

Student Govt. Attacks Bookstore

The YSU Bookstore has been charged with not adhering to its purpose of serving students and faculty in an investigative report filed yesterday by Larry Delino, Special Projects chairman of Student Government.

Delino, who was commissioned by Student Government President Dan Crishon to investigate bookstore policy, procedure, service, and prices, attacked the bookstore and its director George B. Conner for instituting the new "two-week return" policy, and not providing service to students and faculty.

Mr. Conner said he has not as yet seen the report and declined comment on the charges.

Report Lists Suggestions

The report, based on the investigation which started June 3, 1970, includes written testimony from eight of Ohio's eleven state universities. The report lists comparisons with other bookstore operations, opinions on the current operation of the bookstore, and suggestions to the bookstore, administration, and students for improvement.

The report concluded that there is extreme bitterness toward bookstore procedures. It stated that 90% of the students including those on the right and left, Greeks and independents, athletes, intellectuals, part-time students, full-time students, feel that they are being exploited.

Self-Service Found

Comparisons with other university bookstores showed that the majority of the universities had self-service bookstores that were working efficiently. The majority also responded that large quantities of used books were stocked. None of the university stores had two-week policies that allowed students to purchase books only during the first two weeks of the quarter.

The report indicated that most bookstores showed a profit and that a mark-up of 20% is standard. Students are allowed to buy books on credit at several universities.

Says Eliminate New Policy

The report made four specific suggestions to the bookstore: (1) that a second location for book sales be established for a limited time at the beginning of the quarter, (2) that the two-week sales period be eliminated, (3) that refunds be handled in a business-type manner, and (4) that students be hired to eliminate "rude clerk complaints."

Wants Joint Investigation

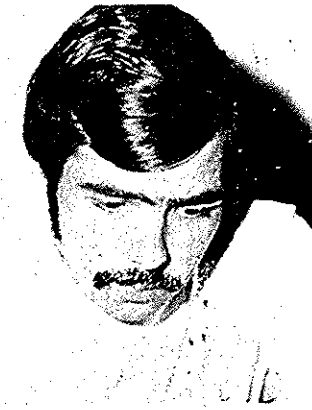

The report also suggested that the administration endorse a formal investigation of student dissatisfaction with the bookstore, and advised a joint investigating committee between the administration and Student Government.

A student boycott of the bookstore was recommended by the report if no effective measures are taken.

Copies Available

Copies of the investigative report are available on request at Student Government offices, room 112, Kilcawley.

CONGESTION — Once a student has endured the long lines to get into the Bookstore he is confronted by a congested area in which he must wait until his order can be processed by the Bookstore staff.

Study Facilities In Short Supply

YSU students have seen the general degeneration of both the quality and quantity of study areas and lounges during 1970 — and YSU President Albert L. Pugsley yesterday announced plans to alleviate the situation as much as possible.

Perhaps the most noticeable has been the elimination of the Student Lounge in Kilcawley. The most serious changes have occurred in the YSU Library.

The loss of the Student Lounge in Kilcawley was attributed to the complaints of resident students. Resident students and previous occupants of the present "coffee shop" complained of the lack of a private lounge and recreation room. Students who used the Student Lounge requested the right to play music and have food in the area. As a result of this situation a joint committee of resident students and Dean Darrell F. Rishel set up the arrangements that presently exist. Resident students now occupy the old Faculty Lounge and the faculty now uses the old Student Lounge.

Combined lounge and snack areas on campus are limited to the Engineering Science Building and Central Hall. The area in the basement of the Rayen Building is not in use this fall due to a fire this past summer.

Students complain that there is nowhere to go on campus. Most avoid the cafeteria due to the Greek domination of the tables. They feel that they are out of place. Many go to the City Library on Wick to study. Others can be found on the steps of campus buildings, on benches, in cars, and wherever a space conducive to study can be found.

