

OEA leadership seeks faculty strike authority

Authority to call a faculty strike will be sought by the YSU-OEA at a general meeting of the faculty to be held next Friday, said Dr. Thomas A. Shipka, OEA president, last night.

Shipka said that the negotiations with the university are "in jeopardy" because the administration team "has apparently lost its power to negotiate, and agreements already established have been retracted after eight months of negotiations."

At a meeting yesterday, the OEA membership agreed to put before the general faculty a vote that authorizes the OEA executive committee and faculty negotiating team to declare a faculty strike under certain conditions.

Those conditions are: If the Board of Trustees refuse to grant their team the authority to negotiate; if the trustees refuse to agree to substantive due process in non renewal grievances, or if the trustees seek to retract substantive language in agreements already concluded in negotiations.

Shipka told the OEA members that the negotiations are in serious trouble because the administration team has lost its power to negotiate, and the issues of work load, due process and grievability of promotions denials have been retracted.

There will be two faculty meetings before the vote to authorize a strike decision under the three conditions. A notice of the meetings and a short description of the crisis have been sent to the faculty.

Shipka said "the retractions constitute a major breach of good faith. Apparently all agreements reached with the administration team may be repudiated by the Trustees." The OEA requested assistance via telegram from Governor John J. Gilligan, the Higher Education Director of the National Education Association and the President and Executive Secretary of the Ohio Education Association.

A meeting to seek the support of the Mahoning County Building Trade Council and other prominent labor groups and a publicity campaign is planned for next week in the community.

News conferences will be held after the general faculty meetings next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Atty. John Weed Powers, chief negotiator and spokesman for the university, was out of town last night and could not be reached for comment on the latest development. Atty. John Newman,

Artist lecture Series presents Dr. Velikovsky on Wednesday

Dr. Immanuel Velikovsky, noted psychoanalyst turned historian, will appear as the last speaker for YSU's Artist Lecture Series this year at 2 p.m., Wednesday, April 11, in St. John's Episcopal Church.

While doing research on historical precedents for modern day personality disorders, Dr. Velikovsky became interested in the histories of ancient Egypt and Israel. His interest became a life-long pursuit, leading him to reconstruct a number of previously unexplored periods and events.

A native of Russia, Dr. Velikovsky received a medical degree from the University of Moscow in 1921. He left Russia for Berlin and edited the 'Scripta Universitatis,' for which Albert Einstein prepared the mathematical-physical section.

From 1924-1939 he lived in Palestine, practicing psychoanalysis, with some of his writings appearing in Freud's "Imago." In 1940, he was first struck by the idea that a great natural catastrophe had taken place at the time of the Israelites' Exodus from Egypt. Wondering if any Egyptian record of a similar catastrophe existed, he found an obscure papyrus stored in Holland - the lamentation of an Egyptian sage. He became convinced this document parallels the "Book of Exodus," describing the same natural catastrophe and the same

Day Care funds snafued

The $1,720 earmarked for the University-Community Day Care Center by Student Council late last month was left in limbo yesterday by Dr. John Coffelt, vice president for administrative affairs "until it is approved as a project" by the Budget Committee.

Dr. Coffelt promised "to convene as quickly as possible" the Budget Committee to iron out the wrinkles. The meeting will probably take place next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The snafu arose when the Administration evidenced discordance with Student Council's appropriation of funds for the Center. Dr. Coffelt argued that the Budget Committee "specifically disallowed" the funding of the Day Care Center. Student Council representative Joan Kraynanski countered by noting that day care funds were disallowed as part of a larger package of funds earmarked for the Cooperative Campus Ministry "because it is unconstitutional to fund a religious organization from student money" not because it was a day care appropriation per se.

Kraynanski further noted that this year's Budget includes a "Student Government Work Fund of $2,000 with no stipulations," from which was garnered the $1,720 in question. By Council's interpretation these monies can be used to finance anything which meets the general stipulations that everything on the Budget must conform to. These requisites are: 1) The project must involve as many students as possible; 2) be easily available for student participation; 3) provide services for students; and, 4) make for better communication between the University and the community. Kraynanski argued that the Center's funding fulfilled these requirements.

Dr. Coffelt admitted that the Day Care Center "may well be meeting" the above stipulations but maintained that the Work

YSU plays host to special educators at workshop today

YSU department of special education, in cooperation with the Northeast Ohio Special Education Resource Center Warren, the Youngstown Public Schools and Mahoning County Public Schools, is sponsoring an all-day workshop today for a select group of special educators and vocational educators to study the problem of securing vocational education for handicapped children in the Youngstown and Mahoning County area.

The meeting, being held at the Mental Health Center in Youngstown, will be highlighted by presentations by Earl Kilchenman and Don Schonar from the Willoughby-Eastlake area, who have been closely associated with a successful vocational education program for handicapped individuals in that area.

During the day, participants in the workshop will meet in mini-sessions and discuss and identify problems for the handicapped (i.e., deaf, blind, emotionally disturbed, learning disability, mentally retarded, orthopedically handicapped, etc.).

