Daniels Controversy Grows

Growing student unrest brews on campus concerning the recent administrative decision not to rehire Mr. Ron Daniels as an instructor in the Social Science Department.

A group of Black and White students have made clear their intentions to stage a peaceful protest march on campus tomorrow. Their march will begin at noon in front of the administrative offices.

Their grievances and demands are:

1. Termination of installment payments which will eliminate poorer students
2. Seminars in black culture
3. Afro-American history and culture courses in school curriculum
4. Girls in Upward Bound program
5. Office of Student Affairs
6. Black speakers on campus
7. Hiring of more Black teachers
8. Better housing for Black and White students
9. A black dean or assistant chaplain
10. Rehiring of Mr. Ron Daniels

The group has stated that if the march does not achieve its objectives, more marches and other measures will be planned in the future.

Mr. Ron Daniels

The following letter was received by the JAMBAR yesterday and is printed on the front page because of its great importance and interest to the students of the University.

Dear Editor of the Jambar:

The most that can be said for the decision not to rehire Ron Daniels is that it is administratively correct. That is, from the point of view of administration (atop or under its compelling machinery) a contract was signed for a limited time of service, and that contract completed. Daniels has requested more time here. His chairman agrees. The administration says no. Students who have worked with Daniels say yes, and have gone to the administration says no and no again. The questions we must raise members who know and respect Daniels and are aware of the circumstances have gone to the administration in his behalf. The administration says no and no again. The question we must raise here are obvious and indeed central to the conflicts that are hitting campuses around the country.

Clearly, there isn't space to start such a discussion in this letter. But a few observations might be worthwhile. Daniels has a B.A. and an M.A. (a degree that supposedly qualifies a person to teach at the university level). He is an excellent human being, an excellent teacher, a leader in this community, and a damn tough opponent against those who would institutionalize ignorance and prejudice. He is an open line of communication between this university and the oppressed peoples of our town, and he is symbolic of that great movement to freedom and justice that has blessed our century. He is the man to have here at this point in time. We have received an administrative decision that in reality is an incredibly narrow interpretation of what Youngstown State University means to itself and to our community. O.K. But now we need a decision of wisdom and vision and human consideration. Where is to going to come from?

Committee Suspends Student

A student has been placed on suspension for the period of June 8, 1968 to January 2, 1969 by the Faculty-Student Discipline Committee for plagiarism, it was announced in a release by the committee.

The student was in front of the board on two charges. The first charge involved material on a final exam in an American History course. "Since there was some question as to whether the student had copied the material, or simply memorized it, the Committee reprimanded the student for poor study habits for memorizing rather than endeavoring to truly understand the concepts of the course," it was stated in the release.

The second charge against the student involved an obviously plagiarized critical essay in an English Literature course.

For this offense the student was suspended.

The committee further ruled that before the student could be readmitted "he must appear before the board to determine whether or not there has been sufficient change of character to warrant his readmission."

6,000 Attend PP&M Concert On Sunday

Peter, Paul, and Mary closed our 1968 Spring Weekend by playing to a crowd of YSU students approaching 6,000 in number. Four times during the concert they called for the audience to join them in singing some of their songs, and they got positive responses all four times.

Lesley Emery, Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, was crowned queen at the semi-formal dance Friday night at Yankee Lake. The dances was decorated with an old-fashioned nickelodeon, a 1902 car, and many other pieces relating to the early 1900s.

The Saturday afternoon carnival was plagued by rain, but nevertheless successful. Twentyone campus organizations participated in the carnival.

Chi Delta Sorority won the first place trophy in the food category followed by SNEA. The Phi Mu's beat out the girls of Zeta Tau Alpha for first place in the game competition.

Finally the Zetas won their second trophy of the afternoon for coming up with the most original booth. There was a tie for second between Chi Delta and SNEA.

The weekend continued at Idora Park Saturday night. All the rides were free to the students, and a fire works display followed in the ball park.

The group adjourned to the Kove to dance to the music of the Groove U of Pittsburgh.

Credit for the successful weekend should go to Mike Foley, Secretary of Major Events; Mike Wholehan, Spring Weekend Coordinator, and Howard Zecher, Major Events Committee.

Seniors Must Apply Now For Job Interviews

Mr. Alfred Minotti, director of Placement, has announced that all Seniors wishing to meet with corporate recruiters next year should contact his office immediately for an appointment.

