

OEA pelts Trustees for prexy picking policies

The selection of Dr. John J. Coffelt to succeed retiring President Albert L. Pugsley has been met with angry protest from the YSU chapter of the Ohio Education Association.

Yesterday, Dr. Thomas A. Shipka, OEA spokesman, voiced concern over the speed with which the Board of Trustees selected Coffelt and also raised the question of possible illegality of the Monday night meeting at which Coffelt was named.

The Board met Monday night at the home of President Pugsley and accepted Pugsley's resignation. In a matter of hours the Board had appointed Coffelt president, effective September 1.

The OEA is considering filing suit charging that the Trustees meeting Monday night which selected Coffelt was formal action taken in an executive session, which the OEA claims is illegal. Shipka said that the meeting held by the Trustees was not a public meeting and therefore the Board's action cannot be considered binding.

However, Atty. Hugh W. Manchester, secretary of the Board of Trustees, said last night that the session was a "special meeting, open to the public" and was not an executive session. He said that the meeting was called by the chairman of the Board, Atty. John Newman, whom the Jambar was unable to reach for comment yesterday.

Shipka indicated that the OEA will file a formal letter of protest at their negotiation session tomorrow.

He also called the Board's action a "rape of academic protocol and a repudiation of the concept of faculty governance and a throwback to the Boss Tweed smoke-filled room days." He said that this shows "how brazen the Board can be in denying the students and faculty a role in decisions making. It was the kind of highhanded, arrogant and clandestine decision making that spurred the faculty to organize the union."

Robert Cecil, special assistant to Governor John J. Gilligan on Education, said that based on the scant facts he had concerning the situation at YSU, the procedure may be considered "highly irregular in terms of the way most of (Cont. on page 5)

President-designate Coffelt views new position as a real challenge

Dr. John J. Coffelt, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and President-designate of the University, regards his appointment to the position as "a real challenge." Commenting on his selection in a Jambar interview conducted yesterday, Dr. Coffelt revealed that although his recent appointment is in line with "the direction in which I have been pointing all my career," he nonetheless indicated disinterest in the position when he was consulted about it earlier on a hypothetical basis.

In reference to the manner in which the Board of Trustees made the appointment, Dr. Coffelt could find nothing amiss with the decision to forego the services of a search committee. He stated that it is the Board's prerogative to seek advice or to proceed otherwise.

Dr. Coffelt indicated a few problem areas with which his administration will have to come to grips in the future. Enrollment which has been on the decline for the past few years, will present problems to the University especially in the area of funding from state sources. Amounts of state subsidization, Dr. Coffelt said, are largely determined by the number of students enrolled in an institution. Moreover, Dr. Coffelt pointed out that "the problem is not unique to YSU," but that universities are being affected by the same phenomenon on a nationwide basis.

Dr. Coffelt noted another area which may prove problematic to his administration. It is the general tension engendered by the growth program which the University is currently undergoing. In an attempt to ameliorate this, Dr. Coffelt revealed that he will spend the next six months until his tenure becomes effective, in meeting with various individuals on campus. It is through these meetings that Dr. Coffelt hopes to discern problem areas as well as opinions on possible solutions to them.

In discussing probable goals of his administration, Dr. Coffelt indicated that he hopes to develop and maintain a continuing dialog between the administration, faculty and the students. He feels that they should strive to develop common goals and a working relationship through which those goals can be (Cont. on page 5)

Language Dept. chairman resigns due to disagreements with dean

The current chairman of the foreign languages department has announced his resignation as chairman effective June 30, 1973, citing disagreements with his dean as a primary reason.

Dr. Robert E. Ward first offered his resignation last June, but he said yesterday the resignation was declined by President Pugsley after members of the department urged Ward to remain.

Ward said yesterday that his resignation is final, but that he will remain at YSU as an associate professor of German.

Ward said yesterday he disagreed with the dean of arts and sciences, Dr. Bernard J. Yozwiak, over the question of a recommended promotion for a faculty member in foreign languages. Ward recommended the individual for promotion, and said the promotion was denied because of "one person's subjective, undocumented" opinion. He criticized Yozwiak for his role in the matter.

Yozwiak said yesterday that this recommendation for promotion, like all others on campus, went through standard channels, and that he did not have the final word on the recommendation.

Ward also criticized the dean for his role in the recent reduction of the foreign language requirement for the bachelor of science degree.

Yozwiak presented the revision of the foreign language requirement to the University Senate last fall, where it was adopted. The revision was based on a poll of faculty members within A&S taken last spring.

