Dec. 7

Newman Club will hold a Communion Breakfast in St. Columba Cathedral at 9:00 mass Sunday, Dec. 7. The Rev. William J. O'Neil will be the guest speaker.

Chairman John Melnick has put tickets on sale for all active and prospective Newmanites. After the breakfast the regular meeting will be held.

R. I. L. to Hold Candlelight Service

Among the many programs sponsored by the Religion in Life Club each year, none excel the Candlelight Service in solemn beauty and song. This service, annual highlight of Religion in Life activities, will be observed at 8:00 p. m. on Thursday, Dec. 18, in the Chapel of the Friendly Bells, Trinity Church, located on the corner of Front and Phelps Sts.

Students participating in this program will be Woody Van Court, Clara Yoho, Edwina Buchanan, Barbara Taylor, Mary Jane Zimmerman, J. Appleton, Patricia Pennock, Eleanor Lehn, Mary Ellen Von Boxel, Mary Louise Farrell, Lon Schabile, and Donna Lewis.

Music will be furnished by music students of Dr. Henry V. Stearns, who is advisor for the Religion in Life Club.

Invitations to the Candlelight Service are extended to all students of Youngstown College.

Neon Subscription Drive Starts Today

Subscription sales for the 1947-'48 Neon start today. Any member of the yearbook staff, special salesman, or a representative from each social organization will have subscriptions to sell.

This year a special inducement has been offered to encourage students to buy their subscriptions early. The yearbook will be sold for $2 until Jan. 15. After that date they will cost the regular price, $2.50.

Seniors are reminded that it will not be necessary for them to subscribe for a yearbook since the cost of their annual is included in the class dues.

Frank Schermer is circulation manager for the Neon this year.

SECOND SEMESTER REGISTRATION GETS UNDER WAY AT COLLEGE

New Routine to Be Followed in Enrolling Classes, Will Avoid Waiting in Line

To avoid waiting in line, a feature of recent registration procedure, the office of the registrar has announced a new routine to be followed in enrolling for second semester classes. Students now in school should secure from the information desk in the main office a copy of the directions for registration and an advisory form. The student should then take the advisory form to his adviser who will assist in the selection of courses of study to be followed next semester. The adviser will see that the form is completed, signed, approved by the appropriate dean for overloads, and returned to the information desk via the student. At this point the student will then be given a definite appointment for completing his registration, filling out his cards, etc. This latter step will be completed at the appropriate time in the east room, second floor, annex I.

Seniors need to see their advisors before Dec. 6, juniors to see their advisors before Dec. 15, sophomores and freshmen their advisors before Jan. 15. Priority will be allowed classes in this order in scheduling for specific class sections.

Maintain Priority

Another feature of registration to be controlled by the department heads involved is that of maintaining priority in second semester sections for those students now enrolled in the first semester of English, accounting, languages, mathematics, social science, history, and other similar courses. Therefore, no freshman or sophomore need fear that he will have a more undesirable schedule during the second semester than he now has. Every effort is being made to make certain that scheduling is being conducted with the utmost fairness, speed, and convenience to the registrant.

Tests for the new students who will be with us next semester will be conducted on or before Jan. 17, and schedules completed during the week of Jan. 26 to 31, 1948. Since examinations will be completed (Continued on Page 7)

Members of YWCA Attend Meeting in Cleveland Nov. 22

Members of the Youngstown College YWCA attended a meeting at Flora Stone Mather College in Cleveland Nov. 22. The conference was sponsored by the student YWCA groups from the colleges of northeastern Ohio; representatives were present from Mather, Heidelberg, Wooster, Hiram, Lake Erie, Bowling Green, and Youngstown.

The program for the day began with breakfast at Haydn Hall where Miss Barbara Stevens, president of Mather College YWCA, welcomed the girls and Miss Jane Cariton of Bowling Green, general chairman for the conference, explained the tour to introduce the group to Austria. Following the breakfast, the girls went to Clark Hall where they viewed exhibits from the Cleveland Museum of Art. They saw the movie, "A Day in Vienna," at Harkness Chapel, went from there to St. Peter's Church where the customs and rites of the church were explained to them.

Noted Speakers

Speakers for the luncheon were Miss Eleanor F. Dolan, dean of Mather College; Mr. Stephen Knorly, who worked with the American Intelligence in Austria; and Miss Frances H. Mains, chairman of the Geneva Region of student YWCAs.

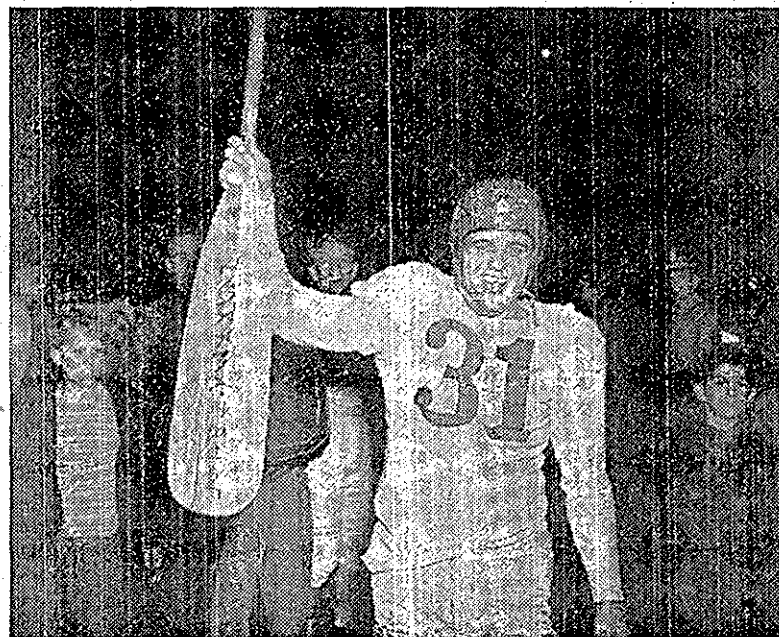

In the afternoon, Hiram College presented a drama built around an Austrian legend of the Blue Danube, and Mr. Frank Street directed The Shuplaters, a group of Austrian singers and dancers, in the traditional songs and dances of the country. Bowling Green College (Continued on Page 8)

Results of W. S. S. F. Drive . . .

