YOUNGSTOWN STATE UNIVERSITY

Volume 47—No. 7

Committee Acts In Secrecy—

Students Here Pay Lowest Activity Fee

"Youngstown State University students pay the lowest student activity fee of any state school in Ohio" James M. Furman, Executive Officer of the Ohio Board of Regents, revealed yesterday.

Furman listed fees charged to students at other state universities ranging from Ohio University at the top with a $50 quarter student activity fee to YSU at $30 per quarter, lowest in the state.

Furman stated that a university by university breakdown of activity fee use was not available and reported that each University determines how activity money will be allocated.

Committee Meets in Secret
That committee's meeting, held yesterday, was closed to the public and the press.

Student Government President Pete Isgro stated yesterday afternoon that Mr. Joseph Rook, University financial affairs vice-president, will be asked to appear before Council next Monday to answer questions about activity fee use here.

Council Investigation
Student Council here unanimously formed a committee last week to investigate the use of the comprehensive fee charged each quarter to students here. The investigation was started at the urging of Representative at Large, Chuck Hettler, who remarked "I want to know where this money goes."

Dr. John Coffelt, University administrative vice-president, stated yesterday that guidelines for activity fee use are established by the State Board of Regents.

Mr. Rook was reported out of his office yesterday and was unable to be reached for a breakdown of activity fee allocations.

In a statement to the Vindicator last week, however, Mr.

Rook pointed out that 25 per cent of the activity fee is allocated to the athletic program, 25 per cent to student activities such as student government, the Neon, and the Penguin Review; and the remaining 50 per cent is held in reserve for such non-instructional buildings as the Kilcawley Student Center addition.

Mr. Rook expressed the opinion that since students in past years paid for the Kilcawley center that today's students use through activity fees, students today should help pay for a planned addition to the center. The Committee met yesterday to determine what they would ask Mr. Rook, Isgro stated.

Isgro closed the meeting to the press because he said, "I don't want to give Rook the week-end to prepare his answers."

Present at the meeting were Student Government officers Isgro and Penny Laakso, and Council officers Greg Bednarcik, Frank Hackett, and Diane Dell

Veeps Mark First WYSU Broadcast

WYSU (FM) began standard broadcast operations at 7 p.m. last night with introductory statements by Dr. William H. Coffield, vice-president for academic affairs, and Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice-president for administrative affairs.

The statements by the two vice-presidents officially welcomed all listeners to the non-commercial fm station that is owned and operated by the University.

Dr. Coffield extended the official university welcome stating that, "It is with great personal pleasure and institutional pride that I take part in this initial broadcast of WYSU-FM. On behalf of the entire University, the Board of Trustees, and President Pugsley, I emphasize this feeling of pride."

Dr. Coffelt said, "...with the opening of station WYSU, hundreds of thousands of people in northeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania will have the opportunity to enjoy all forms of good music. Today marks another step forward as the University endeavors to fulfill its responsibility to its community."

Following the introductory addresses, WYSU began operations on a limited program schedule from 2 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Mr. Stephen Groevich, director of radio broadcasting, explained that 7 to 11 p.m. programming will continue for one week so various technical adjustments can be made before regular programming hours of 12 noon to 12 midnight can begin.

NEWS BRIEFS

Compiled From The Associated Press

International

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government has decided to seek new powers for a nationwide crack-down on drug pushers and underground drug makers, informed officials said Thursday.

A comprehensive new bill to toughen Britain's spotty system of producing, distributing and prescribing drugs is in preparation and will be announced by Queen Elizabeth II in her speech from the throne opening the new Parliament Tuesday.

PARIS—Henry Cabot Lodge took the unprecedented step yesterday of refusing to speak at the Vietnam peace talks.

"You still show no desire to engage in genuine negotiations," the U.S. ambassador told the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Envoys. "Under these circumstances I see no point in delivering the statement I have prepared for today."

In Washington, the State Department voiced its support for Lodge's decision but it stressed his action did not signal U.S. intent to quit the talks.

National

WASHINGTON—A split evidently has developed in the Justice Department over the validity of the draft delinquency regulations.

Briefs filed in the Supreme Court giving the government's position are in the name of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Other department officials also are listed, but Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold's name is noticeably missing.