Ward aired his objections to the revised requirement in a Forum article in the Jambar on October 6, 1972, and Yozwiak answered the charges in detail in the same issue, observing that the A&S faculty had approved the revision by a vote of 191 to 35.

Ward also criticized what he called a "permissive policy" in seeing that graduates fulfill various requirements for graduation. He said waivers were made for foreign language, but not for science and mathematics.

Yozwiak responded that the science and math requirement is a university requirement and as such not subject to waiver within A&S. The foreign language requirement, he said, is a college requirement subject to waiver by the college. He said waivers were approved by a committee which included Ward and him, and that he accepted the decisions of the committee.

Senate to vote on Pass/Fail and Credit/No credit today

The YSU Senate ad hoc committee on Pass/Fail will move that the University Senate adopt a Credit/No credit proposal at today's University Senate meeting which will be held at 4 p.m. in Schwebel Auditorium.

The motion prepared by the ad hoc committee would have the University Senate recommend to the Board of Trustees that a Credit/No credit policy be adopted at YSU.

The Credit/No credit proposal before the Senate would allow YSU students who have completed at least four courses and have a grade point average of 2.0 or better to enroll in a course in which he will receive a grade of CR (credit) or NC (no credit).

This option is limited to a maximum of six courses for the Baccalaureate degree or three courses for the Associate degree, but not more than one course a quarter. Courses taken under the CR/NC option, however, may not be counted toward a student's major or minor.

Students opting for the CR/NC would not be identified as such on the class roster. Instructors will record grades as usual. If an instructor posts A, B, or C in the course, a grade of CR is recorded. If an instructor posts a (Cont. on page 8)

Spirit of 1776 on hand to signal drama department salute to Britain

A fife player, a drummer, a standard bearer representing The Spirit of 1776 and two bag pipers playing Great Britain's "God Save the Queen," kicked off the Speech and Dramatics special event for February. The program, "A Salute to Great Britain," is being sponsored in conjunction with the Artist Lecture Series.

"A Salute to Great Britain" is a month long event featuring five British films. George Bernard Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple," staged by the Drama Department, will conclude the event.

Master of ceremonies Jim

Hubbard, junior education major, introduced the honored guests, including Mayor Jack C. Hunter, Dr. Earl Edgar, vice-president of academic affairs, and Donald Elsar, chairman of the Speech and Dramatics Department.

A sneak preview of "Behind the Scenes with the Royal Ballet," one of the films scheduled to be shown, was presented.

At the conclusion of the film, guests had tea and blueberry crumpets at the Ye Olde Covent Gardens Tea and Crumpet Shoppe. A renovated corner of Strouss Auditorium, The Shoppe will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. throughout the month of February. The proceeds will go to Alpha Psi Omega honorary drama society.

Radio-Reader aids handicapped

by Ginny Merdes
Staff Writer

Soon to be initiated by WYSU-FM is the new Radio-Reader, a Subsidiary Communications Authorization service, featuring both an informative and entertaining broadcast program for the area's blind and physically handicapped.

The WYSU-SCA Radio-Reader is a special broadcast service centering on the needs and interests of non-reading persons. Readings from books and magazines as well as lectures, interviews, and telephone discussions will highlight Radio-Reader broadcasting.

The SCA is an electronic technique enabling FM stations to transmit two signals simultaneously thus permitting WYSU-FM to introduce the Radio-Reader service as a supplemental program to its regular broadcasting. However, a special receiver is needed to receive the SCA signal.

Stephen Grcevich, originator of the Radio-Reader service and director of WYSU Radio broadcasting, expects SCA receivers to be available to the area's blind and handicapped soon. Grcevich reports that the SCA receiver has already been tested and the service proven workable. However, he explained, we are now waiting for new modified SCA receivers that will produce clearer reception.

The sets will cost between $70-$75 and are expected to be financed through state or federal funds and monies raised by community groups.

Edward Werden, local director for the Society for the Blind, is confident that funds will be raised reporting that area groups presented with the Radio-Reader program have reacted with enthusiasm. Werden emphasizes the uniqueness of the Radio-Reader service which centers on all non-reading handicapped persons. This audience includes people with paralysis or other physical disabilities that handicapped their reading ability, as well as the blind.

Area geriatric centers and private homes will be the first to participate in the Radio-Reader service and Werden states further that the service should eventually expand to include WYSU-FM's entire broadcast area which reaches the metropolitan areas of Cleveland, Akron-Canton, Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

From 35-40 volunteers are needed to read for Radio-Reader programming. Interested persons should contact the WYSU in the A&S building.

