Funds allocated for Bliss Hall, construction to begin this spring

The Ohio State Control Board released 5.8 million for the construction of Bliss Hall Monday, said University President Albert L. Pugsley, yesterday.

The Board of Control made construction possible by approving the transfer of $500,000 from the over-funded steam plant to the Fine Arts Building project. This will allow YSU to proceed with Bliss Hall as originally planned and bid with only minimal cutbacks in facilities.

The building is to be located at the corner of Spring St. and Wick Ave. Demolition of Ford Hall, which presently occupies the site, is scheduled to begin sometime next month.

The four story fine arts structure will house facilities for the Dana School of Music, the art department and the speech and drama department.

The Dana School of Music will be allocated the largest area of approximately 32,760 square feet. This will contain office space, instructional laboratories, studios, practice rooms and a 233 seat recital hall.

The art department will utilize about 26,500 square feet which will include an art exhibition gallery, offices and instructional facilities.

Speech and drama will receive the smallest area which will include a 412-seat theatre, offices and practical instruction areas.

The speech and drama department was the only sector to sustain cutbacks on facilities, failing to obtain funding for the proposed television studios. Department chairman, Donald Elser is not, however, dismayed at the cutbacks. "That space which was originally planned for the TV studios will now be available for us to continue our experimental theatre program," said Elser.

Construction on Bliss Hall is planned to begin this spring and the projected completion date has been set for the spring of 1975. The general construction will be undertaken by the Mosser Construction Company, of Fremont, Ohio, which submitted the low bid of $3,241,132. The mechanical contract will be awarded to Smylie Brothers, Inc., of Walton Hills at a cost of $676,650. The electrical contract of $505,525 will go to Mid-States Electric of Brookfield, Ohio and the plumbing contract of $274,050 goes to the local firm of Prout Boiler, Heating and Welding.

Total enrollment down ; Graduate school makes gains

YSU's official total enrollment for the spring quarter, 1973, stands at 12,713, a decrease of 155 students from the spring quarter figures of one year ago, said Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president, yesterday.

The undergraduate enrollment by classes is as follows: seniors, 2,730; juniors, 2,403; sophomore, 2,949; freshmen, 3,567. There are 7,740 men and 4,973 women.

Enrollment by schools and colleges of the University shows the Technical and Community College with the most students, 3,144, followed closely by the College of Arts and Sciences with 3,080; the School of Business Administration, 2,450; School of Education, 1,967; Rayen School of Engineering, 714; and the Dana School of Music, 294. Increases were registered in both the Technical and Community College and the Dana School of Music.

The Graduate School topped the 1,000 figure for the first time with an enrollment of 1,064 students, an increase of 182 over last spring and 93 students more than last fall.

Scan sheets employed for student elections

Computer scan sheets will replace the traditional voting machine when students mark their ballots in next Monday and Tuesday's elections to Student Council, Student Senate, and Student Government offices.

Student Council elections chairman Rick Kost yesterday explained the new development to the Jambar. He said that the County Elections Board had originally promised the use of several of its voting machines to Council for its elections. However, due to early preparations for the upcoming May primaries, the board could not spare the promised booths. Faced with the choice of paper ballots or scan sheets, Council decided that the use of scan sheets would be more expedient, according to Kost.

Kost explained that a number will be assigned to each of the University's six schools. A student will mark the number of his school on the scan sheet. Candidates in each school will also be given a number, which student voters will use when marking their choices on the ballot. Noting that there are 17 vacant seats on Council, Kost said that students may vote according to the number of openings in their school.

A special referendum concerning graduate school representation on Student Council will appear as question number 30 on the ballot. Students are instructed to darken letter A in favor of representation of graduate students, letter B against the proposals.

Voting places will be located in Lincoln Project, Engineering Science, and the Kilcawley Breezeway. Student ID's are required. Vote.

Negotiators back at tables

The negotiation teams representing the university and the faculty met yesterday and Dr. Thomas A. Shipka, OEA chief negotiator, expressed hope that the remaining issues could be settled "within a week or so."

Atty. John Weed Powers, university chief negotiator, declined to comment on the negotiations but said that the two teams "were talking and were going over the remaining issues."

Shipka said he was "pleased the Board authorized their team to return to the table and we hope we can settle the remaining issues in a week or so." He also said his team was going to "stand firm" on the issue of due process.