The recruiters will be on campus in October and November of 1968 to interview students who will graduate in December of 1968 or March of 1969.

The appointment with Mr. Minotti is to discuss with the graduating students the problems they might run into during recruiting and to schedule interviews with the companies most suited to the students needs.

The interviews with Mr. Minotti will begin June 4 and continue into the summer until all the students are taken care of. However, Mr. Minotti urged the students concerned to phone his office for their appointments as soon as possible.

Dr. Pfau Appointed New English Dept. Chairman

Dr. Margaret I. Pfau has been appointed Chairman of the English department effective July 1st, it has been announced by the University.

Dr. Pfau takes over the post vacated by Dr. Ward L. Miner, who is resigning from the Chairmanship after five years service. Dr. Miner will remain on the faculty staff as professor of American Studies.

Dr. Pfau received her A.B. degree in English from Wellesley College, and a Master's degree from Western Reserve University. She was awarded a doctoral degree from Radcliffe in 1955.

Prior to joining the faculty staff of Youngstown State in 1961, Dr. Pfau's teaching experience includes three years as instructor of English at Western Reserve, from 1947 to

Pub. Board Approves Twice-Weekly Jambar

The Publications Board of YSU yesterday unanimously approved a twice-weekly budget for next year's JAMBAR.

The budget is based on a cold type method of publication and recommends that the Jambar be provided with cold type-setting equipment and space on campus of this equipment.

The equipment, according to figures submitted by Dr. Robert R. Hare, faculty advisor to the JAMBAR, will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The approval came after Clyde Painter, assistant professor of accounting, reported on an audit of the JAMBAR advertising accounts in which he found results substantially identical to an audit already submitted by Dr. Hare.

Mr. Painter was assisted in his audit by an accountant appointed by Joseph S. Rook, University business manager.

The Publications Board Chairman is Dean Charles Aurand of the Dana School of Music. Voting members present, besides Mr. Painter were Dr. Sidney I. Roberts, professor of History, Dr. Clyde Hankey, professor of English, and student members, Robert Lariccia and Phyllis Tocco.

The only change made in the budget figures submitted last week to the board by Dr. Hare was to increase the salary figure for the Jambar Business Manager from $810 to $900.

Mark Shutes, present Editor of the JAMBAR was named Editor-in-Chief for the fall quarter of next year. Dennis Mangan was appointed Managing Editor and William Weimer, Associate Editor.

Dr. Hare commented that the board's action was one long desired by the JAMBAR staff in particular, and the University community in general.

He said he was confident that the offices of administration and the University Budget Officials would move rapidly to implement yesterday's action of the University Publication Board.

ROTC Celebrates Armed Forces Week

Each year the people of the United States honor the members of the Armed Forces during the third week in May. The Armed Forces are represented on the YSU campus by the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps.

The Reserve Officer Training Corps program has established under the National Defense Act of 1916. However, the training of college men for military leadership dates back to 1820 when classes were established at Norwich University. The program is now in operation in 247 colleges and universities.

A voluntary R.O.T.C. program was established by the Defense Department at YSU in 1950, under the command of Major Robert S. Stacey.

The program is administered as the Department of Military Science and is located in Pollock House. It consists of 350 men organized into a Corp of Cadets and a staff of four officers and five enlisted men.

The chairman of the Department of Military Science is Lt. Col. William J. Stone Jr. Previous to Lt. Col. Stone's appointment, Col. John E. Wales, III, who is now the Director of Financial Aid, had served for three years as the commander. The Executive Officer is Major William J. Bender.

YSU offers two programs for cadets: a two year training plan and a four year training plan. The four year program is divided into two parts: the basic training, for Freshmen and Sophomores, and the advanced training, for Juniors and Seniors.

To enter the advanced program a cadet must be in Junior standing, have at least 2.00 average and have the recommendation of the university president and the chairman of the Military Science Department.

Each summer half of the advanced section students go to Indian Town Gap Military Reservation in Pennsylvania for six weeks of camp training.

The department was originally organized as an artillery unit but switched to a general military program in 1956. Major Max R. Bird, Public Relations Officer and instructor of military science, revealed that "the department has revised its curriculum for next year." They are adding a program of flight training which will be available to advanced cadets.