Child Seminar

A "Child & Respect for Life" Seminar is being held at Wayne State U. in Detroit, Michigan on April 5, 6, and 7. Topics range from "The Impact of War and Violence on Child/Teacher/Parent," "Aggression in Young Children" to "Roots of Racism."

Mrs. Dorla Whipple, a limited service faculty member, can be contacted for further information at 539-5826.

Good Faith Bargaining

In an earlier editorial, we urged that students obtain a clear understanding of the issues at hand between the OEA and the university. Now, it is apparent that a strike vote will be taken. Many complicated issues are at stake here; generally speaking, they boil down to whether or not the university is negotiating in good faith.

The OEA claims that the negotiating team for the university has lost the support of the Board of Trustees, and as a result, no longer represents the Board in negotiations. Further, the OEA charges that the bargaining team has begun to renege on many of the agreements already made.

If these allegations are true, then the university is in serious trouble. If the Board decides after months of negotiations, and after being so close to a settlement that it no longer supports its negotiator, then the faculty has a right to strike.

It is obvious that the Board of Trustees is not prepared to treat the faculty as its equal, and still regards the OEA as a thorn in its side.

We supported the faculty in their drive to organize and bargain collectively, and we back them now in their drive to demonstrate to the administration and to the community that they should be treated as human beings, rather than as restless children to be seen but not heard.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter.

—Thomas Jefferson

Notes calendar needs new leaf

To the editor of the Jambar:

It is with great disappointment that I note that the Jambar has not run "campus calendar" in the last few issues. Perhaps this is due to the fact that this is a new quarter, but this doesn't seem to be the case.

Last quarter I noted that

"campus calendar" was getting progressively smaller in each issue, but now it apparently will not appear again.

Many students don't bother to pick up the mimeographed calendar and have only the Jambar as their source of information. At least let them see what events are going on around at YSU before they decide to be apathetic. Then, at least, the many student groups can say they tried. All of this is especially disappointing when you consider that Student Government is trying to create interest in activities at this time.

Letters Policy

The Jambar offers two avenues of expression regarding salient issues and criticism, the first of which is our Feedback column, the second is the Input column.

All manuscripts are to be typed, triple-spaced and must bear the author's signature, school, class rank, address, and phone number.

Feedback letters under 250 words in length will be printed in full, providing they contain no libelous or otherwise offensive material.

The Input column is intended to permit comment on matters that are broader than immediate campus issues. Input manuscripts may not exceed 700 words and must conform to the same literary standards as Feedback.

The editor will edit or condense manuscripts which do not adhere to these specifications.

Nixon withdraws Gray nomination

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. AP — President Nixon announced Thursday he was withdrawing the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He said he acted at Gray's request.

In a statement, Nixon said: "In fairness to Mr. Gray, and out of my overriding concern for the effective conduct of the vitally important business of the FBI, I have regretfully agreed to withdraw Mr. Gray's nomination."

Nixon, who did not say who he would name to succeed Gray as head of the FBI, did declare that he has asked Gray to remain as acting director until a nominee is confirmed.

The President said, after talking to Gray by telephone for five minutes, "it is obvious that Mr. Gray's nomination will not be confirmed by the Senate."

Nixon bolsters To bolster this contention, Nixon cited, without elaborating, action Thursday by the Senate Judiciary Committee which had been handling the matter.

The committee earlier Thursday agreed to a showdown vote next week on the nomination after Democrats moved to postpone action indefinitely.

In his statement, Nixon described Gray as "an able, honest and dedicated American" who had been exposed to "totally unfair innuendo and suspicion" because he had cooperated with White House counsel John Dean III in making available FBI reports on the Watergate conspiracy.

Gray announcement

In Washington, Gray had announced he had asked that his nomination be withdrawn shortly before Nixon made his formal announcement.

Atty. General Richard Kleindienst said through a spokesman that he was deeply disappointed by what he called the turn of events.

"Loyal American"

"He is one of the most loyal Americans I know," said Kleindienst. "He was an excellent choice to be permanent director and should have been confirmed."

The spokesman said Gray telephoned Kleindienst and told him of his decision about an hour before he issued his statement.

"I have asked the President to withdraw my nomination for the position of director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation," Gray said in a brief statement.

Deep conviction

"The basis for this decision is my deep conviction that the FBI, a great and unique American institution of vital service to the President and to the American people, is entitled to permanent leadership at the earliest possible time."

Gray, who has headed the giant law-enforcement bureau since the death of J. Edgar Hoover last May, has become entangled in the controversy over the bugging of Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate office-apartment complex.

Deep Conviction

Senators have criticized Gray for turning over FBI reports on the probe of the incident to Dean.

Others have accused Gray of making speeches of a political nature during last fall's election campaign. Gray denied this, saying the speeches were in line with his job as temporary head of the FBI.

Showdown

Earlier Thursday, the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed to a showdown vote next week on Gray's nomination.

Senator Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., forced the issue at a hastily called afternoon meeting by moving to postpone action indefinitely—a motion tantamount to killing it.