Over $200 was collected during the Youngstown College drive for the World Student Service Fund Nov. 3 to 14. A total of $215.20 has been raised during this year's drive. This is the first year for Youngstown College to participate in the world-wide campaign among colleges and universities for the relief of needy students in the war-ravaged areas of Europe and China.

After expenses for the drive are deducted, these funds will be sent to the WSSF headquarters in Chicago from which they will go to

Faculty Will Hold Christmas Party

The Youngstown College faculty will hold its annual Christmas celebration in the school auditorium Dec. 17. Social chairman Mrs. Joseph Smith has announced that the party is for all faculty members, their husbands or wives.

Mrs. Raymond L. Falls, program chairman, will arrange the entertainment for the occasion. Miss Evans' art students will design the favors and decorations. The office staff is in charge of refreshments.

Mimes Will Present Play in February

Mr. Don Elser, advisor for the Mimes Dramatic Fraternity, has formulated plans for the production, "Antigone," to be given in late February at the Youngstown Playhouse. The play, a modern adaptation of a Greek tragedy, was written by Jean Anouich and first introduced to Parisians during the German occupation. Ironically enough, the plot centers around the subject of dictatorship but it so confused the rigid Nazi censors that it was allowed to be performed unmolested.

Antigone is a recent smash success on Broadway which starred Katherine Cornell and Cedric Hardwicke. Readings are currently being held every Thursday at 12:00 in room 212. Anyone interested may take part. The production "Antigone" will be directed by Mr. Don Elser of the English department and produced by the Mimes Dramatic Fraternity.

A practical philosophy is like a scout-knife, which also has a file, corkscrew, can-opener and screw-driver. It enables its possessor to adjust himself easily to almost any situation.

Randy Brooks Booked for Snow Flake Frolic

Randy Brooks and his orchestra has been booked to play for the Snow Flake Frolic at the Elms Ballroom Dec. 22. Pat Ford, chairman of the dance, has announced. This dance, sponsored by Student Council, is an annual affair at Youngstown College and is one of the outstanding dances of the year. The policy of not having a Snow Flake Queen, started last year, will again be observed. Instead, a representative from each sorority, the Indepenguins, and the freshman class has been chosen. Alice Woodside, Alpha Theta Delta Sorority; Marge Uray, Gamma Sigma; Joanne McCarthy, Phi Lambda Delta; Gerry DiCiocco, Indepenguins; and Betty Biel, representing the freshman class, will serve as hostesses.

Dancing will be from 9 till 1.

OUR "UNSEEN AUDIENCE"

How often have you been a member of the "unseen audience" of a Big Nine football broadcast? It's thrilling to hear the students of a large university back their team with smart new cheers and collegiate songs — truly one of the high spots of a network sports broadcast.

Youngstown College has an unseen audience. Don Gardner, WKBN sports announcer, estimates that there are at least twice as many people in our radio audiences as there are at the stadium watching the games. He receives mail from listeners in Detroit, Erie, Meadville, Columbus and many other outlying cities. What sort of an impression are these fans getting of Youngstown College?

"Background noise" is revealing. It creates the listeners' setting for a broadcast game. With just a little effort, we can present the atmosphere of a big university, rather than an apathetic group of dazed onlookers.

The Jambar recognizes that the band is doing an excellent job. However, we need more than a band. We need a vocal group to sing our alma mater and other fighting songs. We need some new cheers — cheers that sound collegiate, not juvenile. And we need more students who will yell them.

A YoCo glee club would not be a stupendous undertaking. It would require volume, and would be a good project for a large organization such as the Independents. Such an undertaking would give a new organization much needed publicity.

Several issues ago The Jambar announced a contest for new cheers. We put a $5 bill on the line to show that we meant business. If someone had submitted the words "Rah, rah!" to us, he would have been the owner of that five spot, for we didn't have a single entry.

What can be done about it? YoCo is our alma mater. It can only be as good as we make it. If we want to graduate from a college that others have "heard of" it is up to us to do something about it and help put our college on the map.

Basketball broadcasts begin Monday, December 15. Let's all go on the air.

HEALTHY DEVELOPMENT

Football season has come to a close, and everyone's attention is being centered on other sports, but before we become too involved in basketball, let's stop and consider one of the best football seasons in Youngstown College history.

A great deal of commendation has been handed out to both the team and the coaching staff by the various sports authorities in the city of Youngstown. We feel that this has not been out of place, for the record established by our boys this year has been excellent.

We have no criticisms to offer, naturally, for we are not qualified to advise people who are specialists in their line of work. We do feel qualified, however, to express the pride felt by every Youngstown College student when our team is mentioned by outsiders.

We point with pride also to records established in previous years. The figures show a healthy development in football activity, caliber of opposition, and the quality of football played when Youngstown met tough opponents.

Our team this year exceeded the expectations of the school officials. A schedule was arranged for this year that was designed to bring into play teams who could conceivably beat us. Only two of them did. Out-weighted, and sometimes out-manuevered, the team was trained to take advantage of breaks, take advantage of the speed it possessed in the backfield, think fast and play hard. This training plus an exceptionally adroit line spelled defeat for some of the best "little football" teams in the country.

The United States National Student Association

by JOSEPH D. KITKO

Last Nov. 22 and 23, 63 delegates representing 22 colleges and universities in Ohio met on the Ohio State University campus to draft the constitution for the Ohio Region of the United States National Student Association. Youngstown College was represented by three delegates. After the usual debate and hair-splitting typical of constitutional conventions, a workable constitution was adopted.