After completing the university requirements for graduation, the cadet can apply for a commission, as a 2nd Lt. in either the regular army or in the reserves. He is given three choices for which branch of the army he would like to enter.

"We encourage the men to go into the branch that is closest to their area of study," said Maj. Bird. To illustrate this, he explained that a cadet who had majored in management, engineering or the physical sciences might go into the Ordnance branch, which consists of research, design and development.

In addition to the regular training offered by the Department of Military Science, a number of extra-curricular organizations are available to interested cadets.

The National Society of Pershing Rifles was formed to foster friendship and cooperation among the men of the military department and to develop a precision drill team. It consists of about 30 men in the first two years of training. Their advisor is Major Max R. Bird.

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade, established at YSU in

Flad Joins Song Club

William S. Flad, chairman of the advertising and public relations department at Youngstown State University, recently joined the Songwriters Club of Youngstown after completion of his song "Eight O'Clock Class."

Flad wrote both the music and lyrics.

The song will be presented at Awards Night at the Strouss' Music Center, Tuesday, May 21.

Music will be furnished by a combo from the Dana School of Music and sung by Thomas Iarrapino, an advertising student at YSU.

Student Poem Published In Nat. Anthology

Dennis Wine, a senior Education major, will have one of his poems entitled "I Have Locked the Gates of Hell" published in the forthcoming anthology of College Student's Poetry.

This anthology, now in its twenty-fifth year, is a compilation of the best of thirty thousand or more manuscripts received. It is published by the National Poetry Press of Los Angeles, California.

Georg Richard Sheets, a junior English major, has also had one of his poems accepted this year by the same anthology.

1961, consists of advanced R.O.T.C. cadets. It is an honorary fraternity for cadets having an outstanding academic and military science record.

The Scabbard and Blade goal is to try to create brotherhood through similar interests and to prepare the men to take an active part in the community, as well as the military. Their advisors are: Major William J. Bender and Staff Sgt. LeRoy F. Huber.

A year ago Captain James C. Nelander organized the Rangers. It is an organization designed to give the cadets training in special skills and interests, such as: unconventional warfare, counterinsurgency, mountaineering, and night operations.

During the year the group took part in a number of training maneuvers, including one with the local United States Marine Corps Reserve Unit. The organization has been approved by Student Council, but has not yet received its constitution.

The R.O.T.C. cadets participate in a number of community activities throughout the year. Representatives of the Corps will take part in ceremonies on Armed Forces Day at the 910th Troop Carrier Group. The cadets will serve in the honor guard of Miss Youngstown State, Rosemary Romeo, who will be crowned "Miss Blue Tiger for 1968."

The R.O.T.C. Battalion, composed of three companies, and the R.O.T.C. band will participate in the annual Memorial Day parade on May 30th, sponsored by the United Veterans Council of Youngstown.

Assistant Prof Appointed In English Dept.

Youngstown State University has appointed Mrs. Lorraine Y. Baird assistant professor of English effective with the fall quarter, 1968. It was announced today by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president.

Mrs. Baird, who is currently completing her dissertation for a Ph.D. in Medieval English at the University of Kentucky, earned for A.B. degree from Catawba College, N. C., and her M.A. from Appalachian State College. Her Ph.D. degree work is scheduled for completion this summer.

She has served as an English instructor at Kent State University, an assistant professor of English at Eastern Kentucky State, and as a teaching fellow at Appalachian State.

Her article, "The Death-Rebirth Motif in Eliot's 'The Waste Land,'" appeared in the Appalachian Faculty Publications.

Aven Publishes Article About YSU Students

Dr. Samuel D. Aven, assistant professor of secondary education at Youngstown State University, has had published an article entitled "Teaching and Non-Teaching Graduates," which will appear in the spring edition of "Improving College and University Teaching."

The study deals with the likeness and difference between Youngstown State University School of Education graduates who enter teaching and those who do not.

Dr. Aven, a member of the YSU faculty since 1965, earned his B.S. degree from Indiana State University (Pa.), his M.S. from Westminster College (Pa.), and his Ed.D. from Baylor University (Texas).

By Franny and Zooey

Now that all the activities of Spring Weekend are concluded, Franny and Zooey would like to commend the Major Events Committee on doing a tremendous job. This has to be considered one of the best Spring Weekends, or for that fact any important weekend that this University has ever had.

