YSU-OEA nominations made at special Tuesday meeting

Nominations were made for five YSU-OEA offices and a brief report on the Youngstown Educational Foundation (YEF) was presented at Tuesday's special OEA meeting in Schwebel Auditorium.

The OEA started study of the YEF last quarter to "clarify its relationship to the University." Dr. Thomas Shipka, president of the YSU-OEA, said. Shipka stated at the meeting that the study had been concluded but that its release or a statement on it would be withheld pending further study.

The study revealed, Shipka said in an interview yesterday, that the YEF operates within the framework of the law although questions about its propriety can be raised.

"From what we have been able to gather," Shipka said, "it is difficult to find a state university with a YEF type of organization connected with it." Shipka said that he had only heard of one other state university with a YEF type of organization.

The offices open for nomination were president, first and second vice-president, and treasurer and secretary. The nominees for president are Everett Abram, geology; J.J. Koss, economics and

Dr. Ranger Curran, management. The nominees for first vice-president are Dr. Daniel O'Neill, speech; Dr. Joseph Kirschner, foundation of education, and Dr. Elizabeth Sternberg, political science.

Five OEA members are running for second vice-president: Dr. Charles Reid, philosophy; Dr. Howard Metee, chemistry; Dr. Edgar Cobett, secondary education; Dr. Keith McKean, political science; and Dr. Alice Budge, English.

Running for treasurer are Dr. Robert Foulkes, electrical engineering; Dr. Robert Ameduri, elementary education; Dr. Robert Krause, psychology; Michael Taylor, advertising and public relations and Dr. Edward Largent, music.

Nominees for secretary are Dr. Juanita Roderick, elementary education, and Dr. Friedrich Koknat, chemistry. Ballots for the elections should be ready by Friday, Shipka said.

In other business, a new fee structure that would necessitate dues for the National Educational Foundation was approved clearing the way for the local chapters unification with the NEA in September.

Weekend appearances---

Bettelheim, Beach Boys at YSU

YSU's campus activities for this weekend include appearances by two well-known participants in their respective fields, Dr. Bruno Bettelheim and the Beach Boys.

Bettelheim, a psychologist and educator, will speak at 8 p.m., tonight at St. John's Episcopal Church as the second Skeggs Lecturer on the YSU 1973-74 Artist Lecture Series.

A specialist in the field of child rearing, Bettelheim is currently psychoanalyst and director of the University of Chicago's Orthogenic School for Rehabilitation of Disturbed Children. He has written many books describing the rehabilitation work of the school but his most recent volume, Children of the Dream, discusses child rearing in an Israeli Kibbutz. His topic for tonight, however, is "Dialogues With Parents and Educators." The lecture is free and open to the public.

The Beach Boys concert begins at 8 p.m., Sunday, in Beeghly gym. During the surf-and-sand era of the middle sixties, they turned out such hits as "Surfin' U.S.A.," and "Little Deuce Coupe."

Students may still purchase tickets at The Beeghly ticket office and the Bursar's office in Jones Hall. The prices are $5 for students in advance and $6 at the door.

Board to consider possibility of student input committee

A report on the possibility of a student committee with input to the Board of Trustees, approval of the bachelor of fine arts degree, and reports on the new Academic Senate charter and the 1974-75 operating budget will come before YSU's Board of Trustees at their 10 a.m. meeting, tomorrow in Room 216, Kilcawley Center.

A student committee was first proposed at the Board's last meeting as a compromise when direct student involvement on the Board was ruled out. At that time a committee was appointed, chaired by board member Ann Isroff, to investigate the feasibility of the student committee.

The bachelor of fine arts degree and the new Senate charter have been approved by the Academic Senate. The fine arts degree has never been offered at YSU before and its addition will enhance YSU's image in fine arts education.

The new Senate charter was necessitated by last spring's YSU-OEA Agreement which changed Senate responsibility in the area of faculty-university relations.

In other board business, the trustees will vote on a new non-academic organizational structure. The structure, according to YSU President John J. Coffelt will equalize the span of control among offices that report to him. Equalization of load among administrative vice-presidents and the grouping of compatible functions will also be achieved by the new structure, Coffelt said. Coffelt felt added that the reorganization will not create any new full-time positions.