To the students of the Youngstown campus, this foregoing paragraph probably means very little at the present time. Few on the campus are acquainted with the aims and purposes of the U. S. N. S. A. Some probably have never heard of it. Since the organization is important, and since Youngstown College should continue in its participation, it seems evident that some effort should be made to inform the students.

Simple but Interesting Story

The story behind the development of the U. S. N. S. A. is a relatively simple but interesting one. Twenty-five students representing the student bodies of 10 of our larger universities and 15 of our national student organizations such as the National Inter-collegiate Christian Council (YM-YWCA), the Newman Clubs, the United States Student Assembly, etc., sailed for Europe to take part in the World Student Congress at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in August, 1946. Previous to and during the sailing they held many discussions; from these they began to realize that there was no organization of students in the United States that could democratically represent all the students of American colleges and universities to the students of the world. And so the idea for the U. S. N. S. A. was born. This idea eventually led to the holding of the constitutional convention for the U. S. N. S. A. in early September of this year. Delegates from 356 leading colleges, representing 1,389,000 students (Youngstown College was represented by Mike Kirwan, Ray Martz and Oliver Davis) gathered on the campus of the University of Wisconsin and adopted a national constitution, elected national officers and members of the national executive committee.

Regions Organized

The next step was the organization of the regions. The national constitution provided for the establishment of 25 regional organizations; each region would have its own constitution subordinate to the national constitution and all member student bodies within its geographical limits would be members of their regional S. A. Youngstown College is in the Ohio Region. And, with the completion of the regional convention held in Columbus, the structure, as far as Youngstown College is concerned, is completed. All that remains is ratification of the constitution, and formal entry into the organization.

Aims and Purposes

The aims and purposes of the U. S. N. S. A. are contained in the preamble to its constitution, which follows:

"We, the students of the United States of America, desiring to maintain academic freedom and student rights, to stimulate and improve democratic student governments, to develop better educational standards, facilities, and teaching methods, to improve student cultural, social, and physical welfare, to promote international understanding and fellowship, to guarantee to all people, because of their inherent digni-

Looking Around ...

... with DONNELLY and DURSO

Now that Thanksgiving is over and we are all stuffed to the gills with turkey — comes time to think of other things, namely Christmas. When you think of Christmas you think of presents; when you think of presents, you think of Santa Claus; when you think of Santa Claus, you think of letters — at least that's how our minds run. Thus, without further ado, we present our annual letter to Santa Claus, and to show you that we don't always think of just ourselves we are mentioning all our leetle friends who have something that they especially want or something which we think they should have for their own good for Christmas — so ...

DERE SANDY CLAWS,

We wrote you a letter last year, but it must have got losted 'cause we kot what we didn't want — NOTHING. Still we are not discouraged — we know how busy you are and so we address you agin. This time the letter is going to be in The Jambar and since EVERYBODY reads The Jambar we know you'll get it.

First, our liddle gril friend, Celestine (STEFANIC, that is), wants Van Johnson for Christmas; but if you can't quite do it, she'll take anybody; while GEORGIE POWERS, backed by a certain resturant in Warren (Liddle Chicago) which misses there Friday afternoon patronage, wants a "heavenly body." (Sandy Claws, that is what's known as a five-cornered-triangle with the resturant getting the business.)

Along this same line, HARLAN URMSON, who isn't a good liddle boy, wants Betty Grable, but if he can't have her (Harry James might object) he wants a liddle gril doll what will follow him around all the time.

ART LENHART wants a liddle five-room house and everything (?) that goes wid it. IRENE CORRODA, who has been asked if she is DURSO's sister, wants a new face — but you can't fix that, can you Sandy Claws? To "Commando" BILL BLACK we want you should bring that liddle gril he's been chasing around after in organic lab. Please bring JOHNNY OPRITZA (the violin virtuoso) a special kind of ear plug, so he can here the fine notes of his violin without the sour notes; however, send the rest of us the ordinary kind of plug. To WAYNE BEBB you should bring some kind of fancy toothpicks to keep his eyes open, 'cause he must stay up every nite thinking of the complimentary (HAH!) remarks he puts on the papers he grades.

Brink ROY JONES a portable kitchen that he can carry around wid him — everytime you see him he's just going to or just coming from eating (munch, munch ...).

We all need some eye shields to protect our eyes from the sparklers on THE finger of THE hand of MARTY SCHAFFER, VIOLET TORNICH, and CONNIE TAYLOR. To EDDIE LUSCSZ (we hope), who is another bad liddle boy, bring a dozen white shirts — he wears one every day — and also send him a wash woman about five feet, one inch, since the one he's got is all worn out. To liddle freshman "TUCKER" MORAN you should give some advice which should tell him to keep his feet on the ground and not cause commotion in the halls. ROSEMARIE MALONE needs a book on "How to Tell Freshmen" from Donnelly and Durso, or vice versa, 'cause after all, Sandy Claws, we are JUNIORS. To JOHN CHANCE you should give a new "line" — talking about the weather is pretty old aproach. We also have some requests for our liddle college — to YoCo we want you should bring a real live Penguin becuz the Nu Sigma Rho boys can't come to school dressed like they do at the football games — wastebaskets in all the rooms, and pencil sharpeners, too. To DICK EISEMAN's friend, "Skinhead," we want you to bring a toupany and more to sternth and energy to IOLE DITOMMASSO who's going bowling every time you see her.

Our own requests are small and shouldn't cause too much trouble to bring — one spelling book, one car, two men, a new mouth for DONNELLY, since the one she's got is just about worn out from constant use, and paddles to go with DURSO's shoes.

That's all we want, Santy, so — thank you and Merry Christmas to you,

DONNELLY and DURSO.

Upper Division Courses Enlarged

According to the latest information to emanate from Dean Wilcox's office, upper division courses will be enriched and enlarged. Since the first influx of veterans, this increase has been anticipated. The changes that have been taking place are evident in view of the semester schedules.