The YSU Library, a building meant to be the center of study and research, has grown in size. Dr. George H. G. Jones, the YSU librarian, told the Jambar that "when the library building was first built, it was intended that the Tod Hall part be used for classrooms until it was needed for library purposes. It is essential that the entire building be used as a library at this time." He explains that the walls could be easily knocked down allowing for the extension of

Commission Sees Police Reaction As Unjustified

WASHINGTON (AP) - The President's Commission on Campus Unrest concluded Thursday that the deadly hail of shotgun, rifle and submachine gun fire by police against a crowd of Jackson State college students was an "unreasonable, unjustified overreaction."

Two students were killed and 12 wounded in the May 14 incident. Police earlier said they fired only in response to sniper fire from a women's dormitory - an allegation the commission said it was unable to substantiate.

Fusillade Unwarranted

"Even if we were to assume two shots were fired from a window in the west wing of Alexander Hall," the commission said, "the 28 second fusillade in response was clearly unwarranted."

The commission added "a significant cause of the deaths and injuries at Jackson State College is the confidence of white officers that if they fire weapons during a black campus disturbance they will face neither stern departmental discipline nor criminal prosecution or conviction."

Police Deny Firing

Moreover, the panel said some city police officers "established a pattern of deceit" by denying they had discharged their weapons.

FBI tests later confirmed the weapons had been fired, the commission said.

Every officer who admitted firing testified he fired into the air or toward a third and fifth floor window where snipers allegedly were hiding.

"The physical evidence and the positions of the victims, however, indicate that the officers were firing indiscriminantly into the crowd at ground level on both sides of Lynch Street," the commission said.

"The commission has not attempted to assess guilt or innocence, but has sought to learn what happened and why," the report stated.

The commission concluded that a crowd of 75 to 200 persons gathered in front of Alexander Hall. There were incidents of rock and bottle throwing at police officers, the commission said, and many students yelled obscene and derogatory remarks to the officers.

the stacks and the increase of present study space. Present study facilities can accommodate approximately 611 students. As new books are processed and shelved, study areas will be moved to the stairways and eventually eliminated. Students are turned away by the hundreds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings for lack of room. Dr. Pugsley told the Jambor that to turn over Tod Hall to the library would result in student inconvenience in class scheduling. Students might have to settle for a 4 p.m. class in the Engineering Science Building rather than a 10 a.m. class in Tod. Tod is one of the most heavily used buildings for classroom purposes.

Acting on a Jambor suggestion, Dr. Pugsley and Nick J. Leonelli, Planning Director, will release to the Jambor a listing of vacant rooms during the day to be used by students for studying purposes. This will be done each quarter until adequate facilities are ready. The first list will be published in the Oct. 9 Jambor issue.

Present university plans call for the alleviation of most space problems by Fall, 1973. Both Dr. Pugsley and Dr. Rishel voiced appreciation of student patience and co-operation to date.

Parking Decks Delayed For 6 More Weeks

Three-tiered parking decks which are expected to ease parking congestion on campus, have been delayed for another six weeks. Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice-president for Administrative Affairs, said yesterday that designing technicalities involving the unexpectedly large number of bidders are the major cause of the delay.

The decks which are to provide an additional 1600 parking spaces were originally scheduled for completion by the start of fall quarter. Difficulties in planning of decks occurred and the completion date was set back to the beginning of winter quarter. Construction is currently expected to start during Christmas break and dislocation of present parking facilities on the proposed construction site should not take place until winter quarter.

The University has acquired rights to property that is presently being prepared for parking

AAUP Invites Entire Faculty To Reception

The YSU Chapter of the American Association of University Professors has invited the entire faculty, including administrative officers holding faculty rank, to a "Fall Get-Together" reception this Sunday.

According to Dr. Alice Budge, Assistant Professor of English and secretary of the organization, more than 700 invitations were mailed out during the past week.

The reception will be held from 4 to 7 P.M. at the home of Dr. Robert R. Hare, Associate Professor of English and President of the association. He has urged faculty members who have not responded to the invitation, and who can attend, to telephone him or Dr. Budge.

The first business meeting of the YSU AAUP will be held at 7 P.M. Wednesday, October 7, in Kilcawley Faculty Lounge.

Architect's working drawings of the new concrete structure are expected in about two weeks. State approval should become official about ten days later. Bids on the actual construction are scheduled for early November.