The Board will also receive reports on the YSU-OEA's court summons and opinions from Ohio Attorney General William Brown. The OEA initiated a suit against the University last quarter when the Board refused to enter into binding arbitration with the OEA on a grievance. Brown's opinions will answer some of the Board's questions arising out of the administration OEA Agreements.

OAS to have an office in Kilcawley Center

The Kilcawley Board agreed to find office space for the Organization of Arab Students which had previously been denied quarters within the Center it was decided Wednesday in their first business meeting since the opening of the new student center.

Ali Mansour, who represented the organization, told the committee that he had been informed that something was done incorrectly in applying for room for the OAS.

Edna McDonald, advisor to the OAS, added that the issue may be that the Board linked the OAS with the International Student Organization. "We are not a subdivision of ISO," she emphasized. "We are a completely separate group."

After discussion, the Board agreed that the OAS, and any legitimate university group, is entitled to space in the Center and that the denial of the space was the fault of the Board's misunderstanding of the relation between the OAS and the ISO.

Philip Hirsch, director of Kilcawley Center, asked Mansour if he would agree to share office space with another student group, contingent upon that group's approval, since all space allocated to student organizations is already taken.

Mansour agreed, saying that the initial refusal of space implied a lack of legitimacy on the part of the OAS. "We are not asking for a separate office. We are willing to share space with other groups," Mansour stated. "The issue is recognition."

In other business, the Board discussed a report received from a food service consultant suggesting that students run their own food service. Hirsch stated that statistics show that students are not eating at the University as much as they could be and enumerated a list of student gripes about the present food-service. Among these are plastic utensils, a limited variety of food to choose from, and indifference of food-service personnel.

"I'm certain that if we do run our own food service," stated Hirsch, "we can do it better." Hirsch added, however, that in a student-operated system the University would have to pay employees more than a food service contractor and could not hope for a profit, only to break even.

In any case, according to Hirsch, who is compiling a thorough report on the subject, such a system could not be operative until July, 1975, and preliminary planning would have to begin next fall. He mentioned other possibilities such as attracting

Project '74 presents YSU to area women

"It is the hope of the Committee that 'Project '74' will acquaint Youngstown women with both the academic and cultural sides of YSU," said Dr. Sally Hotchkiss, psychology, one of the coordinators of the program.

"Project '74," the second annual campus day for women, will commence at the Engineering Science building at 8:30 a.m., today, with registration in the lobby. There will then be a coffee hour, followed at 9 a.m. by a welcome from Dr. John J. Coffelt, president of YSU. From 9:15 a.m. to 10:15, Hotchkiss will moderate a panel discussion called "Try it - You'll Like It." The panel will feature four women who have returned to college after a long absence.

From 10:30 a.m. until noon, women will be free to join a discussion group from one of the following interest areas:

1.) "Play - Learning with Children," organized by Ann Margaret Battin, Education, with demonstrations of creative play activities and toys available to small children.

2.) "Information Please," a discussion, question and answer session, led by Mary B. Smith, assistant to the dean.

Participants will be encouraged to ask questions about the University from "How does one register?" to "Where do I park?"

3.) "Healthful Living and Physical Fitness," with Dr. Joan

Philipp, health and physical education, and Aili J. Hakojarvi, home economics, will deal with aspects of nutrition and body conditioning.

4.) "Music and Dance," organized by Lois M. Hopkins, Music, will include a performance by the YSU Woodwind Quartet and YSU Folk Dancers.

Locations for the panels will be announced at the 9 a.m. general meeting.

From noon, until 12:30 p.m., guests of the University will meet for informal discussion and appetizer, followed by a luncheon at Kilcawley Center. At 1 p.m. Dr. Edith Painter, vice-president of student affairs at Russell Sage College, and former YSU administrator, will speak on "After The Liberation," to conclude the day's events. Painter served as dean of women at YSU from 1961 until 1970 and has conducted extensive research in the area of women's rights and opportunities.

There is no charge for the program.

"Project '74," originally formed as a committee on women, was organized to deal with the problems of women students and the planning of the women's faculty dinner, said Hotchkiss.

"It is the hope of the Committee," according to Hotchkiss, "that the success of 'Project '74' will lead to 'Project '75'."

Scholarship honors awarded to Kappa Sig, Alpha Sig Tau Scholarship honors were captured by Kappa Sigma fraternity and Alpha Sigma Tau sorority which took first place in that category at last week's Greek Sing. Scholarship honors go to the organization which maintains the highest scholastic point average for the last three quarters.

