QUESTION: What are the Benefits of Our College Radio Programs?

NORMA GOULD— (Soph)

The Youngstown College radio shows are definitely an asset to our college. These radio programs are one means of advertising our school to surrounding territories; the programs give us a preview of what the college is planning in the future and broadcast the activities of the week. The radio shows also provide a chance for the accomplished to demonstrate their talent in hopes of being discovered and appreciated by someone listening. Also those interested in radio work are given a chance to participate in the broadcasts. It behooves every student at Youngstown College to listen regularly to YoCo's broadcasts.

JEAN HENERY— (Fr.)

Our college radio programs serve to better acquaint the students with the faculty, since both participate in the shows. It is excellent experience for those students who plan to go in to radio as a career. As time progresses, I feel that experience will make the programs even more interesting and something to look forward to.

BILL STALKER— (Sr.)

The benefits that our college radio programs provide are these: they provide students with actual workshop facilities to receive training in the field of radio and students receive actual practice training in the areas of announcing, producing, directing, script writing, acting, sound and technical operations, expression of individual talent, interpretation, etc. Our programs are not only good for the student's participation, but provide a medium for the best public relations in the history of Youngstown College. There are more people in the city of Youngstown and its surrounding municipalities who know more about the present activities and the past history of the college than ever before. It is my hope that the students and faculty will continue to fully support these programs.

JACK BERTCH— (Soph)

Youngstown College on the Air" and "The YoCo Quarter Hour", our two college radio shows, give all students an opportunity to participate in active radio work, an opportunity denied many young radio aspirants. Even if your ambitions do not lie in the fields of radio, the experience gained in this extra curricular activity will be invaluable.

Fully realizing the tremendous job of producing a radio program, I appreciate the wonderful job that is being done by everyone. However, it has been suggested that our radio shows are too closely supervised, and possibly too formal. This might well be true.

I am proud of our radio programs, but cannot help but look forward to the day when Youngstown College will present even livelier shows, that will be a "must" for all radio listeners.

CERREDA TURNER— (Soph)

I think our college radio programs are very valuable because they enable students to become acquainted with the policies and activities of our college. Each week on "Youngstown College on the Air", there is an interview with a professor. This creates a better understanding and appreciation of our faculty members. The talent portion of the program makes us aware of the achievements of various students in their particular fields.

GEORGE BOOTH— (Fr.)

Along with giving the participants of the show valuable radio experience, our college radio programs keep the people of the valley up to date on what goes on at YoCo. They bring the participating students a little closer to the faculty. The idea is in its infancy and has a lot of room for improvement; however, I believe it is definitely a part of college life now and should be continued.

Looking Around

by BETTE SAVAGE

"Hi there! Are you waiting for anyone in particular?"

"No, I'm just looking around the school."

"Care if I come along? Oh look, there are DONNA VOSS and NORMA GOULD drawing houses and trees. I understand Rembrandt is losing prestige with them around."

"Here come JEANNE LYONS and PEGGY SHOOK."

"Is Jeanne still wearing three shades of lipstick?"

"I don't know, but she's still telling those (sob) jokes."

"Oh, have you heard JIMMY SHOOK'S latest? Two Englishmen met on the street and one said, 'Frightfully sorry, old boy. I hear you buried your wife.' The other replied, 'Had to. Dead, you know.'"

"It's things like this that make life miserable."

"No, it's things like that RED TYRRELL singing Basin Street."

"Sometimes they throw him pennies, and he goes back to the Snake Pit."

"Really? Who's that fellow with all the girls around him?"

"DANNY McCARTHY. He will be ever pleased to see this in the paper."

"Why does GEORGE BOOTH look so worried?"

"He's probably thinking about how he could have saved a king in the last bridge game."

"Does ZERECKS GOLDBERG play bridge?"

"Yes, if he is especially good, they let him play a hand or two. Of course, he frowns upon 'Pepsi Cola' hands."

"Hm. Is that MARY ALICE JOYCE laughing?"

"Yes. She's just read the latest news that she and PAUL BURKE are going steady. Beau Coup laughter."

"There's the JOE NAGLE; he's going to Kent in a few weeks."

"Well, our loss . . ."