YSU freshman is veteran dancer; finds the life of ballet rewarding

"It's a lot of hard work, and often very frustrating," admitted YSU freshman Marilyn Jones, veteran dancer of the Ballet Western Reserve Company. "My only reward," Ms. Jones continued, "is my own self-satisfaction and love for dance."

Ms. Jones's motivation and love for ballet and modern dance has brought her through ten years of lessons, training and performances to become the senior member of the Ballet Western Reserve Company. Her talents will soon be displayed in the Company's upcoming "Spring Season" program, which will feature Ms. Jones in four performing roles and names her as choreographer of two ballets.

Ms. Jones noted that such achievements do not come to the idle. She spends 20 hours each week practicing and rehearsing. Regular practice is necessary to retain strength and skill, Ms. Jones noted. "You wouldn't believe how strong a dancer is," she remarked.

Looking back, Ms. Jones related that she was initially captivated in her youth by the "glamorous and sequenced frills" of dancing. However, she admitted, her concept of the art matured as she experienced the intense training involved in becoming an accomplished dancer.

Ms. Jones now professes that she could think of nothing more wonderful than for a person to have "such control over their body, that they can do anything they want," and make it look as easy as smiling. "That's beautiful," she exclaimed.

But it's also "very frustrating," the petite talent said. She works hard in perfecting each step and as choreographer tries to teach someone "that perfect step." "I get so mad when I can't get someone to do a step right," she said.

Ms. Jones also noted a misconception some people have regarding ballet and dance. "It's sad,"

she explained, "that guys are not easily accepted as dancers. A man's talent is praised in sports sure, but ballet, forget it."

Regarding her future plans Ms. Jones hopes to dance professionally in New York, concentrating on modern ballet and modern dance (this latter style is freer than classical and usually shoeless). Meanwhile, she pursues her career locally and attends the University part-time, majoring in English.

She plans to eventually attain certification as a secondary teacher, but claims, "right now my primary interest is dancing. Teaching is something I can fall back on later." Mrs. Jones already enjoys teaching dance, as she gives lessons to younger students.

Ms. Jones performed last season in the Nutcracker ballet and will dance again with the Ballet Western Reserve Company this season as they present their "Spring Season" program.

This program includes a repertoire of seven ballets with performances on Friday, April 13, at 8 p.m., Saturday, April 14, at 2:30 and 8 p.m., and Sunday, April 15, at 2:30 p.m., in the Woodrow Wilson High School Auditorium.

Besides starring in the classical ballet "Giselle, Act II," with guest artists Eileen Jones and Edward Myers, Ms. Jones will perform in the contemporary ballets "Les Fetes Etranges" and "G.S. for 8 & 2," the latter features the music of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Other ballets included in the "Spring Season" program are: "End of the Morning" a modern ballet with music by Chicago; "Mother Goose and Other Such Nonsense," a ballet take off on fairy tales; "Gershwiniana," a jazz style ballet with a classical theme to the music "Rhapsody in Blue;" and "Riffs," a ballet featuring the music of Leonard Bernstein.

Tickets are $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students, and may be obtained at the Athletic Ticket Office in Beeghly Center.

Indian film trilogy to be shown thru April at Strouss Auditorium

"The Apu Trilogy," one of the major accomplishments of contemporary cinema, will be shown in its entirety during the month of April by the department of speech and dramatics at YSU, with the first segment to be shown at 8 p.m., tonight in Strouss Auditorium of Jones Hall.

Satyajit Ray's epic chronicle of a Bengali family and the boy Apu begins with the film "Pather Panchali." Ray shunned the conventional wisdom of the Indian film industry by using natural location, non-professional actors, and a production crew who were mostly newcomers, including Ravi Shankar who composed the music.

"Pather Panchali" deals mainly with Apu's father and his struggle to support his family in their ancestral village. Although artistically gifted, the father is considered a dreamer and is forced to eke out a living as a rent collector. The strong-willed mother evicts the aging aunt because she encourages the children to steal. The aunt dies, and the father leaves for the city to find a better job. After earning some money, he returns to find that his daughter has died during the monsoon. Disheartened, he ignores the advice of the village elders and moves his family to Benares.

After two years of production, "The Apu Trilogy" had its world premiere at the Museum of Modern Art. It was voted "the best human document" by critics at the 1955 Cannes Film Festival, and they became the first Bengali films to be exhibited widely throughout the Western World and India.

The series of International Motion Picture Classics has been made possible through matching funds from the Artist Lecture Series Committee. The film is free and open to the public.

Foreign Lang. Night slated for high school students

In an effort to better acquaint area high school students with the study of foreign languages, the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures will hold a "Foreign Language Night" at 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 11, in the Planetarium, said Dr. Robert E. Ward, chairman of the Foreign Language Department, yesterday.

The students' parents, teachers, principals and counselors have also been invited to the event so that they also may receive first-hand information about the methods, materials and policies at YSU as well as present and future language programs at YSU.