In the Individual Honor category, Jerry Dixon of Sigma Phi Epsilon took first place with a 3.73 point average.

In the All Events program, Theta Chi took first place by amassing the greatest number of points in intramural events, Greek Sing and Scholarship.

Runner-ups in the Scholarship honors were Phi Kappa Tau, second place; Sigma Alpha Mu, third place; and Zeta Beta Tau, fourth place.

In the Greek Sing event, itself, Zeta Tau Alpha took first place in the sorority division while the fraternity crown was won by Sigma Phi Epsilon for the fifth straight year. Sigma Tau Gamma copped best new group honors.

To children everywhere Sister Berta Hummel was someone very special. For in her simple drawings and paintings she captured all their winsomeness and charm as few other artists have ever done. This talent is so evident in the appealing scene of this year's Child's Cup as a little one discovers the buzzing mysteries of a bumblebee, and though the beloved nun's sadly short life ended decades ago, her great love for children lives on as her legacy.

John Glenn 'honest choice' daughter reports to campus

Lyn Glenn Power, daughter of Democratic Senatorial hopeful John Glenn, visited campus Tuesday to encourage interest in her father's campaign within the YSU community.

As Lyn toured the campus and chatted informally with the people she met, she emphasized her father's personal, professional, and political qualifications for the office of Senator: his long history of public service, his extensive background in science and technology, and his long standing friendships with such Democratic luminaries such as Edward Kennedy, George McGovern, and Eugene McCarthy.

Describing the base of her father's appeal to Ohio voters as "an Honest Choice," she pointed with some pride to publicity Glenn has received for the clean and relatively inexpensive campaign he has run thus far. Lyn also noted that the latest polls show her father running 11 percent ahead of his opponent, Howard Metzenbaum.

Though her political sympathies are obviously tied to her family, Lyn maintained that "John Glenn is also my friend and it's from the basis of friendship that I approach his political views. I know him well enough to know that he doesn't make decisions only to wield influence. He analyzes problems and makes decisions on the basis of the most good for the most people."

Prior to her involvement in her father's campaign, Lyn established her political credentials in California where she worked on Bobby Kennedy's campaign in 1968 and in a number of other local liberal campaigns.

Her political activity, however, causes no conflicts in her domestic life.

Her husband, Mike Power, is employed by U.S. Sec. of State Henry Kissinger as a Programs Analyst in NATO relations and US troop reductions in Europe.

Nixon's the One

Beleagured Richard Nixon's cheeky decision to put his best jowl forward in Michigan's "thumb" last week was a remarkable political gambit. The ploy failed.

The President was running for Congress again, and although the 8th Congressional district ballot did not bear Nixon's name, his political future rode on a Michigan pseudonym: James Sparling, Republican. And Nixon, alias Sparling, was out-pollled by a Democrat running solely against the Watergate administrations. Importantly, Bob Traxler was the first Democrat elected in the 8th in 42 years. Nixon's legal chicanery and protestations of innocence notwithstanding, the message from Michigan is an old slogan with an ironic twist: Nixon's the One, and the people are fed up.

There is nothing surprising about the electoral verdict against Nixon. Americans have never loved Richard Nixon and few (even of those who voted for him) truly liked him. He was elected over a Vietnam-scarred Hubert Humphrey in 1968 by a handful of votes, and, after four years of patronage and paranoia, Nixon conditioned the 1972 electorate into perpetuating his reign. The referendum against the President from GOP laden districts in the by-elections explicitly indicate few citizens would mourn Nixon's impeachment and conviction, or voluntary retirement. In fact, most would applaud either alternative as a breathe a collective sigh of relief once the rascal was evicted from the White House.

Hopefully, Congress received the message transmitted by the Michigan voters. Once the Judiciary Committee recommends impeachment, the House should not lollygag. Nixon should be impeached and sent to trial in the Senate. The "complete documentation of innocence" he claims to be able to provide would then constitute his defense. Whether conviction or exoneration is the verdict, our major Watergate woes will at last be over.

Have little pity for Richard Nixon—he had none for us.