The solicitor general, third-highest official in the department, normally signs government briefs in the high court. Griswold replied with a terse "no comment" when asked by a reporter why he did not officially support the government's position in two current cases.

WASHINGTON—Top U.S. military leaders oppose a one sided cease fire in Vietnam on grounds it would enable enemy forces to move unopposed into positions from which they could strike serious blows at American units.

Senior generals also dislike the idea of a mutual cease fire, saying they have no faith that the enemy would keep its part of the agreement. These uniformed leaders contend the enemy's record justifies their misgivings.

WASHINGTON—Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said Thursday he will vote against confirmation of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. as a Supreme Court Justice. He urged that President Nixon choose another nominee.

Schweiker accused Haynsworth of insensitivity to potential conflicts of interest, and of violating the judicial canons of ethics. An Associated Press survey showed 46 senators planning to vote against Haynsworth or leaning that way, 34 supporting him, 20 undecided.

The nomination is expected to reach the Senate floor about Nov. 6.

State

KENT, Ohio—Kent State University President Robert I. White said yesterday the university may have to set a limit on admissions on main campus beginning in the fall of 1970.

Dr. White told university trustees the State Legislature has put a top of 20,000 on the full-time enrollment for which state subsidies will be paid. The university would go in the red for any additional students accepted.

The university president said there are 21,198 students on campus and the full-time enrollment is "just a shade under 20,000."

DAYTON, Ohio—A "greatly improved" radar system—called MERA— was given its first laboratory demonstration at Wright Patterson Air Force Base here yesterday.

NERA, which stands for Molecular Electronics for Radar Application, eliminates the need for the mechanical sweeping arm on a radar screen.

Sly and the Family Stone will conclude Homecoming activities at Boardman High School Sunday, Nov. 2.

Bussing Effort Planned Here

The local Moratorium committee is sponsoring a bus trip to Washington in support of a march being held there by the Mobilization Committee to End The War in Vietnam.

The local group will leave Youngstown early Friday November 14th and return the morning of the 16th. Tickets are available at $15 each between 10 A.M. and 3 P.M. this Tuesday and Wednesday in Jones Hall and the same hours on Thursday and Friday in Kilcawley lobby Scholarships are available for students financially unable to participate.

For further information contact Steve Powell or John Lynder at the Community House 834 Ohio Ave., 746-8747.

Cayce Man At Pollock On Monday

William McGary, head of the Medical Research Division of the Edgar Cayce Foundation in Phoenix, Arizona, will speak at 2 p.m. Monday, October 27, in the Pollock House.

McGary, because of his familiarity with Cayce's readings, has lectured throughout the United States and has authored papers on dreams, drugs and castor oil packs, all relating to Cayce's readings.

Aside from his association with the Cayce Foundation and his large private practice, Dr. W. McGary has also appeared on A.R.E. lecture and conference programs in Virginia Beach, California, Florida, Texas, Missouri, and Arizona.

Letters To The Editor

Cantrell And Kobus Should Join

To the editor of the Jambar:

It has been my privilege to have had the opportunity to have read the letter by E.R. Kobus, and, the reply by Mr. Cantrell.

Everyone can 'read' anything into a letter that their own mind wishes them to believe. My personal opinion of the Kobus essay is that this sincere individual wished that another sincere individual (Mr. Cantrell), would express intense efforts against the Soviet rape of all Eastern Europe; the Soviet position in Hanoi; the starvation imposed on the peoples of Biafra.

Mr. Cantrell's response of discussions held at the Gates of Eden never achieved the dubious success of his participation in the Moratorium. Mr. Cantrell has become a most controversial figure in the Youngstown scene. Obviously, from his written remarks, his stands have been confused by others to have had him become the target of unwelcome and unwarranted remarks of his intentions.

As stated previously, one can 'read' anything into a letter that they wish. Therefore, I do believe that Mr. Kobus was merely asking that Mr. Cantrell express himself as strongly in all situations involving the oppressions of peoples. His remarks alluding to 1943, to me, would mean that no one in this country would tolerate a 'march,' then, that would give comfort to the 'enemy' (Hanoi), and, cause the Soviets to increase their assistance to Hanoi. Perhaps it was not propitious for announcements of congratulations to the Moratorium group to have emanated from Hanoi; the very hour of the march.