"Say, in English class the other day we were asked to criticize the speeches. Mrs. Kimball asked for their opinion of JOAN PARROTT and one fellow said, 'I think she's gorgeous.'"

"Speaking of pretty girls, who are those going in to the cafeteria?"

"They're JOYCE WEBB and PATT PICKARD. DOROTHY FARRELL is usually around here, too."

"There's a rumor that Duncan Hines dropped dead in there."

"Merely a rumor. They have some good stuff in there. Hey, what are NANCY WEISS and MARY LOU HETNER talking so seriously about?"

"I don't know. There's ELSA MALKIN with GINNY BURKE and GLORIA ORZE. I wonder where PAUL BRENNER is?"

"Is that MARY LOU TRIGG studying chemistry?"

"Yes, DORIS CREED seems to be doing hers, too."

"Mr. Luginbill's mad at the fellow who keeps referring to HI as 'idiotic acid.'"

"Look at the kids over by the Lincoln! RUTHIE SWEENEY and BARB MCKINNEY are finding something funny."

"There's TOMMY O'HORO and ED DIGNAN, too!"

"JOANNE McCARTHY is telling JOAN QUINN that she shouldn't laugh at sad movies."

"Was that GENE CAPUTO that went by in the Pontiac?"

"I think so. There's ROSEMARIE MALONE over there."

"Have you ever heard her play the piano?"

"Yes, she's very good. Awfully pretty, too."

"Say, have you met John the Mortician yet?"

"Yes, he's a darn good sport. The kids like to tease him, but he's usually got an answer for them."

"Even if it's just 'drop dead.'"

"There go DICK DRISCOLL and BUD BROTHERS rushing to Social Science class."

"It must be time for the bell. Let's hurry."

Letter to the Editor

St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Editor:

I'm sure that the others in the class of 1948 would feel as obligated to express their thanks as I do if they had seen the recent editorial concerning the memorial plaque.

The feelings which we were not present to express, were very well paraphrased in the editorial by George Blake.

Our many thanks to the Jambar and to all those who helped with the project, especially to Miss Frederick in the Public Relations Office, who did so much to assure the success of the project.

With best wishes,
—Larry Blazina.

May YoCo Students Visit Council Meetings?

Many students have recently suggested that our Student Council adopt a policy whereby they would hold their meetings on the stage of the new auditorium. This is a follow-up of the idea currently used by the City Council of Youngstown.

Here on the campus many more people would be interested in activities if they knew a little of what goes on behind the scene. Since council is a representative group of the whole student body, members might be given suggestions or opinions by the constituents they are representing if these interested parties were permitted to join in the meetings. Council has suggested many theories in trying to give everyone a voice in their government. Such ideas as a suggestion box in the main hall, and other admirable efforts on the part of council to stimulate interest have been dropped as impracticable.

Using our new stage is another possibility. We realize that meetings are open to visitors, but this is more theory than fact, when the meetings are held in a classroom.

S. O.

Notice To All Staff Writers:

There will be a meeting in the Jambar office next Monday at 3:00 p. m. for all members of the editorial staff. Anyone who is absent and unexcused will be dropped from the staff.

POPULARITY?

Although in most school elections, a campaign is the accepted thing, a new wrinkle has appeared recently on the campus. This new trend is the campaign that was carried on for the title of "most popular" man and woman. It seems strange that anyone on the campus would feel the need of this title so badly that he or she would sponsor a campaign.

Does the title of "most popular" really belong to someone who carries on a campaign in which students are asked to vote for a person they don't know? In previous years a campaign for this title was unheard of, but it appears that to some students the previous years are considered old-fashioned. Still in this case the campaign seems rather childish and misplaced. Too bad all that energy can't be directed into more profitable and more acceptable channels. At the risk of being branded "behind the times", it's still nice to vote without being asked to mark your ballot for someone you don't know.

—M. Q.

POPULARITY POLL IN FULL SWING

This will be the "Grand Opening" of the New Auditorium—for social affairs.

Music will be furnished in the inimitable style of "Roll and Toss With Tee Ross."

We have been informed that every effort is being made to assure everyone a most enjoyable evening. A refreshment bar will be available to furnish the necessary refreshment for the pause that . . . etc.