Feedback

Says Israel guilty of terrorism

To the editor of The Jambar:

Once again the Jewish Student Fellowship in its attempt to influence the readers resort to use the same old tactics, killing incidents that took place. In times like these it is profitable to the Zionist propaganda machine to exploit such matters to divert the attention of the real problem, the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people. It is sufficient to remind the J.S.F. of the activities of the Irgun and Haganah in Palestine, which ranged from massacres to assassinations at a time all the Jewish population in Palestine was asking for was to live in peace; the raids on civilian places in Lebanon; the bombing of schools in Egypt. Does the J.S.F. want to open documents about killings? It seems to me that the J.S.F. has come up with a plan to save the world. Well:

1. The J.S.F. now claims to talk on behalf of the Palestinians living under the Israeli occupation. When was such referendum conducted, whether in Israel or the occupied territories? Yes, the Palestinian Liberation Organization is the sole representative of the Palestinian nation. The tactic of trying to separate and alienate one segment against the other does not work any more. It seems to me that the J.S.F. took a course in Islamic culture; did your teacher forget to tell you that there are Christian Palestinians and Jews who support the rights of the Palestinian people? Did the J.S.F. study Judaism, does it say kill people and throw them out of their homeland?

2. Now the J.S.F. calls upon the United Nations to take action and at the same time expresses that it (the J.S.F.) has no faith in (the U.N.). How could the U.N. help Israel, who was conditionally recognized by the U.N. and which the so called peaceful Israel refused since 1949 to implement its resolution to repatriate or compensate the Palestinian people? Why should the U.N. help Israel which refused to implement its resolution 242 in 1967 to withdraw from all occupied Arab land? Why should the U.N. help or listen to Israel which never respected or abided by the wishes and decisions of the world community? I call upon the U.N. to punish the murderer member of the world community who is guilty of the atrocities that were and are inflicted upon the Palestinian nation.

3. The J.S.F. wants the International Airline Organization to take action. I agree that an action should be taken against the so called civilian El Al airline which is used to transport war materials from U.S. and Europe to Israel every time there is fighting in the Middle East.

4. The J.S.F. is asking the U.S. to enforce laws against aliens. I would like to tell the J.S.F., since they have a short memory, that the Jewish Defense League is outlawed in the U.S. and that its leader is no longer in the U.S. I would like to see the U.S. suspend all citizenships of those Jews who carry both the U.S. and Israeli citizenships and who declare, though they are Americans, that their first loyalty is for Israel not their native country, the U.S.

5. How could murderers talk about justice, peace, and laws? Let the so called civilized Israel believe in Justice that the Palestinians are entitled to. It is Israel who created terrorism from massacres to bomb letters, it is Israel who does not respect the International rights, laws and property. Did the J.S.F. forget that Israel killed, kidnapped, murdered, and stole the Palestinian property — their homes and lands? I would like the J.S.F. to ask Israel for once to respect laws. Let's not twist facts, J.S.F., and try for a change to state facts honestly if you could.

Asks for a democratic Palestine

To the editor of The Jambar:

In December, 1948, the General Assembly of the U.N. adopted the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of Genocide. The said convention defines genocide as "specific acts, such as killing members of a group with the intent to destroy, wholly or in part, a national, ethnic, racial, or religious group, whether committed in time of peace or in time of war." Such acts were recognized as crimes under international law which must be punished.

The above mentioned principles of international law apply to the Jewish war crimes and genocide committed in Palestine during the British Mandate until 1948, committed by the Israelis in 1956 in the Gaza Strip and Sinai, and in 1967 in Syria, West Bank, the Gaza Strip, and the United Arab Republic. Just prior to the creation of the state of Israel, Zionist military and political gangsters in occupied Palestine committed the following war crimes:

a.) They waged a criminal war of aggression and violated the territorial integrity and national independence of Palestine.

b.) They expelled over one million Christian and Moslem Arab citizens of Palestine thereby destroying their national life and violating their birthright.

c.) They committed numerous massacres of unarmed men, women and children.

d.) They desecrated and destroyed Christian churches, Moslem mosques, and Holy Shrines.

e.) They plundered and looted Arab homes, lands, and possessions in 80 per cent of the territory of Palestine.

I do not have to mention the numerous criminal acts and massacres committed by Israel against the Palestinian people, for I am certain that if the Jewish Fellowship is interested they could obtain such information from the U.N. files and documents which condemn Israel for carrying such criminal acts.

Now, the following points must be made quite clear to the Jewish Fellowship, if indeed they are interested in stopping terrorism in the Mid East:

1.) The ruling circles of Tel Aviv must recognize the legitimate and inalienable rights of the Palestinian people and be prepared to transfer these rights as soon as possible.

