

Bookstore Initiates New Policy

A new bookstore policy allowing students only two weeks to purchase certain books has come as an unpleasant surprise to many students. Mr. George B. Conner, Director of the YSU Bookstore, explained that under this policy current books not used the following quarter will be sent back to the publisher in approximately two weeks to make room for new books being ordered. Mr. Conner anticipates problems with supplementary material since students usually don't buy them at the beginning of the quarter but wait to purchase them as reading assignments are during the quarter.

Mr. Conner told the Jambar that many campuses have a similar policy. The reason for its introduction at the YSU Bookstore, Mr. Conner states, is the lack of space—a familiar problem in all facets of YSU life. YSU Bookstore currently carries a limited amount of used books for resale.

The limited used book service is due to the manner in which the bookstore is run. Counter-type service does not allow for inspection of used books. Too much time is spent in bringing the books, choosing, then returning those left to the shelves. The standard mark-up for text books sold new is 20% at YSU. Mr. Conner stated that in a bookstore the size of the YSU Bookstore a as it is, prompted the Jambar to look into policies of other nearby state universities.

Ohio State University Bookstores offer a large selection of used books secured from wholesalers around the country. Policy concerning the holding of books not to be used the following quarter is not rigid. A 20% mark-up is also standard at OSU.

A used book service is also available at Kent State. Again, no rigid policy is used in regard to the holding of new books. Some larger books may be returned up to a year after purchase for a refund. A 20% mark-up is used here, too.

Council To Challenge Appointment "Rule"

A motion challenging an unwritten law that no student can serve on more than one student-faculty committee was passed at yesterday's meeting of Student Council. The motion, submitted at the request of Dan Crishon, Student Government president, gave Student Council's approval to appointment of Larry Simko to two student faculty committees. Simko was appointed to the Academic and Discipline Committees as well as to the University Senate.

Dr. Darrell Rishell, dean of Student Affairs, stated during the meeting that the Executive Committee of the University Senate would probably not recognize any of the appointments until the matter is clarified. Dr. John Coffelt, vice-president for administrative affairs, echoed Dr. Rishell's statement and doubted the confirmation of Simko.

Crishon stated following the Council meeting that there is no stipulation in either the Student Council constitution or in any other University document that prevents the appointment of one student to more than one committee. The unwritten rule, he says was the whim of an Executive Committee ruling.

No confusion took place in the approval of twenty-six other students to council. The new student members and their committees are as follows:

Full-Time Professors Number 441-

Faculty Expanded By 66

Sixty new full-time faculty members have been added for the fall quarter, boosting the full-service number to 441, according to Dr. E. Edgar, vice-president for academic affairs.

For the first time, a majority of YSU full-time faculty now holds earned doctorates in their areas of specialization. Dr. Edgar said 52.2 per cent of the instructional staff have Ph.D. degrees this fall, compared to 48 per cent last year.

The largest number of new faculty, 37, have joined the College of Arts and Sciences, while eight each have been added to the Technical and Community College and the School of Business Administration. The School of Engineering gained five persons, and the Dana School of Music and the School of Education each added three new faculty members, while two joined the library staff.

The university also expects to add several more faculty in coming weeks. Two major academic positions, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and dean of the Graduate School are still unfilled and university officials are currently interviewing prospective candidates.

Dr. Edgar said the additional faculty have enabled the university to expand and strengthen its academic program.

A new policy adopted by the faculty senate last spring shifted many basic courses from three-hour to four- and five-hour courses, increasing the amount

Heart Attack-

Egypt's Chief Is Dead

CAIRO AP — President Gamal Abdel Nasser, for a generation a shining hero in the violent world of the Arabs, died Monday of a massive heart attack, Cairo radio announced. He was 52.

His death was a political earthquake in the Middle East. It came as Nasser and other Arab rulers were struggling to deal with the backlash of Jordan's civil war.

Anwar Sadat, a longtime associate of Nasser who became vice-president last year, and now succeeds to the presidency, announced the death of his comrade.

"Nasser was struck by a massive and severe heart attack after returning to his home and after finishing the last ceremonies of the Arab summit meeting," Sadat said in somber, sorrowful tones.

President Nixon, receiving the news aboard the USS Saratoga in the Mediterranean, called it a "tragic loss." He said all nations,

"particularly those in the Middle East," would renew their efforts to calm passions and work for a lasting peace.

Nixon's current diplomacy is closely related to the security of the Mediterranean and the Middle East situation in general.