During the intermission, the Most Popular Boy and Girl of 1949 will be introduced. They will be presented with gifts that will furnish them with an appropriate remembrance of the occasion.

Tickets for the dance are available at the Voting Booths, and from all the members of the Phi Gamma Fraternity.

The Dance Committee is headed by Bud Schermer, who is acting as general chairman of the Dance for the second successive year. Publicity and Decorations are under the able direction of Jack O'Neil and Don Smith. The Popularity Poll is being run by Carl Englehardt, Ted Kotsivolous, and Ed Fannon. Tickets have been distributed by Jim Dunn and Joe Ostavich.

The survival of the fittest is going to make some guy awfully lonesome in this atomic age.

Penguin patter

by C. J. Partridge

Ever since I started to pound out this column, there have been a few complaints from the least of the so called "literary" students on the campus. The chief bone of contention seems to be that none of the stuff that comes out in print is about the College or people in the College. Well, here's the scoop-on that.

There is another column in this paper that is read by the more juvenile students which makes it a point to include peoples' names, their latest escapades, all the petty little scandals, and in short, dishes out all the dirt with a long handled shovel. This may, and I stretch a point, attract a certain type of reader.

What I have been trying to do is provide a column in which the every day problems of students and faculty members have been dressed up, camouflaged, and exaggerated so that the end result is a type of humor that is typical of the American press in this modern era. Mark Twain first introduced this kind of funny writing when he wrote "The Celebrated Jumping Frog," "The Devil and Daniel Webster" is another fine example.

Now don't get me wrong. I am not saying that I am as good as the best America has produced. What I am not saying is that there is more to filling a column with print that meets the eye. Especially the eyes of the average college student, who, according to some of our leading educators CAN NOT express himself in written English. Here are a few "for instances". These notes were delivered to me via bulletin board, and Jambar mail box.

Dere "C. J."

You think you are so smart writting that colum of yours but your not because you dont even include what you are supposed to be writting about. Namely Youngstown College. If you should want to get on the ball write about what happened to my freind Joe Lapke last night as he was going home from the basketball game which Boardman won 56-54 but Canfield gave them a (censored) of a good battle, anyway. Joe Lapke drived his car to the south field house but since he could not find a place to park he had to leave it on Market St. and walk the rest of the way of foot. I was with him and I know he parked his car there for it was me who walked with him all the way from Donnell's garage and got my feet wet from the snow and slush from the sidewalks which some people are to lazy to clean.

When the game was over Joe walks over to the parking lot to get his car which remember he parked on Market St. Well I had to laugh even if it meant that I was going to get home late and catch it from my old man who makes sure I have to get in by midnight like as if I was still in high school or something instead of a sophomore in college which I made in three semesters.

Joe couldnt understand what I was laughing at so I told him to call the cops as if somebody stole his car. Well the cops came and you should have seen Joes face when they found his car over on Market St. where he left it all along. Was his face red. I figure a good writer could make something out of a story like that especially since it is every word true and applies to a person going to college. I wanted Joe to tell you about it himself but he said that it wouldnt be good to do it himself and I guess he was right after all. In all modesty that is.

See, what you can do with it. If you don't I'll know for sure your just what I think you are and that is a phony riding on his reputation which he didnt earn right in the first place or he could of done better. Theres the cards C. J. right on the table. Do you call or fold. Sincerely.....A. J. M.

For security reasons (mostly to keep from having my nose bashed in) I choose not to disclose the writer of this note. However, there is one thing I would like to say here in the way of an explanation. Honestly, A. J. M., there is nothing I can do to improve that story. IT'S perfect the way it is! There is one more note I'd like you all to read before you go. It's from someone on the staff.

Dear C. J.
YOU SMELL!!!
Sincerely,
Donnelly and Durso.

There's only one answer to that. "Look who's talking!"

All Girl Orch. at Elms

Versatility is the keynote of Freddie Shaffer and his all-girl orchestra who will take over the bandstand at the Elms Ballroom in Youngstown on Sunday, March 13, 1949. The Shaffer aggregation, known as America's finest all-girl dance orchestra, is equally at home in the leading theaters, night clubs, ballrooms, or hotels. Shaffer, a top-flight arranger as well as musician and bandleader, has equipped his bevy of lovelies with a well-stocked library of full bodied dance arrangements and presentation numbers, and as a result the band can satisfy the taste of whatever type of audience it plays to.