2.) Zionism as an expansionist and colonialist policy must be terminated in that part of the world as soon as possible.

3.) The establishment of a democratic state in Palestine for all concerned: Jews, Moslems, and Christians.

4.) Terrorism is an outgrowth of oppression and inequality and lack of justice. There can be no peace without the Palestinian's getting their complete rights.

5.) May we recommend to the Fellowship to read the editorial of The Jambar (Apr. 16), entitled "An Eye for an Eye." The editors of The Jambar are to be commended for such an excellent analysis of the causes of the violent situation in the Middle East.

Input: Analyzes analysis

Many thanks for the latest example of Jambar instant analysis, appearing in Tuesday's issue. This ungrammatical attempt at "objectivity" is a sample of the kind of jabberwock that the campus community has come to expect. Historically, the moral heartstrings of The Jambar have been twinged only when it was a matter of condemning the U.S. military or any of its allies, or when it has been a case of championing the rights of safe, non-controversial peoples like the Cambodians, Chileans, Greeks, Papuans or Lapplanders.

By way of contrast, The Jambar has remained notoriously silent about Soviet Jewry, except for a single aside in the long panegyric devoted to Solzhehnitsyn. The Jambar has remained silent about the suffering of millions of Czechs, Hungarians, and Lithuanians, all apparently closed chapters in the saga of mankind. Last fall, when Arab terrorists attempted to close down the refugee staging center in Austria, again The Jambar was curiously silent. The Jambar has remained silent on the question of the 4,000 Syrian Jews who have lingered near death for the past 25 years. The Jambar has remained silent about the recent rape murder of four Jewish girls (Eva Saad and the three Zeibak sisters) and two Jewish boys (Nathan Shaya and Kassem Abadi) in Syria. The Jambar has remained silent about the wanton murder of five members of the Iraqi Jewish family named Kashkush. The Jambar scrupulously adhered to a "neutral" line during the aggression of the Yom Kippur War, an ugly campaign reminiscent of some medieval Jihad. The Jambar sanctimoniously refused to take sides on the question of prisoners of war, even after documentary evidence of Syrian and Egyptian atrocity had been made public.

Tuesday, however, The Jambar was not silent. Admitting that its recap of Middle Eastern History was "sketchy," The Jambar issued forth its own evaluation of the situation. The campus community was treated to a gratuitous racial slur against "ethnocentric Jews." Without any regard for the historical accuracy of the statement (ignoring the continued presence of Jewish communities in Tiberias, Safed, Hebron, and what was practically a Jewish Jerusalem till the 20th century), we were told that "their (Palestinian) land was usurped by Israel." Blatant Bonnie-Clyde assassination like Kiryat Shmona and Munich (where four persons were killed in an old people's home before the Olympics) were dismissed with the cavalier statement that "the terrorists, like the Israelis 25 years ago, are out to reclaim a land they insist is rightfully theirs." We were even treated to the fanciful legal advice that the Palestinians lived there "dejure proof of existence." The only thing lacking in the infantile wanderings of The Jambar was a prescription for Lydia Pynkham's.

Since The Jambar has no practical alternatives to the J.S.F.'s "quixotic non-solutions" (that is calling upon the international community to enforce written laws against murder), may we respectfully submit that The Jambar emulate its past silence and leave the problem to those who have read at least two books about the Middle East. Finally, we thank The Jambar for recognizing the state of Israel in 1974. May we look forward to the designation of an official ambassador from your office to Tel Aviv soon?

In regards to your piece of drivel that passed as an editorial (April 16th) some one was kind enough to call it an example of intellectual streaking. I disagree;

there was absolutely no evidence of any intellect being used.

Chastises Middle East editorial

To the editor of The Jambar:

We, the undersigned members of the history department wish to record our dissent from the views expressed in Tuesday's editorial of The Jambar entitled "An Eye for An Eye." We consider the appearance of this piece especially unfortunate since the situation in the Middle East currently poses the greatest threat to world peace. It is especially critical, then, that readers of this and other journals should be properly informed with fact and not intuition. Any attempt at understanding this conflict requires more serious reflection and commitment to good will than was demonstrated by the editorial.