The program will begin with an address by Dr. Ward. Six workshops, each centering on a different language will then be simultaneously held in separate rooms of Jones Hall. The guests will have the opportunity to attend the session of their choice: French, German, Italian, Latin, Russian and Spanish. The half hour workshops will then be repeated to allow those interested to attend a second session.

There will also be an opportunity for guests to visit the language lab and to converse with YSU instructors after the workshop session and refreshments are served.

Continuing Ed. to offer new course on 'Geology of National Parks'

This spring, the Department of Geology is offering a new course under the Department of Continuing Education entitled "The Geology of National Parks."

This no-credit course is designed for persons with little or no background in geology, who are planning to visit National Parks in Eastern or Western United States, Alaska or Hawaii.

Ann G. Harris, assistant professor of geology, is the originator and instructor of the course. She has collected over a thousand slides of more than 30 parks in the U.S., and plans to use them to help her students know where to go, what to see, and why it's there.

Information will be given regarding the collection of minerals and fossils, and course lectures will include movies, slides and transparencies with simplified explanations of geologic features.

The course will feature simulated field trips to Glacier National Park and the Underwater Park in Florida.

Beginning April 10, the course will meet for ten sessions every Tuesday night from 7:40-10:30 p.m. in Room G-15, Ward Beecher Science Building. There is a $20 fee for this course, and interested persons may register until Tuesday, April 10 by contacting the Department of Continuing Education, ext. 481.

YSU survey to determine attitudes on United Appeal

The YSU department of sociology and anthropology and the University Relations Office are co-sponsoring a study of community attitudes toward United Appeal campaigns in light of the fact that many people still identify them as the Red Feather or Community Chest campaigns.

About 500 students from sociology and social work classes are calling on 1,000 homes in the Youngstown and Mahoning

County areas, interviewing the occupants regarding their attitudes toward United Appeal.

Those interviewed are selected at random by addresses listed in the City Directory with each interview taking approximately 10 minutes each.

Student interviewers will call at homes between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. If residents have any questions they may call the University at 746-1851, Ext. 251 or 394.

Snack bar finds home---

Beecher Basement is lounge site

Students who suspect that the University is playing a game of musical lounges will be happy to know that a permanent study and relaxation area is now being planned for the basement of Ward Beecher. If all goes well, students will be able to use the lounge by the beginning of May.

This basement haven is meant to replace what was formerly the Central Hall Servomation snack bar which was moved to a grimy corner of West Hall when construction began. Further developments forced the snack bar out of West Hall, and at present, there is no snack bar.

In preparation, the Ward Beecher basement, which is now devoted to Campus Planning and Maintenance offices is being rejuvenated, and when finished will contain an assortment of vending machines, a jukebox and seating for about 40. The lounge, according to Phil Rogers, assistant to the Vice-President of Finances, will fill the need for a study and relaxation area in the southeast part of the campus. Rogers also noted that the planners can concentrate more on aesthetic aspects of the new lounge than they could at Central or West Hall since this will be a permanent location. Assuming of course, that Ward Beecher will not be earmarked for demolition by campus planners in the near future.

Exactly how much longer before students can use the proposed lounge depends on the time it will take to install a new water line, and suitable electrical outlets for the vending machines. A partition must also be erected to separate the student area from the offices which will remain in the basement. This partition will insure a measure of peace and quiet from the area which hopefully, will soon contain a blaring jukebox and uninhibited students.

Fund's potential use was "unclear" to the Budget Committee and since the Day Care Center was not specifically approved as a project, it should be, "rather than going through the back door."

The Budget Committee will rule on the issue some time next week. The Committee's members are President Albert Pugsley, Drs. Coffelt, Rishel, Edgar, Krill, and Mr. Rook.

Kraynanski was pessimistic about the chances of the Work Fund's monies being approved for Day Care financing. She added that "we will probably have to raise the money ourselves."

Shipka said that this does not mean that the faculty will go out on strike, "it means that unless the Board engages in good faith bargaining in accord with its action in recognizing the OEA as exclusive bargaining agent then and only then will there be a walkout."

"The most dangerous threat implied in their action," Shipka said "is the threat to academic freedom which can never be

Al Green heads benefit tomorrow; proceeds go to scholarship fund

Omega Psi Phi fraternity of YSU will present, Al Green, nationally-known recording artist, in a benefit concert tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. at the Beeghly Physical Education Center.

Psi Omicron, the local chapter of Omega Psi Phi plans to use the proceeds from this concert for scholarships.

According to Ernest Dodson, secretary of the local chapter, the chapter has given away small scholarships in the past benefitting YSU alumni. The aim this year, however, is to give bigger scholarships.

The organization has in the past been involved in several service activities which included sponsoring members of South High School Spanish Club's tour of Spain, contributions to the local Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation and a city-wide fund raising of $10,000 for the John Fitzgerald Kidney Fund.

Al Green has received numerous rhythm and blues awards including the number one spot of "New Male Vocalist" in both singles and albums.

Green, a native of Arkansas, began his career at the age of nine with a gospel singing group, the Green Brothers, which included three of his brothers.