Shaffer organized the band in June 1942, taking it on an extensive tour of Army camps and Navy and Marine bases throughout the country. The group, known during the war years as the "Victory Sweethearts", made a name for itself with service personnel, and since the war ended, has chalked up an impressive string of triumphs at such outstanding spots as the Vogue Terrace in Pittsburgh; Club Madrid, Louisville; Lake Club, Springfield; and Castle Farms, Cincinnati.

World Peace Becomes Student Summer Project

More than 300 students from many parts of the world will have an opportunity this summer to study together the problems of world peace in International Service Seminars sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, it was announced recently by Clarence E. Pickett, Executive Secretary of the Quaker organization.

The Service Committee will sponsor ten seminars in various parts of the United States. The purpose of the seminars, as defined by the Committee, is "to bring together students from various countries, races, and religions, each of whom can contribute to the group's understanding of problems and issues facing the peoples of the world today." Students from more than 40 countries participated in last summer's seminar program.

A visiting faculty of nationally and internally known experts will help the students in their study.

The seminars, which last for seven weeks, will be held in the New England area, in the Middle West, and in the West. Definite locations are: Holderness School, Plymouth, New Hampshire; Indian Mountain School, Lakeville, Connecticut; Carelton College, Northfield, Minnesota; and Tod School, Woodstock, Illinois. Other seminars will probably be held in Vermont, Massachusetts, Arizona, California, Washington, and Colorado.

Details about these projects may be obtained from the American Friends Service Committee, 20 South 12th St., Philadelphia 7, Pa., or from this following regional office: COLUMBUS 15, Ohio, 12 North Third Street.

College Education To Be Analyzed on "You and the Campus"

Radio, although often criticized for its trivial subject material, still is one of the world's greatest mediums for education. Every Monday through Friday at 6:15 p. m., WKBN-FM has been presenting an educational program series entitled "You and . . ."

College education, from slide rule to syncopation, from classroom to extracurricular clam-bakes, will be dissected and analyzed by the students themselves in a string of five bull sessions with host Dwight Cooke on next week's topic, "You and the Campus."

The week's symposium on higher learning is presented in co-operation with the United States National Student Association. It will bring out the great changes that have taken place in student psychology with the inclusion of the vast number of World War II veterans, and the contrast between their attitudes and those of the younger classes just entering college from high school. Another phase to be considered is the growth in enrollment—1,155,000 in 1944 to 2,408,000 in 1948—and the problems this imposes on colleges and universities.

TALENT AUDITION

Students who are interested in having an audition for the variety program "Youngstown College on the Air" which is broadcast every Thursday evening over Radio Station WFMJ are invited to make appointments at the Office of Public Relations.

Callahan Speaks To Salesmanship Students

C. P. Callahan, sales representative for Rusco Products, Inc., spoke to salesmanship students recently, and illustrated his subject with a color sound picture demonstrating the newest development in visual selling.

The group was composed of students from the salesmanship classes taught by Mrs. McKinley Browne and Attorney D. Pauline Church.

Unique Sidelines

Any buying on large scale is always a means of saving some cash, say Al Emery and Harry Schwab. Hence these two enterprising young men have become representatives of the Endres and Gross Flower Shop.

Their aim is to have students order flowers for social functions from them in large quantities. This will enable everyone concerned to profit from such a deal, according to Emery. They handle orders for anything in the floral line.

Plans are under way for awarding the Freshman Medal for the most outstanding composition.

The next meeting will be held on April 13, in the English office.

Nu Sigma Rho—S

Congratulations to the Basketball team of Nu Sigma Rho for their fine showing in the finals of the intramural basketball league. Evidently the boys didn't take the "Jokers" too seriously for the decision was close. Also in line for congratulations are Steve Gergely and Jack Christian for another season of fine basketball with the varsity.

Music, cards and food were the bill of fare at Tuesday's social, held at the YMCA.