We are concerned by the flip-pant manner in which the history of the Arab-Israeli conflict was treated. We are left wondering if the editor of The Jambar knows anything of the geography of the Golan Heights, or the juridical condition of Gaza, Sinai, and Samaria before 1948, or of the Khartoum Platform of the Arab states calling for no negotiations with Israel, the Rafael response to the Rogers Plan, the extent of Soviet involvement with Tilim, Scuds, Snappers, and Stalin III's, or even the nature of U.N. Resolution 194 passed by the General Assembly in 1949 and calling for the resettlement of sizable numbers of Palestinians. Ignorance is one thing, naivete another.

We reject the scurrilous innuendoes cast against American Jews and their Christian neighbors who are pictured either as ethnocentric fanatics or dupes of the media simply because they support the continued existence of the state of Israel. We believe that the Jewish people have the right to live in Israel, something that The Jambar apparently now concedes after 25 years. And finally, we reject the incredible notion that a nation of three million amidst 100,000,000 declared enemies, a nation which occupies less than one per cent of the land area of the Middle East (we hesitate to estimate its relationship to the total land area of the globe), may be labeled imperialist when it is struggling for survival. Let The Jambar seek imperialist bogeys elsewhere, in Eastern Europe, Southeast Asia, or Latin America.

Says thanks for office space

To the editor of The Jambar:

The Organization of Arab Students would like to thank the Kilcawley Student Center Board for voting in favor of granting it an office space in Kilcawley Complex.

In particular our organization would like to thank Director Hirsh, Chairman of the Board Mr. Peter Joy, Mr. Paul Dutton, and Mrs. Edna McDonald, and the rest of the members who without any doubt not only exercised good judgement but gave us confidence

YSU improves four years late for graduate

To the editor of The Jambar:

Well it's happened again! For the past four years I've been slopping through mud puddles, going to classes, eating Red Barn apple pies (better than the cafeteria food), and longing for a game of ping pong. Now in my last quarter at YSU I have witnessed the birth of a fantastic Student Center.

As I walked around tie dye sheet art, passed the candy counter, down the winding staircase through the pub doors toward the Schlitz on tap I asked myself, "Is this really YSU?" But that's the story of my life. I attended school religiously for four years and nothing happens. Then, as soon as I pay my $20 graduation fee, BOOM! things start happening. YSU, you've finked on me again.

that after all, democracy, equality, and freedom of speech are indeed the criteria by which the board governs.

Free clinic boasts more personnel and wider variety of services

by Roy Wilson

It's not the Mayo Clinic. It has a dark, quiet corridor leading to several small rooms atop a steep narrow staircase. At 6 p.m. on a Wednesday, there's an unnerving silence in that gloomy hallway. But within an hour, the Disciples House at the corner of Spring Street and Wick Avenue opens its doors to those in need of medical help and a new light illuminates the Free Clinic.

The Free Clinic has been open now since November, 1971, and has seen over 2,500 patients on Wednesday nights, the night of the week that it is open. The volunteer staff of doctors and nurses have attended cancer victims, cold sufferers, mentally disturbed persons, and a wide range of other sick people.

Of these cases, 80 percent are YSU students. The bulk of those remaining are relatives of students, faculty, and persons in the immediate campus vicinity. According to the director of the Free Clinic, Alice T. Hill, half of the patients return to the clinic for continued medical help.

The Free Clinic is sponsored by the Cooperative Campus Ministry and its office space is donated by First Christian Church. It receives no University funding.

The Clinic began as a referral service with a staff of two doctors, a few nurses, and a small non-professional volunteer staff. Today, 12 doctors are active in the Clinic itself as volunteers while countless others donate equipment and sample medicines. Many nurses from the Youngstown Hospital Association, Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital, and St. Elizabeth's serve the Clinic without pay. The campus community has provided several volunteers from the student ranks, and help has been provided by the clerical staff of area hospitals.

The Free Clinic does all its own lab work, inoculations, and diagnoses. However, those medical problems the Clinic can not handle are referred to specialists or hospitals. All cases are confidential. No one is notified that his or her son or daughter has visited the Clinic.

The wide variety of services available at the Clinic include pap smears, transformational analysis, physical exams in cooperation with Planned Parenthood, which is in the basement of the Disciples House, and discount drug prescriptions.

Hill noted that the Clinic works closely with the Youngstown City Health Department.

The Clinic itself, while being small and overcrowded, boasts its own laboratory microscope, two well-equipped examination rooms, and its own small stock of medicines. There are no hard drugs in the Clinic and all medicines of that type are handled through prescriptions.