Positive Reaction

It is refreshing to realize, at times, that student initiative and effort does not always go for naught, that problems can be recognized and solved promptly through communication.

The two stories on the front page of today's issue describe entirely different occurrences, but in effect, relate the same theme; students trying to correct problems in our University by communicating.

One story, which describes the lack of adequate study facilities on campus, has drawn immediate reaction from the administration. The other, which tells of an attempt to remedy a source of major discontent, the bookstore, will be tested shortly.

The administration should be congratulated for its prompt, and positive reaction to the study room shortage. President Pugsley understood and immediately recognized the need for better facilities. His response was to take action on the problem.

Now, the bookstore operation is under fire. Clearly, the problem is as great as the study room shortage. More importantly, the suggestions in Larry Delino's report have merit and have been successfully carried out at other universities. The question now is if the report will bring about change.

Charges, challenges, and solutions abound at YSU. Real progress is a rare commodity. Not until students and administration begin to understand each other can positive reactions take place. There is indeed merit in the adage, "Actions speak louder than words."

Letters To The Editor

Feels Students Are Exploited

To the editor of the Jambar:

I have been going to Youngstown State University for a year and I have never had any trouble with parking, until now.

If I leave at 8:15 for my 9:00 class and think I will get a parking space and be on time for class I am only kidding myself. So I leave at 7:30 and when I am still in line for parking at 8:45 I get a bit impatient.

The other day I saw a nice parking space on a street near the campus. (Bryson street by Buechner Hall to be exact.) Although the street is wide enough for cars to park on one side, there are "no parking" signs on both sides. With the parking situation the way it is and my being late for class, I thought no one would mind my parking there for a few hours.

When I returned to my car at 11:30 I was dismayed to see a nice big parking ticket on my windshield. How can any University policeman have the nerve and gall to give me (or anyone else) a ticket when I paid fifteen dollars for parking and have to wait two hours to get into a parking lot not fit for any vehicle? When the parking attendants are turning dozens of students away because of filled lots what are the students expected to do; drive around for hours until we find a little mud-hole mile away or pay huge sums to park in a lot downtown?

This is very unfair and I am tired of the students being exploited the way we are.

Corrects Ronnie's Bible Quote

To the editor of the Jambar:

In reflecting upon the recent quote by Miss Bell, in your September 29th issue, I find that I must offer some correction. I should submit that I am no authority on the Bible, so my remarks are based solely on my own understanding of scripture.

The quote I am referring to states, "as the Bible maintains, a woman should serve her husband as a man should serve his Lord." In an attempt to refrain from reading anything into Miss Bell's comment, I concerned myself primarily with, "as the Bible maintains,....". To my knowledge, the Bible, taken in its entirety, never even implies that we should serve one another as we serve our God. In fact, one of the commandments states, "thou shalt have no other Gods before me."

The Bible does offer a basic plan for marriage which God has designed for our good, and it does place the woman in subjection to her husband. But, her first responsibility is to God. For any who might be interested, the sixth chapter of Matthew offers advice on this subject, especially the 24th verse: "no man can serve two masters:...."

I would agree that a woman was designed to help a man, but that is a far cry from the type of service one pays his Lord.

It never ceases to amaze me that whether one believes the Bible as God's word or not, it is constantly referred to, (out of context), to prove a point. Quite frankly, I resent the carefree and indifferent handling of scripture.

Respectfully submitted,
Marguerite Patterson

Puzzled Over Use Of Asterisks

To the editor of the Jambar:

I must admit that the half page spread [sic] of Ronnie Bell in your first fall issue was a far cry from your "Classmates of the Week" of years gone by. A great improvement, too.

One thing bothered me, however. Your unprecedented use of asterisks as pasties puzzled me. Mr. Webster says an asterisk is "...a star (*) used in writing as a reference mark or to indicate omission, doubtful matter, etc."

I hardly felt your asterisks in the above mentioned picture were needed as reference marks. The reference was quite clear. And they (the asterisks) were ill suited dimensionally to do the job. After all, Adam wore a fig leaf, not a pine needle.