Phi Gamma—

The Phi Gams haven't been hiding in the bushes all last semester. We just couldn't get any member to write about our activities.

At present we are involved in plans concerning our annual joint parties with our sister sorority the Phi Lams and other social groups of the college. The annual Sig-

Delt-Phi Gam basketball game is to be played soon too.

The Frat welcomes back into the crew this semester Jerry Kahn who dropped out of school last semester. Two of our crew have been plagued with appendicitis: Carl Englehart decided he better get married before he lost all his hair. Dave Pritchard is attempting to keep up good relations with the Alpha Theta Delta Sorority by becoming engaged to be engaged to their president Barbara Hengen.

We are pleased to see our alumni show up for meetings as frequently as they do. We find some of the old Dads. If the Phi Gams look "kinda sorta" of late, blame it on the cigars all the lads are trying to keep up with.

In closing the frat wishes to congratulate Rose Marie Malone, the Mardi Gras Queen of 1949.

Prospective Greeks Stop! Look! Listen!

by Mary Agnes Hatagan

Rushing season is officially in progress. For three weeks Greek social fraternities and sororities will entertain prospective members of their organizations.

Perhaps the best possible advice that can be offered to prospective rushees is "Don't hurry!" Stop, look and listen . . . it's your time of decision. The period will be marked by an unusual amount of activities and will call for an unusual amount of clear, level-headed thinking.

The rushing season will be a time of party manners and party faces, which are subject to change. Chances are that you will see only what is meant for you to see. Easily made friends that you will acquire and laud to high heaven, you may refer to as "skunk" a little later.

Caution Required
Caution can not be over-emphasized. The effects do not end with your decision, they just begin. You will be tagged as a "what-ever you choose", and you will be expected to work and play with them. When you become a member of any group, you will assume the properties, good or bad, of that group. It is you and your reputation that will rise or fall. The splendid experiences and happy memories you can gain by the proper choice are unlimited; on the other hand, the heartaches and disappointments you can fall heir to by an improper choice are not easily removed.

RELAXING with the WAXINGS . . .

by Harry Meshel

A little lad who deserves much more praise than he has received in the past is MEL TORME. The Fog recently recorded a pair of tunes, one, CARELESS HANDS and the other, SHE'S A HOME GIRL NOW. The latter must refer to the sharp little chick he's due to marry (may have already, I dunno). Though Torme sounds only fair on some discs, generally, his efforts are topnotch.

Along with Woody Herman, GENE KRUPA and his great band have recorded LEMON DROP. It features a tenor solo and a bongo background plus the expected bop vocal. Though not as powerful as Herman's rendition it's still a good one. SIMILAU, an Afro-Cuban thing, is the backer-upper but drags too much with an excess of "bongoism."

GORDON MAC RAE seems to be rakin' in the loot of late. The Hollywood influence is reflected in his singing of SO IN LOVE and A ROSEWOOD SPINET. Not too great, but pleasant.

Due to the acclaim given the rendition of PERDIDO as done by FLIP PHILLIPS in his solo in the Vol. 8 Album of Jazz at the Philharmonic, Mercury has issued a single of said artist's solo. The boy blows nice when he's not shrieking and snorting.

Pick up on BLUE LOU, Part 1 and 2, featuring a rhythm section, sparked by ERROL GARNER, supporting WARDELL GRAY and his tenor. Part 1 gives Wardell the opportunity to display his greatness in the bop field. Garner, the Pittsburgh boy, renders a splendid solo on Part 2. RECORD SALE — HOWARD F. BLACK JR. has a great selection of records he would like to put on the selling block. The collection includes the better efforts of bands from Glen Miller to Stan Kenton. Anyone interested may call 3-5344.

WASTED WAX DEPT — About nine out of every ten of those "cozy-cuddly" deals featuring the enraptured billing and cooing of a male and a female. THE PUSSY CAT SONG is a fine example of the inanities which find their way into a recording studio. They border on the blasphemous! Time to cut out, so take it slow where 'ere you go.