The Osteopathic Wives organization of Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital made a sizeable donation which enabled the Clinic to purchase the lab microscope. The staff wives of North and South Side Hospitals have donated large amounts of free medicines, and the Intensive Care nurses of St. Elizabeth's are exceptionally active in the Free Clinic program.

If you complain that Student Government doesn't do anything it's because you're not doing anything to support it. You can start doing something by changing the direction of this University from one of apathy towards student needs to one of Action. How? By showing up at the polls in a display of unity, something never before accomplished at YSU, and give the administration a viable challenge.

Elections will take place on Monday and Tuesday, May 6 and 7; all full-time and part-time students with a valid and current I.D. are eligible to vote. Complete voting information will be listed in a later issue of The Jambar. All who are interested and wish to run for an office can pick up the necessary materials at the Student Government office in the Student Union. The deadline for filing is Friday, April 26 at 3:30 p.m.

O'Neill aims for good tennis season; cites need for year-round program

YSU's newest coach, Dr. Daniel O'Neill, is optimistic about his tennis squad, and admits that his players are willing to work to improve themselves.

"Our players have high morale and they are eager to work," O'Neill said. "But to have a really successful season we need to have a year-round program rather than a seasonal program."

O'Neill inherited a team that finished last season with a poor 3-9 record, but he is hopeful that his five lettermen will provide strong nucleus for this year's team.

"The difference between the top player and the sixth or seventh player is slight," he stated. "We have an experienced squad, but how much they have improved over last year remains to be seen."

The team has 12 scheduled matches this year, and O'Neill hopes to add two more.

In speaking of his background, O'Neill said "I did not play tennis in college but I am an old tennis player from high school. I responded to a story in The Jambar and my appointment in that regards was sort of an accident. But I am taking this thing seriously. I think the team will do well this season and I will be disappointed if they don't."

"There hasn't been a real strong advocate for the sport in some time," O'Neill continued. "The last few coaches were not part of the University staff and therefore they had no real allegiance to the University. The administration insisted for the new coach to come from within the college and I hope this will give tennis a better identity with the University."

About practicing year-around, O'Neill said "I hope to practice in the fall, and as soon as possible make use of some indoor facilities to condition the players."

O'Neill's goal in tennis, as he said, is "to bring a much greater degree of co-ordination to tennis at YSU and to promote tennis in the Youngstown community as a healthy sport."

O'Neill hopes to go to a national tennis coaches clinic in New York City for a weekend in late August if the money is available.

Aside from teaching speech and dramatics, O'Neill is the debate team coach.

The YSU Golf team finished fourth in the Ashland invitational Tournament last weekend out of five college division finishers.

The Penguin golfers turned in a 820 score, 34 strokes off the pace of host Ashland, the college division winners.

Seniors Frank Tuscano and John Marsco, and sophomore Floyd Switzer had 161 totals to lead the Penguins and finished tied for seventh in individual scoring.

Tuscano had a 80-81, Switzer had a 79-82, and Marsco shot a 83-78. Other Penguin golfers included Tony Joy, 83-88-171, Don Lowry 84-95-179, and Charles Jim Carson and Jim Pipoly, each in their first outing for YSU, shot a 79 and 80 respectively to capture honors for the Penguins. Senior John Marsco now supports and 82.0 average, as does Frank Tuscano.

The Penguins will be in action next on Monday at Alliance, Pa.

YSU took both doubles. Individual scores were not immediately available.