At the carnival which was held Saturday, we could not help but be attracted to one booth. This booth was run not by a fraternity or sorority, but rather it was constructed by Kilcawley Dorm. It definitely deserves credit.

Since this was Spring Weekend, there were some people who found time to fall in love.

Skydiving Fans Will View Two Color Films

Skydiving enthusiasts will view two color presentations of the sport on Wednesday, May 22, the first at three o'clock at the Penguin's Roost. The second showing will begin at eight o'clock at the Theta Chi fraternity house, 742 Bryson St., featuring a display of equipment and Miss Lucinda Sharp who took third place at Women's National Sky Diving Nationals.

The club, which is in its early stages, is open to men and women, with the only requirement a physical examination.

A spokesman for the club stated that skydiving is for those persons with self-confidence and mental stability, and stressed that the danger of skydiving is now minimal, due to advanced instruction and equipment.

Student Art At Butler

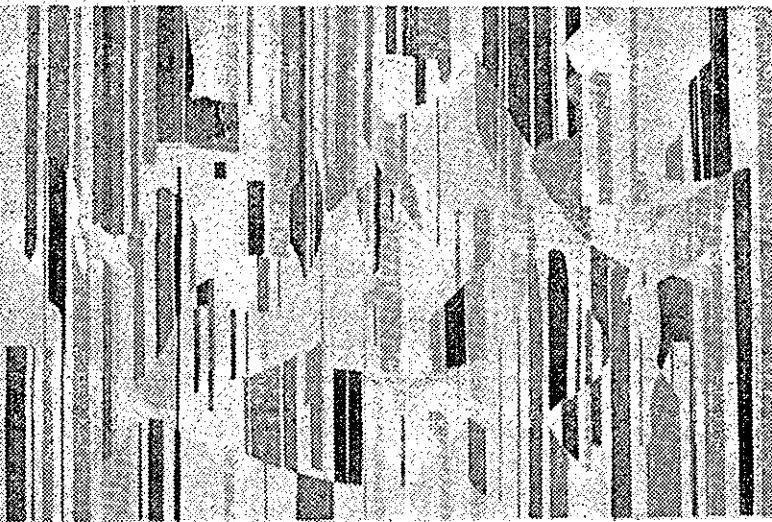

The annual Student art show is now being displayed at the Butler Institute of American Art.

The show occupies the three front galleries and includes a small selection of work by instructors.

As one views the paintings, it appears that all contact with a visual world has now disappeared entirely. The big splashy effects and color patterns are like esthetic explosions.

The show may be viewed Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The show will last through May 26.

Fortunato to Lecture to Nurses May 29

Frank A. Fortunato, instructor in business organization at Youngstown State University, has been invited to lecture to the senior nursing students of the Youngstown Hospital Association School of Nursing, Wednesday, May 29 in the Tod Nurses Home.

He will speak on the legal implications of nursing, stressing the awareness of legal implications, situations involving nurses, the nurse and wills, and the nurse and law suits.

Fortunato earned his A.B.A. and L.L.B., both from YSU. He is a member of the American, Ohio State, and Mahoning County Bar Associations; the National Society of Public Accountants; and the Youngstown Chapter of the Ohio Society of Public Accountants.

Grievances

A group of black students and white students has announced their plans to present to the administration a list of grievances.

The catalyst for this black activism has apparently been the refusal of the administration to renew the contract of Mr. Ron Daniels.

But the problem goes much deeper than this. Of the ten grievances and demands to be made this week (see page 1), Mr. Daniels' reinstatement was the last.

Black students and their friends obviously have other grievances and they have threatened to march to illustrate these problems.

Let us learn from the experience of other universities. Let us learn to stop racial problems while they are in the march stage.

And most of all, let us learn to do this not by force but by realizing the legitimacy of the Negro students demands.

Several of the grievances have already been reported on or editorialized upon in the JAMBAR.

It is questionable that the termination of installment payments is a wise move.

The wisdom of terminating Mr. Daniels' contract is also questionable.

And the problem of student housing is definitely acute.

As for a black dean or assistant chaplain, Afro-American History courses and black culture seminars—there seems to be no reason why the administration should not investigate, and investigate quickly, the possibility of meeting these requests.