Where formerly courses had been offered once a semester, and possibly once every two or three semesters, there are now two and three classes per semester. This enlargement of junior and senior courses is especially apparent in the English, sociology, and engineering departments. Rarely has more than one class of calculus been offered a semester, now there are five. This broadening and bettering will continue until peak enrollment falls off.

ty as individuals, equal rights and possibilities for primary, secondary, and higher education regardless of sex, race, religion, political belief or economic circumstance, to foster the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of students to the school, the community, humanity, and God, and to preserve the interests and integrity of the government and constitution of the United States, do hereby establish this constitution of the United States National Student Association."

Results Are Encouraging

While an organization as young as the U. S. N. S. A. can not be expected to have accomplished much in the way of concrete results, the U. S. N. S. A. has made more than just a modest beginning. Three panels, one on student government, one on educational opportunity, and one on international student activities, have been organized and are in full operation. Results so far have been most encouraging, and the outlook for the future is very promising.

Youngstown College students will be given every opportunity to become more familiar with the association. Plans are underway to formulate a program which will give every student a chance to participate in U. S. N. S. A. activities. For the U. S. N. S. A., like any other organization, cannot be successful without the support and participation of its primary member — the student.

Notes from Dana's . . .

by LEE EHRHART

The second student recital of the year was held in the college auditorium Monday, Nov. 24. The following students appeared on the program: Bill Foster, Robert Miller, Miriam Suosio, Mizell Ewing, Livio Bertolini, Rose Marie Ianazone, James Babbitt, Hugh Johnston, Arthur Horvath, Jean Miller, John Luoma, Mildred Vieweg, Marilyn Yost, Vernon Hamilton, Phyllis Galose, James Crossland, Robert Furney, George Kapsal, and Robert Paxton.

Doctor Stearns' mixed chorus has set aside its work on "The Seven Last Words" and "Ben Hur" to begin work on "Childe Jesus," a Christmas cantata to be sung for the faculty Christmas party Dec. 17. The students who will sing the solo parts in the cantata are as follows: Miriam Suosio, Phyllis Melinger, Maude Jeffers, Betty Di Menno, Mary Woodside, Ralph Meranto, Dan Santelli, Robert Pearson, Albert Carter, and Gene Crone. The cantata comprises many Christmas carols characteristic of the holiday season, plus the solos sung by those mentioned above.

Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota installed six girls as pledges at the pledge service held in the fraternity room Nov. 23. The new pledges are: June Adams, Ruth Henderson, Maude Jeffers, Gloria Martin, Rebecca Johnson, and Alice Woodside. After a period of study and examination the girls will appear for active initiation the latter part of January, when Mrs. Mildred Bergstrom, Eta Province president, will be making her annual visit with us.

You who have not already seen the "Penguin" flag presented to Youngstown College by the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, may see it now as it stands on the stage in the college auditorium.

CAMPUS COMMENTS . . .

by BUD SCHERMER

During the greater part of this semester, and especially during these past two weeks, I have heard many individuals complaining that the college curriculum does not offer a sufficient variety of subjects and classes. The largest single number of gripes has been about the lack of subjects in advanced work for the upperclassmen. The feeling seems to be that they do not offer enough courses listed above 300, in the catalogue, for the juniors and seniors to fill out their majors.

It was pointed out to me that if a student had entered YoCo in the fall of 1943 as a freshman, and had decided to take his major in sociology, that it would be virtually impossible for him to be graduating this coming June, after four years in college, because he would not have been able to take enough courses to earn 30 hours credit in sociology. The same situation exists to a greater or lesser degree in the fields of economics, psychology, philosophy, political science, and so on.

Known as "Junior College"

It was further pointed out that a large majority of the classes scheduled were for freshmen and sophomores, especially the former. This was said to be the reason that so many students enter as freshmen at YoCo with their minds already made up that they will only stay two years, and then transfer to some other school to complete their degree. Youngstown College is getting to be known as a junior college, one source informed me. It all seems so foolish, too, continued my informant, because the reputation of a school is the record of its graduates. A college is known by its alumnae — and you can't build up an outstanding body of alumnae, if a large majority of the entering students don't graduate. Another thing to be considered — even though it sounds very mercenary — colleges grow, physically, as their endowments increase; and endowments usually come from successful alumnae. It seems that in the past the college has been devoting its efforts to recruiting students, that is to build up the enrollment — well, it appears that there will be plenty of students for a long time to come. Now is the time to take care of the students that they already have.

Shortage of Subjects
These statements seemed to have a great deal of logic behind them — so I started to do some checking up. And I learned quite a few interesting things. First, I learned that the administration has been aware of the situation for some time. It first became apparent when the influx of veteran students began. During the war, the upper classmen enrollment shrank almost to a vanishing point, and the great majority of students were freshmen and sophomores. Since so many of the students interrupted their college training to go into service, the school curriculum was heavily weighted with underclassmen subjects. When these veterans began to return as juniors and seniors it was found that there was a shortage of subjects for them.

Secondly, I learned that the administration is doing everything possible to correct this situation. The great difficulty has been in obtaining the services of qualified instructors. It seems that the wartime shortages extended down even to college professors. And since similar circumstances exist at most other schools, this has made the shortage even more acute. And everyone must know that you just don't go out and hire a college professor as easily as you would a truck driver—even in normal times.

So if you have some difficulty along this line — just be a little patient. It will work itself out in a short time. And don't complain too loudly to the administration — they have already heard about the trouble.

Thanques for coming. See you all here same place, same space, same time, next time.

10 Girls Welcomed Into Alpha Iota

Alpha Iota welcomed 10 new members into the sorority at an impressive candlelight service held Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the home of Betty Baker. They are Jo Ann Bennet, Virginia Dusko, Donna Halden, Elfia Horden, Patricia Martin, Mary McNicholas, Jessie Mealy, Leona Mueller, Carol Reordan, and Joan Waldschmidt.