Since they were obviously not needed as reference marks, are we, your loyal readers, to assume they indicate omission or doubtful matter?

I found very little omission and even less doubt as to the matter involved.

Please clarify this question before I begin to wonder if the Jambar does indeed have any "redeeming social value." Forward your reply, in a plain brown wrapper, to the address hereon.

Thank you,
R. Wilbur LaVogue, Jr.

Criticizes Nine Point Rifle Range

To the editor of the Jambar:

There is a rumor now that the new physical education building, being built on Elm Street, will have a nine point rifle range as an added feature to its many facilities. If this is true, Youngstown State will have one of the largest indoor rifle ranges in Ohio (The average usually being a five point range.)

The rumor also mentions that a couple of handball courts have been eliminated to provide enough space for the construction of our nine point rifle range.

I guess the main reason for having such a large rifle range can be credited to the ever growing ROTC and Police Science courses offered on our campus.

If all of the factors of this rumor are true; and I were a Phys. Ed. student I would be a little upset in losing handball facilities to a nine point rifle range. Secondly, if I were a regular, every kind of a major student, I would be wondering why YSU is building an extra large rifle range when there are just barely enough classrooms to meet the ever-growing student enrollment. And thirdly, if I were a tax payer I would be a little disturbed to see my tax money being spent on a nine point rifle range where students are trained to the art of shooting a gun.

What I have presented to you is just a rumor. If it is true then I guess I have brought something out into the open. If it is not true then I guess I have just aroused a little curiosity among the concerned student and added a bit of excitement to their academic life.

University Forum: Student Teachers Form Ad Hoc Committee

The opinions expressed in the University Forum are not necessarily those of the Jambar staff.

We invite comments on subjects of general interest to the university community. These short essays will be published as time and space permits.

Welcome Freshmen?

Freshmen, Welcome to YSU. Let us see what is in store for you. Over here we have our ex-student lounge, now occupied by Faculty and Staff, while we lucky students get the whole cafeteria, and a jukebox!!! Isn't it a shame that Faculty and Staff must put up with the carpeted floors and plush furniture while we get tiles and kitchen chairs?

Next we have the Engineering Building, it too has a student lounge, if you can find it. Ah, here it is. If you think it looks like hell, wait until you feel it! This particular lounge has a long history. Once it was located in an oblong room with nice lighting that gave the place atmosphere. If you don't know what atmosphere is look it up. It was used quite a bit around here a couple of years ago, until the administration killed it. However the ruling was justifiable homicide since it was either killing it or not getting those cute Penguin signs in front of Rayen School. Then they had to make room for a classroom so the lounge was put next to a sink labeled "Chemical Wastes Only." After that some offices were needed and it was moved here, wherever this is.

I hope you all see that man in the hall. Stay away from him!!! He sells parking lot stickers. Actually next year they will have to stop selling, you know. Buying one is illegal gambling. Next is the YSU Bookstore. Last year they brought in automatic change machines. You get your change faster, but you wait longer to get it. However the people in there are very friendly. They smile quite a bit. People always smile when they take a lot of your money. This year they have a new policy. You can't buy books after the first two weeks. This makes for smarter students, since some books don't come until the third week.

Up away from the bookstore is the Jambar office. The Jambar thinks Student Council should be abolished. If S.C. knew this, the members would be angry. However, they aren't because Student Councilmen don't read the Jambar. No one reads the Jambar although a few look at the dirty pictures.

However, Student Council has its uses. It entertains those students who know it exists. In fact, now they are arguing over the seating of a student on a committee and were arguing about new social rules. Student Council is as relevant as a situation comedy. In fact, some people think that's what it is.

YSU is a very special school. It is the only college in America with magicians enrolled. Elsewhere they are known as radicals. These magicians are very good at disappearing. But they can do other tricks, too. In fact during one controversy last spring, they made the administration appear, before our very eyes. Then they disappeared the administration, and promptly went away themselves. No one knows where they are now.