Stephen Grcevich noted the great potential of the SCA service

Rapid Transit

The retirement of President Pugsley came as a mild surprise to many of us, however, the real shock occurred when Dr. Coffelt was simultaneously named successor by the Board of Trustees.

We bear no malice towards Dr. Coffelt, as we will endeavor not to prejudge him, however, the rapidity with which he was selected and the procedure employed in the selection process merit some criticism.

The university spent exhaustive months hiring a football coach and about a year to select an Arts and Sciences dean. Conversely, the three and one half hours employed to accept Pugsley's resignation and to select Coffelt hardly seemed enough time to insure the best candidate's selection.

There was no evidence of faculty or student consultation on Pugsley's potential successor, rather the Board acted expediently and independently. This apparent lack of input is something we disdain.

Nevertheless, we sincerely hope that the Trustees made a wise choice in their haste, and we desire that Dr. Coffelt's administration will be a meritorious one for the student body.

The Jambar commends Dr. Coffelt upon his selection. We wish our soon-to-be president the best.

Do Not Fail

Today, the University Senate will finally decide whether or not to institute a credit/no credit system at YSU. The credit/no credit system will offer to students the option of experimenting with courses outside their major and minor without the proverbial Sword of Damocles (the threat of a lowered grade point average) hanging over their heads.

Time and time again, the Senate has failed to come to any real decision regarding credit/no credit. For better or worse, credit/no credit will cease to be an issue this evening, as its failure to pass tonight will kill it for good.

We regard this proposal as the most important piece of academic legislation that has faced the Senate this year, in that it is this university's first attempt at evaluating and realistically responding to the academic needs of its students. We therefore urge all members of the University Senate to give the students of this university the option of broadening their fields of academic interest without suffering cracks in their crania. Pass credit/ no credit.

Clarifies Hookian social issue

To the editor of the Jambar:

In his speech last Friday, Sidney Hook revealed, in my opinion, a sad insensitivity to the questions and complaints of dissatisfied students.

But on one point, I think the Jambar got it wrong. Prof. Hook did not say that "social problems should not be on the agenda of study in the university." Obviously, such a position would imply the abolition of whole academic fields of study, e.g., Sociology, Criminology, Urban Problems, much of Psychology, etc.

What he did say was that universities should not espouse specific stands on social issues, that is, they should not, as institutions, take sides on public questions such as the Vietnamese war, pornography, or capital punishment.

In the reception following the lecture, Prof. Hook pointed out that institutional noninvolvement doesn't deny the rights of free speech to members of the academic community, either, so long as they speak as individuals, not as institutional voices.

Academic freedom doesn't override the First Amendment-it implements it.

We, the Organization of Arab Students at YSU met with some of our Iranian brothers concerning the denial by some Iranian students of the name "National Iranian Student Association

We do regret the error, the name should have read, "members of the National Iranian Student Association attending YSU"

Clarifies Senate pass-fail issue

To the editor of the Jambar:

On February 2, 1973 the Ad-Hoc Committee report on Pass-Fail; Credit-No-Credit, will go before the University Senate. At this time the YSU Student Council and Student Government endorse the proposal in principal and urge members of the University Senate to pass the proposal.

We must realize this is just the beginning in changing our grading philosophy; a continued effort on the part of the entire University community is essential if a complete and viable Credit-No-Credit system is to be implemented.

Basically, the Credit-No-Credit proposal will enable the YSU student to enjoy the liberty of taking no more than six courses Credit-No-Credit. The student therefore can 1) experiment in different fields of learning, and 2) acquire knowledge for the sake of the learning experience.

We urge your support and attendance.

Input

Blast the "clean" Bomb Before it Blasts You

We wish to protest Nixon's proposed budget of $34 million towards research into the "laser" bomb. We feel the realization of this bomb could have disastrous effects upon the balance of power between the East and West.

The original H-bomb has never been used against any enemy because of one large disadvantage: the radio-active fallout which uncontrollably spreads the effects of the bomb over the whole globe. This radioactivity does not come from the fusion reaction of the H-bomb, a relatively clean reaction; it comes instead from the atomic fission bomb which must be exploded inside the H-bomb to bring it to the temperature necessary for a fusion reaction. The fusion reaction is actually a clean blast, rather than a radioactive one.

The idea of the laser bomb is to take away the radioactive A-bomb and replace it with a laser which could also produce the temperatures necessary for a fusion reaction. The result would be a "clean" bomb which could perhaps be dropped on Cuba with no great effects even on the shores of Florida.