Bargaining was resumed earlier this week after a breakdown in negotiations led the OEA Executive Committee and Bargaining Team to seek strike authorization from the faculty last week. They won the vote overwhelmingly capturing about 80% of the faculty who voted in the balloting.

Beer available fall quarter in Kilcawley student center

Beer on campus will become a reality at the new Kilcawley Student Center, scheduled to open this fall, as the result of action taken by the Kilcawley Student Center Board during the past two weeks.

This action came as the result of a motion by the Board, and consultation with University President Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, Atty. John Newman, chairman of the YSU Board of Trustees, and Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice president of administrative affairs and president designate of YSU, to rescind the administrative directive prohibiting beer on campus.

Coffelt stated that the University will begin proceedings to secure a D-1 license permitting the sale and consumption of 3.2 beer at the Kilcawley Student center when it opens this fall. Policy concerning the areas where beer will be permitted in the new student complex has not yet been formulated by the Center Board, however tentative plans call for the sale of beer primarily in the 'tap room' of the student center.

Blueprints for the nearly completed center show that besides office space, areas for billiards, table tennis, a crafts exhibit room, reading lounge, music listening rooms, lounges, conference rooms, snack bar and a large party room have been included.

Engineering degrees approved by Ohio Board of Regents

The Ohio Board of Regents has approved bachelor degree programs in Civil Engineering Technology, Mechanical Engineering Technology and Electrical Engineering Technology to start with the fall quarter of 1973 at YSU. It was announced yesterday by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president.

These programs represent the newest development in technical education in Engineering Technology and should not be confused with standard professional engineering programs which have long been in existence at the University.

Engineering Technology programs differ from professional engineering programs in both nature and objectives. Professional engineering programs stress mathematics, the basic scientific principles of their discipline, research, and graduate study. Technology programs are more concerned with the practical solution of engineering problems, basic design, production and administration.

Graduates of both kinds of programs are sought by industry and often work as a team to solve large-scale problems.

Dr. Victor A. Riehley, chairman of the Engineering Technology department at YSU, explained that "These new programs are designed to use the latest technique in Technical Education, the TWO-PLUS-TWO System." This innovative system provides students with greater flexibility in selecting their college programs and establishing their career goals.

Students in the TWO-PLUS-TWO programs first strive to complete a two-year associate degree program. They then have the option of either entering industry as Engineering Technicians or of continuing their education on a full-time or part-time basis to earn the bachelor's degree. They may then function in industry as Engineering Technologists qualifying for positions of greater responsibility and potential.

In addition to their flexibility, Engineering Technology programs based on the TWO-PLUS-TWO system promise to reduce the number of college "drop-outs" in technical fields. It is generally well-known that 50% of all high school students attempt a four-year college program, but only half manage to complete it.

This, in effect, points out that some 75% of all high school graduates are not equipped with the funds, time, motivation or ability necessary to complete a four-year program. Because of the natural exit point that TWO-PLUS-TWO programs allow at the two-year level, the number of college "drop-outs" should be greatly reduced.

Dr. Riehley went on to explain that many high school graduates experience great difficulty in selecting the college program most appropriate for their career interests. Still others are torn between a short term commitment to a two-year associate degree program and the long-range commitment to a four-year bachelor's degree program.

The flexibility of the TWO-PLUS-TWO system should be of great assistance to students facing this problem since it provides them with a choice of degree level according to their preference.

Placement service continues, career planning to begin in fall

YSU has made arrangements to continue to provide a Placement Service to present seniors, and is in the process of planning for a University Career Planning and Placement Service to be in full operation by the beginning of the 1973-74 academic year.

The proposed Career Planning and Placement Service will have to be supported from the general fee and from special fees to users.

This action was precipitated by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, who after nearly 20 years of service to YSU students, was forced by budgetary restrictions to withdraw from the branch "Placement Office" on the YSU campus.

For the remainder of this current year Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, Deal of Student Affairs at YSU, and Mrs. Mary B. Smith, assistant to the Dean of Admissions and Records, will be working in the Placement Office. Mrs. Smith will be available during most regular office hours Monday through Friday, and Dr. Rishel will be there on a half-time basis.