Some diplomats believe Sadat may be less inclined to moderation but they said it was extremely difficult to assess the impact of Nasser's death immediately.

Once Nasser was a leading exponent of driving Israelis into the sea. In recent weeks he seemed more moderate, supporting the idea that negotiations on the over-all crisis might be possible. This stand had threatened to tarnish his image among the most militant of the Arabs.

Now complexity is added to an already complicated picture. The Arab leaders at summit sessions had worked out hastily an agreement which was supposed to settle the Jordanian violence while leaving unresolved the basic conflict between the Jordanian army and the Palestinian guerrillas. A truce commission has been appointed, but its authority has been couched in ambiguous phrases. Such an agreement could be far more difficult to carry out now.

Anyone with a mind: You are needed to work on the infamous 1971 Neon Staff. Come to the third floor of East Hall now.

Crishon Defines Goals Of New Administration

A rewriting of the old Student Government Constitution is one of the major projects Student Government under its president, Dan Crishon, will undertake this year.

Crishon, in a recent interview, said that the present constitution is meaningless because the powers of Student Government are not clearly spelled out. Crishon pointed out that along with a rewriting of the Student Government Constitution there is a need for a complete revision of the Disciplinary Code. Social regulations must be revised, too, Crishon said.

Crishon has all committees prepared for the 1970-71 academic term, but new students are needed to fill positions on these committees. The Faculty-Evaluation Committee is set up again this year and headed by Larry Simko.

One of Crishon's newest projects for student government is to hopefully set up a Draft-Counseling System for the men on campus who have draft questions or problems.

Crishon feels that this could be a good year for cooperation between Student Government and the administration. His advice to the students is "Get more involved with what's happening on your campus."

Draft Resister Mailman—

Beacom Holds Federal Job

The saying says the last laugh is the best one. If that is so, David Beacom YSU's first draft resister, seems to be one up in his relationship with the federal government.

Beacom, 20, a junior in Arts and Sciences, and a federally indicted draft resister, worked for a period this summer for the federal Post Office. He was summarily fired when Post Office officials discovered some six weeks later that Beacom was indicted the very day he was sworn in as a civil service employee.

The entire paradox began last spring when Beacom sought employment at the Post Office. He took and passed the Civil Service examinations and, prior to his hiring, told officials that he had never been indicted for any crime. That very afternoon Beacom received notice of his indictment.

Beacom said he was, in fact, indicted on January 17, 1970, but was not notified of his indictment until late April after he had been hired. He said he was not made aware of his indictment date until he was fired by the Post Office.

Postmaster Chester Baily sent a registered letter to Beacom that terminated Beacom's employment with the federal government for reasons that were not in the interest of the Postal Service.

Beacom is still amused by the entire incident, and views his federal earnings as a "federal subsidy to draft resisters." He amusingly tells of reactions by employees who recognized him and of mailmen who vowed to "keep the secret."

He first sent back his draft card in November 1968. He has not yet been notified of his leaving date.

Curriculum Granted Accreditation

The Engineers' Council for Professional Development (ECPD) has granted full accreditation to the metallurgical engineering curriculum at Youngstown State University and re-accredited the curricula in the departments of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering in the William Rayen School of Engineering, it was announced today by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president.

The action followed an inspection visit by the ECPD to the School of Engineering earlier this year and the approval of the executive committee of the ECPD on July 13.

The department of metallurgical engineering now joins the departments of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering in having both its day and evening curricula fully accredited.

The School of Engineering was first accredited in 1954 by the ECPD in both mechanical and electrical engineering. The civil engineering department curriculum was fully accredited for day and evening programs in 1959, with reconfirmation granted for all three departments in 1964.

In granting accreditation and reaccreditation, the ECPD report noted that the School of Engineering has shown progress since its (ECPD's) previous visit with respect to facilities and faculty, many of whom have been recruited recently.

Under the direction of Dr. M. Jean Charignon, the School of Engineering provides a rigorous discipline in engineering based on a sound understanding of the fundamental sciences and arts upon which all engineering rests. Each curriculum combines the three interrelated programs of basic science, a technical field, and liberal arts.

Abolish Student Council

Student Council has come to mean many things at many times at this institution. In the past several years it has been restructured, revamped, and renamed in order that it may seem important. The unfortunate truth of the matter is that Student Council is a token organization that pretends to provide leadership and fails in providing responsible student legislation for this University.