Such a bomb would make it practical to bomb the hell out of an enemy, even a country as large as the Soviet Union, without being affected ourselves. Obviously this would take away much of the deterrent which has kept the delicate peace between ourselves and the other powers. In buying the ability to bomb without fallout, we very likely are selling our freedom not to bomb.

We hope that the reader will find some time to write his congressman about this upcoming budget proposal. It is indeed urgent.

Court sets deadline for clean air

WASHINGTON AP—A federal appeals court has required nationwide compliance with clean-air standards by mid-1975, wiping out the two-year delays previously granted 18 states.

The court allowed for eventual reinstatement of the extensions if carefully justified, but it insisted on "interim measures of control" going at least part way toward the full standards.

That seemed to mean many urban areas would have to impose some transportation controls to reduce smog, while working toward a more complete clean-up.

The decision was won late Wednesday by the Natural Resources Defense Council, a citizen environment group, in a lawsuit against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

David Hawkins, NRDC lawyer, said Thursday the threat of transportation controls might spark some public "backlash" against the environment movement; he said he was urging EPA to counteract that tendency with a public education campaign.

An EPA spokesman said the agency was still studying the court order but would probably comply with it, rather than appeal to the Supreme Court.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, William D. Ruckelshaus established nationwide air quality standards to be implemented by the states by May 31, 1975. On May 31, 1972, Ruckelshaus approved some state plans, but granted two-year extensions.

Thirteen of them were among a larger list of states required to submit transportation control plans; the other five had problems controlling air pollution from factories or other stationary sources.

The transportation control plans were due by this coming Feb. 15.

The court order pushed back that submission deadline to April 15; gave Ruckelshaus another two months to approve or disapprove the plans.

Pen natators host Allegheny in first of five home meets

The undefeated Allegheny College Golden Gators provide the opposition in the first five consecutive home dates for the YSU swimming team Saturday afternoon at Beeghly Center pool.

Allegheny, unbeaten in five meets, is a strong contender for the President's Athletic Conference title. The Gators are led by seniors Bill Blank (butterfly and IM), and Pete Brunson (freestyle), both All-PAC performers.

YSU Coach Bob Leahy reports that he is pleased with the progress made by his squad. He notes that the Penguin swimmers are working toward their main goal—the Penn-Ohio Conference Championships, to be hosted by YSU March 1-3.

The Pens, now even at 3-3, will enter the meet counting heavily upon the services of freshman freestyler Ed Wade from Garfield Heights. Wade broke the YSU 1,000-yard freestyle record for the third time this season in last Saturday's 70-42 loss to Clarion State with a clocking of 10:46.5. He also holds the 500-yard mark with a time of 5:16.4.

Saturday's meet, beginning at 2 p.m., opens the home stand. Following Allegheny, the Penguins will host Cleveland State and Grove City Feb. 10, Fairmont State Feb. 16, Kent State and Kenyon Feb. 17, and Ashland Feb. 3.

All YSU home meets are free and open to the public.

Having established his plans for future intra-university policy, Dr. Coffelt proceeded to elaborate on his goals for relations with Columbus. "It is important," he said, "to build a stronger relationship with the legislature and the agencies and offices in Columbus that influence the allocation of resources and policy for higher education."

Also occupying a prominent position in his administration's future activities is the continuation of the present expansion of the physical plant instituted under President Pugsley. Dr. Coffelt explained that the plant should not have to be expanded much beyond Phase II of the current plan, unless drastic enrollment changes indicate otherwise.

"Guided Design" technique poses new teaching ideas

"Guided Design - A New Teaching Method" will be the subject of an all-day workshop set for Thursday, Feb. 11, at YSU. Open to all teachers on the junior high or high school level, workshop instructors will be three assistant professors from the mechanical engineering department.

"Guided Design" is a new teaching technique based on the engineering design process and is one alternative to the traditional approach to teaching. This method permits students to work on relevant problems. There is a minimum of instructor intervention, since instructors do not lecture, but act as sources of information and guidance, stimulating student discussion.

Joe Palmiter paced the JV win with a 314 scoring total. Ed Wright led the varsity at 304.

Receiving trophies presented by the YSU Rifle Club were Palmiter (first place), Sheri Davis (second), Wright (third), Jeri Staub (fourth), Ted Grenga (fifth) and Tom Owens (sixth). Others awarded trophies for their performances were Mitzi Fill (off-hand shooting), David Vinkler (kneeling) and Sheri Davis (prone).

Jaworski is sent draft notice

"It's just unreal." That was the voice of an overwhelmed Ron Jaworski after learning that he had been the 37th college senior in the nation to be selected in Tuesday's opening day of the National Football League draft held in New York.