Baseball team ups record to 6-0 with twinbills

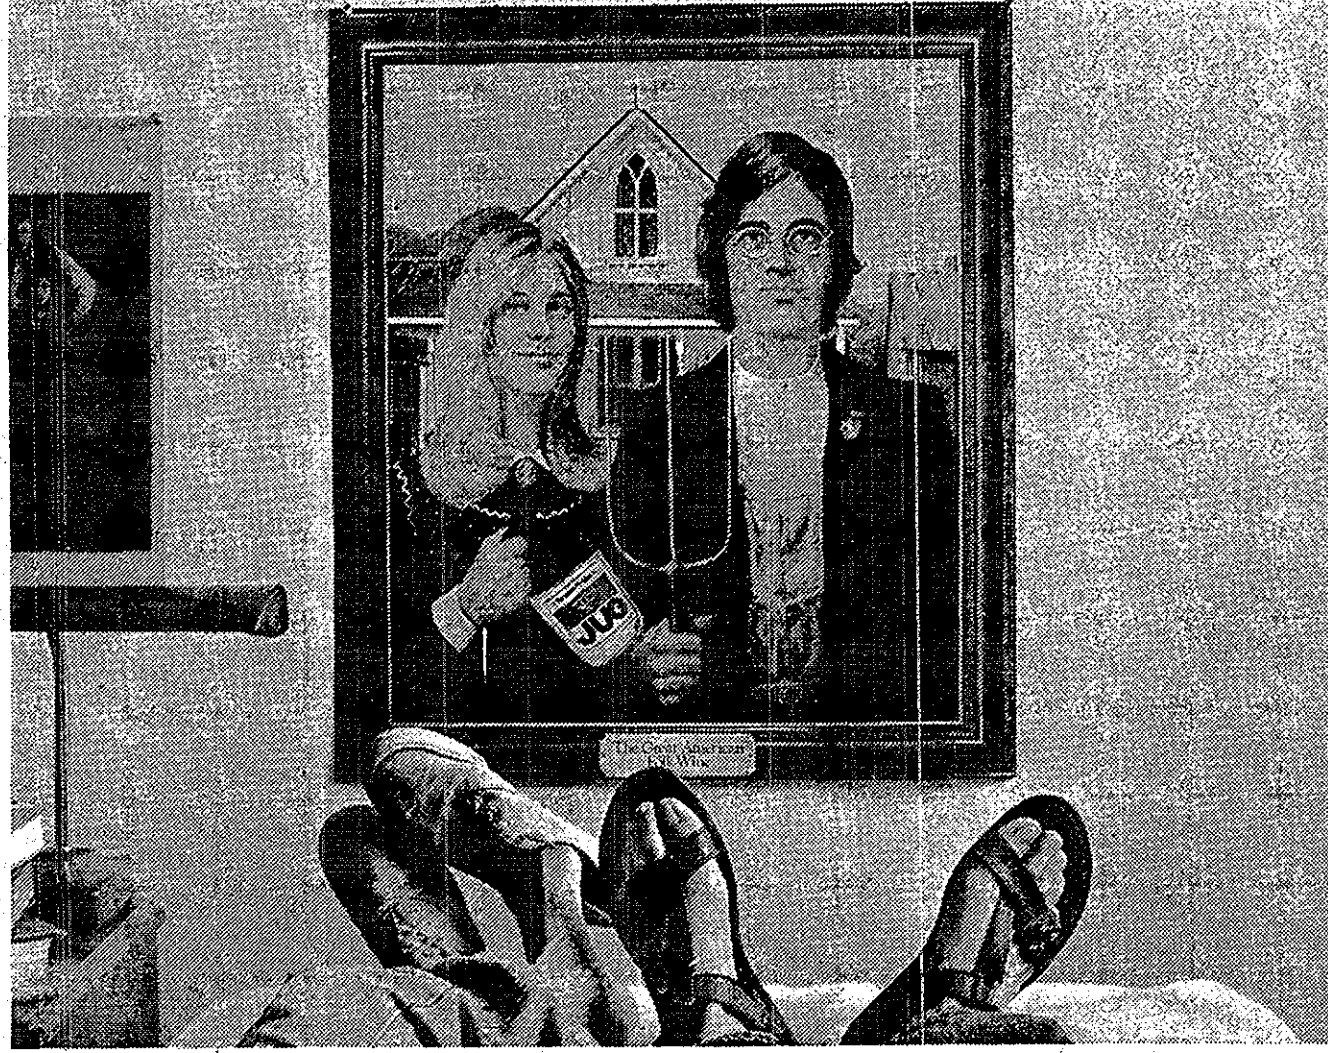

The YSU Baseball team captured two doubleheaders during the week, upping their seasonal mark to 6-0.

On Tuesday they downed Pitt-Johnstown 5-4 and 4-0, and Wednesday they defeated John Carroll 11-0 and 13-4. The Penguins have now shut out the opponents in four of the six games.

Tom Roch was the winning pitcher in the first game against Pitt as he pitched hitless ball for 3 1/3 innings. Ed Knaus pitched a two-hitter in the night cap and the Penguins collected six hits.

Against John Carroll, Bruce Donahue threw a two hitter in the 11-0 pummeling and Rick Beck picked up the win in the 13-4 game with a nifty four-hitter.