Green left the gospel group at the age of 16 where he played many wild mid-west small soul clubs. It was at this time, Green developed his own style which was influenced by Sam Cooke, Claude Jeter, Jackie Wilson and James Brown.

Green's first recording was "Back up Train," followed by "Tired of Being Alone" and "Look What You Done For Me," which have sold over a million, and his first album "Al Green Gets Next To You" made the top album charts. The album, "Let's Stay Together," which he wrote in collaboration with Willie Mitchell and Wayne Jackson, is still a best seller.

The Bloodstones will be appearing along with Al Green. Tickets are on sale at Beeghly Ticket Office.

Al Green 21st Annual Event---

Greek Sing dedicated to 'Dike'

Members of the YSU Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council will present their 21st annual "Greek Sing" at 8 p.m., Friday, April 13 in Stambaugh Auditorium.

This year's "Greek Sing" is being dedicated to YSU's former football coach, the late Dwight "Dike" Beede.

The program will consist of four sororities and seven fraternities performing a wide variety of popular and standard musical selections.

The fraternities and their selections include: Phi Sigma Kappa, "If Ever I Would Leave You;" Theta Xi, "Joshua Fit Da Battle;" Sigma Alpha Epsilon,

"Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child;" Sigma Phi Epsilon, "Brothers of the Golden Hear;" and "Softly as I Leave You;" Theta Chi, "My Dear Little Girl of Theta Chi" and "Dixie;" Sigma Chi, "Fireside Song" and "Belly Up to the Bar Boys;" and Delta Chi, "It Hurts So Bad" and "A Time for Us."

The sororities and their songs include: Phi Mu, "A Touch of Streisand" medley, "I'll Tell the Man in the Street," "Love," and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolfe?;" Zeta Tau Alpha, love medley; Sigma Sigma Sigma, "Funny Girl" medley; and Delta Zeta, "Today" and "Morning Has Broken."

An added feature of the evening will be selections performed by the Youngstown chapter Barbershop Chorus.

The Panhellenic Council will award trophies to the first and second place winners in the sorority division while IFC will present trophies to the first, second and third place winners in the fraternity division. An award will be given to the Best New Group participating.

Chairmen for this year's event are Judy Barrett, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Tony Catania, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Admission is $1.50, and the event is open to the public.

Dana Concert Series to present Program of Lenten Music

YSU Dana Concert Series will present the Dana Lyric Opera Quartet in a Program of Lenten Music at 4 p.m., Sunday, April 8, at the First Christian Church.

The members of the quartet are Susan Hurlbert, soprano, Jeannette McCleery, mezzo-soprano, David Starkey, tenor, and Wendell Orr, bass. They will be accompanied by Ronald Gould on organ.

The program will consist of Bach's "Canatata 12: Weeping, Crying, Sorrow, Sighing" and "Man Bewail Thy Manifold Sins," "O Death, Where is Thy Sting" by Handel, and Verdi's "Offertorium."

Susan Hurlbert is a music teacher for three elementary schools in Greenville, Pa., and a graduate student at YSU. Jeannette McCleery is a limited service instructor in Dana and has had over 12 years of voice training, plus playing leading roles in the Youngstown Civic Opera. Starkey is an assistant professor of music, a former singer with the Robert Shaw Chorale, and has performed in concert and opera throughout the U.S. and Europe. Orr received his B.S. and B.M.

degrees from Lawrence College and his M.M. from the University of Michigan. An assistant professor of music, he has had additional voice training in Edinburgh and Rome.

The program is free and open to the public.

YSU Symphony featured

YSU Dana Concert Series will present one of its major productions of the spring quarter Monday, April 9, with a concert by the YSU Symphony Orchestra conducted by William Slocum at 8 p.m. in Powers Auditorium.

The performance will feature six Dana students as assisting artists as they and the Orchestra present Manfredini's "Concerto for Two Trumpets and Orchestra in D major," "Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra in A major, K.V. 622," by Mozart, Mussorgsky's "The Song of the Flea," "Capriccio Biliant in B minor, Op. 22" by Mendelssohn, Serly's "Concerto for Trombone and Orchestra," and Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture solennelle, Op. 49."

Student soloists will be Charles Grab and Charles Way, trumpets; Rodney Wollam, clarinet; Merrill Espey, bass; Sarah Phillips, piano; and Richard Howenstine, trombone.

Shield law

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indiana Senate passed 40-0 and sent back to the House Thursday a bill broadening Indiana's 1941 shield law to include news services, periodicals and former newsmen from disclosing confidential sources.

Thieu's Promise

WASHINGTON — President Nguyen Van Thieu declared yesterday he never will ask American troops to return to Vietnam to help defend his country.

Sopor Control

WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration yesterday recommended tighter controls for the sedative methaqualone ("sopors"), which the agency said is being widely misused by American youth.

State Receives Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Gov. John J. Gilligan announced Thursday that the state will receive $118 million in additional revenues in the next two years and that he will propose to the legislature that it be spent for education, mental health, and other programs.

Alaska Oil Pipeline

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. — President Nixon ordered full administration efforts Thursday toward clearing the way for construction of the Alaska oil pipeline.