However, we also have our Silent Majority. Everyone knows it exists, because people with short hair are always saying to people with long hair, "The silent majority is going to get you." One thing for sure, the people with short hair aren't part of it.

So this is YSU, Freshmen. Enjoy it. If you think it's bad, wait till next year. It will get worse.

This paper was found in a vacant office in the Business Administration building. The office was originally meant for the Freshmen Orientation Staff. However, the project was abandoned in order to have money to make 5,000 parking stickers. I have passed it to the Jambar in the hope that some Freshman will still benefit.

John Manses

The department of student teaching at Youngstown State University has formed an ad hoc advisory committee on the YSU student teaching program to aid in exchanging information and gaining supervisory aid while working with student teachers, it was announced today by Wilbert M. Hammack, director of the student teaching program and assistant professor of education.

The committee is composed of 23 educators, including administrators, supervisors, classroom teachers and University personnel, and will meet tomorrow (Thursday, October 1) and Saturday, October 3, in the School of Education building. These meetings have been established so that teachers who are supervising student teachers can receive aid, information and answers to their questions about working with student teachers.

"The Master Teacher at Work," produced by the Teacher Education Committee of the Cleveland Commission on Higher Education, serves as the guideline for each meeting. Policy procedure, supervisory suggestions and question and answer session are taken up at each session.

An initial exploratory meeting was held earlier this month to formulate an agenda for the committee to follow.

Rev. Speicher Named Protestant Chaplain

A "Dynamic Middle" is what Reverend Richard D. Speicher, the recently appointed Protestant Chaplain, wants to create on the Y.S.U. campus this year. Reverend Speicher, who was selected by the executive committee of the Youngstown Area Council of Churches, sees himself as an interpreter of student concerns to the church, and of church concerns to the student; thus, creating what he calls a "Dynamic Middle."

As the new Protestant Chaplain, Reverend Speicher feels that one of his major responsibilities is to represent a cooperative Christian ministry on campus. He would like to provide religious and spiritual resources for interested students.

Since his resignation as pastor of the Woodworth Church of the Brethren in early August, Reverend Speicher has been trying to set up programs for the campus. His major program idea is to set up a Protestant organization similar to the Newman Club with one of the campus-area churches serving as a meeting place.

Formerly located in East Hall, the office is now located on the second floor of the Council of Churches Building which is located one house north of the Pollock House.

The office which has been located on campus prior to the formation of Youngstown State University was continued on campus at the request of the former Chaplain, Burton N. Cantrell. Following Cantrell's resignation in the Spring of 1970 in order to get students interested in his programs, Reverend Speicher wants to establish personal contacts at Y.S.U. on an individual basis and through normal campus activity.

Zeta Tau Alpha Raises Fund For Mentally Ill

A program designed to benefit mentally retarded children is being sponsored by the sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

To kick off the fund raising for their new national philanthropy, the girls will be seen down on the Central Square of Youngstown on Monday, October 5 from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. - doing of all things -

RIDING A BICYCLE!

In keeping with the theme of "Keep the Wheels Turning," the sisters will be peddling a mounted bicycle (donated by the G. M. McKelvey Co.,) throughout the entire day, and collecting contributions which will be forwarded to the National Association for Retarded Children.

Mentor Program Continues To Assist YSU Students

The Mentor Program, which is state funded, has been operating on YSU's campus for several years. The purpose of this program is to give help to any YSU student who is experiencing academic difficulty.

In the school year of 1968-69, there were a total of 299 students who received help from the agency. However, in the year of 1969-70, a total of 481 students received help. This increase in the amount of students receiving help from this service is an 153% increase. We are hoping that more people will take advantage of the services offered.

The qualifications are very simple: In order to be tutored, all one has to do is to come in to the tutoring office, Room 16, Ford Hall and request help. Then the student co-ordinators will secure a tutor. This program is not just for those who need help but also for those who want to give help. Any student wishing to serve as a tutor may do so if he or she is in good standing with the University. The tutors are paid two dollars an hour for their time. Another stipulation is that a person desiring to become a tutor cannot hold another on-campus job.