Psychologist Addresses Seminar Students

Mr. Murray Benimoff, Psychologist of the Youngstown Receiving Hospital, addressed a group of seminar students recently at Youngstown College. The speaker was introduced by Professor Marcy. Mr. Benimoff received his degree in psychology at City College, N. Y. He did graduate work at Western Reserve University and was formerly affiliated with the Cleveland State Receiving Hospital.

Mr. Benimoff confined his topic to the administration and interpretation of standardized tests for mental patients.

He explained the procedure in administering such tests and the interpretation and evaluation of the results that an individual is alleged to reveal by responses.

Mr. Benimoff enriched the topic by citing humorous as well as tragic illustrations and examples from personal experiences.

What Goes with the ENGINEERS?

by John P. Barrett

Before we forget, best we extend apologies to Mr. Scanlan, new night school professor. Even after due coaching by Ellen and Isabelle (in the office) I still managed to misspell it. Sorry, Mr. Scanlan.

Memo to the engineers who are graduating this June, or who have already graduated: A group met at South High School last Thursday night to arrange refresher courses for those intending to take the State tests for registered engineers at Columbus. These tests will be given sometime in June, and it's a wise man who takes them shortly after he graduates. These refresher courses will be announced at the Engineering School and elsewhere, so watch for the announcements. Along that line, applications for the tests will not be accepted later than 42 days before the test date.

Seems like all the fellas at the College are commenting on the lack of grades. As this goes to print, many of the students of last semester still haven't received their grades, just four weeks after the semester was over. And as for getting them direct from the teachers, many of the students haven't been able to find some of their teachers since February 4th. This is especially true in the case of part-time teachers. Yes, boys, it's a great life.

In the orchids department, we are again reminded of the good work of Mr. Nicholas Ross, a former student at the Engineering School, and now an instructor. The reminder comes to us in the form of a presentation of the Electrical Engineer's to Mr. Ross. This is an annual award made to the outstanding graduate of the Engineering School. Seems funny to be writing Mr. Ross. Even though he is (and should be) Mr. Ross, most of the upper-classmen still think of him as Nick. Anyhow, he was presented his copy of the Standard Handbook for Electrical Engineers.

Speaking of this book, "the Engineer's professional Bible," we point with pride at section 6, "Transformers, Regulators, and Reactors". The reason for our pride is because one of the co-authors of the section is Mr. Walter M. Dann, who recently resigned from the Engineering faculty because of ill health. Congratulations again, Mr. Dann.

One of the current topics of conversation all over school is the "organized confusion" that is apparent in the new registration system. One of the instructors was heard to say that he felt sure the cards had been collected on the third floor, kicked down the stairs, and then a percentage of them returned to each teacher. From the results, that seems to be just about the case.

HAVE A SMOKE ???

Memo to those who use the first floor study room: As was mentioned before in this column, the older fellas at the Engineering School take a great deal of pride in the appearance of our building. There are butt cans everywhere, and they're there to be used. In the study room, there are pans on each table for your butts, and they're big enough that we can't miss if we aim at all. There are also a wastebasket for other papers. Mr. Deesz is very much concerned about the appearance of the building, and he wants passed on to you the information that when he opened the building, President Jones told him he couldn't permit smoking and still keep the building clean. Mr. Deesz was willing to give it a try, and ever since there's been an Engineering School, it's been kept clean. Now, we're slipping. To give a little further shove to the deal, Mr. Deesz reminds us that we're very pressed for classroom space. All of which seems pointed enough.

You have a study room, and the privilege of smoking in the building. Want to keep 'em??

A few days ago, the mayor and council sent out a request for assistance in the drafting of the new smoke control ordinance. As a result, the next meeting of the Trumbull, Columbiana, and Mahoning branch of the Registered and Professional Engineer's Society took up the problem. They named a committee headed by Dean Deesz and made up of the past presidents of the organization, to offer their services to the city. Now, maybe we'll get some action to rid Youngstown of some of the crud in the air.

Memo to structural engineers: One of our most promising students, Jim Nestor is thinking of writing his senior thesis on "The Theory of Bridgework and Bicuspids". Quite a broad project, Jim.

Frankie Yankovic To Make Local Appearance

Something new in dancing will be presented at the Elms Ballroom in Youngstown, when Frankie Yankovic and his Yanks take over the bandstand tonight.