Mr. Cantrell, I respect you as a member of the cloth, not as one who thought as a child of war to be glorious. Mr. Kobus, I respect you as one who believes in your country. Now, from review of both letters, perhaps you both should join hands against all wars; against all oppression. Make your feelings well known on all issues. Make sure that you are not "tools," but, sincere.

Cantrell "More Bark Than Bite"

To the editor of the Jambar:

It was gratifying to see that my letter was so warmly welcomed in the Cantrell home, however, I find that Mr. Cantrell's attack has more bark than bite. I was not then disputing his credentials for being a man of peace, they are impressive enough. I wanted to know why people protest one war and not others.

In answer, Mr. Cantrell said he, "...either spoke, preached or sponsored programs..." which in my estimation is quite different from the type of protest which I mentioned, one of marching and carrying signs. As to my not being at the Gates of Eden to witness the aforementioned events, I let the reputation of the place speak for itself. He also mentioned responsibility.

If responsibility determines our participation in an active street protest I must ask Mr. Cantrell where has he been? The United States has supplied men, money, and material to both the Israelis and the Arabs, therefore, do we not share in the responsibility for this continuing conflict? If responsibility dictates protest, where are the protesters?

American's responsibility for, or the sharing of it, can be traced directly to a great many of the worlds' problems yet one has to look hard to see one sign raised, if indeed one can even be seen in protest.

Whether one believes it or not, there are two sides fighting in Vietnam but only one side is constantly being criticized for its part in that fighting.

How, many protests has Mr. Cantrell been involved in which were directed against Hanoi? Perhaps, to show that he is truly a man of peace Mr. Cantrell will join with me in promoting a letter writing campaign directed against the Hanoi government protesting their part in this war. I offer Mr. Cantrell this chance to show not only me and the students of YSU, but all of his critics that he is truly a man of peace, understanding, and justice.

In closing, I find it necessary to explain the meaning of the last paragraph in my first letter.

In 1943 if anyone actively protested the war or counseled men on the ways and means to avoid the draft he would have been immediately arrested, branded pro-axis, and accused of giving aid and comfort to the enemy. I believe this still holds true today.

Obfuscation

When the Student Council announced its intention to investigate student activity fee use, we were confused as to its motivation. With so many significant matters at hand, we were confused as to why the Council chose to investigate a matter which is easily understood. And we were amazed to discover the secrecy which surrounded the Council's pre-investigation deliberations.

Though Council has often expressed difficulty understanding Mr. Rook's statements on budget matters, any information he might relay at next Monday's meeting is fully outlined in print in the University's budget books. It would seem that an hour spent by a Council member reviewing those books would certainly reveal the information they say they are seeking.

The question arises however, is Council truly interested in budget information or is it trying to embarrass Rook and other University officials by springing loaded questions at the Monday meeting?

President Isgro's comment that the press was barred from his committee meeting because he doesn't "want to give Rook the week-end to prepare answers" certainly suggests that at least Isgro is more interested in obfuscation than budget information.

An "investigation" appears unnecessary, the secrecy shrouding the Council's deliberations is unneeded, and Isgro's attitude is clearly not in anyone's best interests.

Jambar Misinformed On Blacks

To the editor of the Jambar:

I was somewhat startled by the headline in Tuesday's Jambar, "Blacks Interrupt Goldwater Speech." The article seems just as slanted as the headline. The Black students "interrupted" neither Goldwater's speech nor his question and answer period. "Marched down the center aisle demanding recognition" paints a picture to one who was not at the assembly, a picture in which one sees a band of protestors yelling and screaming as they barge down the aisle with complete disregard for others, disrupting the assembly and demanding immediate attention for themselves only. Was the writer of the article at the assembly or did he hear news of it through an anti-Black grapevine?

I was at the assembly, seated in the upper balcony. The "thirty-five" (I didn't count) were also in the upper balcony, seated in the front rows of the center section. When Goldwater opened the floor to questions, two of the Blacks (front row, center, upper balcony) raised their hands but to no avail. Goldwater centered his attention to questions from the front portion of the main floor. After a while, the two Blacks stood in their places, hands raised, in order to draw Sen. Goldwater's attention. Still no response.