Now that Alfred Minotti and

Madrigal Singers perform Monday at Dana Recital Hall

The YSU Dana Concert Series will present the Dana Madrigal Singers, directed by Dr. C. Wade Raridon, associate professor of music, at 8 p.m. Monday in the Dana Recital Hall.

The ten-member group, which is composed of Sueellen Harris, Teresa Maley and Linda Welsch, sopranos; Janet Maksimoff and Ruth Ann Little, altos; Randal Davis and Theodore Suzelis, tenors; and Frederick Kihm, Donald Rasely and Richard Shaw, basses; will perform for the first time this quarter.

Organized in the fall of 1964, the Madrigals specialize in the music of the 16th and 17th centuries, sung in Italian, German, French, English and Latin, and present both sacred and secular music.

The program is free and open to the public.

Mrs. Isabel Miller are working at the Youngstown Office of the OBES and are no longer on campus. Dr. Rishel is assuring graduating seniors "this change will in no way diminish or curtail operations of the Placement Service."

Dr. Rishel stressed "it is the intent of the University to provide placement services for its students. It is also our intent to maintain, improve and expand those services as needed."

There have been some changes implemented in the operation of the Placement Service. Employment Service registration forms are no longer used for non-teacher education graduates; a new form, specifically designed for professional placement of college graduates, is now in use and will be given to all future registrants. Those students who are already registered may wish to come to the office and complete this form, however, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services' registration forms completed after October 1, 1972, have been retained on file. The Credentials Service for teacher education graduates remains unchanged.

According to Dr. Rishel, an open reference system of employment opportunities is being developed in order to make job listings of companies, especially those which do not conduct interviews on campus, more readily available to all students.

As listings are received, they will be placed in notebooks which will be open to any registered student. It is then the student's responsibility to review these listings periodically and to submit applications for positions which are of interest to him. Letters of referral and resumes normally will not be prepared and mailed by the Placement Office.

The same system is already functioning for part and full-time employment off-campus for students presently enrolled. A simplified registration form must be completed and submitted in order to gain access to this file.

Dr. Rishel suggests that students who have registered and are still seeking employment, visit the Placement Office again in the near future. For students who have not registered and want to find employment, either permanent or temporary, full-time or part-time, or for the summer only, it is suggested that they also visit the office.

The Placement Service is still located in the Administrative A Annex building on Lincoln Ave.

Sticky election

Next Monday and Tuesday we will again be confronted with campus elections. At stake are the two Student Government positions, 19 Student Council openings, and 12 seats on the University Senate.

As we perceive the elections, most of the voters will have to choose between the lesser of two (or more) mediocrities in most of the races. This is a distinction that must be made, however. Amidst the malarchy permeating pre-election rhetoric, there exists a very serious issue which should make us careful as to which mediocrity we select.

There rests in committee in the Ohio Senate, a bill which would, if passed, enable students to become bona fide members of the Board of Trustees of state universities. This bill is relevant to our elections because it stipulates that five students be nominated for Trustee positions by "the official representative association of student," in our case, Student Council. The Governor will then select those who will sit on the Board from the nominees.

Although we cannot in good faith give a blanket endorsement to all of the candidates in the "Peanut Butter Spread" coalition, as their avant-garde triteness often turns our progressive stomachs (besides all peanut butter is not alike), we have decided that this slate, headed by Phil Ciprian (Student Government Presidential candidate) offers a rather progressive program. If the Peanut Butter Spread sticks to its platform of revitalizing Student Council into something resembling a viable student union, we will be quite pleased.

As it stands, we would prefer to have Ciprian and his cronies nominate our Trustee candidates, if the bill mentioned above passes, as well as attempt to implement their platform. Furthermore, Ciprian's opponent, Joe Simko, has proven himself lackluster at best during his tenure on Council. We only hope that the Peanut Butter Spread's policies do not stick to the roofs of their collective mouths.

Invokes invigorating exchange

To the editor of the Jambar;

The Jewish Student Fellowship of Youngstown State University would like to express its gratitude to the Jambar for the publication of our lengthy, if somewhat amended, statement in Tuesday's issue. The Talmud teaches that silence is the fence about wisdom.