Yankovic, who has turned into an overnight sensation through his recording of "Just Because", has a library of some 500 songs, most of which he wrote himself. When he started playing polkas, there was no new music being written or published in this country, so he wrote it all himself, published it himself, started his own record company, and distributed the whole works all by himself.

Just in case you don't dance the polka, Yankovic assures us that it will take an average dancer about ten minutes to learn. And if you want to hear the Yanks, but don't care to learn, Frankie hastens to explain that his band plays all kinds of tempos and that even the polkas are in a fox-trot mood and can be danced to by an ordinary two-step.

Following on the heels of some of the top name bands, Yankovic is confident that he will break another record, and add it to his long list of shattered marks at the nation's most famous ballrooms, and clubs where he has consistently outdrawn even the most popular of the top name orchestras.

Drama Guild Replaces Mimes

by Jack Bertch

Action taken by the Drama Guild during the past two weeks has caused me to burn up three typewriters, seven ribbons, and my morning toast. They really mean business!

For those of you who may be wondering "what happened" to the Mimes, here's the solution. Put to a vote at the last meeting, it was decided that the Drama Guild would replace the old name. And to you who might shed a tear or two upon the passing of that distinguished Greek name, permit me to say for all of us, that we promise to make you proud of the Drama Guild of Youngstown College.

No less than forty students have asked me this past week, "When will the fencing classes begin?" As yet, few facts can be given. However, this is in the making, and very soon fencing will be a regular part of the Drama Guild's activities. This department should be "En Garde!" before the next Jarqbar goes to press.

Also at our last meeting a new Constitution was drawn up and passed, and has been submitted to Student Council for approval.

At this same meeting, I could not help but notice that the Drama Guild certainly will not have any female casting problems this semester. Glad I paid my dollar dues, and I am a member in good standing. "Will somebody watch my gal?"

Mr. Donald Elser, co-advisor with Mr. William Foley has informed me that casting for three one act plays will begin soon. These plays will be original productions, written by Mr. Elser.

If you are not a member of the Drama Guild and would like to join, watch for our next meeting announcement and drop around. Everyone interested in the theatre is heartily welcome.

Employment Service Lists Job Openings

College graduates in some nine specialized fields—electrical engineering, nursing and pharmacy among others—are among those who should have least difficulty in getting a job if they were to enter the labor market at the present time. That was the conclusion advanced by the Employment Service Division of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation following a recent survey.

The Employment Service Division, which has been operating a college placement program in cooperation with universities and colleges throughout the state, reports that there has been a constant demand for the following specialists during the greater part of the post-war period: electrical, mechanical and civil engineers, nurses, pharmacists, social workers, dieticians, physical therapists and various types of draftsmen.

Information on these and other types of professional job openings is available at any one of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation's local offices throughout Ohio.

As recently as a year ago, the Employment Service points out, engineering openings were often available to those with a college degree and no occupational experience. Today, many employers are beginning to specify on-the-job experience as a requirement. This is true of both the mechanical and electrical fields.

Registered pharmacists are still very much in demand and, in most cases, do not have to meet the occupational experience required. Most openings for social workers specify a basic degree, some graduate work and one or two years of experience.

Nurses must be registered and must have taken the usual college course. Most openings for physical therapists call for some experience in addition to the basic educational requirements. Dieticians are in very much the same position as nurses, the appropriate degree being the basic requirement.

At present, electrical engineers are in demand in Columbus, Cincinnati and Akron among other places. Mechanical engineers are wanted in Cleveland, Columbus and Akron while those in the civil engineering field are needed in the latter two cities.

Nurses are badly needed in Chillicothe but there are additional openings in Dayton and Warren. The BUC has single orders for dieticians in Chillicothe, Dayton and Youngstown.

Cleveland, Akron, Chillicothe, Cincinnati and Warren are among the cities listing openings for pharmacists. Youngstown, Dayton and Cincinnati have openings for physical therapists.

Employers in Canton, Akron and Columbus want architectural draftsmen while Akron has had a steady demand for mechanical draftsmen.