President Betty Baker presided over the services behind an altar lighted with blue and white tapers. Marshall Patty Millder conducted the initiates to the altar where they took their vows. The new members were presented with an American Beauty rose, the sorority flower, surrounded by baby white mums and a coat-of-arms pin signifying membership.

The lovely refreshment table was centered with a bowl of large yellow mums surrounded by baby pom-poms arranged in sectional mirrors. Yellow tapers in crystal candelabras were at each end of the table.

The next two social events will be a joint party with the Phi Sigs on Dec. 8 and a formal dinner dance at the Mahoning Country Club on Dec. 13.

"Where to Park" Is Big Problem of YoCo Drivers

As you know, it's pretty tough to find a place to park around Youngstown College. That's one reason why more and more students are going to classes by bus.

Today's best value is the transit fare. Buy a pass and ride all week for a dollar.

LETTERS to the EDITOR . . .

KENT EDITOR RILED
132 S. Lincoln Ave
Kent, Ohio
Nov. 28, 1947

Editor, The Jambar
Youngstown College
Youngstown, Ohio

Dear Sir:

As a student of Kent State University I wish to object to the libelous, misleading article, "K. S. U. Vandals Paint Campus," which appeared in the Nov. 21 Jambar.

It is libelous in that it stated "on a tip that vandalism of this type is a custom of Kent Staters." I am a Kent Stater, and vandalism is NOT one of my customs. Nor is it the custom of my fellow students.

It is misleading in that it charges outright that the painting was the work of Kent State University students. Even if it could be proven that the vandals who did the unfortunate destruction were students of Kent State University, the 5,500 students as a whole should not be misconstrued as approving the action. There are left-wing elements at almost any institution.

The vandals conceivably could have been Youngstown vandals who wished to "rile" the team, as Dean Wilcox pointed out. This would be to the advantage of those placing bets on Youngstown's eleven.

And for the public record, vandals visited the KSU campus TWICE the week before the game with Youngstown. On Tuesday night they did no damage and were ignored. On Thursday night, the same night your campus was visited, they painted YoCo on a girls' dorm and sidewalks before they were chased away by KSU's alert fraternity guards, posted for just such a visit. I do not know where these vandals came from, but I have an idea!

It is unfortunate that The Jambar, a dangerous weapon, should be in the hands of students ignorant of libelous material and devoid of fair play. A good newspaperman will "get it first, but FIRST, get it right."

On behalf of my fellow students of Kent State University I ask an editorial apology by The Jambar.

Yours,
Bob Casey

IN REPLY

LIBEL: A defamatory writing. Any book, pamphlet, writing or picture containing representations maliciously made or published, tending to bring a person into contempt, or expose him to public hatred and decision. The communication of such defamatory writing to a single person is considered in law a publication. It is immaterial, with respect to the essence of a libel whether the matter of it is true or false, since the provocation and not the falsity is the thing to be punished criminally. But in a civil action, a libel must appear to be false as well as scandalous.—Blackstone.

LIBELOUS: Defamatory; containing that which exposes a person to public hatred, contempt, and ridicule.—Webster.

An exchange of verbal blows usually accomplishes nothing. However, because one paragraph in the above letter singles out one person as being responsible for "libelous" statements, that person in all fairness to himself and his school should be allowed to answer the charges made by Mr. Casey.

First, the use of the word "libelous" is questionable. Blackstone and Webster are the two best authorities available to a mere college student, but the strongest inference in both definitions point to the fact that nothing really libelous was printed.

Second, there is a slight error in Mr. Casey's calculations. The group who visited Kent on Tuesday merely hung signs on trees and such—hence no damage. The vandals painted Youngstown College buildings, causing extensive damage on Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. "Left-wingers" from YoCo did not attempt to smear paint until they were aroused by the invasion of the Kent boosters.

Being a newspaper man, Casey will undoubtedly appreciate the fact that the story was first class news and too good to pass up. He has probably realized, too, that the entire make-up of the front page had to be changed in order to accommodate a story which contained extensive information. All these facts were gathered and included before the paper went to press Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. In the process one mistake was made for which an apology is due. The story should have read thus: "on a tip that vandalism of this type is attractive to SOME Kent Staters." For this error—5,490 apologies.

The personal charges may be covered easily. One would rather be judged by people who know him.

Before this fued comes to a close officially, however, there is one more observation that should be made. Never before has our school been painted.

Phi Epsilon Frat Installation Held

Phi Epsilon Chemistry Fraternity held its installation banquet on Saturday evening, Nov. 29, at the Mahoning Country Club. William Black, Walter Gaeman, Lawrence Maggiano, Nicholas Martin, Tiberio Seromani, and Robert Stevens are the newly installed members.

Dean Deesz of the Engineering School was the guest speaker. Mr. Deesz gave a highly inspirational speech in which he pointed out numerous opportunities for students to make improvements in both the theory and the practice of science. After carefully showing the interdependency of the various branches of science, he concluded by reminding the chemists of their future responsibility in helping to maintain a peaceful world.

Alumni members Stanky Plecha, with DuPont of Cleveland; Paul Atkinson, graduate student at Ohio State; Roy Jones and Robert Dillon, graduate instructors in the chemistry department; and William Beckman, now a faculty member in the chemistry department, were present. Dr. Scudder, Dr. Bloom and Mr. Luginbill, the group's advisors were also present.

Relaxing with the Waxings

by HARRY MESHEL

If you go for a bit of tenor sax then you might go for the pair being offered by ILLINOIS JACQUET on the Aladdin label. They're called BLOW ILLINOIS BLOW and ILLINOIS BLOWS THE BLUES. (I don't know what the man would do if he had to name a tune without using his name.) Both sides are taken by the leader, naturally, and show some fairly nice piano, too. Maybe not the greatest hornman around, but, for his age the cat comes on.

Sure to be on the juke boxes before long is the result of the combined efforts of FRANK SINATRA and the PIED PIPERS. By special arrangements with Capitol Records they recorded this Columbia disc named DUM DOT SONG (I put a penny in the gum slot). Lyrics are silly but cute. As usual Axel Stordahl conducts a fine orchestra. Backed by Alvy West's band, Frankie pulls a single on the reverse, singing IT ALL CAME TRUE.