The Last Of It

This is the last Tuesday JAMBAR of the year.

Without attempting to critically analyze our own work, it seems reasonable to say that the paper has been at least an interesting experiment.

It has shown that this campus can absorb two papers a week with no trouble, and this is as it should be since YSU is a school of 13,000 students.

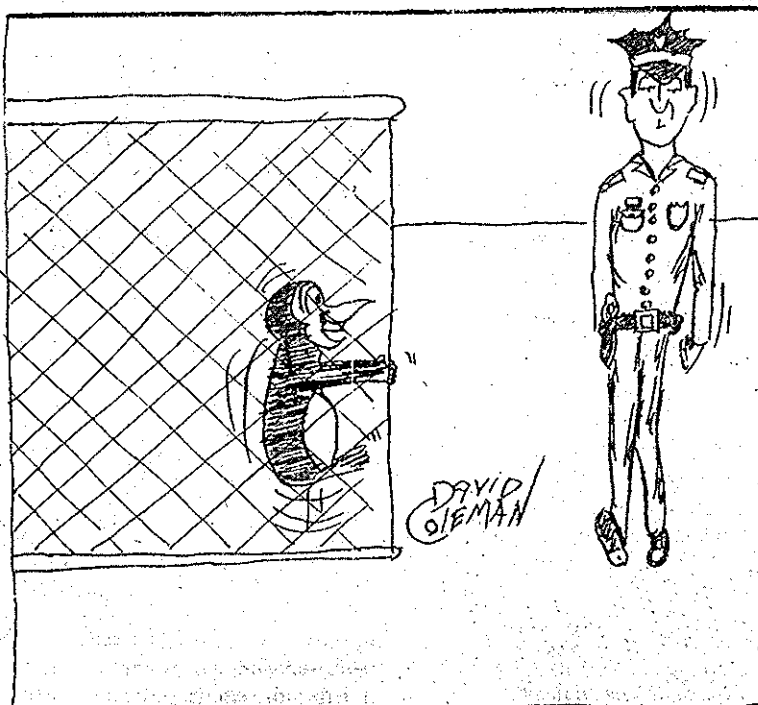

And it has also shown that it is possible to find sufficient staff members to produce two papers a week.

We have enjoyed this experiment, and hope that the Tuesday paper will be more than an experiment next year.

The Publications Board has already approved the budget for next year (see page 1), and now it is up to the administration and the University Budget Committee to make its final decision.

We generally "urge" the administration to do things, but in this, our last Tuesday editorial of the quarter, we beseech them to approve the budget as passed by the Publications Board.

Our Man Hoppe

Campus Hero, Revised Version

Arthur Hoppe

—Chronicle Features

(An updated version of one of those great Hollywood B-movies of yesteryear about campus heroes and the pretty co-eds they vie for.)

Starring - - -

Jack Oakie as the Big Man on Campus

Priscilla Lane as the pretty co-ed they vie for

And Introducing - - -

Ronald Reagan as the young Freshman who only asks a chance to prove himself.

Our Scene: The ivy-clad campus of good old Wheeluv U. The students are having a big Pep Rally & Bonfire in front of the Administration Building, which is guarded by a line of burly, helmet-clad police.

Students, chanting the old college yell, "Down with the fuzz! Down with the fuzz! Down with the fuzz!" are gaily feeding the bonfire with professors' desks and Faculty Club sofas.

Jack Oakie, standing on a soap box, is reading a list of 1403 demands as Priscilla Lane looks at him adoringly and Ronnie Reagan tugs at his sleeve.

Jack (to Ronnie): Oh, it's you, kid. What do you want?

Ronnie (pointing to the Administration Building): Please, Jack, send me in there.

Priscilla (with disdain): You! We all know what kind of a fink you are. I saw what Jack found in your room.

Ronnie (desperately): I tell you, someone planted that Gideon Bible in my bureau. I swear I never saw it before. Please, Jack, give me a chance to prove myself.

Jack: Look, kid, this is a crucial. President Snodgrass is standing there on the steps, getting ready to call out the National Guard. We've only got time for one desperation play, kid. And me with a sprained ankle.

Ronnie: Let me take your place, Jack. Give me a crack at 'em.