But fully anticipating a retort from the local chapter of OAS, we have arranged to have Schwebel Auditorium available for a discussion or debate with the OAS from 11-1 April 26. Professor George Beelen of the Department of History, currently serving on the Board of Directors of the local chapter of the United Nations Association, has agreed to serve as moderator for this forum.

We invite the OAS to select four spokesmen for their cause and look forward to a lively, invigorating and enlightening dialogue next Thursday. The general public is urged to attend.

Reports resumption of bargaining

To the editor of the Jambar:

We, the members of the Faculty Bargaining Team, wish to express our gratitude to the faculty and to the student leadership for the support given us during the anxious days of the previous week. The results of the strike authorization vote last Friday can only be interpreted as an indication of faculty unity and a re-assertion of the faculty's commitment to collective bargaining and to basic principles such as academic freedom. We ask for your continued support and we will work to justify the trust that you have placed in us.

We are also pleased to report that, as of last Wednesday, negotiations with the University Bargaining Team have resumed. We will issue a detailed report in the near future.

Hopes sign from tree is recycled

To the editor of the Jambar:

I am writing in reply to the letter to the Jambar last Tuesday by Joseph Zabel and Mary Ann Pollock in regard to their supposedly heroic action to save "nature's beautiful children" by tearing down the McGovern sign.

It is true that to preserve our precious environment, action from all sources will be vital, but I seriously doubt that destroying an already printed piece of cardboard will save any tree. The tree that the sign was made from was already cut and made into pulp; it is now dead and nothing done now can alter the fact. I at least hope they took the destroyed sign to one of the area's recycling centers - that would, at least, soften the futility of their effort.

If they (or anyone else) wish to do something constructive to help nature, I ask them to join us of Campus Ecology in our efforts. We are not out to change the world, but to set an example of good ecological practice on this campus.

We need all the help we can get. If you are interested, contact me at 545-5124, or call Mary Boucherle, our president.

Responds to salient charges

To the editor of the Jambar:

I have no intention of entering into a long drawn out debate with Mr. Cluse vis' a vis' the Jambar letters section. I do however wish to respond to a few of the salient charges made.

My letter was, I felt, an honest assessment of the checks and balance situation as it exists under the Nixon Administration. My conclusion was merely a suggestion that impeachment be used as a tool to correct the imbalance I felt existed. I make no secret of my personal feelings towards the President, I think he's nuts.

I am not a liberal. I believe the capitalist economy is no longer a valid system of economic operation. That puts me to the left of most liberals and probably makes me a radical in the eyes of a Business major.

Letters to the editor are expressions of opinions. I do not possess the power to manipulate people and ideas. People have the option of reading the letter and ignoring it, reading it and acting on the suggestion (if one is made), or ignoring it completely.

If McGovern were elected there would be no military funds to impound. If he attempted impoundment in the same manner as Coolidge, or Nixon, I would suggest his power too be checked.

There is a difference between liberal and conservative. It's in their philosophies. A liberal philosophy underlines the War on Poverty and Civil Rights. The conservative philosophy has underlined the War on Cambodia, and the suppression of civil rights, (not to mention Watergate, preservation of tax loopholes, budget balancing, oil depletion allowances, dismantling of poverty programs, etc. etc. ad nauseum).

As has been noted Mr. Cluse is a junior in Business Administration. I am sure he is much more qualified than I in the "manipulation of people and their ideas." Perhaps one day he will be able to convince me to buy a car with denim interior and lecture me on the evils of socialism. Perhaps all I need is a course in Dynamic Thinking.

Input Re-evaluate

YSU has long been noted for its student apathy. We realize that the cause of this apathy lies in the lack of basic human rights for students. This university exists for our education, but we are powerless in the areas of greatest importance. Student Government has long contributed to the perpetuation of this condition. It is our aim to change this.

Student Government has been a social party. Little if any real progress has been made in the area of student rights. The student voice in major issues has been further squashed by an insensitive administration and archaic board of trustees. Hopefully, the new university president will be able to view today's students from a more compassionate perspective.

It is our obligation to present the students with a thorough statement of our policies on current issues, the new programs we would like to establish and the philosophy and methodology we shall use in approaching problems which we shall confront in the future.

"Where violence is not strength and compassion is not weakness." This quote from Camelot summarizes our sentiments in regard to the political spectrum at this university. We desire the establishment of the best possible institution for all segments of the university. We will attempt to transcend the selfish compromising of the political world and attain a stature of statesmen.