YoCo Baseball Season Opens April 16

Coach Dom Roselli has announced that YoCo's 1949 baseball schedule will begin April 16 when the Penguins face Fenn College at Evans Field. Baldwin-Wallace, Akron, and Waynesburg are among the formidable Ohio and Pennsylvania teams who will furnish Youngstown College with tough opposition this year.

The majority of last year's players won't return to aid the team. Pitchers Bloom and Spahia, catchers Semansky and Notman, and Paul and George DeMont, infielder and outfielder respectively, are a few of those who will be missing when the team takes the field. Many newcomers will be competing for first string positions, however, and Coach Roselli feels confident that his team will hold its own in competition with the other strong college nines.

All the positions, especially the key ones, are open and everyone is welcomed to try out. Practice sessions are slated tentatively for the week of March 14. The weather, of course, is unpredictable and may force a change in plans. Definite notice will soon be posted on the bulletin boards of the main hall. So warm up your throwin' arm and sharpen up that battin' eye, fellas; we're off on another season of umpire battin'.

Newmanites, Phi Sigs Lead in Bowling League

NEWMAN CLUB and PHI SIGS kept their lead in the Men's Intra-Mural Bowling League. The two teams are tied for first place with the SHARKS and BLUE RIBBON hot on their heels.

NEWMAN CLUB took two games from ALPHA PHI OMEGA with Lynch's 501 high, while Pisan's 467 was the best for the losers.

PHI SIGS won two from PI BETA CHI. Conklin's 529 and Quirk's 499 were high sets.

Lowly TINYS came through with two wins from the SHARKS. The losses dropped them into second place. Uansuch and Evans were high men with 550 and 490 respectively.

KAPPA SIGS took three from the first half champs SIGMA SIGMA. Hagerty's 233 game and 558 set was high for the winners, while Paul Delic's 215-203 games with a 597 was high for the losers.

E-Z MARKET bowled twice to BLUE RIBBON. Heaton's 560 and Sheffield's 545 were high.

PHI GAMS had a bye for the week. Dickson rolled a 551.

BOE RHOADES sang his farewell song a few weeks ago by taking individual honors rolling a high single game of 254.

Jokers Cop Intra-Mural Pesut is High Point-Man

by Jim Mahoney

In a close contest at the YMCA the Jokers captured the title game of the YoCo Intra-Mural Basketball League, defeating Nu Sigma Rho "A", 38-34. Keeping out in front during most of the game, the Jokers led N. S. Rho 10-8 at the end of the first quarter, 20-15, at the half, and 27-24 going into the last period. High scorer for the winners was Ramsbottom with 18 points. Watson led the losers in the scoring column, netting 13 points. Each member of the championship team will receive an award for his outstanding play in league action.

All wasn't sadness for Nu Sigma Rho, however, for their star forward, Joe Pesut, led the entire league in individual scoring, Joe, who played tackle for the freshman eleven in '47, racked up 10 points in the championship game to bring his total for nine games to 189, an average of 21 points per game. Congratulations, Joe! We hope you enjoy looking at that gold trophy.

The Intra-Mural league was a great success this year, under Dom Roselli's supervision and with the cooperation of student director Joe Bernard everyone had a swell time. We hope all you fellows will be back next year for a bigger and better season.

Bill Jennings on trombone and Fuzzy Marinelli on baritone sax. Scrubie Mould and Ralph Moranto will hold down the vocal spots for the music makers. Two original compositions, 'Dissenion,' and 'Psycho-maniac,' will be aired also.

Council Regulates Notices And Posters

No posters or notices are to be tacked or nailed to the auditorium doors, according to an announcement by Council's Discipline Committee. Scotch tape must be used on all wooden surfaces and no posters may be placed on walls. All notices for the bulletin board in the main hall must be no longer than 3 x 5 and must be dated. A five-day limit will be enforced. Any violations of these rules will bring action by the Committee.

The class, composed mainly of veterans, was taking a psychology exam. One Bright Boy, who literally knew all the answers, began tapping them out in Morse code.

But seconds later an answering tapping came from the instructor's desk. "Too bad, boys; I was in the Army, too."

Even organized religion could be a self-supporting institution. Instead of a sort of free soup dispensary, if its patrons were compelled to pay in proportion to the material blessings they have already received.