In order that the Senator might see their hands, the Blacks assembled below and proceeded part way down the aisle in a body. One of the members raised his hand and waited while two questions were answered before being called on. He then presented his question, followed by two others of the group. The questions were answered, completely and sincerely and then the group filed out of the auditorium.

No "interrupting" — no "demanding," but a logical sequence of steps to have a concerned group's questions answered at the eighth (not first) Skeggs lecture.

Green To Open Wed. at 9 p.m.

Green, a combination bar, restaurant and night club, will stage its grand opening on October 29 at 9 p.m. Located at 219 Lincoln Ave., the site of the now defunct Penguins' Roost, "Green" is to be a place with the college student in mind.

The owner, Mr. Jack Gerchok, stated yesterday that he wanted to create a "home-like atmosphere" for the students. The Green will be open 20 hours a day starting at 9 p.m. The only hours Green will be closed during the day will be from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

"Entertainment at Green will consist almost exclusively of 'blues,'" said Mr. Gerchok, "and the students will be able to dance or enjoy a meal with a background of music."

Some attractions of the Green will hopefully include, "old time movies" and the installation of pool tables at a future date. Regular meals will be available in the restaurant and a band will be featured six nights a week. Beer (3.2) will be served and there will be a cover charge the evenings a band and a dancing area is provided.

"3 into 2 won't go"

by Geraldine Keesecker

Currently playing at the Uptown Theater is 3 Into 2 Won't Go starring Rod Steiger as an Irish business executive with an eye for the ladies and trouble at home. Clair Bloom plays his wife while his extra-curricular interest is played by Judy Geeson.

Based on a current novel by Andrea Newman with screenplay by Edna O'Brien, 3 into 2 won't go, details the sexual exploits of a traveling sales executive, opposing the nymphet he picks up against his frigid wife, with the resulting triangle hanging the lives of all three involved. Peggy Ashcroft plays Miss Bloom's mother and Paul Rogers is an old friend of Steiger's who operates an inn where several of the love trysts take place.

Rod Steiger and Judy Geeson who star with Claire Bloom in 3 into 2 won't go her lovers, also proves fatal to the screen marriage of Steiger and Miss Bloom, when she follows him to his home and attempts to become friends with his wife. She subsequently stays the weekend, much to the chagrin of Steiger.

Judy Geeson from 3 into 2 won't go

3 into 2 won't go has been classified "R - Persons under 16 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian."

In the film, Steiger offers a ride to Judy Geeson who portrays the permissive hitchhiker switching from femme fatale in the presence of Steiger to wide-eyed little girl in the presence of Miss Bloom. Playing the husband of his former wife for the first time on the screen, Oscar winner Steiger becomes deeply involved romantically with the young hitchhiker. Somewhat ironically the real-life marriage of Steiger and Miss Bloom came to an end shortly after finishing 3 into 2 won't go.

The allure of the amorous hitchhiker, who keeps a little black book in which she rates steps into the role of the middle aged ladies' man, who squabbles with his frigid film wife over the passionate enjoyment of his roadside discovery.

Miss Geeson comes off well as the nymphet who gleefully goes about destroying Steiger's marriage. Miss Bloom assumes a rather passive role relying upon facial expression to "deliver" many of her lines; a technique used in many of the contemporary films today. Camera angles become important in this portrayal of a very contemporary theme.

The loneliness of Miss Bloom's mother, who is forced to live in a home for the aged, is intensified by the camera switching angles so the viewer can see two old women sitting forlornly in the background while Miss Bloom is visiting her mother. The absurdity of the theme in the final scene is also increased by unusual camera techniques as well as dialogue which conveys its meaning not by what is said but by the manner in which it is done. 3 into 2 won't go is a film for the cosmopolitan film goer who enjoys viewing a spicy movie competently and in good taste.

She tells Miss Bloom that she is afraid she is pregnant, making up a story that the father is the hotel owner friend of Steiger's. Steiger, anxious to prove his manhood by producing a child, barely bats an eye when confronted by the news of his impending fatherhood.

They set about making plans to run off together and Steiger tells Miss Bloom about the affair which she is already aware of, having gone through other affairs with her screen husband.