It was three o'clock that afternoon in the Kilcawley dormitory, where many of Ron's teammates and friends had gathered, when the telephone rang. An unidentified man, speaking from the Americana Hotel in Fun City, congratulated the YSU quarterback and told him that he has been the second draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams. LA tabbed Colorado defensive back Cullen Bryant fifth in the second round and "The Rifle" 11th.

Third quarterback chosen
To the least of Jaworski's knowledge and unimportant at the time anyway, was the fact that he was the third quarterback in the country to be chosen. Only Bert Jones of LSU (Baltimore Colts) and Gary Huff from Florida State (Chicago Bears) had been tabbed before him.

The discussion at hand concerned the 6-2, 190-pound signal caller going to Los Angeles and joining established field generals, John Hadl and Roman Gabriel.

"I'm going out there to play," commented the elated Jaworski when asked about competing with Hadl and Gabriel for a job next fall.

A short time later, "Rifle Ron" was on the phone talking with Carroll Rosebloom, owner of the Rams. "He told me I have a great future in Los Angeles and to take care of myself."

Rams forgotten
Los Angeles was one of several teams highly interested in Jaworski's talents, as was reported in the Jambar last week. But then the Rams were forgotten about when they obtained Hadl via a trade with the San Diego Chargers. It just could be that they will make additional quarterbacking adjustments before the 1973 season gets underway.

Baseball career?
As for the possibility of a previously mentioned major league baseball career, Jaworski noted, "I'm ninety per cent sure that it will be football." Jaworski has been considered the top catching prospect in the Eastern United States by the Detroit Tigers, which if nothing else, may persuade Mr. Rosebloom to be generous at contract time.

At any rate, it was a big day for the Lackawanna, N.Y., native, probably the biggest in his life. Jaworski explained it best, "It's just unreal."

Pens handed 10th loss---

Textiles sew up Birds, 61-50

Once again, Coach Dom Rosselli's YSU roundballers grabbed the proverbial "Brass Ring" in the early part of the game and then let it slip from their grasp in the latter stages, as nationally ranked Philadelphia Textile utilized a strong 2nd half defense to hand the Penguins their 10th loss in 15 outings, 61-50.

The Birds opened strongly, as they have against most of their grade of D or F in the course, an NC is recorded. In either case the quality point average is not affected.

When asked about the CR/NC proposal before the University Senate, Ron Kessler, Student Government vice president and senior in Industrial Management remarked that, "this is the beginning and the proposal should be implemented tomorrow." Kessler noted that, "the CR/NC proposal permits a student to experiment with unusual courses and learn for the sake of learning."

He also remarked that he hopes this proposal would be expanded in the future to increase the number of courses a student could take for CR/NC and possibly be expanded to include courses in the student's minor.

opponents this year, trailing at halftime by a single point, 30-31. After shooting at an excellent 48.1% in the first half, a four-minute dry spell in the second stanza killed the Penguins' chances for an upset of the Nation's fifth ranked Small College Team. With 16:24 left in the period, the Birds were coasting along smoothly, just one point behind the big and fast Rams. Then, cold shooting, and, four minutes later, the Penguins found themselves on the wrong end of an 11 point deficit.

YSU came back to within five points of Textile, with a little over eight minutes to play, but, fighting the clock, fouls committed in trying to get the ball sealed their doom.

Jeff Puffer put together an outstanding game as he led the Penguin scoring with 14 points, also contributing six assists. Phil Gaston continued his excellent play of the last few games, accounting for 12 points and a game-high 16 rebounds. Ron Romine with 10, Billy Wells, 1 with 8, and Jim Hood, with 6 points, closed out the scoring for the Penguins.

Smooth and soft shooting guard Kevin Dougherty led Textiles scoring, garnering 24 points on mostly 20 to 25 feet, long rainbow type swishers that didn't even ripple the nets. Ed Swift with 13 and Mark Williams also gathered in 14 rebounds.

The 'meat in the puddin' was the strong Ram defense that held the Penguins to only 19 points in the second half. And, of course, that dry spell that so often seems to find the Birds in the second half.

In the preliminary game, Bob Chuey's JV's won their third straight, downing the Warren All-Stars, 93-68, to bring their record to 10 wins against 6 losses.

Jeff Maley led the Baby Birds, with 21 counters, followed by Bob Gill, with 19, and Joe Glover, with 13. Matt Maresh had one of his better games of the season, getting 10 points and joining Terry Allen at 11 rebounds to lead the Chicks in that department.

The Penguins face Ohio Dominican, Saturday, at Beeghly Center.