Columbia's GENE KRUPA scores with the instrumental, I MAY BE WRONG. That boppin' fool of an alto man he's got gets off a little on the side. Buddy Hughes does the vocals on the coupling, requesting, PLEASE DON'T PLAY NUMBER SIX TONIGHT.

A beautiful tune sung by Capitol's ace vocal queen is the proper description of LET'S BE SWEET-HEARTS AGAIN by Margaret Whiting. Nothing affected about this, chick's chirping. Frank Devo's ork, using Kenton-like sound effect with the alto entrance, and the Crew Chiefs aid Maggie on this etching. The flipside is a novelty—PASS THAT PEACE PIPE.

Doing some arrangements for Les Brown, which will soon be recorded, is former YoCo-ite BILLY HICKS currently fronting his own combo. Besides blowing trumpet, the rollicking reveler does some catchy novelties such as GET WHAT I MEAN and SURE HAD A WONDERFUL TIME LAST NIGHT. The district's outstanding exponent of alto sax bebop is ex-Dana-man JIMMY TIMLIN, also with the combo. Jimmy can be heard to advantage on HOW HIGH THE MOON. The pile-driver seated behind the skins is JOHNNY PERSHING who gets to show his wares on tunes like AIR MAIL SPECIAL. The piano perch is occupied by CHARLEY WARREN, exceptional on blues and boogie. Catch him on AFTER HOURS. All in all, a bustin' H! outfit.

The relaxation record of the month is LAURA by Capitol's standby, PAUL WESTON. (Wonder if he married Jo Stafford yet.) It's a real fine arrangement with lush strings and all. Backing it up, INTERMEZZO also rates a few raves.

Nellie's kid brother, JOE LUTCHER, has a little crew called the Society Cats recording for Specialty. Joe does vocals and blows a rompin' tenor. One of two recent releases is the pair ROCK-IN' BOOGIE and BLUES FOR SALE. Not too exceptional but all right for those whose tastes run along that line. Pick up on ya' later.

The U. S. Air Force offers you

$336 a month one year after graduation

THAT'S what you can earn after completing one year of pilot training and winning your wings in the Air Force.

It is a good deal from the start. While you're an Aviation Cadet you draw $75 per month, plus food, quarters, uniforms, medical and dental care. After successfully finishing the course, you are commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty with the Air Force at $336 a month (including flight pay), with excellent chances for further increases as promotions come through.

In addition, you get an extra $500 for each year of active duty, and will be given a chance to compete for a commission in the Regular Air Force if you are interested in a service career.

This opportunity, which cannot be duplicated anywhere else at any price, equips men for well-paid, responsible positions throughout the aviation industry, at high pay from the beginning. It is open to you if you're single, between 20 and 26½ years old, and have completed at least one-half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or pass an examination measuring the equivalent). Ask for details at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or write to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

U. S. ARMY AND U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

NOTE: If you were awaiting assignment or taking training when the Aviation Cadet program was cut back in 1944-45, you can re-qualify simply by passing the physical examination, provided you meet the other requirements listed above. Write for information to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

McKELVEY'S

The STORY of the ENGINEERING SCHOOL . . .

by JOHN P. BARRETT

Basements, buildings, and barns — courage, hard work, and foresight — and a school is born. In June of 1948, 20 degrees will be granted by the William Rayen School of Engineering. But it wasn't as simple as all that. All this is a result of the vision of school authorities back in 1933. Algebra and mechanical drawing had been offered at the school as far back as 1899, but it wasn't until 1933 that talk began about adding the old Rayen School to our campus.

Mr. Louis A. Deesz entered the picture in 1938 as a part-time teacher when the entire outlay for the present engineering school was in the embryo stage—in the basement of the main building. It was just about that time that progress really got under way. In June of 1939, machines were installed for mechanical drawing, electrical engineering, and mathematics. Although there were only four students in these courses in '38 and '39, metallurgy and so forth were available.

Old Wick Barn Put to Use
At the annual faculty dinner in 1941, Mr. Deesz told President Jones that his department could put the old Wick barn to good use, and President Jones promptly handed over the keys. The football team cleaned out the barn and put it in decent shape, and the engineering department moved over there. The physics lab moved from 312 to what is now the athletic building. With this set-up, YoCo started granting the B. S. degree with a major in fields of engineering. Electrical engineering was one of the first courses to develop because it was one of the easiest to set up, and because we had, in Mr. Deesz, one of the country's leading electrical experts.

It was about this time that people outside the college heard of the engineering school and were anxious to help. New apparatus arrived. The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. gave us an engine, a machine lathe, drill press, milling machine, and shaper. The Ward Baking Co. donated a reciprocating pump, and The Vindicator helped us out with a compressor. Most of the equipment, however, was made by Mr. Deesz and the students.

Mr. Deesz Becomes Dean
In February of '43 Mr. Deesz resigned from his position at the Republic Steel Corp. to become Dean Deesz, and then things really started moving. Dr. Wilcox and our new dean went to Columbus on Oct. 23 of 1944 where the Ohio Department of Education notified the college officially that it could grant the degree of Bachelor of Engineering. A dream was realized, and Dean Deesz came home determined to make YoCo rank with the best.

Action was taken to obtain the Rayen Building from the Rayen trustees, and late in 1945, permission was granted. President Jones somehow scraped together the cash for repairing the old place, and work was begun. Circular staircases were torn out, corridors were cut through, and the new home was made ready. Then, on Jan. 1, 1946, the Youngstown College School of Engineering moved in.

Enrollment jumped from 647 in the fall of '46 to 718 in the spring of '47, and again to 1,097 right now. And so, the end of a struggle has come. The engineering school now offers four year courses in mechanical, electrical, chemical, industrial, and metallurgical engineering, and the end is not yet in sight. Rather, we have made only a beginning. And so, here's to Dean Deesz and the staff of teachers who will continue to mould the engineering school. May they continue in their work as successfully as they started.