From the outside, Council appears to be a respectable operation. Representatives are elected in general elections held twice each year and these representatives are expected to serve their respective constituencies. The facade becomes apparent when one realizes that only 10% of the student body votes in Student Council elections and the interests (or non-interests of those who don't vote) of the other 90% are not considered. Moreover, Council has shown time and time again that constituencies, no matter how small, are not important when personal interests are at stake.

On the inside, Council becomes even less effective when one considers the power of the organization. According to the Student Government Constitution, Council "exercises concurrently with the University and administration power delegated to it by the president and faculty of Youngstown State University." This means that, in effect, Council lacks the power to initiate any University reform without the permission of either the President or the University Senate.

To add insult to injury, Council meetings are generally filled with petty arguments in order that boredom can be avoided. Yesterday's Council meeting serves as an example of where Council's priorities are at. Most of the meeting was consumed by quibbling over stipends for officers while the major issue of student appointments to student-faculty committees went unquestioned.

The whole theory of student commitment and involvement in the University structure falls apart in a glance at our Student Council. The level of ineffectiveness of Council can adequately be measured by the remarks of Ray Yozwiak, vice chairman of Council, when he was questioned on how he reached his sequence of leadership formula on the stipend issue. Yozwiak responded that he either pulled the formula "from the back of my head, or the seat of my pants."

We feel that Student Council has been existing by the seat of their pants for a long time.

Letters To The Editor Expresses View On Inflation

To the editor of the Jambar:

My compliments to Miss Ronnie Bell (advertised in Friday's JAMBAR - 25th) for her amazing (or is it?) ability to increase &/or decrease her fantastic bust measurements from a mere 44 inches to a more realistic measure of 47 inches. This

Views Photo As Pornographic

To the editor of the Jambar:

My son is a senior student at YSU. He always brings the Jambar home and I usually look through it and then keep it around the house for a few days in case any other members of the family care to look at it. Apparently I can't do this anymore...not after viewing the September 25 issue.

I have no doubt that pornographic photos have their place on today's college campuses, but do you think their place is in a paper that is apt to be read by families of the student?

Mrs. E.E. Clark

Comments On Social Regulations

To the editor of the Jambar:

It has come to my attention (through a recent summer Jambar) that the University has taken great forward strides toward liberalizing the social regulations. Now we can have 3.2 beer in fraternity and sorority houses. Girls (did you get that mom and dad?) are permitted in the fraternity house between one and seven p.m. My God, what's this world coming to?

There also seems to be a certain amount of prejudice as to who is on the Board that made the decision. Both Dean Painter and Dean Rishel were members of the minority who voted against any liberalization of the social rules at the faculty-student senate meeting. Painter and Rishel were two of the four who had the final say on what the final choice was. That's the way to pick them, President Pugsley.

Bill Thomas, Soph. Educ.

University Forum

The opinions expressed in the University Forum are not necessarily those of the Jambor staff.

We invite comments on subjects of general interest to the university community. These short essays will be published as time and space permits.

This Fall, the Young Americans for Freedom are initiating a plan to show majority support on campus for firm action against radical extremists who seek to destroy our educational system. The name of our plan is the Blue Button Campaign. The Blue Button Campaign originated 2 years ago in California where students wanted to show that most students are against the campus crazies who breaking heads rather than cracking books. They came up with the Blue Button as a symbol of the opposition to the violence and terrorism of our nation's new Nazis - the radical, leftwing militants who believe in no one's rights but their own. The Blue Button soon spread from campus to campus. Notable people such as Ronald Reagan and S.J. Hayakawa have worn the button.

This week, Young Americans for Freedom, a national organization with over 55,000 members and over 500 college chapters who believe in freedom at home and opposition to Communist imperialism abroad, is having press conferences across the nation to announce the Blue Button Campaign. This part of YAF's all-out effort to make it possible for students to pursue their education in peace.

I invite all students to assist us with this worthwhile campaign.

YSU students nominated for exceptional academic potential by individual faculty members met Thursday afternoon in the Audio-Visual Room of the Library to participate in the Keola program. Keola, which is Hawaiian for life, is a program which brings together students with intellectual interests from a variety of majors. The primary part of the program will be small discussion groups which will meet regularly throughout the quarter. Another aspect of the program will be the availability of information concerning graduate schools.

Used books at Cleveland State come from both students and wholesalers. The CSU bookstore waits until mid-term to return books to the publishers. This seems to be a very sensible policy if a return policy is necessary. A mark-up of 20% is used here also.

Contest Offers Prizes For Opinion Essays

Students with strong views on what's wrong-or right-with higher education now have a chance to get wide dissemination of their opinions and a chance to win prizes for these views as well.