Our platform is as follows: 1.) Formation of an autonomous student union. 2.) Reevaluation of all university requirements, such as language requirement, physical activities requirement, and accumulative point average system as opposed to pass/fail. 3.) Adequate medical facilities and expanded, university supported day care center. 4.) Immediate and meaningful student participation in establishing university policy, procedure, and priority; i.e., Senate, Trustees, selection of department chairman, faculty merit raises and promotions, and construction priorities. 5.) Expanded student use of all university facilities. 6.) Update social regulations. 7.) Support and expansion of a free university for the community.

These are the basic points of our platform. Between now and election day we will be open to discussion of these issues. Our positions are free and honest positions, and we will welcome discussion and/or debate with the other candidates.

Input Zion reconsidered

The following statement is in reply to the Input letter of Fari Moghfeh, President, Jewish Student Fellowship of YSU, as it appeared in the April 17 issue of the Jambar.

We believe that Mr. Moshfeh is guilty of misleading, or attempting to mislead, the readers of the Jambar by closing his eyes to, and remaining silent about, the real nature of the problem, which is the injustice that has been done to the Palestinian people by the Zionists, and that he raises instead a lot of tangential and side issues in order to obscure the genuine core of the issues involved. Now what is the genuine core of the issue? We believe that the heart of the matter is the question of the Palestinian people who have been brutally uprooted from their homeland by the Zionist colonialists. For the past 1500 years, these Palestinian people had been living in Palestine until the establishment of the Zionist movement in the modern era which has since resulted in the takeover of the land and homes of the native Palestinians by invasion, aggression, and acts of terrorism by the Zionist organizations. This is the core of the issue!

Fari Moshfeh speaks about working toward "a peaceful solution of the Middle East problems." Don't be a hypocrite, Fari! You ask in your letter where was the OAS' concern when various incidents took place? Ask yourself, or any Zionist, where were you when the following massacres took place: Dir Yasin (where more than 200 unarmed women, children and elderly persons were tortured and killed in genocidal fashion by one of the Zionist organizations in 1948); Kfar Kasim, Dubia, Samu, Kalkiliah, likewise massacres of unarmed native Palestinian populations by the Israeli army; just to mention a few incidents?

Fari Moshfeh also speaks of the hate that binds the Palestinian movement together. Look at your own inflammatory letter, Fari, and its slams and its slurs, its namecalling by the use of such terms as "sociopaths," "misfits," "genocidal maniacs." Such arrogance! And not a single word of compassion or understanding of the present day suffering of the Palestinian people and their almost daily agonies visited upon them by the Jordanian reactionary monarchy and the Israeli Zionist regime. Are your comments those of an enlightened, tolerant, educated humanitarian? And yet you dare to speak of "typically twisted logic," Fari.

And in passing, we would like to apprise the readers of the Jambar of the fundamental nature of Zionism, its racist, its Jewish exclusiveness, its national chauvinistic ideology, which operates on the premise of an exclusive Jewish-state homeland in Palestine for all the Jews all over the world at the expense of, and regardless of the consequences to, the original inhabitants of that land.

What does the Organization of Arab Students really stand for with respect to the Palestinian question? We support the establishment of a democratic state as it has been advanced by the Palestinian Resistance Movement, where all people can live together regardless of color, creed, religion, ethnic origin, or minority status.

Fari Moshfeh evidently does not understand what a truly democratic state is or that Zionism and democracy are mutually exclusive. We of the OAS do understand something of the suffering of the Jewish people during the era of Nazism and we hope that the Americans would likewise try to understand the suffering of the native Palestinian people during the era of new-Nazism, Israeli Zionism.

House approves Gilligan's budget---

$768.9 million slated for Ed.

An allotment of $768.9 million for higher education would be provided by Governor John J. Gilligan's proposed $9.9 billion budget which was approved by the Ohio House Wednesday, by a vote of 56-39.

2 year budget

The two-year budget, which would begin July 1, has been sent to a Republican dominated Senate, where revisions will probably be made.

The proposed higher education expenditure is an increase of $154.5 million over the present biennium. The primary and secondary expenditure calls for $2.05 billion, an increase of $316 million.