54 Students Taken Into "Greek" Fold

Fifty-four students (43 men and 11 women) became "Greeks" this fall. Phi Sigma Epsilon received the most pledges for any one fraternity.

☆ BIVOUAC . . .

Here is a little ray of sunshine. If you die of malnutrition due to your present subsistence or some other miscellaneous reason, and have an honorable discharge, you are eligible for four special benefits. The VA is authorized to pay up to $150 for funeral and burial expenses, provide an American flag for burial purposes, arrange for interment in a national cemetery and provide a grave marker. My cup runneth over.

Here's the dope on delayed subsistence so I can concentrate on the finest thing in life. During the second week of each month, starting in December, a VA representative will visit each school in which veterans are enrolled in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. Student-vets will be advised in advance of the time and the place the VA representative may be seen. All vets not receiving their allowance on time will be interviewed personally. In each case where subsistence payments are overdue, the VA representative will record the necessary identifying information and relay it immediately to their regional office handling the veterans' accounts. All regional office personnel involved in clearing the case will give priority to the claim until the vet receives the check.

To the glue fingered John who scrounged my notebook, I appreciate your taste. To you who offered to give a home to the orphan I picked up, thanks, but I sort of got to like her myself. From her actions of late, I'll be glad to fix you up with a nice pup one of these days though.

The worst thing about wealth is that it frequently deludes its owner into believing he is worth that much to the community.

GAMMA SIGMA

The actives were honored with a tea Sunday, Nov. 23, given by the pledges. It was held at JoAnn Porter's home, with Margaret Vasu pouring. Tuesday, Dec. 2, the court of dishonor was held for the pledges. Sally O'Horo and Jean Bertin were co-hostesses. The alumni-active Christmas party will be held Tuesday, Dec. 9, at the Shurtzump home.

ALPHA THETA DELTA

Congratulations to Mid Bascomb, getting married during the Christmas holidays. Kathy Naughton is giving a shower Dec. 3 for Ginny (Blackman) Wolfgang. The Phi Sig-Alpha Delt party is Dec. 16.

PHI LAMBDA DELTA

A regular meeting was held Wednesday night, Dec. 3, at Flo Blana's home. Pat Ford (chairman) and Joanne McCarthy are representing the sorority at the Snow Flake Frolic on Dec. 22. Joanne just came back home after spending the Thanksgiving holidays at Annapolis. The Phi Lamb sponsored Campus Niter is to be Dec. 20. Final arrangements have been made for the pledge installation. Congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Marino (Bev. Ricketts) and Mr. and Mrs. William McLaughlin (Ida Aswad) married Nov. 26.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON

A frat dance was held on Friday, Nov. 28. Al Brennan was master of ceremonies, and an enjoyable intermission program was given. James (Honest Jim) Miller won the door prize. Bud Kirsty played a piano medley without shoes. The Phi Sigs pledges are distinguishable by their rose boutonnières. A regular meeting was held on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at the frat house. Refreshments were served after the meeting. Plans this month include: Initiation on Dec. 6; Alpha Iota-Phi Sig party Dec. 6; installation banquet Dec. 15. The actives have a big surprise scheduled for the banquet. The Phi Sigs must have had a rough week at Geneva. They're still discussing it! On Dec. 16 there will be a Phi Sig-Alpha Delt party.

PHI GAMMA

The Phi Gams wish to thank those who worked so hard to make the Too-fer dance a success on Nov. 26. Fifteen out of 39 Phi Gams are engaged or married. Popular boys! Pledges Bob Gibson, Ray Wise, Mart Bartelmay, Lee Russel, Bob Zigger, and Jack O'Neil are to be installed soon.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

Plans are being made for the annual Yuletide Party during the Christmas vacation. Beta Pi chapter is making plans for initiation of pledges.

SIGMA DELTA BETA

Tickets are obtainable from any Sig Delt for the annual Christmas Night dance at Stambaugh Auditorium. The annual Sig Delt Homecoming was held the 21st of November at Schuster's. Angel La-Civita furnished the music and a good time was had by all. Have you seen the Sig Delt newspaper? Copies have been in the lounge since Wednesday.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

Kappa Sigs are completing plans for their annual Christmas Party for the children at Christ Mission. Bill Schweers is in charge of the arrangements again this year. Tony Vivo of the athletic office acts as coordinator for the Kappa Sig plans each year.

The fraternity adopted a resolution has been postponed a week to make certain that all tickets sold have been brought in.

The fraternity adopted a resolution at their last meeting that use of paddles will not be condoned within the fraternity. Any other form of hazing that may result in personal injury has also been banned by the group.

Plans are well underway for future social events to be announced later.

YoCo Pin Busters Again Lead League

Last year's champions are again showing the way in this year's girls league. The YoCo Pin Busters lead the league with 14 wins and four losses; Sugar Bowlers, nine wins and nine losses; Tau Kappa Nu, nine wins and nine losses; and Alpha Delt, four wins and 14 losses.

In last Sunday's session the YoCo Pin Busters led by DiTommaso's 384 series, took three games from the Alpha Delt. The Sugar Bowlers took the odd game from Tau Kappa Nu.

Angello's 183 game and 388 series featured in the last session. DiTommaso's 132 average leads the girls, followed by Cianciola 131, Sostarie 112, Cvengros 108, and Angello 108.

Angello's 183 and Cianciola's 462 leads for high single and high series, respectively.

Tau Kappa Nu To Hold Party Dec. 22

On Dec. 22 the members of Tau Kappa Nu will be entertained at a Christmas party at the Club Sahara. The affair will be informed for members and their friends.

A gift exchange will be held, and the orchestra at the Club Sahara will furnish the entertainment.