Instead of meeting Steiger so they may go off together, Miss Geeson goes to their home again where the final blowup occurs. Miss Bloom packs her bags and leaves. Steiger packs his suitcase and leaves. The scene closes with Miss Geeson watching television; they picking up her valise and walking into the night.

This contemporary film displays several nude and near nude scenes as well as the considerable acting ability of the stars. Stepping out of the gangster role he so often portrays, Steiger ably

Student Sentiment Mounts For 19 Vote

Student sentiment throughout Ohio is mounting in support of the "lower the voting age to 19" issue on the November 4th ballot.

Numerous student organizations and committees are conducting campaigns to stir students and teachers who are away from their home towns to take out absentee ballots.

The Ohio Student Education Association, largest of the student organizations with a membership of 7,000 future teachers, is urging student, faculty, and community support in an effort to bring out a large vote in the off-year election.

A state-wide VOTE 19 Committee was organized last Summer with headquarters in Columbus.

An Ohio State University senior, Clark Wideman is the director of VOTE 19.

The "lower the voting age" amendment, which will appear as Issue 1 on the ballot, was passed by overwhelming majorities in both houses of the Ohio General Assembly and is being taken to the citizens of Ohio in the form of referendum. The amendment will simply change

Article V of the Ohio Constitution from the age of 21 to 19 to be eligible to vote.

Support for the proposal has come from Ohio Governor James Rhodes, U.S. Senator William Saxbe, and U.S. representatives Robert Taft Jr. and Charles Whalen, as well as numerous Jaycee groups and other organizations.

The passage of the issue will add approximately 300,000 potential voters in the 19 and 20 age brackets.

Virtually every college student will be eligible to vote.

Out of town students may vote absentee ballots by either of the following procedures:

Go to the Court House or Board of Elections in which you are a registered voter, identify yourself and pick up an absentee ballot; this option is open until Thursday, October 30.

Write immediately to the Elections Officer at your County Court House requesting an absentee ballot. When this arrives, fill it out, get it notarized and return it immediately. Your ballot will be mailed and you must then have the sealed envelope notarized and mailed in time to be received at your home county election office by Nov. 1.

Blacks Form "Caucus" Here

"We intend to question all political speakers who come to the YSU campus. This will be in line with our purpose in the community," explained the spokesman for the Black Caucus yesterday.

The newly established Black Caucus intends to formulate an organization among the Blacks on campus and in the community. "In so doing," he continued, "We hope to make them aware of their Blackness and take interest in anything which affects their status as Black people."

The questioning of political speakers is part of their plan to increase the Black community's awareness. Their interest will lie in the speakers' past civil rights actions as well as their present views.

Representatives of the Black Caucus attended the Goldwater speech Friday, October 17, at Stambaugh Auditorium.

"Our intentions were not to start trouble, as some seemed to think, but simply to question Goldwater. However, he refused to acknowledge us the first twenty minutes of his question-answer period, so we moved as a body to the front where he couldn't ignore us," the spokesman clarified.

Goldwater then recognized them and began answering questions.

The Black Caucus felt that he gave "the usual politician's answers and kept referring to the Black man as the 'Negro in the service.'" The representative criticized this stand with, "You would think we didn't have any other potential. The Black Caucus is interested in the man on the street. As a political figure, Goldwater should be, too."

The spokesman stated that they became disgusted with the answers and the "audience's bickering."

Two From YSU In Campbell Race

Two members of the university community, Mr. William Livosky and Mr. Albert Matzye, are running for seats on the Campbell Board of Education. Eleven candidates are vying for three open seats on the school board in the November 4 election.

Mr. Livosky, director of admissions at YSU, is running on the platform that more people on the board of education should be able to understand the needs of the school system. Mr. Matzye, assistant professor of geography, would institute operation revisions on the school board if elected.

The Jambar announced in last Tuesday's paper that Dr. James Kiriazis had announced his candidacy for a seat on the Austintown Board of Education.

The French Club will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Friday, October 24, at the Pollock House next to Ford Hall on Wick Ave. Entertainment will be provided by its members. The meeting is open to the University.

Pete Isgro, Student Government President, asked for more freshman and sophomore students to join the Major Events Committee. Applications can be picked up at the Student Government office in Kilcawley.