Requirement

A requirement stipulating that state university professors who teach undergraduates spend at least 12 hours a week in the classroom, was deleted on the House floor, as was a proposal that would have required the professors to turn in all honorariums and consulting fees earned during regular work weeks.

Other expenditures in the proposed budget call for $1.2 billion for total state government administration; $881 million in aid for local government; $1.89 billion for welfare; $4.93 billion for general fund revenue expenditures; and the remaining $4.98 billion are reserved for rotary funds, highway funds, debt service, and for aid to local governments.

The proposal contains no new taxes.

Students present papers---

Chem society sponsors colloquium

The YSU Student Affiliate Chapter of the American Chemical Society will sponsor the Penn-Ohio Undergraduate Colloquium from 8:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, May 5, in Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science Building and Rooms 211-213 in Ward Beecher Science Hall.

Purpose

The purpose of the colloquium is to present student papers which will give an indication of how undergraduate research students are involved at their respective schools, and to promote information and togetherness among these students.

The main speaker for the colloquium will be Dr. Wolfgang H. Vogel of the department of pharmacology at Jefferson Medical School, Pa., who will speak on "Is There a Chemical Basis of the Mind?"

Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president, will introduce the main speaker, while Dr. Leon Rand, chairman of the YSU chemistry department, will present background material on the department.

Open to the public, and in particular high school students, some 20-25 students' papers will be presented in the afternoon. These students include those from Thiel College, Pa., Miami (Ohio), Mt. Union College, Westminster College, Pa., the Penn State-Shenango Valley Branch, Sharon, Pa., Hiram College and YSU.

Dr. Vogel will speak at 9 a.m. in Schwebel, while the student papers will be presented in the Ward Beecher classrooms.

Plans to close gap---

YSU senior runs for councilman

by David Diroll
Jambar News Editor

How do you close the communications gap between a city councilman and his constituency? If elected Councilman in Struthers, Gerald Schonhut, a YSU senior, would "have monthly public meeting at my home and take polls, among other things."

Schonhut, a political science major, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Third Ward Councilman in Struthers' May 8 primary. The aspirant is running against six year incumbent Joe Vlosich for the two year term.

The Struthers populace, as Schonhut sees it, places "no pressure on Councilmen... people just go their apathetic way until something goes wrong." He hopes that, if elected, his constituents will keep him abreast of their opinions.

Too great an expectation? "I'm not making promises," promised Schonhut, "the only promise I have made is that I'll do my best... If not, I expect my people to tell me so." Schonhut tempered his remark by adding, "maybe I'm idealistic."

Can you win? "Definitely," said Schonhut, "the response has been great." The candidate admits that he is aided by a fragmented primary field as, in addition to himself and Vlosich, two other candidates are endeavoring, in a profession where modesty is a detriment, to convince voters who the "best man" is. "If I win the primary, I've won the position," Schonhut added claiming that there is no Republican opposition of any note in Struthers.

"If I lose, I'll consider running again if the problems still exist," Schonhut conceded in a moment of unguarded pessimism. He fully expects to win, however.

Issues? Schonhut noted three, aside from reciprocal communications, upon which he lectures in his door-to-door campaigning: First, "Struthers has a $190,000 debt," accrued, in the student's words, "through a lot of loose spending." Because the incumbent is chairperson of the influential Finance and Legislative Committee, Schonhut charged, "he didn't do his job."

Second, Schonhut opposes Vlosich's attempts to eliminate the Park Board, a volunteer project supposed to keep the city's parks viable but stymied, in Schonhut's opinion, because "Council refuses to give them money."

Finally, the student pol sees his major opponent's refusal to allow cable television in Struthers as an action contrary to the people's interests. "It shouldn't even be an issue, it should be up to each individual whether or not to have cable TV."

What about the too young/radical stigma? "I'm the youngest ever to run for Struthers Council," the 22-year old politico admitted, "but I couldn't do any worse than those already in office. Besides, I have education and enthusiasm."

Regarding his YSU education's practical application to the "real world" of politics, the senior noted, "a few classes have helped me, but I learned most from my McGovern campaign experience."

Schonhut successfully operated the Struthers/Campbell storefront for the McGovern presidential campaign last fall, holding the area in the Democrat's camp while most of the nation slid with the Nixon landslide.