The committee for the occasion includes: Helen Casevalos, Milena Perrotta, Dolores Tisono, Jane Cretella, and Ruth Ondash.

HARDWOOD HITS

by CHUCK PERAZICH

When the Youngstown College cagers take the floor at Dayton Saturday, Dec. 13, an almost entirely veteran aggregation will be on hand to inaugurate the 1947-'48 campaign.

Coach Dom Rosselli will have back from last year's squad Steve Gergely, Jack Christen, Ray Wise, Charlie Bush, Bob Gibson, Rudy Braydich, Joe Zamba, and Lou Muehlbauer.

New to the team are Charlie Shaeffer and Ted Guappone former Salem High stars, Howard Turner, rangy colored boy from North Carolina, and Eli Danilov, former Campbell Memorial star.

Local scholastic stars will also be on hand this year. Joe Stephenson, Lowellville; Bob Bloom, Mineral Ridge; Joe Sharick, Champion; John Karaffa, Toronto; and Lee Thomas, Columbiana.

The Penguins have broke out even in two practice games thus far. They were defeated by the Sharpville Donegan Raiders in the first game, and defeated the New Castle Elks, 45-40, at New Castle.

The first home appearance will be Monday, Dec. 15, against Gannon College. All home games will be at the South Field House.

Alpha Phi Omega Conducting Food Drive At YoCo

Alpha Phi Omega, new service and social fraternity on the campus, is conducting a drive to collect food for the needy of the Youngstown area. The drive got underway late this week.

Run in conjunction with Esther Hamilton's Alias Santa Claus club the drive is sure to touch the really needy families of our city. Every social and honorary organization in the college is being contacted by the fraternity so that everyone will have a chance to contribute.

At the front entrance of the Liberal Arts building large boxes are displayed in which contributing students are requested to deposit their donation of canned food. A large thermometer is included in the display on which will be recorded the success of each organization and the drive itself.

Alpha Phi Omega was founded at Lafayette College, Easton, Penn. It now has 112 active chapters. In Ohio there are chapters at Ohio State, Ohio University, Cincinnati University, and Youngstown College. The fraternity has dedicated itself to service to the community in which each chapter exists.

Officers of the newly formed but not yet approved local organization are; Pres. Jack Currie, Vice Pres. George Snyder, Allan Davis, Sec., and Fred Johnson, Historian.

The drive was started officially by Dean Wilcox who turned on the lights of the display at the entrance of the school.

Newman Breakfast

The club will hold its annual Christmas party at 8:00 p. m. Dec. 21, at the Catholic Action Center. Seasonal decorations will be arranged by Gerry DiCiocco and her committee which includes Dick Eisman, Gloria DeBlasio, John McCalla, and John Melnick.

Refreshments will be served by Mary Agnes Hatagan, Scottie Wynne, Dot Shurtzump, Bill Kenst, Phyllis Galose, Bill Armstrong, Joan Navin and Sally O'Horo.

Second Semester Registration Gets Under Way

pleted early that same week, upperclassmen may secure grades from their instructors, make any necessary changes of registration, and procure second semester textbooks during the same period.

Co-operation Is Asked

While changes may be needed in this procedure, the administration feels that this new method of registration should work to the happiness and convenience of everyone involved. They ask the co-operation of the students and faculty in meeting the deadlines set up since this is the only way that the system will work, and it is the only method whereby priority in classes may actually be deserved and maintained.

Letter to Editor

Dec. 2, 1947

Dear Editor,

It has been my honor and privilege to have been in charge of the color guard at all the school home games. The color guard is supplied by two permanent members and two temporary members who are furnished by the various organizations of the student body. Until the recent John Carroll game all the organizations had given me wonderful cooperation.

One fraternity was chosen to represent the color guard at the John Carroll game. The president of this organization held a meeting on the Wednesday prior to the game and informed me that the two representatives would be present. On the Friday of the game, late in the afternoon, the president approached me and informed me that the two honorary men chosen for the guard had decided to go to Ohio State for the Homecoming. I asked the organization to supply two alternates, but to no avail. This left me in the proverbial hole and it was the comparatively new Nu Sigma Rho and the Phi Sigs who came to the rescue. With a short notice they supplied two men in uniform who were prompt at the game.

I want to thank these two organizations and the rest of the groups that have cooperated in such a splendid manner. They are not like others who only seek glory in the more colorful activities of the school; these organizations have shown just as much school spirit in doing the little, but important things as they have in their other affairs. I want to thank you once again on my behalf and on behalf of the majority of the school.

RAY LYLE,
Chairman of Color Guard

Omicron Lambda Will Install 14

Omicron Lambda will install 14 new members tonight. These students have fulfilled the necessary requirements and are now eligible to become associate members.

The fraternity welcomes to its ranks Professor Marcy of the biology department in the capacity of advisor. At the last meeting Nov. 7, Professor Marcy gave an unusual talk on the "Feeding Habits of Snakes." He based his statements on his own experiences while working as curator in the New York Zoo.

Saturday, Nov. 22, the members of the group took a trip to Cleveland to visit the Western Reserve University Hospital Pathological Department. They were conducted on a tour by Dr. Sassaman, curator of the Department of Comparative Anthropology, who also gave a very educational lecture on embrology and anatomy.

Art Club Members Win Exhibit Honors

Good work is being done by the various members of the Youngstown College Art Club. In a recent judging of 300 works entered in the Columbus Water Color Society Show, a water color submitted by Beatrice Fried was among the 90 selected for showing. Of these 90 exhibited, hers will be among the 50 chosen to tour the major cities of the U. S. in a traveling show. Miss Fried has recently won prizes in the Butler Art Annual Spring Show.

Other members of merit are Steve Bencetic and Stephen Garish. In the recent Sharon Art Association Annual Exhibit Mr. Bencetic was awarded a prize for his "Flowers." Mr. Garish received honorable mention for his work submitted.

A coming event for the Youngstown College Art Club will be a Christmas party on Dec. 12 at the Youth Center.