The Mentor Program not only is a tutoring service but it also acts as an orientation service for students. It stresses some of the important aspects of university life. It encourages students to take time, when possible, to become acquainted with their instructors and gain help there when available.

Marlene Sanders Speaks On Women's New Role

ABC-TV's only woman news correspondent, Marlene Sanders, kicks off the 1970-71 Artist Lecture Series at Youngstown State University, Wednesday, October 14 with an up-to-date topic, "The New Role of Women." Slated to speak at 2 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium, Miss Sanders joined the staff of ABC news in 1964, and currently serves as a general assignment correspondent.

A native of Cleveland, Miss Sanders was educated at Ohio State University, Cleveland College and The Sorbonne. She got her first job in broadcasting on a local New York television news show anchored by Mike Wallace, also working with him as associate producer on his hard-hitting interview show Night Beat.

Miss Sanders co-anchored ABC's coverage of the inauguration of President Lyndon B. Johnson, with Peter Jennings, and during the 1964 presidential campaign, traveled with Mrs. Johnson on her campaign trips, joining the First Lady on several additional excursions on behalf of beautification and Head Start.

More recently, she covered Senator Eugene McCarthy's campaign and the assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy. She was co-host of the halfhour special on the night of the Lynda Bird Johnson-Charles Robb wedding; covered the 1968 West Virginia mine disaster; and was very active in covering student disruptions, being on the scene for all the events at Columbia

Miss Marlene Sanders

University. Her work has also included the political conventions, plus the dramatic coverage of the Democrats in Chicago. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Council Group Considers Downtown Discount Plan

A proposed student discount plan which could save students a specified percentage on purchases from downtown merchants is being considered by the Student Council Finance Committee.

According to Chuck Hettler, Finance Committee Chairman, the downtown merchants would agree to grant a percentage discount to all YSU students upon the presentation of a student ID. Hettler feels that this program could benefit the student by saving him a percentage on all of his purchases and could benefit the downtown merchants by encouraging the students to use these readily available facilities, rather than going to the out-lying shopping centers.

The student discount program has existed in other metropolitan colleges and has proved successful in Pittsburgh and at the University of Kentucky as well as the University of South Carolina. The program can also be extended to downtown theaters.

Prof Proposes Teacher Union

Dr. Bhagwati P. K. Poddar, a YSU assistant professor of sociology, is attempting to start a YSU chapter of the American Federation of Teachers Union.

The AFT is an affiliate of the AFL-CIO and is not related to the American Association of University Professors which has a chapter here.

Dr. Robert R. Hare, president of YSU's AAUP chapter explained that, "there is no necessary incompatibility or conflict between the two organizations (AAUP & AFT), although it is true that they use entirely different approaches to the economic problems of the profession."

Dr. Poddar said that AFT chapters on other campuses have been effective and in many instances, have been responsible for substantial faculty salary increases.

"YSU experiences this spring have shown the need for an effective faculty organization on this campus," said Dr. Poddar.

Plan 7 Shows
At Planetarium
Oct. 15 thru 31

Youngstown State University will present seven public planetarium showings of "The Dawn of Astronomy" as their first program of the 1970-71 academic year. The showings, to be held the middle and latter part of October, are scheduled for the planetarium classroom on the first floor of the Ward Beecher Science Hall.

Astronomy is the oldest of the sciences. In this planetarium program the audience will observe the stars, planets, and unexpected celestial objects which were viewed by the ancients, taking the awesome sky from the hands of legend and placing it at the feet of science.

The showings will be held the following dates and times: Thursday, October 15, 2 p.m.; Friday, October 16, 8 p.m.; Saturday, October 17, 2 and 8 p.m.; Friday, October 30, 8 p.m.; and Saturday, October 31, 2 and 8 p.m.

Reservations to any of the public showings may be made by calling the planetarium at SPRING STREET CLOSING - Wednesday's closing of Spring Street between Elm and Bryson added to YSU's traffic congestion. The street was closed for one day to put in a sewer line.

747-1492, between 10 a.m. and 12:00 noon, Monday through Friday. There is no admission charge, but due to the limited seating capacity, reservations are required.