Furthermore, the contest sponsors, both communication specialists, promise to send the best essays to members of Congress, top Washington officials, the nation's press, and educators across the country. The contest, sponsored by Hermes Typewriters and Newsweek magazine, involves submitting a thousand words or less typed on any machine describing the changes the student believes necessary in the structure or policy of America's colleges or universities.

Winners—one from each of five regions of the country—will be chosen by the staff of Newsweek's Education Department. Each will receive a Hermes 3000 Portable, a year's subscription to Newsweek, and a scroll acknowledging the winners contribution to solutions for campus unrest. Runners-up in each region will receive a Hermes Rocket Portable, a Newsweek subscription and a scroll. In addition, Newsweek will have winning essays reproduced and sent to the people with the most influence in shaping our nation's policies. The Journal decided to follow a typical freshman through one of her first days at YSU. A transplanted South Sider, Valerie Ann Smallwood, 17, graduated from Boardman High School last spring and as a freshman at YSU, is one of 53 students enrolled in the Associate of Arts Nursing program leading to an R.N. Like 6,000 other Freshman, Valerie is taking Communications in addition to Biology, Nutrition, and Nursing.

Jaworski Stars- Penguins Lose

Although Youngstown State lost its second game of the season to Southern Illinois 45-20, Dwight "Dike" Beede may have uncovered a new YSU passing combination in the process.

With the ink hardly dry on the Penguin records of Denny Klembara and Dave DeSignore, the Jaworski-to-Ferranti combo served notice it intends to do some record setting, too.

That would be Ron Jaworski (Ja-WAR-ski), sophomore quarterback from Lackawanna, N.Y., and Bob Ferranti, sophomore split end from Boardman. Ferranti and Rosie Blackwell, junior fullback from Cleveland J.F. Kennedy, both tied the YSU one-game receiving mark of seven in the loss to the Salukis. Ferranti caught 7 passes for 108 yards including an 11-yard scoring strike from Jaworski. Blackwell grabbed 7 tosses for 60 yards.

Jaworski, who took over midway through the second period with the Penguins behind 17-0, used 11 plays to march YSU 59 yards for its first score on a one-yard plunge by Blackwell. Jaworski hit on four of seven passes in the drive, three to George Miller and one to Mike Pacak. In all Jaworski connected on 18 of 35 tosses for 209 yards and one score. He was intercepted twice.

Klembara, who had the Penguins inside the SIU 20 twice but couldn't get them on the board, completed 6 of 11 for 88 yards. Klembara took YSU to the Salukis 15 with the opening kickoff where Fred Bruderly missed a 32-yard field goal.

Defensively, Beede has found a new star in aggressive linebacker Tom Perantoni, a freshman from Youngstown Wilson. Perantoni showed he can do it all as he made six unassisted tackles, helped on eight others and knocked down a pass. He spilled Salukis quarterback twice for losses of 2 and 13 yards, forcing fumbles both times and recovering one.

New Social Regulations Permit Beer, Extra Visiting Privileges

Major changes in the social regulations at Youngstown State University, which include permitting 3.2 beer in fraternity houses and entertaining guests of the opposite sex in sorority and fraternity houses during certain periods, will be effective fall quarter, it was announced by Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, Dean of Student Affairs.

Fraternities and other chartered student organizations which maintain off-campus residence facilities may keep, use, and serve within the house, beer containing not more than 3.2 per cent alcohol in accordance with Ohio laws. Alcoholic beverages are also permissible at any private function, as sold by the management, where the establishment has a liquor license.

Regarding visitation privileges, guests of the opposite sex may be entertained in the general lounge areas of fraternity and sorority houses without registration and between the hours of noon and 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. They may not visit at other times unless a registered social function is scheduled.

Dr. Rishel is hopeful that the new rules will fulfill the needs of the students. He added that due to the University's primary interest in students, the Student Activities Office has been established this year with a two-member staff devoting their full time to student activities.

Serving as director is John Bernacki, former director of the Memorial Student Center at East Texas State University, and assistant director is Joseph Luppert, former head residence hall counselor at Eastern Illinois University.

Changes in the social regulations were proposed last spring by Dan Crishon, president of the YSU Student Government, and recommendations were presented by the Student Affairs Committee to the University Senate and the Board of Trustees.

The new rules were formed in conjunction with the Dean of Men, John Gillespie, Dean of Women, Dr. Edith Painter, and the Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Dr. John Coffelt.