Endorsements? Having already garnered support from a motley mixture of political and quasi-political sources including the

Mahoning County Young Democrats, Social Concern in Action (SCIA), and former Republican mayor of Struthers, Stanley Davis, "the aspiring Councilman expects to receive a United Auto Workers (UAW) endorsement later this week."

What does a Struthers alderman do? The work is part-time paying $2,400 per annum informed Schonhut. If elected,

"I'll be assigned to one of Council's committees and my main interest will be there. I will also take complaints from people within the Third Ward," maintains Schonhut.

A career in politics? "I'm just not sure, a lot depends on what happens now," commented Schonhut. He will receive his A.B. in August and intends to return (Conf. on page 8)

YSU negotiates for conference for football and spring sports

Meetings to be held in St. Louis on August 6 and 7 may have a bearing on conference affiliation for football and spring sports at YSU.

The announcement came yesterday afternoon following reports that YSU is involved in negotiations with Akron, Ashland, Dayton, and Marshall for a proposed athletic conference. Ashland, Indiana State (Indiana) and Butler State have also been reported to be possible candidates.

Even though these schools seem to be ready to form a conference, they must first wait for ratification from the NCAA. The gathering in St. Louis will be concerned with the reorganization of NCAA classes, thus possibly affecting the circuit's caliber of play.

At the present time, only football and spring sports are involved in the conference talks. Basketball has not been included because of scheduling problems.

On schedule
Three of the schools mentioned appear on the 1973 YSU football slate. The Penguins will play Akron, Dayton and Xavier this fall. Games with Ashland and Marshall are scheduled for the following two seasons. It is believed that scheduling is underway that would assure the league to take effect in 1976, if formed.

Traveling costs
In addition to a league championship serving as an incentive, the conference would cut down traveling costs considerably for each member school. Super-highways make each of the cities accessible within a few hours.

Both YSU Athletic Director Willard Webster and Head Football Coach Rey Dempsey have expressed their interest in the proposed conference.

Boost record to 6-2---

YSU Penguins sweep twin bill

Dom Rosselli's Penguin baseballers boosted their record to 6-2 with double victories, 1-0 and 5-0, over John Carroll Monday at Pemberton Park.

Wednesday's twin bill with Case Western Reserve was postponed and will be made up today at Pemberton Park beginning at 1 p.m.

It wasn't until the bottom of the 16th inning when Mike Szenborn's double to right center drove home Bobby Gardner and gave YSU a 1-0 nod in Monday's first game.

As might be expected, the game turned into a marvelous pitching duel. Ed Knaus went the first eight for the Penguins, striking out 13 and walking five. Rich Hanuschak twirled the final eight, fanning seven and walking none. Knaus scattered two hits and Hanuschak four.

Bruce Donahue pitched a nifty one-hitter in the nightcap as YSU won 5-0.

'Immense Journey' offered

An interdisciplinary course, dealing with the dilemma of modern man in the light of civilization's traditional disregard of ecology, will be offered as a three quarter sequence beginning next fall.

Entitled 'The Immense Journey', the three hour course will be taught by a team of instructors comprised of Dr. Lauren Schroeder, associate professor of biology, Dr. Jean Kelty, assistant professor of English, and Dr. James Dale, assistant professor of political science.

The prerequisite for this course is junior or senior standing and a 3.0 average. However, students lacking the required average can gain entrance upon one of the instructors' approval.

Dr. Kelty emphasized that this course is not really new; it is listed in the 72-73 catalogue (page 135) as University Honors Seminar 701-703, but has not been offered for some time. The flexible format of the seminar was designed to cover different topics each time, but this particular subject matter has never before been offered.

Each of the three quarters will be devoted to a different topic. One section will deal with developing a model of nature, emphasizing the continuity of abiotic and biotic structures, the imperceptible blending of one into the other and man's emergence from and within this continuum." A second section will consider man as a cultural animal and "will attempt to examine and construct future prospects for human culture." A third section will explore the philosophical attitudes that have shaped Western man. 'The Immense Journey,' when instituted, will be one of the few interdisciplinary courses offered at YSU. Credit towards university requirements for this class will be given at the discretion of the student's own department chairman. All three instructors will be present at every class meeting and the format will consist of informal discussion and exploration of ideas presented.

Students completing the seminar with distinction will be granted special honors by the university.