In addition to being used regularly for astronomy classes, the planetarium is also used for public showings, programs for the public and parochial schools, and for university classes other than astronomy.

Death Of Coffeehouse
Due To Expired Lease

The Gates of Eden Coffeehouse is closing because of an expired lease.

"The Coffeehouse is dead, long live the Coffeehouse," quipped Father DiBlasio in an appropriate epitaph.

Fr. DiBlasio went on to explain that the "coffeehouse approach" will still be used to implement programs similar to those in the past, with the same personnel and focus.

This year's program, however, will not limit itself to one specific location.

Concerning the need for such a program, Fr. DiBlasio felt that the Gates "tried to provide exposure to ideas and movements" on a campus with a "commuter faculty as well as a commuter student body." Fr. DiBlasio added that the Coffeehouse served as "something to keep things perking."

The coffeehouse program has been sponsored by local religious organizations in an interdenominational effort to provide a locus and format for college youth discussions of issues, causes, and questions which concern area students.

Board OKs Program In Graduate Economics

The Ohio Board of Regents has approved a graduate program in economics at Youngstown State University, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley. The program will have to be examined by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to determine preliminary accreditation before going into effect.

Preliminary accreditation for the program, which will lead to a master of arts degree, could come at the spring, 1971, meeting of the North Central Association, permitting instruction to begin with the fall quarter, 1971.

Pending approval by the NCA, the Graduate School of YSU can accept non-degree students in graduate level economics courses that are already being offered.

Information regarding admission and degree requirements of the program may be obtained from the Graduate School, Room 409, Lincoln Project Building.

YSU Takes On Tampa Saturday At Campbell

The powerful Tampa Spartans, ranked 7th on last week's UPI Small College poll and 16th on the AP list, invade Campbell Memorial Stadium this Saturday night to battle Youngstown State in the fourth annual Shrine Game.

The kickoff has been moved back to 8:15 p.m. to accommodate a special Shrine pre-game show.

The Spartans, who have won 10 of their last 11 games, opened with a 45-12 victory over Delta State. Tampa blanked New Mexico Highlands 20-0 last Saturday, ending a 29-game regular season winning streak for Highlands.

Tampa's strength lies in its running game where it's eight-deep in running backs and its rugged defense. The top Spartan rusher and scorer of last year, 5-10, 202 junior Leon McQuay, won't even be starting. Bruce Brown, a 6-0 senior, will go in his place off his showing against Highlands (9 carries, 78 yards and a 51-yard td run). The other running back will be Paul Orndorff, a 6-0, 215 sophomore.

Lew Pytel, a 6-0, 185 senior transfer from Miami (Fla.), will start at quarterback. Pytel was 13 of 17 for 109 yards and one touchdown against Highlands. His favorite target is sophomore tight end Alex Edlin (6-1, 195) who caught 5 passes for 56 yards including a 23-yard scoring strike last week. Willie Miller, a 6-0, 175 sophomore, will play flanker and Mark Wakefield, a 6-3 freshman, is the split end.

The Shrine pre-game show will start at 7:30 p.m. and will feature units from the Al Koran temple in Cleveland including the Al Koran clown unit and circus wagon.

YSU Linebacker Sentenced For Possession Of Marijuana

Michael Lorion, first string linebacker for the YSU Penguins, has been sentenced to six months in the County Jail following conviction for the possession of marijuana. He did not contest the charge.

Following chemical identification of a paper bag of marijuana found in Lorion's possession on September 18th at about 2:00 a.m., a warrant was issued for his arrest. Lorion was with three friends in front of East Hall at that time and when asked to present identification by the YSU Security Police he disclosed the marijuana. Arraigned before Criminal Court

Judge Joseph Donofrio, he pleaded no contest to the charges. His trial was held on the 29th and as stipulated in Ohio State law he will undergo a psychiatric examination to determine if he will undergo rehabilitation. The six month sentence is subject to probation and Judge Donofrio will determine how much of the sentence Lorion will serve following the results of the examination.

Lorion's friends, also members of the football squad, have been suspended from the team. They have not yet been identified.