Long Shot

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Young Briton Trevor Homer, given the longest odds - 5,000 to 1 — ever recorded in a golf tournament, is not as eager to win the Masters as to embarrass Britain's largest betting house.

Nixon Veto

WASHINGTON — A bill that would require the spending for an estimated $120 million for rural water grants was vetoed by President Nixon Thursday - his second veto of what he calls "inflationary" legislation passed by Congress.

Wall Street Worries

NEW YORK — Stock market prices continued to slide lower yesterday, with one sensitive indicator reaching its lowest level since mid-October, as investors worried over rising prices and a flare-up of hostilities in Vietnam.

New Offensive?

SAIGON — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces touched off the heaviest fighting since the cease fire, the Saigon government reported Thursday.

Military sources said the Communist command may be preparing for a major offensive. But Pentagon officials in Washington said they had no reason to believe an offensive is planned.

North Viet Aid?

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted Thursday to bar any aid to North Vietnam unless Congress specifically approves.

The 88-3 roll call vote was hardly a test of congressional sentiment on a postwar rebuilding program that the Nixon administration has promised the North Vietnamese to try to get through Congress if they live up to the terms of the cease fire agreement.

STUDENT-RAILPASS

The way to see Europe without feeling like a tourist.

Student-Railpass is valid in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland.

Eurailpass, Box 90, Bohemia, New York 11716

Please send me your free Student-Railpass folder order form.

Or your free Eurailpass folder with railroad map.

Name _____
Street _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____

So you plan to spend the Summer in Europe this year. Great. Two things are mandatory. A ticket to Europe. And a Student-Railpass. The first gets you over there, the second gives you unlimited Second Class rail travel for two months for a modest $150 in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland! All you need to qualify is to be a full-time student up to 25 years of age, registered at a North American school, college or university.

And the trains of Europe are a sensational way to travel. Over 100,000 miles of track links cities, towns and ports all over Europe. The trains are fast (some over 100 mph), frequent, modern, clean, convenient and very comfortable. They have to be. So you'll meet us on our trains. It really is the way to get to know Europeans in Europe.

But there's one catch. You must buy your Student-Railpass in North America before you go. They're not on sale in Europe because they are meant strictly for visitors to Europe—hence the incredibly low price. Of course if you're loaded you can buy a regular Eurailpass meant for visitors of all ages. It gives you First Class travel if that's what you want.

Either way if you're going to zip off to Europe, see a Travel Agent before you go, and in the meantime, rip off the coupon. It can't hurt and it'll get you a better time in Europe than you ever thought possible.

'Faust' and 'Satchmo' are featured on this week's WYSU offerings

WYSU-FM (88.5 mh) will present a potpourri of musical events this week, including the opera "Faust," the premiere of a new series from the New England Conservatory, the Broadway musical "Subways are for Sleeping," and a two-hour jazz program featuring Louis Armstrong.

Sunday Night at the Opera, aired at 8 p.m., April 8, presents Franco Corelli, Joan Sutherland and Nicolai Ghiaurov in Gounod's "Faust" and at 11 p.m. the same evening, the New England Conservatory Concerts begin. The first program has the school's orchestra performing works by Ives, Gigue, Debussy, Webern, and Stravinsky, under the direction of Gunther Schuller. At 10 p.m., Tuesday, "Subways are for Sleeping" stars Orson Bean and Phyllis Newman and at 10 p.m., Friday, Now's the Time devotes its two-hour program to Louis Armstrong's music.

Firing Line

On Firing Line, with William F. Buckley Jr., the guest is Germaine Greer who discusses women's liberation at 2 p.m., Sunday. Ohio Composers has compositions by John White of Kent State University, an electronic work by Arthur Hunkins, and two compositions by Stephen Montague will be heard. Pierre Berton talks with Robert Cromie about "The Impossible Railway" on Bookbeat at 6 p.m., and at 6:30 p.m., Arthur Fiedler conducts the Boston Pops in a program featuring music of Richard Rodgers, Ravel, Tchaikovsky, and Offenback, with soloist Susan Starr.

Kass

Karl Hass explores the difference between live and recorded music at 10 a.m. and 7:15 p.m.,

Monday, and at 8 p.m., BBC Showcase presents the New Philharmonia playing Mussorgsky's "Night on Bald Mountain," the BBC Concert Orchestra playing Grainger's "The Warriors," and the Halle Orchestra plays Sibelius' Symphony No. 3. Composer Robert Hall is the guest at 9:20 p.m. on Composers Forum.

At 8 p.m., Tuesday, Eugene Ormandy is guest conductor for the Boston Symphony Orchestra in selections by Beethoven, Hindemith and Richard Strauss, with Joseph Silverstein violin soloist. At 11 p.m., Jazz Revisited is called "Parallels."

Mezzo-soprano Mertine Johns, artist-in-residence at Elizabethtown College, sings works by Mozart, Bizet, Schubert, Britten, Kern and Richard Rodgers at 8 p.m., Wednesday.