But some got through. They'll tell you their stories — unabridged. Unabridged — that's the kind of Europe we give you. Involvement with the total culture: talking, listening, meeting, sharing. Sure, you'll get the sights, the beaches, and some swinging parties — and you'll enjoy them. But then, anybody can give you those. We give you the facts behind the sights, the reasons behind the events. And we do it through the people. We dish up the real Europe — from the mod up-beat action of Carnaby Street to the philosophical intensity of the Left Bank. You get the agony and the ecstasy; action and involvement. Because that's what Europe is all about.

YSU Seeks First Against SDS

Youngstown State's winless Penguins will attempt to put an abrupt halt to their four game skid when they travel to South Dakota State University tomorrow.

Should anyone doubt the possibility of bouncing back from an 0-4 slate to a successful season, one need only to look to this Saturday's opponent to dispel all fears.

The Jackrabbits of South Dakota State opened their season on a rather dismal note also, dropping their first four contests to such foes as Weber State (28-13), Drake (21-16), Morningside (32-22), and Northern Iowa (24-14). However, they came barreling back in the past two weeks by capturing victories over North Dakota (19-13) and South Dakota (20-14).

Rootloe coach Dave Kragthorpe replaced retired veteran Ralph Ginn and inherited a vast rebuilding job for the Jackrabbits. Three SDSU backfield starters are gone including ace runner Darwin Gonnerman, who was instrumental in last year's 23-20 win over the Penguins. The starting guards were also lost to graduation. SDSU is pinning its hopes on a tough defense led by linebacker Jim Langer and tackle Tim Roth.

Offensively, the Jackrabbits have really started to jell. Their ground attack is centered around tailback Max Sinclair, a 6-0, 185-pound freshman, who leads the team in scoring and averages over four yards per carry.

YSU looked impressive last week against Morehead State University and should do well this week. One reason for the improvement is the superb running of Dick Banks and Roosevelt Blackwell. But the Penguins' main scoring punch has been the Denny Klembara-Dave DelSignore combination, which has produced five touchdowns thus far this season. DelSignore has caught 20 passes for 514 yards so far this year and appears to be on his way to owning every pass reception record in YSU history.

Penguins Massacre Indians 14-0

The understudies of the winless YSU Penguin gridgers captured their second triumph in as many starts with a 14-0 blanking of the freshman of the nation's No. 2 small college squad, Indiana State, Pa., Monday afternoon at Volney Rogers.

The stubborn Penguin defense accounted for one YSU score, set up the second TD, grabbed four foreign tosses, and recovered three Indian fumbles. Freshman halfback, Cleveland King, supplied the Penguins with an early first period tally by intercepting the first of two passes in his day's work and racing 25 yards for paydirt. The touchdown by the 5-11, 180-pounder was the only score in the first half play as the Red and White defense snuffed out every Indian threat.

Gary Ferrando, 6-1, 195-pound linebacker from Youngstown Chaney, alertly recovered an Indiana State fumble on the Indian's eight-yard stripe in the final quarter, which turned into a Penguin touchdown. Frosh quarterback, Ron Jaworski, a native from New York, plunged over from the one-yard marker.

A look at the Penguin foes: (last week's action) Southeastern Louisiana downed Pensacola Navy, a recent 21-6 victor over the Penguins, while Akron University, who holds a November 8th engagement with YSU and currently riding the No. 10 slot in the nation's Top Ten, dumped Eastern Kentucky 28-7.....tomorrow's foe, South Dakota State, disposed of the University of South Dakota by a 20-14 verdict following the YSU tilt, South Dakota State will entertain North Dakota State, the nation's number one small college.

Sophomore quarterback, Denny Klembara needs a little more than 20 yards passing to own or share every YSU signal-calling record! Senior end, Dave DelSignore, potential All American, now holds 7 of the nine YSU pass receiving records!

The last Penguin home contest drew a pathetic and probably, overstated, figure of 4,000 "fans". Of the "4,000", the majority was alumni and the minority was Morehead supporters, while the YSU side of the field left many sections of bleachers vacant. Maybe students would like YSU to play "bully" and schedule colleges such as Kenyon, Geneva, Hiram, or Westminster...schools not known for their football abilities.