Jack: But look at those cops, kid. I never saw a bigger, tougher line.

Ronnie (squaring his jaw): Remember, Jack, they pull on their trousers one leg at a time, same at us.

Jack (frowning): Okay, kid. You got your chance. Go in there and win this one for the old Griper.

Ronnie (squeezing his hand): Thanks, Jack. You won't regret it.

Head down, Ronnie charges the line, feints to his right, cuts to his left, spins out of the grasp of two officers and breaks into the clear!

Priscilla (jumping up and down): Oh, he's wonderful!

Jack: Wait! He still has to get Snodgrass. Look at that flying tackle! What a beauty! He's trussing him up. We've got a hostage! We've won! We've won!

The students go wild, lifting Ronnie to their shoulders as they set fire to the Administration Building. Priscilla throws her arms around Ronnie's neck as Jack grips his hand.

Jack (all choked up): You'll go down as a college immortal, kid, for single-handedly licking old Wheeluv U.

Ronnie (modestly): Thanks, Jack. But remember, one victory doesn't make a season. Who's next on our schedule?

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor of the Jambor:

I wish to express sincere thanks to all students who contributed material for the 1968 Penguin Review. Those persons desiring the return of works contributed may pick up their material on either Tuesday, May 21 or Thursday, May 23 at the Review office, room 111... Additional thanks to Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity for their efficient distribution of the magazine.

James A. Misavage
 Editor, Penguin Review

To the Editor of the Jambor:

"It is the duty of all college students to support the campus library," is the cry of all faithful college profs. In my stimulating career of an under-graduate student, I have had many experiences studying, researching, etc., at our local campus library. However, I am quite disturbed, annoyed, and fed-up with attempting to support our library.

A funny thing happened to me on the way to the library:

I was very excited about having to do a research paper. This excitement was due to the fact that I decided to write this paper a few weeks ahead of time, rather than cram and do it the night before it was due. (Now, you must admit that's pretty good on quarter masters!) To continue, the main book I needed was out of the library, naturally. To my astonishment, in checking further, the book was checked out by a college prof in December of 1967 and was still not returned. I requested a requisition slip and two weeks later I still had not received word about this particular book.

Now, fellow students, I ask you: How can profs expect you to excel if the books are not in the library because of their lack of responsibility to return a library book?

I would appreciate it if one of you erudite students would kindly find a solution to my perplexing problem.

Dale Kivowitz

To the Editor of the Jambor:

On Thursday, May 16 Mr. William Maruca's Health Classes attended a conducted tour and lecture at the Shriver-Allison King Funeral Home, North Side Branch.

Mr. Robert Gustafson conducted the tour through all sections of the funeral home. He discussed various expenditures of funerals, pre-arranged and non pre-arranged, purposes of embalming, autopsies and vital statistics to Mr. Maruca's classes.

Then, Mr. David Courtley spoke informally about services offered by funeral homes and their importance to all individuals pertaining to pre-arranged funerals, wills, and donating bodies to medical science.

He further discussed the various services offered by the Shriver-Allison King Funeral Home and National Affiliations such as the National Selected Morticians and what this mean to the individual students. The lecture and tour was followed by refreshments and an informal discussion.

I wish to thank the Shriver-Allison King Funeral Home for their time and hospitality.

William Maruca, Instructor

To the Editor of the Jambor:

I am writing to you in the hope that you will communicate my appreciation to the students on your campus for their CHOICE 68 votes.

Not only because my candidacy was favored in the balloting am I grateful. More significant than the success or the losses of individual candidates in CHOICE 68 is the participation by one million students on some 1200 campuses in the political process. Student opinions, debated and expressed democratically, will influence elections throughout our nation.

CHOICE 68 opinions on military action, bombing and the urban situation have been forwarded to me. I note that 55.4 percent of my student supporters favor a reduction of military action in Vietnam and 29.1 percent are for withdrawal. Among students for me, 51.2 percent would stop the bombing and 28.4 percent prefer temporary suspension. I can assure you I shall keep these views in mind as I try to develop intelligent responses to changing international relations.

The emphasis of students for McCarthy on education and job training in our urban reconciliation efforts is reassuring to me in a very personal way. Let us remain together, and I am confident that our common cause can change the direction of our country.

With best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
 Eugene J. McCarthy
 U. S. Senator