Claudio Abbado conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra at 8 p.m., Thursday, and piano soloist is Christoph Eschenback in a program of music by Berlioz, Beethoven, and Brahms. Charlotte Shockley's show this week is called "A Swan and an Evening Star" and it will be heard at 10 p.m.

Arthur Fiedler conducts the Cleveland Orchestra Pops at 8 p.m., Friday, and Joela Jones is piano soloist in Gershwin's "Piano Concerto in F," Glinka's "Russlan and Ludmilla Overture," and selections from "Fiddler on the Roof."

At 9 p.m., Saturday, Charles Darling's Folk Festival features Sandy and Caroline Paton as they perform and discuss American folk music.

Radio Advisory Comm. to deliver report on broadcasting to Senate

A report from the WYSU Radio Advisory Committee will be among the topics on the agenda of the University Senate Meeting today at 4 p.m. in Schwebel Auditorium.

Dr. Lawrence Looby, chairman of the department of continuing education will report on the topics covered at the Radio Advisory committee's December 6 meeting. These will include a review of the policies and objectives of the station, for example to provide an alternative to the types of broadcasting available in the Youngstown area and the station's reasons for aiming its programming at the general public rather than emphasizing training for students in broadcasting.

The report will also include reasons for the Committee's recommendation not to broadcast YSU football and basketball games, and will cover the new radio-reader service for the blind and physically handicapped. The financial situation of the station will also be discussed.

Also on the agenda for the meeting are nominations for a member-at-large to serve on the Senate Executive Committee, and reports of the Constitution and Bylaws, the Senate Executive, and the Curriculum committees.

The meeting will conclude with remarks by President Albert L. Pugsley.

Rigelhaupt speaks on roles at YSU Pre-Law meeting

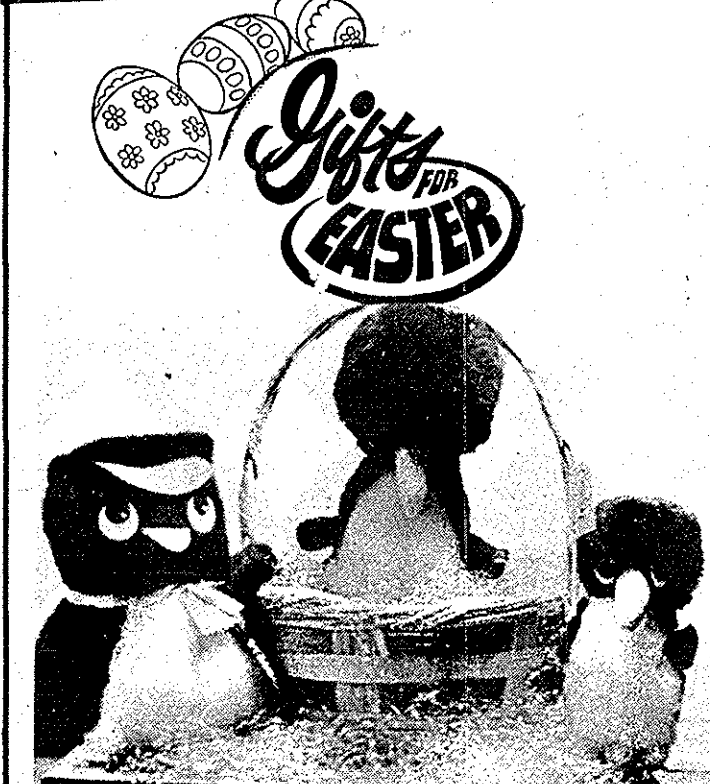

The YSU Pre-Law Society will meet Friday, April 13, at 2 p.m. in Pollock House. Guest speaker for the occasion will be the Hon. Sidney J. Rigelhaupt, senior judge of the Mahoning County Court of Common Pleas, who will speak on "Reflections on the Judicial Role."

A graduate of the YSU Law School, Judge Rigelhaupt has been on the Mahoning Common Pleas bench since 1963. He is past president of the Mahoning County Bar Association and was instrumental in organizing the Mahoning County Legal Aid Society, the predecessor of the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity legal assistance program.

Meetings of the Pre-Law Society are open to all who share an interest in the law. The Society, in particular, attempts to provide speakers and offer services geared to the interests of YSU students who plan on making law their career.

At the next meeting of the Society, Friday, April 27, Vincent Gilmartin, Mahoning County Prosecuting Attorney, will be the guest speaker.

Voluntary course is available for prospective English teachers

A new course for secondary education English majors will begin its trial run next week. Designed to give the prospective teacher practical experience in grading papers, each student will be assigned to an individual Communications instructor on campus, with whom he will grade and discuss papers taken from the instructor's classes.

A one hour seminar has also been scheduled to meet once a week at which all students involved who can attend will discuss the problems and techniques of assigning grades to papers.

According to Gerald J. Pyle, instructor of English, who introduced the concept of the course to YSU, the course is intended to raise problems rather than solve them.

"There was a course like this when I was teaching in Virginia," he said. "They (the students involved in the course) had said they had found it extremely valuable."

Since it has not been established officially as a course this quarter, and therefore no credit is offered, participation is completely on a voluntary basis, and the requirements are intentionally flexible.

Six students so far have indicated that they would participate in some segment of the course, and four instructors from the English department have volunteered to work on a one-to-one basis with a student. Those whose schedules will allow it will arrange to meet with one of these instructors during the week to pick up a group of papers from a Communications class, and to discuss individual marks and comments. If a student does not have time to meet with an instructor, he is still urged to attend the seminars when he can, and to participate in the discussions.

The first seminar is set for 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 10, after Dr. Dorothy A. Hwopek's Special Methods 800 E class. Although the students involved in this project are from Dr. Hwopek's class, interested students are invited to attend and should contact either Pyle or Dr. H. Thomas McCracken, associate professor of English, extension 261.

At this first meeting, xeroxed papers will be provided, and a brief presentation of the course's purpose will be given.

The future of this project as a catalogued course is still "floating in the air," Pyle said. Curriculum and budget committees must be contended with as well as the teaching loads of the instructors involved. Its success "depends on the amount of interest it receives."

When finally established as a course, which would not be until well into 1974, it would be operated by the English department due to the complexities of cross-listing under two departments, English and secondary education. In addition to this, English instructors have been trained to grade papers, Pyle explained, and therefore would be in a better position to teach such a course.

Soccer Club finishes season with 1-1-1 record in Akron tourney

The YSU Soccer Club finished its 1972-73 season with a one-win, one-tie, one-loss record in the country's oldest and most prestigious indoor soccer tournament at the University of Akron last weekend.

The Penguins were competing with Akron University, Ohio University, and a team from Penn State for the right to represent their division in the quarter-finals of the tournament. The Penguins soundly defeated the Penn State team by a score of 4-2. The Penn State defenders just could not cope with YSU's potent scoring duo of Rafael Talavera and Johnny Gangone. Talavera scored three goals, the first with only six seconds elapsed in the game.

of a goal by captain Vendelin Tomko with less than two minutes left in the contest. Despite the absence of starting fullback Randy Henderson, who was out with an injury, the Penguin defense limited Akron to a single goal by three-time All-American Richard Parkinson. The other goal came on a deflection off the foot of a YSU defender.

In the next round, the club soundly defeated the Penn State team by a score of 4-2. The Penn State defenders just could not cope with YSU's potent scoring duo of Rafael Talavera and Johnny Gangone. Talavera scored three goals, the first with only six seconds elapsed in the game.

Gangone had one goal and two assists. Finally, in the crucial match for the division championship against 1972 Mid-American Conference Champion Ohio University, the Penguins were subdued by a 5-1 score, the last three goals coming in quick succession as YSU tried desperately to make up a 2-1 deficit.

The loss eliminated the team from further competition in the tournament which was eventually won by Hartwick College of Oneonta, N.Y. Hartwick defeated the pre-tournament favorite St. Louis College All Stars 2-1 in overtime.

The Gangone-Talavera forward line proved to be the most prolific scoring combination in the tournament. Talavera led all players in scoring at the end of the divisional competition with four goals and two assists for a total of six points in three games. Gangone was tied for second place with two goals and three assists. Talavera's total of three goals and one assist in the Penn State game also represents the tournament's best single-game scoring effort.

Ralph Starace turned in another stalwart performance in goal, while the defensive line of Dieter Ammer, Bob Budinsky and Joe Piscitani held their own against the more experienced opposition. Substitutes Richard Rice and Monther Shihabi also provided meaningful support to the efforts of the team.

Velikovsky

As a result he began to reconstruct ancient Middle Eastern History, taking this catastrophe (which brought the downfall of the Egyptian Middle Kingdom) as a starting point from which to synchronize the histories of Egypt and Israel. He titled his work "Ages in Chaos."

The cause of the catastrophe remained unexplained until he read "Book of Joshua" which describes a destructive shower of meteorites occurring before the sun "stood still" in the sky. After surveying other sources around the world, he was convinced that a global cataclysm had overtaken the earth, and that Venus played a decisive role in it. For 10 years he researched and wrote "Ages in Chaos" and "Worlds in Collision," having taken up permanent residence in the United States.

In 1950, after more than 12 publishing houses rejected both manuscripts, MacMillan published "Worlds in Collision." Because of furious controversy, the book was transferred to Doubleday and it became the number one best-seller.

Two years later, the first volume of "Ages in Chaos" was published, which details Dr. Velikovsky's historical reconstruction from c. 1450 BC to 840 BC. "Earth in Upheaval," representing geological and paleontological evidence to buttress "Worlds in Collision" (and offering a new understanding of evolution that conflicts with Darwinian theory) was published in 1955, and in 1960 "Cedipus and Akunaton" was published. Dr. Velikovsky is also preparing a volume dealing with collective amnesia.

For nearly a decade preceding the early sixties, he was persona non grata on college campuses, now, after dramatic scientific confirmations of his historical reconstructions, Dr. Velikovsky is in demand as a lecturer at colleges and universities throughout the country.

The lecture is free and open to the public.
